BoA to mull impact fees, tie-in deadlines on June 20

By Tim Fleischer
Editor-in-Chief

Salado aldermen will revisit sewer impact fees at their June 20 meeting, tabling a request by the Salado Masonic Lodge to exempt the property from being forced to tie in to the sewer and paying the sewer impact fee. The board will also consider at that meeting how to handle the properties that have not tied on to the sewer by the July 1 deadline.

After the first reading of several ordinances concerning the voluntary annexation of more than 100 acres of Salado ISD properties on Thomas Arnold and Salado School Roads and on Williams Rd., the board narrowly approved interlocal agreements between Salado ISD and the Village of Salado waiving fees and other development requirements for the district.

Aldermen discussed the equitability of impact fees for the smallest businesses in Salado when the school district would not pay any fees despite having the largest impact on the capacity of the sewer system. Rodney Bell, Frank Coachman and Michael Coggin voted in favor of the interlocal agreement, while Amber Preston-Dankert and John Cole voted against.

The board was unanimous in approving a request from Barrow Brewing Co. to take into consideration the water that is part of its product and never goes into the sewer when figuring the monthly sewer rate.

The board voted to table the request from Salado Masonic Lodge until after it discusses impact fees and the timeline for tying into the sewer system at its June 20 meeting.

The Lodge requested that the Village exempt the property from being forced to tie in to the sewer. The Lodge uses 20-30 gallons of water per month. It sits on 0.08 acre on Church St. The Impact Fee alone is more than all of the dues paid the Lodge by its members in a year. The Lodge requested the exemption based upon the financial hardship of paying the Impact Fee, tying in to the sewer, decommissioning its operating septic system and paying monthly sewer bills.

Earlier in the meeting, Ferguson told aldermen that approximately 24 percent of the existing properties have begun the process of tying in to the sewer. The deadline adopted by the board for properties to tie in to the sewer is July 1. At that point, fines can be assessed daily.

Ferguson reported that The Sanctuary delivered construction plans and plats for the first phase of its development on June 6, a residential plat of 66.21 acres with 182 housing units.

Ferguson also reported to aldermen that the school district is scheduled to tie in its properties to the Salado sewer in mid-August. The second reading of ordinances annexing the properties will be June 20.

A Zoning Board of Adjustment hearing was postponed to June 20.

Salado Airport development open house slated June 15

By Tim Fleischer
Editor-in-Chief

Salado Airport is holding an Open House at its property located at 15771 South Interstate 35 10 a.m.-8 p.m. June 15.

Salado Airport is a 50-acre private airport with a 3,500 foot grass runway. The airport is currently being used by Skydive Temple for commercial parachuting operations and Chute and Shoote Store retail operations.

Salado Airport LLC purchased the property and is selling 75 hangar lots and hangars as Salado Airport Condominiums. Lots are 100-year land lease with a renewable 50 years. According to the Salado Airport website, the transaction is the same as a simple fee transaction. All sales will go through escrow at First Community Title Co.

Each lot will have water, sewer and electrical available and hangars will be custom built on your lot.

Phase 1 has 75 lots listed ranging in price from $52,500 to $119,920. Lot sizes vary with some being 55 feet by 71 feet.

The project is being developed as a Condo Development, according to the website.

Hangar sizes are these: 50’ x 50’ x 16’; 50’ x 50’ x 25’; 60’ x 60’ x 16’; 60’ x 60’ x 25’; 70’ x 70’ x 16’ and 70’ x 70’ x 25’

According to the website, hangars will be designed and built to your specifications on a paved taxiway with water, power and sewer. Use of your hangar is unrestricted and can be used for residential or commercial use.

All hangars come with a High Power Door, 3’ man door and a 10’ x 10’ overhead door w/ chain.

Hangars with 25’ eave are available with optional 16’ x 50’, 16’ x 60’ or 16’ x 70’ loft and steel stairs.

Hangars come standard with 100 AMP electrical service, power to High Power Door, (1) quad electrical outlet , (1) high bay light and switch.

The website states: “Due to steel tariffs and choice of options hangar prices will be calculated at time of sale.”

The website states that, “In Phase 2 we will have opportunities for larger lots, commercial operations of all types, FBO, restaurants, T-hangars, fly-in B&B’s, flight schools, maintenance facilities or more personal hangars.”

