DNA test unites local woman with birth family after 51 years

By Tim Fleischer

Turns out, Kathy Daniell is very, very Irish.

According to the DNA test she took, given to her at Christmas by her daughter Casey, Kathy is mostly Irish.

The Christmas gift ended up being a much greater gift than Kathy could imagine receiving.

"Since I was adopted as an infant, Casey thought it would be interesting to see what heritage she and I had," Daniell said.

Kathy sent in the DNA test and after logging in the results on a genealogy website myheritage.com, it truly opened the door to her heritage.

And to new family.

"I got an email on Feb. 10 that Casey's results were in, so I just read her heritage and forwarded them to her," Kathy said. Later in the day, Casey asked if she looked over the test result. "I said, 'Yes, you're Scottish, Irish and Welsh.'"

What Kathy overlooked was that there were very close DNA matches to two people.

The next day she received an email through the myheritage.com website from a man. Corresponding with Kathy, he said, "I'm not going to beat around the bush here, my mother gave up a baby to adoption when she was 17 years old."

Casey's results were matching closely with theirs.

Kathy's results, which arrived on Valentine's Day matched even more closely. "I was a 49.7% match to Gayle Jensen and a 24.9% match to my half-brothers," Kathy says, "We have been talking ever since."

Kathy was born in University Hospital in Iowa City, Iowa on Feb. 25, 1968. And 51 years later, thanks to a quick pass of a cotton swab against her cheek, she finds her birth mother now living in Wisconsin.

Gayle and Kathy met face to face when Gayle came down to Texas from Wisconsin for Casey's graduation from University of Mary Hardin Baylor. "It just happened to be Mother's Day Weekend," Kathy said.

"It has been truly mind blowing," she adds.

Kathy says that she was born at the University of Iowa Hospital and then was taken to an orphanage where she was adopted by Robert and Arlene Pies at the age of three months. She grew up in a small town (Ackley, Iowa) before moving to Colorado and eventually landing in Texas, where she and husband Robert have raised their daughters. Her adoptive brother Darwin Pies passed away in 1990.

""I knew very early on that I was adopted," she says, "my parents would say that I was very special and came to them in a special way, one that God intended."

When Gayle's mother found out that she was pregnant, she was told to leave and not come back "until the baby was gone," Kathy said. "She was very old school."

So Gayle McEnany (her maiden name) went to live with a friend whose family took her in. That family moved to Iowa and Gayle went with them. After giving birth, Gayle went back to Montana, where she would eventually get married and have two children, Jimmy and Corey Wideman. She divorced and married again, becoming a widow. Gayle outlived her third husband as well.

Gayle came to Texas and to Salado last month. After Casey's graduation, they went to Galveston for a weekend together before Gayle went back home May 28.

Kathy lost her adoptive father in 2007. "My adoptive mother is 84 years old. She was very shocked and surprised to learn I had connected with my birth mother, but she was also very happy for me."

She moved to Texas when Kathy's daughter Casey was born and lives in DeLeon.

Kathy plans on a trip to Wisconsin next month to meet her half-brother Jim.

"This was never anything I could have imagined," Kathys aid. "Gayle and Jim have been searching for me for a least two years." Both had submitted DNA tests through several sources.

By connecting with her mother and half-brothers, Kathy has had a whole branch of her birth family open up to her, including uncles, aunts and cousins. In fact, she got to meet her uncle Tony Shutey who lives in Cedar Park. "We have been talking a lot," she says.

"I really couldn't even think about any outcome like this because I just didn't think it was possible," she said, "but I am so excited and happy that I've found them and I can't wait to get to know them better and find out more."

"I would definitely encourage anyone looking to try it and see what happens," Daniell says. "It has given me more reason to continue searching because I may have other family on my father's side out there."

What she does know about her birth father comes from Gayle. "I've been told that my birth father was from Arkansas was in the Navy and was on leave," Daniell said. "His name was Johnny and he was serving on the ship USS Ticonderoga. He was willing to marry Gayle but she declined."

Kathy may never find who her birth father is, or she may see a link someday from her DNA test or get a message from out of the blue.

Until then, she will relish her new-found family and knowing her own heritage.

"The bonus is that I found out I'm 90% Irish and 10% Scandinavian!"

SISD proposes $17.3 mil budget

Salado ISD Trustees will meet 6 p.m. June 26 at the Salado Civic Center to adopt the proposed budget for the 2019-2020 school year.

