Immerse yourself in the Arts of Salado during Wildflower Art Show weekend March 28-29

Artists and artisans from Texas and throughout the Southwest will show their works on the grounds of the Salado Civic Center on Main Street during the 14th Annual Wildflower Art Show March 28-29.

The show will open 9 a.m.-5 p.m. March 28 and 10 a.m.-4 p.m. March 29. Admission is free and there will be live music, food and drinks in addition to the dozens of artists showing their works.

Works will feature oil, acrylics, watercolors, pastels, and mixed media including woodwork, sculpture, jewelry, glassworks, metal work and handmade clothing.

Among the returning artists is Killen watercolorist Joe Friddle.

An outdoorsman, a lover of nature, a believer in those things that provided our past… this is Joe Friddle.

A transplanted Texan for almost 40 years, Joe was raised on the top of the last mountain in the Smoky Mountain Range in Birmingham, Alabama.

He received his formal education from Auburn University and earned a B.S. in Art Education.

Throughout his life Joe has sought ways to share his love for wildlife, the great outdoors, and the importance of strong grassroot characters stemming from rural Texas.

Beginning with stylized pencil drawings and portraits and now exploring the freedom of watercolor adds to the nature, Joe incorporates the mediums to join the outdoors and remembrance of time gone by.

Whether portraits of old homesteads, historic building structures, still life or other specific portrait requests, there is always a story to tell.

While serving the public education as a teacher the most of four decades, his artistic pursuits are a continuation of exploring the beauty of Texas.

A student of his interests, he continues to experiment and expand ways to share the character of his subject matter.A member of the Texas Wild Bunch, Texas' oldest organization of traditional style professional artists, Joe continues to discover outlets to share his painted subjects and evoke warm memories from those who see his work.

His paintings can be found in private collections in many states as well as several countries around the world. Locally his works can be found at several galleries throughout Texas.

Whole Lotta Bull by Joe Friddle, who is returning to show at the Wildflower Art Show in Salado March 28-29.

Necklace by Laura Zeiner, who is returning to the Wildflower Art Show in Salado March 28-29.

Also showing will be Austin-based jewelry artist Laura Zeiner. Zeiner has been hand-crafting jewelry for more than a decade.

"I have a passion for beading with uncommon objects," Zeiner says. " I am crazy about teaching and I'm known for creating detailed tutorials that are easy for even beginners to follow."

Her business, Sitck Lizard Designs, offers tutorials and classes on beading.

She and her husband John live in Austin with a calico cat named MilliBob and Ginger, their spoiled-rotten sheltie.

In her spare time, she trains for triathlons.

The Wildflower Art Show gives lovers of art a chance to meet and talk with those artists and artisans in a beautiful outdoor setting. Many long-term friendships between artist and patron have been formed under the giant oaks of the Salado Civic Center.

During the weekend, you are encouraged to visit the Edgy Art Show on the south end of town and the Texas Wine and Rogue Art Festival near the north end of Main St. Enjoy a self-guided tour through Salado's Sculpture Garden and wander Main Street to find sculptures from Sirena to The Lovers to a Troll guarding the green bridge. Look up to find a tree elf sawing the limb off behind him. Art is everywhere you look in Salado.

Visit the galleries of Salado where you can watch Artists in Action: Salado Glassworks, Sirrill Gallery, Mud Pies Pottery, Prellop Fine Art Gallery, Griffith Fine Art Gallery, Wells Gallery and B. Herd Gallery.

Plan an arts weekend in Salado March 28-29. Find out more at salado.com and saladovillagevoice.com where artist will be featured every week leading up to the Wildflower Art Show weekend.