No subdivision plats have been filed with the Village of Salado, according to Village Administrator Don Ferguson. No subdivision plats have been filed with Bell County, according to Precinct Two Commissioner Bobby Whitson.

The development is partially located within the half-mile extra-territorial jurisdiction of the Village of Salado.

Contacts for Salado Airport are listed on the website as Mark Pollack, 714-915-8081, email mark.saladoairport@gmail.com and Don Barthlow, 512-633-6877, email don.saladoairport@gmail.com.

Watch the fireworks on July 6 along Salado Creek

Mark your calendar for the annual Salado Fireworks show on Salado Creek on July 6.

Mill Creek Country Club hires a professional fireworks show that will start at dark after a full day of activities and food and drink in Sherrill Park.

The best vantage point for the show will be in the newly-renovated and air conditioned The View at the Creek venue.

Wristbands for all-day admission to The View at the Creek will include your food and drink (including a full bar) and will cost $125 per person. Wrist bands can be purchased at the Pro Shop or by calling 254-947-5698. Proceeds benefit the continued improvements at Mill Creek Country Club made by the ownership group.

For others, food and drink will be offered for purchase on the grounds of Sherrill Park. No outside food or drink on the grounds.

If you live within the boundaries of the Village of Salado, fireworks are not allowed. Violators can be hit with fines of up to $2,000. The fireworks show sponsored by Mill Creek offers the community the chance to gather together for the best experience to celebrate our Independence.

For residents living in the county, Bell County Commissioners have not yet adopted a ban on fireworks, but may consider it closer to the Fourth, depending on the existence of a burn ban.

Correction: Last week, Salado Village Voice printed the wrong price for wristbands for inside gathering, dining, drinking and fireworks viewing inside The View at the Creek. Those wristbands are $125 per person.

Remembering Rudder

Salado artist unveils statue of World War II hero

By Tim Fleischer
Editor-in-Chief

Separated by decades and locations, they are still Brothers in Arms.

Salado artist Troy Kelley feels this connection of shared combat experience with James Earl Rudder, of whom he was commissioned to sculpt an heroic statue.

More than 300 people gathered on June 6 on the grounds of the McCulloch county courthouse in Brady, Texas for the dedication of the eight foot statue of LTC James Earl Rudder sculpted by Salado artist Troy Kelley.

The Heart of Texas Historical Museum commissioned Kelley to sculpt the statue that was dedicated on the 75th anniversary of D-Day. Brady is Rudder’s adopted hometown where he taught school and coached football and served as its mayor.

According to the World War II Rangers website (wwiiranger.org), “In June 1943, Rudder was given the assignment to organize and train the 2nd Ranger Battalion at Camp Forrest, TN. He became the ‘hero of D-Day as Commander of the United States Army’s 2nd Ranger Battalion.’”

Omar Bradley wrote of Rudder: “No soldier in my command has ever been wished a more difficult task than that which befell this 34-year-old commander.”

“Rudder’s Rangers assaulted the beaches at Pointe du Hoc, climbed the 100-foot cliff, destroyed the German gun batteries which threatened the entire US invasion force from Omaha to Utah beaches, and fought off German counter-attacks for two days until relieved.”

Seven months after D-Day, Rudder also commanded the 109th Infantry Regiment in the Battle of the Buldge. He ended WWII as a Colonel and was later promoted to Major General of the U.S. Army Reserve. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, Silver Star, Bronze Star with OLC, Purple Heart with OLC, Distinguiqshed Service Medal, Legion of Merit, French Legion of Honor, and Order of Leopold.

Troy and Vickie Kelley are shown above with the statue of TC James Earl Rudder in Brady, Texas. It was dedicated on the 75th anniversary of D-Day June 6.

Rudder’s Rangers’ succes at Pointe Du Hoc did not come easily -- the battalion’s casualty rate was higher than 50% and Rudder himself was wounded twice.

Those wounds are represented in Kelley’s statue Kelley told the audience that he created the statue with features that he hoped would bring Rudder’s story to life. “I used Dr. Thomas Hatfield’s book Rudder: From Leader to Legend for its authentic historical information about LTC Rudder and the events on Pointe Du Hoc,” Kelley said.

Rudder was a Lieutenant Colonel at the time of the D Day Invasion. “In combat, officers usually covered their rank on the helmet with mud, to avoid becoming a target for enemy snipers, which is why there is a smudge across his rank,” Kelley said as his wife Vickie, a native of Brady, pointed out these details for the audience.