The total operating budget is almost $2.3 million more than the 2018-19 operating budget with $17.3 million in expenditures and a like amount in revenues.

On the revenue stream, local revenues increase almost $1 million to $9.6 million and state revenues increases more than $1.3 million while federal dollars drop to $30,160.

The largest expenditure is for instruction, from $8.3 million to $9 million. School leadership increase 10% from $830,841 to $926,522 while counseling increases about 4% to $430,709. Plant maintenance and operation decreases by 2% to $1.6 million. The district will spend $1.1 million on facilities acquisition and construction in 2019-20, funded by transition state funds. The funds could be used for tennis courts, which were not funded out of the bond.

The budget also includes a $119,655 transfer to the food services budget in order to balance the $629,023 in expenditures there.

The budget is built on a student enrollment of 2,055 students, an increase of 91 students over last year. The tax rate to fund the budget is $0.97 per $100 valuation for M&O and a debt service tax rate of $0.50 per $100 valuation for a total tax rate of $1.47 per $100 valuation, an increase of more than 25¢.

The debt service budget will increase to $4.9 million in total revenues, all from local property taxes, compared to last year's $1.5 million in revenues. The district will make $4.1 million in debt payments in 2019-20, up from the 2018-19 payment of $1.35 million, which will leave a surplus of $784,065.

Salado ISD has a current M&O fund balance of more than $4.2 million and a debt service fund balance of $2.65 million. The surplus will bring that debt service fund balance to more than $3.4 million.

The district will adopt the proposed tax rate at a later date, after the property values have been certified. Salado ISD appraised values increased from $1 billion in 2018-19 to $1.3 billion for 2019-20 fiscal year.

Sheriff's Posse Rodeo finds new home at Solana Ranch

After 80 years in San Gabriel Park in Georgetown, the Williamson County Sheriff's Posse Rodeo has found a new home on 20 acres of the Solana Ranch donated by Kirk Michaux.

The Williamson County Sheriff's Posse Rodeo will have its inaugural season at its new home June 28-29. Gates open at 6 p.m. and the first kids start bustin muttons at 7:30 p.m. Colors will be posted at 8 p.m. and the first horse will buck at 8:10 p.m. both nights.

Tickets are $15 each for ages 13 and up, $5 each for ages six-12 and kids under six get in for free.

Tickets are available at the door both nights of the rodeo.

Michaux said that when the Sheriff's Posse learned that 2018 would be the last year for the rodeo to be in San Gabriel Park, he couldn't let the 80-year tradition ride off.

So he cut a chunk of the 9,000-acre ranch that his father started in the 1950s and donated it for a new rodeo arena for the annual event. The arena is located at 1600 CR 305, Jarrell, Texas.

The Williamson County Sheriff's Posse was formed in 1943 to help out the Williamson County Sheriff's Department.

Originally named the Williamson County Fair and Rodeo Association, however, in 1943 under the direction of the County Sheriff Robert Davis the name was changed to the Williamson County Sheriff's Posse. Sheriff Davis could deputize the members and call upon them to help out law enforcement in the time of need.

The Williamson County Fair and Rodeo Association held its first rodeo in San Gabriel Park in 1938. When the Sheriff's Posse was chartered in 1943, the rodeos continued at the same location.

A new updated arena, with expanded seating was built in 1946.

Early in 1950, after this arena collapsed during a flood, the members raised $40,000 and borrowed another $20,000 from Mr. Buck Steiner to build a new arena.

Last year marked the 75th annual rodeo put on by the Williamson County Sheriff's Posse. Because of the prior work of the Rodeo Association, it was the 81st consecutive rodeo held at the same location in San Gabriel park.

As the years moved on and the WCSP was not needed as much to support the Williamson County Sheriff's Department the direction of the Posse changed.

The Sheriff's Posse facilitated things such as Western Week which included BBQ Cook-offs, Cowboy breakfast and the parade all leading up to the grand finale of the rodeo.

According to the Sheriff's Posse website, during WWII, the WCSP members helped out the Williamson County Sheriff's office as many of the men were off at war. "More recently, the WCSP has helped out in the Jarrell tornadoes, search and rescue efforts for missing Rachel Cooke and the Bastrop, TX animal relief during the fires," the website states.

The WCSP is still involved in the community of Williamson County and the surrounding areas.

In January 2019 WCSP relocated the arena and operations to the Solana Ranch in Jarrell.