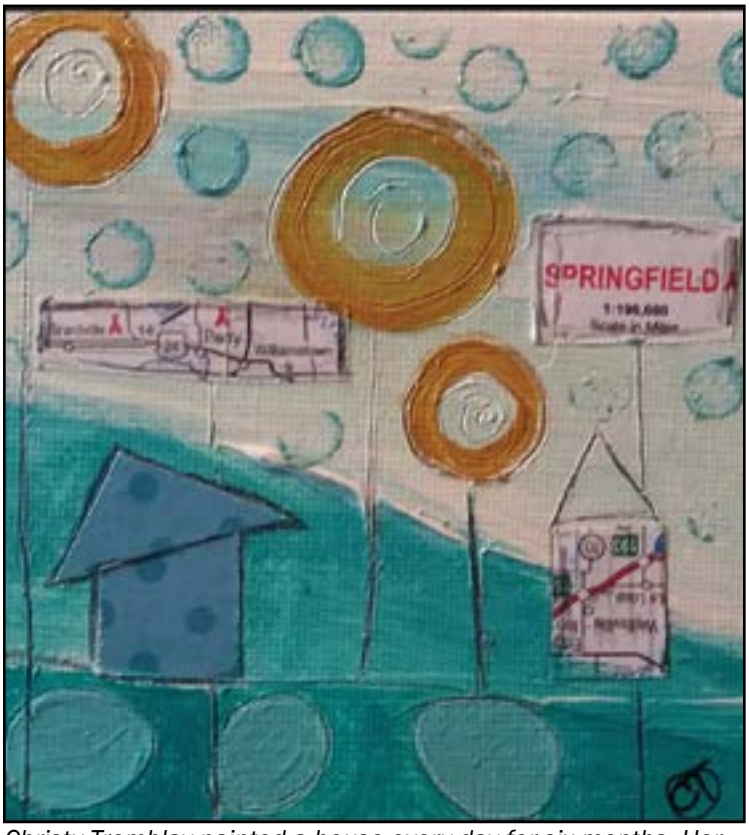
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE



Christy Tremblay painted a house every day for six months. Her collection will be shown at Salado Wine Seller this spring. An opening reception is scheduled for 5-8 p.m. on Jan. 24 at Salado Winery, located at 841 N. Main St.

Tremblay to show A Painted House a Day collection at Salado Wine Seller

Christy Tremblay will discuss her art show "A Painted House a Day" 5-8 p.m. Jan. 24 at Salado Wine Seller, 841 N. Main St.

Tremblay, a mixed media artist, was selected for the next exhibition at the winery due to her unique perspective on military life. Christy just completed an art challenge, A Painted House A Day. Her goal was to create with paint and mixed media one house image a day, for 183 days. She completed 183 Painted Houses from March 2014 to September 2014.

A Northwest native, Christy has taught in Korea and visited cities, rural areas and islands in Southeast Asia. She started using the imagery of houses in her art about four years ago when she and her family were living on Fort Bliss in El Paso, TX.

They had a historical Bungalow with a lot of charm. She says, " Growing up I had two houses I called 'home.' As an adult and with a family of my own, I have had many houses to make a home. My husband is Active Duty Army and we move a lot! Although a move comes with work and saying goodbyes, we embrace each move and look forward to our new adventures, people to meet, and places to explore. Houses are houses. A home is for a family to create safety, love, and memories. As I make each move with my two daughters and husband, I find our locations and houses to change, but our home stays the same."

The Salado Winery gallery will be filled with Ms. Tremblay's artwork, which will be available for sale throughout the spring.

Wines produced on the premise will be available for savoring as folks view and purchase these local art treasures.

Night at the Derby Gala April 25 benefits PKRC

A Night at the Derby Gala returns to Peaceable Kingdom Retreat for Children on April 25.

The Derby Gala evening will include traditional cuisine, racing entertainment, finish-line photos, Derby hat contests, "Run for the Roses Raffle", "Fastest 2 Minutes Auction", Grandstand Gift Bags and more thoroughbred thrills!

A Night at the Derby Gala raises funds for Variety Texas' Peaceable Kingdom Retreat for Children.

Peaceable Kingdom Retreat for Children was established in 1984 in memory of Charles Schreiner V, son of Mary Helen and Charlie Schreiner IV and grandson of Daurice and Jim Bowmer. Charles Schreiner V (also known as Baby Charlie) was born with a congenital heart defect, and after a courageous battle for almost a year, he passed away at the age of eleven months. The Bowmers started Baby Charlie's Fishing Camp and they, along with Mary Helen and Charlie, brought children and their parents from nearby Scott & White Hospital to fish on the Lampasas River.

The fishing camp grew, and the Bowmer family expanded and started what is now Variety's Peaceable Kingdom Retreat for Children on 120 acres adjacent to the Lampasas River. The retreat serves over 4,000 children with chronic illnesses and special needs each year. The children participate in three programs at the retreat: Summer Camp Program, Weekend Program or Environmental Education Program.