As a combat veteran of Viet Nam, Kelley would know something about those dangerous circumstances.

LTC Rudder holds his all-important map case in his right hand. He also is portrayed carrying a Colt U.S. Army Model 1917 double action revolver instead of the

U.S. creates just 75,000 jobs in May, wages up 3.1%

Market & Economic Update

By Jeffrey W. McClure

In a bad-news is good-news week, the S&P 500 Stock Index (SPX) turned in a spectacular showing ending on June 7 with a rise of 4.41% to close at 2873.34. Even with a 4% gain in one week, it still has a long way to go in order to effect a recovery to the 2954 level where it was just over a month ago. The one-year trailing return remains at a tepid 3.39%. That generous weekly gain was credited almost solely to the suggestion by Federal Reserve members that because of the bad employment news they were seriously considering cutting short term interest rates.

The benchmark 10-year U.S. Treasury note closed at 2.085%, well below the 90-day T-bill yield of 2.304% making the yield-curve solidly inverted. The inverted yield curve has now persisted for two weeks and has steepened. The low yields at three and five years were even more pronounced, dropping into the 1.8% range. Even the 30-year bond, commonly immune to short term fluctuations, declined to 2.6% from the over 3% yield it has maintained for several years. West Texas Intermediate Oil (WTI) bucked the trend and rose 1.37% for the week to close at $54.11 but remains down over 12% for one month and nearly 18% from a year ago.

The Economy

The headline economic news this week was that the U.S. economy created a net 75,000 jobs in May after a long run of averaging job creation around 200,000 per month. Accompanying that announcement was the news that wage growth slowed to 3.1% year over year. Neither of those numbers is negative as the economy did create new jobs and wages did grow, year-over-year, but the reduction in the rate of growth of both elements in the labor market was unexpected and relatively dramatic. Unemployment remained at a near-record low of 3.6%.

Other economic news confirmed that things are slowing. At mid-week oil was down over 20% from a year ago, technically signaling a bear market in the black, gooey liquid, but then it rebounded to a mere 18% drop. The Institute for Supply Management's Purchasing Manager's Index (PMI) declined from last month's 56 to just over 50. Readings above 50 indicate growth while readings below 50 signal a contraction. Even in the jobs report a worrisome note was that manufacturing employment has not grown so far this year.

Just as the market responded positively to bad (jobs) news because it improved the chances of a Fed rate cut, there was some good news this week that really was bad news. The U.S. trade deficit declined by about a tenth of a percent. Unfortunately, that decline was relative as both imports and exports fell 2.2% in May. Anecdotal information suggests that the trade slowdown continued into June. Trade creates jobs and a reduction in trade tends to erase them. Economists have been anticipating a slump in hiring resulting from the tariffs and this may be the beginning of that move.

When reading the jobs report tea-leaves, it is good to bear in mind that employment is a lagging indicator. Employers, particularly at large corporations, are slow to start hiring after a recession and slow to start layoffs when things turn south. Hirings and layoffs are both expensive propositions when done on a large scale. In the last two recessions unemployment was at the lowest point in the cycle even as we later determined with 20:20 hindsight that the signs were clearly in place for a slowdown. We aren't at that point yet, but if the yield curve continues to be inverted and the Federal Reserve starts cutting rates, the pattern will start to look very much like the year before the last two downturns. While the overall picture is still slightly positive, very notably ADP reported that small businesses laid off about 50,000 more people than they hired last month. Small businesses tend to lead the way both on the upside and on the downside.

A recession is not likely soon and we will need more than a single month's weak data to sound the alarm, but the expectation of a high-growth 2019 is largely vanishing under the weight of the trade wars and inventory buildup in anticipation of higher tariffs. This month could easily mark the turning of the tide as sentiment changes. There is still room for a relaxation in trade policy to trigger one last leg of this expansion and bull market, but the odds do appear to be growing slim.

• The Board approved hiring five teachers.

• The Board received an update regarding the construction of the bond projects.

• The Board approved changes to Policy EIC (local): Academic Achievement: Class Ranking. These changes will eliminate the requirement of three years of foreign language for students to be eligible for graduation honors (i.e., cum laude, magna cum laude, or summa cum laude).

• The Board approved a resolution regarding the voluntary annexation of school district properties on Williams Road, Salado School Road and Thomas Arnold Road into the Village of Salado, the Service Plan with the Village as required under Chapter 43 of the Texas Local Government Code, and the related interlocal agreements regarding issues such as wastewater, development, and fees.