Solana Ranch is a 9,000-acre cattle and wildlife ranch that stretches more than 13 miles over the Central Texas Hill Country. The abundance of water, supplied by the Salado Creek, Rumsey Creek and Buttermilk Creek which are fed by more than 18 active natural springs, give the ranch a scenic landscape and a vital resource for wildlife and cattle there.

The diverse property creates habitat for Whitetail deer, Rio Grande Turkeys, Ferrel Hogs, Dove, and the various Exotic game on the ranch.

Each year the arena will host the Jarrell WCSP Rodeo in June. It will also have open riding events at the arena, rent the arena out for events such as playdays and barrel races, raise money yearly to support local charities.

Events at the June 28-29 rodeo include Bareback Bronc Riding, Steer Wrestling, Mutton Bustin', Dynamite Dames, Girl's Break-Away Roping, Kid's Calf Scramble, Tie-Down Roping, Saddle Bronc, Ronald Burton Comedy Act, Team Roping, HEB Steer Saddling Challenge, Barrel Racing and Bull Riding.

Live performance on June 28 by The Original Debonairs. Kenny Orts will play on June 29.

The Sheriff's Posse has an active Drill Team (which will perform at 7:50 p.m. both nights of the Rodeo) and is always looking for ways to keep the Western heritage alive in Williamson County and surrounding areas.

Thanks to the donation of land by Kirk Michaux, the Sheriff's Posse will continue to be able to do just that.

Consumer flexes muscles: May retail sales up

Market & Economic Update

By Jeffrey W. McClure

With all the headlines it would be understandable to expect to see a wild ride in the market for the week ending 6/14, but the reality is much less exciting. The S&P 500 Stock Index (SPX), our preferred market indicator, managed to rise a mere 0.47% for the week and remains up only 3.86% from a year ago, at 2886.98. It remains well below its May 1 high of 2954 and below where it was at the end of September. This bull market is now ten years and one month old, making it either the longest running or second longest running bull in history, depending on whether you consider the 1990 market swoon to be a bear or just a correction.

The benchmark 10-year U.S. Treasury note yield fell another 4.8 basis points to 2.082% for the week, further exacerbating the yield curve inversion that traditionally precedes a recession. The 3-month T-bill rate remained significantly higher at 2.212%. Intermediate maturities dropped down to the 1.7% to 1.8% range, continuing to confirm the bond market's forecast of an economic slowdown coming in the next couple of years. West Texas Crude Oil declined 2.89% to $52.47 despite news of attacks on tankers in the Strait of Hormuz, putting the price down about 18.5% for one year. The downward trend in oil prices was widely credited to a slowing international economy.

The Economy

In a dose of good news, the most powerful force in the U.S. economy, the consumer, flexed its muscles this week as May's retail sales were reported by the Commerce Department as having risen a seasonally adjusted 0.5% from April. In the same report, the Department revised April's 0.2% decline to an increase of 0.3%. Those numbers are lagging indicators though while a leading indicator, the University of Michigan's Consumer Confidence Index dropped from a reading of 100 in May to 97.9 in early June.

Another breath of good news appeared in the news that U.S. Industrial Production rose 0.4% in May after sinking 0.4% in April. The month's rise in output failed to reverse the fact that manufacturing remains down an average of 0.4% per month so far this year. Capacity utilization, a measure of how much we are producing compared with our theoretical capacity, rose to 78.1% in May, a level about where the U.S. economy normally tops out. The good news was tempered by the realization that industrial production in the United States is only up 0.2% from this time last year. That number is surprising to some because there was an anticipation that the corporate tax cuts that went into effect at the beginning of last year would create more business investment and greater industrial output in the one to two years following. Capital business investment has been trending downward since October of last year defying that prediction. The one thing that has clearly come out of the tax cuts is that the federal deficit so far this year is running about 40% above where it was last year.

In a series of numbers and ratios that only an economist could love, we noted that business inventories continued to rise at both the retail and wholesale level. Rising inventories mean that at least part of domestic economic growth is being generated by companies buying more stock to sell than there are sales to consumers. Reports from those companies suggest that the buildup is a reaction to the fear of future tariff-related price increases. The problem with inventory buildup is that eventually the excess inventory must be reduced, and at that point, commercial purchases will slow down.

Overall, the current state of the U.S. economy remains strong and running at about its maximum capacity. Hiring has slowed but it seems likely that is because we are finally running out of people to hire as the job openings continue to rise well above the number of unemployed. It is worth remembering that the new, higher tariffs on Chinese imported goods have not yet filtered through to show in the business statistics. The economic engine that is the United States is being well reflected in the stock market as things are good but not getting much better. The worrisome condition of the bond market is consistent with good times today but the potential for not-so-good times in a year or two.