For more information about the Derby Gala, contact Leslie Gilmore at 254-554-5555 or leslieg@varietytexas.org.

Texas Wine & Rogue Art Festival March 28-29

Spring marks the advent of wine festivals in Texas. Kick off the season at the oldest wine festival in Central Texas during the weekend of Saturday, March 28 and Sunday, March 29, and you'll find the Village of Salado filled with folks sipping wine, browsing art and nibbling on the best at the Seventh Annual Texas Wine and Rogue Art Fest.

Celebrate spring by attending the biggest wine festival between Austin and Grapevine.

Twenty wineries and vineyards pouring all varieties of Texas wine, alongside 40 booths featuring art, delectable foods, and handmade goodies. The festival is set on the grounds of Salado Wine Seller on North Main Street.

The Texas Wine & Rogue Art Fest will feature wineries from Florence, Waco and Meridian, as well as Poteet, Burleson, Marble Falls, Dallas and Houston. With over 95 wines to sample, there is something for everyone.

"I am looking forward to trying the Cabernet Sauvignons, Tempranillos and Vermentinos, while other folks prefer the fruit wines and the sweeter styles," said June Ritterbusch, festival organizer and owner of Salado Winery and Salado Wine Seller.

There will also be several ports and a couple of sparkling wines. These wines will pair well with the truffles being sold by Wiseman House Chocolates and the handmade cheese from Texas Cheese House.

"In a Pickle" is back this year with their intriguing pickled specialties along with "In Hog Heaven" who specializes in pork sandwiches like, "Pignic Sandwich" a fried bologna sandwich. Foodies will also enjoy biscotti from EMA Baking Company and olive oils from Spicewood Food Company.

Next door to the festival, St. Joseph's Episcopal Church of Salado will be holding their second Annual Art Show as well.

Joyce Hazlerig, of Gypsyharte and a 2014 exhibitor, creates items using yarn she has spun on her wheel.

With more than 90 wines to sample, you are sure to find a new favorite.

The parishioners of St. Joseph's wanted to help promote local artists so they have assembled their own art celebration. Their art will include handcrafts such as recycled hand-painted flower pots, name jewelry and homemade goodies like coconut granola. The youth group will be selling hot dogs and lemonade.

Naturally there will be music to add to the beautiful setting at Salado Winery and Salado Wine Seller. This year there will be more than ever before as in more tents, more wines, more music and more food.

The full list of participants is available at www.saladowinefestival.com.

"I wanted to attract a different type of artist, so I named it 'Rogue' as in the artists are goin' rogue," Ritterbusch goes on to explain, "We are always searching for unusual artists and this year we have found some. These Texas wineries are rogue entrepreneurs as well, and I think all the wine and art folks are going to create a great experience."

This year, the most rogue artist is likely to be Kristy Dexter whose business is named "KristysKrap", and her work includes blinged out animal skulls.

Admission is free and $10 buys six wine tasting tickets and souvenir glass. Additional wine tasting tickets will be available.

Edgy Art Show invades Peddlers Alley

Salado will have art from one end of town to the other

Salado will have art events from one end of town to the other on March 28-29.

On the southside of town, the art will come with a little more edge to it.

The Second Annual Edgy Art Show will showcase a half dozen artists on March 28 as they create unique pieces during that morning and afternoon centered around a theme. "They'll learn what the theme is just 24 hours before they set up and begin work that Saturday," said Jennifer McFarland, volunteer chairman of the Edgy Art Show.

"Edgy Art Show is an opportunity for artists to share their talent with the general public," according to Jennifer McFarland, volunteer chairman of the event. "We are focusing on artists that are willing push the envelope on art and involve the general public in the process."

Local artist Aaron Gist will return to the Edgy Art Show as one of its participants on March 28. He was the winner of the first Edgy Art Show last year.

This year's show will be held at Peddler's Alley off of Main Street and Royal in downtown Salado.

The Edgy Art Show is a juried event and no more than a half dozen artists will be chosen for the one-day show. There is no fee to compete in the show and artists who are chosen to compete may bring other pieces to sell during the show.

Just 24 hours before the beginning of the Edgy Art Show, the competing artists will be given this year's theme. Then they will each have from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m. to prepare for working on their pieces of art. Beginning at 9 a.m., the artists will work on their original piece of art, which must be completed by 3 p.m.