• The Board approved the 2019-2020 Compensation Plan.

• The Board approved the 2019-2020 Proposed Tax Rate of $1.04 per $100 of taxable value for Maintenance and Operations (M&O), $0.50 per $100 of taxable value for Interest and Sinking (I&S), and a total tax rate of $1.54 per $100 of taxable value. If Texas House Bill 3 is signed into law by Governor Greg Abbott, the Board should be able to lower the M&O tax rate to $0.97 per $100 of taxable value and also lower the total tax rate to $1.47 per $100 of taxable value.

• The Board scheduled the public hearing for the 2019-2020 Budget on Wednesday, June 26, at 6:00 p.m.

• The Board scheduled the public hearing for the 2019-2020 Tax Rate on Monday, August 19, at 6:00 p.m.

Our next school board meeting will be held on Wednesday, June 26, at 6:00 p.m. at the Salado ISD Civic Center, located at 601 North Main Street. Prior to the school board meeting that night, there will be a groundbreaking ceremony at the new middle school site on Williams Road at 5:00 p.m.

'MADE IN AMERICA,' IN CHINA

THE PRESIDENT PRETENDS TO STAND UP FOR MANUFACTURING WORKERS WHILE KOWTOWING TO CORPORATIONS THAT FLAGRANTLY VIOLATE

Jim Hightower

What's the matter with Donald and The Trumpeteers? Why won't they stand up for the American workers and business owners who make their products right here in the United States?

Oh, yeah, I know they talk a good game. Trump himself even issued a bold, star-spangled executive order promoting the purchase of "American-made goods" produced by American labor.

We consumers respond positively to that pitch, generally preferring to buy everything from mattresses to hockey pucks that are manufactured here at home. For example, take Patriot Puck. What's not to like about this corporation, which literally wraps its hockey pucks in American flag packaging and proudly advertises that they are "the only American-made hockey puck"?

Well, sadly, one thing not to like is that the puck-seller's pitch was a lie. Its product actually turned out to be made in China. Such a deceptive sales scam is not just unethical — it's a federal crime.

Saddest of all, though, is that when honest competitors and defrauded consumers protested the firm's blatant deceit, Trump's Federal Trade Commission appointees proved to be Made-in-America wimps.

Far from standing up for U.S. workers, they coddled the job-stealing culprit. They assessed no fines, required no admission of the obvious corporate crime, and let it keep all the profits it pocketed from the fraud. They didn't even make "Patriot" Puck notify customers of its false marketing scam.

Instead, Trump's regulatory "toughies" insisted that the threat of future fines would keep such outlaws in check.

Seriously? The real crime here is our that our nation's president is mocking the plight of America's manufacturing workers by making a spectacle of standing up for them — then kowtowing to corporations that flagrantly violate Made-in-America laws. It's a shameful political fraud. Made-in-America laws.

The Daily Beast's Shabby Scoop

Rich Lowry

Breaking news: Some guy posted a doctored video of Nancy Pelosi.

But fear not. The website The Daily Beast sprang into action. It tracked down the random, Trump-supporting man who allegedly posted the offending clip, hounded him until he talked, then published his name and other details about his life in a shocking instance of harassment masquerading as journalism.

The man whose identity was revealed by The Daily Beast is, by the publication's account, an unemployed African American forklift operator who lives in New York City and runs a couple of very minor Facebook pages. He had done it anonymously, one assumes, to avoid any professional and personal fallout, which The Daily Beast has now exposed him to.

The video in question, doctored to make it sound like Pelosi was drunk when talking about Donald Trump at a progressive conference, dominated a news cycle a couple of weeks ago. In other words, it was a big deal for about six hours, and then disappeared like most everything else in our disposable news culture.

The video was certainly a testament to the debased quality of online discourse, but it was also quickly identified as a fake, because it was pretty obviously a fake. None of this justifies outing the man supposedly responsible for it. In a better world, anonymous political commentators could be identified without fear of social media mobs attempting to ruin their lives. As has been demonstrated time and again, this is not the world we live in.

Widely criticized for its decision to name the man -- or in online parlance, "dox" him -- The Daily Beast defended its story as a way to show "that disinformation isn't the purview of Russia alone." But who ever believed this?