We continue to see a better than 50% probability of a relatively mild cyclical recession arriving sometime in 2020 but a lot of uncertainty between now and then. We also see a high potential for a profound and sustained growth period following that recession as we journey into the 2020s.

CEOS GOT AN $800K RAISE LAST YEAR. DID YOU?

Jim Hightower

ORDINARY WORKERS NOW HAVE TO WORK CENTURIES — OR EVEN MILLENNIA — TO MAKE WHAT THEIR CEOS MAKE IN A YEAR.

Congratulations on that nice pay raise you got last year. A 7 percent hike — wow!

After 40 years of stagnant wages, that uptick should help you pay off some of old credit card bills or get an upgrade on your 10-year-old pickup.

Oh, wait… you say you didn't get such a raise?

Oops, my mistake. It was the CEOs of corporate giants who reported to the Associated Press that they enjoyed a median jump of 7 percent last year. And, since their paychecks were already king-size, that amounted to an extra $800,000 in their take-home, jacking up their total yearly income to $12 million each.

Bear in mind that "median" means half of the corporate bosses grabbed more than 7 percent. For example, David Zaslav, honcho of the Discovery television network, got a 207 percent boost in pay, raising his total take in 2018 to $130 million.

These lavish payouts to top-floor bosses, combined with a miserliness toward rank-and-file employees who actually produce the corporate wealth, is creating an untenable income disparity, stretching inequality in our Land of Egalitarianism to the snapping point. The pay gap between aloof CEOs and typical employees nearly doubled last year at a range of corporate giants, from PayPal to CVS — and it tripled at Discovery.

AP's recent survey found that compensation inequality is now so extreme that a middle-wage employee at most major corporations would have to work 158 years to make as much as his or her chief executive was given last year alone. To amass as much pay as Zaslav pocketed in 2018, a typical Discovery employee would have to work 989 years!

When you hear corporate chieftains gloat that our economy is "booming," ask yourself: A boom for whom?

CEOs for Abortion

Rich Lowry

Clarity of thought and expression about moral issues is not a core competency of CEOs.

If anyone had any doubt, look no further than the "historic" pro-abortion statement by nearly 200 CEOs that ran in a full-page ad in The New York Times. It is a festival of absurdity and euphemism, an exercise in perverse virtue-signaling to a progressive audience that believes that maintaining one of the most permissive pro-abortion regimes in the developed world is a virtue.

The CEOs define abortion as "equality" ("Don't Ban Equality") and, of course, refer to it as "comprehensive reproductive care," the ubiquitous phrase that has the advantage of sounding like the opposite of what it's describing.

The CEOs contend that abortion is central to their businesses, which might be true if all of their companies had the same business model as Planned Parenthood. But Bloomberg L.P., Amalgamated Bank and H&M, to name three of the companies whose CEOs signed the ad, are hardly dependent on abortion to thrive.

The old saw was, "What's good for General Motors is good for America." Now, according to top CEOs, what's good for abortion is good for American business. They seem to consider abortion a crucial component of GDP just like personal consumption, business investment, government spending and net exports.

They argue that "equality in the workplace" is an important business issue, and it is impossible to achieve without unrestricted access to abortion. Any restriction "threatens the health, independence and economic stability of our employees and customers."

The idea that abortion is necessary for the health of women is one of the most misleading pro-abortion cliches. Comprehensive data from Florida last year shows that only a small percentage involve a threat to the mother's life or health, and pro-life laws account for such cases -- even the sweeping Alabama law has a health exception.

The contention that restrictions put "the economy at risk" is nonsensical. Are we supposed to believe that the reduction of the abortion rate in the U.S. from its high in 1980 of 29.3 abortions per 1,000 women of childbearing age to its post-Roe v. Wade low of 14.6 as of 2014 has been a calamity for corporate America?

By this standard, Utah must be a terrible place to do business since its abortion rate is so low, and the District of Columbia an enticing place to do business since its abortion rate is so high. (To the contrary, Forbes ranks Utah as the second-best state for business in the country.)

The implication is that these CEOs prefer that their employees and customers not become mothers, or if they are mothers, not have more children. It apparently hasn't occurred to them that unborn children will grow up to buy their products or perhaps work for their firms one day.