The show will be open to the public beginning at 11 a.m. so that they can watch as the artists each create their pieces based on the theme. There is no charge to come and watch the artists as they work, but you may want to participate by voting for your favorite artist and having a chance to win their piece of art.

The public will vote for their favorite artist or piece of art beginning at 11 a.m. with voting completed by 3 p.m. when the artworks are completed. You can vote in the show by purchasing a $10 ticket or three tickets for $20. There is no limit to the number of tickets you can purchase. Each ticket is worth one vote, but is entered into two separate raffles. The first raffle will be drawn from from all ticket holders for a basket of art from local artists valued at $450. Also, each artist will have their original piece raffled from the votes cast in their favor.

Aaron Gist will return to participate in the Edgy Art Show on March 28. The Central Texas sculptor currently resides in Salado, where he works in aluminum, bronze, steel, and stainless steel. Gist credits his knowledge in metals and mold-making to endless experimentation, in addition to training he received from mentor Lonnie Edwards, father Forrest Gist and at the University of Texas under sculptor Steve Daly.

Additionally, Gist currently works in soft glass as an apprentice to Gail Allard at Salado Glassworks.

Gist holds an AA in art from Temple College, as well as a BFA in studio art and sculpture from the University of Texas at Austin.

For more information, call the Salado Chamber of Commerce at 254-947-5040. Edgy Artists will be featured in the Salado Village Voice and online at www.saladovillagevoice.com in the weeks leading up to the event.

Aaron Gist begins cutting the wings for his sculpture during the Edgy Art Show. He will return to participate in 2015.

During the 2014 Edgy Art Show, Aaron Gist created this sculpture, which was the grand prize in the drawing for the event.

Packards return to Salado

The 37th Annual Texas Packard Meet will be held April 10-12, 2015 in Salado.

It is the oldest regional Packard meet in the country and one of the largest.

This meet is sponsored by the Texas Packard Association, comprised of the four Packard Clubs in Texas.

It again will be held at the Stagecoach Inn in historic Salado approximately 50 miles from Austin on I-35.

Typically there are 40 to 70 cars and well over 100 master registrations. Being the 37th edition of this great meet will likely increase the numbers! Last year, there were over 60 Packards on display with collectors coming from 11 states.

Participants enjoy a tour, all Packard swap meet, people's choice competition, seminars, and awards dinner. Packard lovers from all over the country compete for the long distance award.

Viewing for the public is free on Saturday morning April 11 on the grounds of the Stagecoach Inn.

Packards were once seen as some of the most prestigious on the market. The founder of the company, James Ward Packard, was an engineer by trade and began producing automobiles as early as 1899. The first Packards were designed as luxury automobiles and were priced much higher than the competition. In 1902, the Ohio Automobile Company was renamed The Packard Motor Car Company and moved to Detroit. The last Packard came off of the assembly-line in 1958.

Eggheads coming to Salado

Used to be, if someone called you an egghead, you might want to crack their head open like an egg.

Not anymore. Now the term has come to represent the proud owners of a Big Green Egg®. Salado will have about 300 of them for the fourth annual Salado Eggfest March 14 in Pace Park.

Eggheads have been described as "cult-like" in their enthusiasm for the Big Green Eggs®, which they use to cook everything from Korean barbecue to chocolate chip cookies to smoked salmon to pizza.

The Eggheads will gather in Pace Park, where they will swap recipes and friendship without the stress of competing for awards or recognition.

There will two MiniMax Big Green Eggs given away during the weekend. Salado will be the very first Eggfest in the country to give away a Mini-Max to some very lucky Attendees. The MiniMax, as you may have heard, is the newest entry in the Big Green Egg line-up. It was designed with portability and usability in mind. It hit the market in November. A lot of Eggheads are saving up to buy one.

Eggheads will gather in Salado's Pace Park to swap recipes and cooking ideas over the weekend of March 14.

The Eggfest officially kicks off at 9 a.m. March 14 in Pace Park. Early check-in for registered cooks will be at 7:30 a.m. Drawings will be held throughout the day.

Throughout the day, more than 40 registered cooks will be sharing 100 different snacks with other attendees.

For more information and to register, visit saladoeggheadgathering.blogspot.com or call Keith's Ace Hardware in Salado, which is one of the primary sponsors of the event.