Even if it's relevant that someone in the Bronx rather than St. Petersburg produced the video, that didn't require naming the man -- let alone detailing his employment history, talking to his ex-girlfriend or delving into his guilty plea to a domestic violence charge and an outstanding warrant for his arrest on a probation violation. (The man denies many of the details of the story.)

All of this was completely gratuitous. The balance, which any responsible publication should have considered, between the public benefit of naming the man (none) and the personal harm that might be done by naming him (considerable) isn't even close.

Of course, it matters that he is a Trump supporter. Outlets like The Daily Beast don't make a routine practice of hunting down trolls who are producing the vast sea of anti-Trump material online, because they don't consider spoofing or maligning Trump to be a threat to democracy, or at all undesirable.

Incredibly enough, according to The Daily Beast, someone at Facebook provided details about the man's posting history that were used to confirm the story. Users of Facebook should take note.

Although reporters might believe that rank abuse of America's high elected officials is something new, it's as old as the republic. And it's often been anonymous. By all means, call out online distortions and lies, but deliberately exposing low-level political advocates to personal destruction is shabby and irresponsible, and more an act of political retaliation than journalism.

issued Model 1911 Al, 45. Cal, semi-automative pistol most officers carried.

His uniform was a Tanker jacket, wool pants and leggings over his high top s hoes. "The patch on the left shoulder of the jacket is a diamond shape WWII Ranger emblem," Kelley explained. "I have created a small cross on the patch that could have been created by shrapnel. This is in remembrance of all the wounded and killed on D-Day."

The first aid pouch is empty, "because of LTC Rudder being wounded twice on the first day of the invasion. The holes on the left side of his jacket are from shrapnel and the hole in his left leg is from a ricochet bullet that did not hit a major vessle or bone. He received aid for his wounds on the field but did not leave his command post."

Rudder is shown wearing his wedding ring, Kelley said, "Depicting the love he shared with his wife Margaret, during these traumatic times in our history. It is unknown if he wore his ring in combat, many men removed personal objects from their person in case they were captured or killed in combat."

Sand and rocks from Dointe Du Hoc are incased between the sculpture and the McCulloch County limestone base.

Historian Dr. Thomas Hatfield spoke of Rudder's life in McCulloch County during the ceremony. Rudder was a teacher, coach, businessman and mayor in Brady. "Wherever he went," Dr. Hatfield said, "he told people that he was from Brady, Texas," adding that it is fitting that "Brady is now home to this statue."

He went on to be head football coach at Tarleton State University, Commissioner of the General Land Office of Texas and later became President of Texas A&M University.

Several Rudder family members were present, including children Bud Rudder and Anne Rudder Erdman, who unveiled the statue.

The documentary after the dedication ceremony at the Palace Theater. The museum remained open for extended hours for visitors.

A video of the ceremony, filmed by Tim Fleischer, can be found on the Salado Village Voice Facebook page.

Salado Springs Craft Beer Festival June 15 at Barrow

The Salado Springs Craft Beer Festival will celebrate Father's Day and the brotherhood of craft beer in Central Texas on the banks of Salado Creek noon - 8 p.m. on June 15. For the second year in a row Barrow Brewing Company has invited their brewery buddies to Salado to showcase the Historic Village's charm as well as the craft brewing industry's close-knit community.

This year's roster of breweries has grown and includes, Altstadt, Bare Arms, Bluebonnet, Bold Republic, Brotherwell, CaraCara, Celis, Oddwood, Rentsch, Redhorn, San Gabriel River, Texas Beer Co, and Whitestone. All of these breweries are independently owned and several are members of the Texas Craft Brewers Guild which recently saw success in the Texas Legislature with the passage of the #BeerToGo law. The "Brewmaster" sponsors this year are Brewery Direct and GTX Engineering.

Tickets to the festival are $15 for beer drinkers or $10 for non-drinkers. Children 12 and under are free to enter. The beer drinker ticket includes a wristband, souvenir festival cup, and the first pour from the brewery of your choice. Festivities for the day include live music from Kady Rain, Sundae Drivers, The Inverters, and the original Ska band, The Toasters. There will be a few activities for kids (and kids at heart), like the Boulders Rock Climbing wall and Freedom Air helicopter rides. Several area food trucks will also be in attendance. Designated Drivers will have access to free water and snacks, courtesy of First Texas Realty.

This year Salado's Citizens on Patrol (COPs) will be operating a dunk booth to raise money for the COPs and the Salado Volunteer Fire Department. If you would like to sign up to be DUNKED, contact K.D. Hill at 254-947-3544 or kd@barrowbrewing.com.