The CEO ad is another sign that the debate over abortion has entered a new phase. It isn't enough anymore to say that abortion should be safe, legal and rare, the old Bill Clinton formulation, because that implies a moral disapproval. Now, abortion is a positive good.

Pro-life laws will have to prevail against this inflamed pro-abortion sentiment -- and the swath of big business that shares it.

CTC to host Saturday Start preview day

Central Texas College (CTC) will host Saturday Start, a preview day of CTC academic programs and student services, for recent high school graduates on Saturday, June 22. The free event will be in the Anderson Campus Center (Bldg. 156) from 8 a.m. to 12 p.m. and is a one-stop information session to help these graduates in their decision to pursue higher education by introducing them to the many available programs of study offered by CTC.

Attendees will meet representatives from various academic programs and academic advisors to help them establish an associate degree plan, discuss transfer credit options and get hands-on assistance with the admissions process, financial aid and registration. Attendees can also explore career options available through short-term certificate programs to prepare for in-demand jobs and meet representatives for Texas A&M-Central Texas to discuss the transfer of CTC credits towards a bachelor's degree.

Participants in Saturday Start are under no obligation to attend CTC. The event is simply a way to acquaint recent graduates to what CTC has to offer and help them get a jump start on the admissions process and their degree or certificate plan should they decide to begin their college education at CTC. It serves as a step to help those undecided about college get a first glimpse of the college experience.

Parents are also welcome to attend Saturday Start and learn about CTC student service offerings, financial aid options, academics and campus policies. Students and parents will also be treated to tour of the CTC campus. Anyone interested in attending CTC's Saturday Start should register online at bit.ly/satstart19 or call the CTC Guidance and Counseling office at 254-526-1409. The first 100 to register will receive a free t-shirt.

Hernandez graduates military training

U.S. Air Force Reserve Airman 1st Class Jake B. Hernandez graduated from basic military training at Joint Base San Antonio-Lackland, San Antonio, Texas.

The airman completed an intensive, eight-week program that included training in military discipline and studies, Air Force core values, physical fitness, and basic warfare principles and skills.

Airmen who complete basic training also earn four credits toward an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

He is a 2011 graduate of Belton High School, Belton, Texas. He earned an associate degree in 2018 from Temple College, Temple.

Sam Houston State University Spring 2019 President's List

Ellie Bragg of Salado was listed on the President's Honor Roll at Sam Houston State University in Huntsville, Texas. Undergraduates who have achieved a perfect 4.0 grade point average in all work attempted while enrolled in not less than 12 semester hours are recognized.

Arts, Music, Performance and Dance summer camps offered at Cultural Activities Center July 8-12

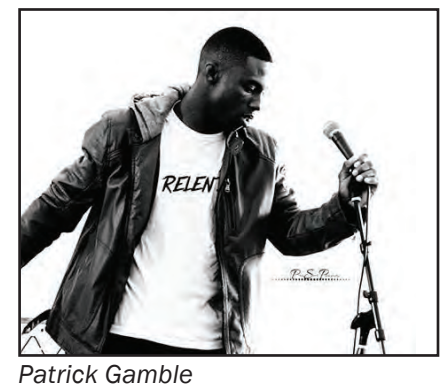
The Cultural Activities Center is accepting registration for Camp AAMP'D (Academy of Arts, Music, Performance, and Dance) summer camp for ages 7 and up this July. Camp AAMP'D, runs July 8-12 with a performance on Friday, July 12 at 7 p.m. This camp is brought to the CAC by AAMPD, a nonprofit organization. All aspiring musicians of all skill levels are welcome. Registration is $65 and is Monday through Friday from 10 a.m- 5 p.m. and includes breakfast, lunch, snack, backpack, t-shirt, and all supplies.

This will be the fifth annual summer Camp AAMP'D which will be instructed by a team led by Jamelle "Zamar" Houston. Instructors include Justin Arrington, Jacob Lusk, Patrick Gamble and more. Kids will learn about show biz and will get hands-on experience performing on a stage in front of an audience at the conclusion of the camp. This camp has several talented musicians as its instructors, as we introduce a few members of the team for summer 2019.

Jamelle "Zamar" Houston is a Temple native. He was recognized by Jazz musician, Wynton Marsalis as an outstanding musician. Houston toured internationally with pop singer Conrad Sewell and has performed on The Tonight Show with Jimmy Fallon, Good Morning America, The Audience Network, and NBC Show "This is Us". Houston currently lives in Los Angeles as a music director, live keyboardist, studio musician and touring musician.