Parking fills up fast on Royal Street but free parking lots are throughout town. The brewery thanks the Salado Civic Center, the First Baptist Church, the United Methodist Church, and Tablerock for allowing use of their parking lots for festival-goers. There will be shuttles running throughout the day and shade provided at each shuttle stop by Wade Faulkner Law Firm, First Eye Care Salado, and Horizon Bank.

New gallery on Main Street J.Genevieve opens

"Photography, Etc." is the short version of how owner Jessica Mall describes J.Genevieve, her recently released creative brand.

Mall has photographed for close to 20 years. "I was in Rockport, Texas when I was 17. I saw a moment between my dad and grandfather," she recalls. "It wasn't an option not to photograph it. I had to. I grabbed my dad's 35mm Pentax, clicked and the rest is history. I knew from that point on that I was a seer and my eye had something to say."

After moving to the Central Texas area in 2012, Mall took her small photography business in a new direction and began to do more freelance/contract style work for small local businesses and expanded to being the gallery/marketing director for a local gallery for close to five years. During that time, she learned a great deal about the art culture in Central Texas as well as honed her level of expertise on what it takes to realistically build a creative brand from the ground up.

"I'm fortunate to live and work around the community of artists that Salado and the surrounding Austin area has to offer. That exposure has changed how I approach my own work and has opened me up so many ways", says Jess. "Now that it's time to launch out on my own with J.Genevieve, I feel more prepared than I ever could have been, not only creatively, but as a businesswoman."

"I built this brand to champion individuality, connection, authenticity, courage, freedom, unconventional beauty and raw vulnerability," Mall said. From that foundation, she offers photojournalistic style sessions with an artistic bent to both her individual and commercial clients.

Her gallery, J.Genevieve HQ, opened on June 6 and reveals her perspective on art, hosts a variety of creative events, is the central location for her Renegade Mini-photo sessions and houses other curiosities from both herself and select featured artists. Grit, edge, unrefined beauty and transformative experiences mark the art and energy housed there.

J.Genevieve HQ currently features work from following visual artists:

Jessica Mall of J.Genevieve, Salado, TX

John Davis, Salado ,TX

John Hancock/The Amazing Hancock Brothers, Belton, TX

Sonia Mathis, Georgetown, TX

J.Genevieve HQ currently features the following healing artists:

Tiffany Schreiner, Salado, TX, Yoga, Special Yoga Events, and Wellness Workshops

Stacy Wooster, Round Rock, TX, Yoga, Apothecary, Astrology/Tarot Readings

This summer, the HQ also will also host the Imagineer Arts Academy founded by Tiffany Schreiner. It is also the stop for mermaid enthusiasts everywhere to purchase their Sirenafest merchandise. Portions of the proceeds go towards the Sirenafest All Abilities Playground Project in Salado.

Summer events are currently listed on the website and are available for reservation. "We will be consistently adding events and experiences, so make sure you follow on social media or check the website often" says Mall.

You can engage with her online at jgenevieve.com, on Instagram at @_j.genevieve or at J.Genevieve HQ in Salado, TX at 209 S. Main Street, Suite B.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 ♥	Dble	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	4 ♠

Opening lead — king of hearts.

Most finesses are directed at missing kings or queens. Finesses against jacks or tens occasionally occur, and finesses against nines or eights are extremely rare.

Today's deal features an unusually deep finesse. Declarer was in four spades, and West started with the K-A and another heart. East had played high-low in hearts, so South knew from both the bidding and the play that East had no more hearts. Declarer's most pressing problem was to decide which of dummy's cards to ruff with in order to avoid a trump loser either immediately or eventually.

As happens so often when declarer is trying to locate a missing queen, South had to weigh the probability of East holding the greater spade length (and therefore the queen) against the probability that West was more likely to have the queen because he had opened the bidding.

After considering all the relevant factors, South decided that East was apt to have more spades than West, so he ruffed with dummy's ace. He then led the ten of spades, intending to finesse. But East correctly covered the ten with the queen.

South won with the king and — pursuing his premise that East was more likely to have been dealt three spades than two — crossed to dummy with a club and returned the spade deuce. After East followed with the five, South finessed the six!

When the finesse succeeded, South was home free. He collected East's nine of spades with the jack, then conceded a diamond to the ace to bring a satisfying conclusion to a well-played hand.