Jacob Lusk

Jamelle "Zamar" Houston



Patrick Gamble

Justin Arrington

Justin Arrington, is a Los Angeles based recording artist and contemporary dancer. Justin was recently featured on a project entitled "Sun Goes Down" with producers Lost Capitol Music and Baiun. This song has reached over half a million streams on Spotify! Justin is no stranger to the stage and is teaming up with AAMPD for the 3rd time to work with our young dancers.

Another Temple native is Patrick Gamble. Patrick is an Austin, TX-based Hip Hop Artist. Patrick recently released his Sophomore project entitled "Whatever it Takes" on all digital platforms. Patrick has performed on many great stages such as SXSW, one of America's largest music festivals held in Austin, TX. He will be coming back home to teach our Hip Hop 101 class at Camp AAMPD.

Jacob Lusk is poised to be one of the music industry's next great talents. Jacob's humble beginnings took him from the choir loft of his hometown church to winning over the hearts of over thirty million television viewers weekly! Jacob finished 5th place on American Idol Season 10. His Rendition of "God Bless the Child" was considered by judges to be "the best ever" on the American Idol show. Jacob will be coming in to teach Voice 101 at Camp AAMPD this year.

The Cultural Activities Center, located at 3011 North Third Street in Temple, TX, offers many classes throughout the summer. For more information or to register, visit www.cacarts.org or call 254-773-9926.

Salado Reunion brings 130 together at SIS

The Salado Reunion had a large crowd on June 8 at the Salado Intermediate School cafeteria with more than 130 in attendance this year.

Several individuals were recognized. This year, the one who traveled farthest was Danny Ellis, who traveled from California to attend. The oldest graduate in attendance was E.L. Melvin, from the Class of 1945. The oldest teacher present was Patsy Guest Sanford Wilson, from the class of 1950. She taught at Salado school from 1957–1970. The youngest graduate in attendance was Lacy Jane (Bartlett) Teran, from the Class of 2006. The youngest child in attendance was Amber Nicole Gidley.

The reunion has for 93 years, provided an opportunity for residents of Salado, former teachers and coaches and their families and friends to enjoy a day of visiting together. This year's attendees enjoyed a time of visiting and reminiscing before and after eating a catered meal, served by Captain Reds of Hutto.

The Salado Reunion is always held on the second Saturday of June. Newcomers are invited as well as long-time residents and former residents of Salado.

Opening lead — ten of hearts.

Assume you're East and your partner leads the ten of hearts against three notrump. Declarer covers with the jack, and you realize it would be wrong to play your king because declarer, who certainly has the ace, would thereby acquire an additional entry to dummy's diamonds.

After the jack holds, South plays a club to the ace, leads the jack of diamonds and finesses. Again you duck, since your only hope of defeating the contract lies in preventing declarer from utilizing dummy's long suit. He thereupon leads another diamond to the queen, but this time you take the trick and shift to the queen of spades.

As a result of your holding up the king of hearts at trick one and the king of diamonds at trick three, South eventually goes down, and you have a right to congratulate yourself on your defense. At the same time, your ebullience is tempered by the realization that you were pretty lucky to defeat the contract, since if declarer had played correctly, nothing could have stopped him from making five notrump!

All he had to do to ensure success was to play the four of hearts from dummy at trick one instead of the jack. After taking the ten with the ace, he leads the jack of diamonds and finesses. When the jack wins, he repeats the finesse.

You take the king and return a spade or a club. South wins and leads a heart to dummy's Q-J, establishing an entry to dummy that enables him to score five diamond tricks as well as two tricks in each of the other three suits.

Thus, if declarer stops to think things over before making his first play at trick one, he's sure to wind up a winner regardless of how good a defender you are.

As you prepare your home for warmer weather, consider these tips to help keep your home cool.

- If you have less than 11 to 12 inches of attic insulation, consider installing more.
- Do a walk through around your home and check for drafts and leaks. Seal all the cracks and holes on the exterior perimeter of your home to prevent air leaks. Apply durable weather stripping around the edges of all doors leading to the outside.
- Have your HVAC professionally serviced before the start of the cooling season. Replace filters regularly. Clean and vacuum heating ducts and vents.
- Close the fireplace damper and doors.
- Replace lightbulbs with Light Emitting Diode (LED) bulbs. LED bulbs fit standard light sockets and are the most energy-efficient light bulb option. They have lower wattage than incandescent bulbs, but emit the same light output. This allows them to produce the same amount of light, but use less energy.
