Aldermen will consider approving Economic Development policy; continue Sanctuary negotiations

THURSDAY, JUNE 11, 2015

Salado

BY TIM FLEISCHER EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Following the signing of a Letter of Intent between the Village of Salado and Sanctuary Development Company last week, Salado aldermen will discuss at their June 18 meeting a resolution to participate in Economic Development Incentive Agreements.

The Resolution will also adopt guidelines and criteria for granting tax abatements and sales tax rebates outlined in a ninepage policy.

After adopting the Economic Development resolution, aldermen will consider a Chapter 380 Development Agreement with a corporation that is pursuing the purchase and redevelopment of the Stagecoach Inn property, according to City Administrator Kim Foutz. This agreement will not include property tax abatements at this time.

Foutz said that it is not unusual for a municipality to enter into discussions of incentives and abatements with a potential business or a potential purchaser of an existing business.

Before the Village of Salado can approve any Chapter 380 property tax abatements, it must first identify Tax Reinvestment Zones (TRZ) and conduct a public hearing on the proposed TRZ.

The Village is continuing negotiations with Sanctuary Development to include the wastewater treatment plant, the Development Planned District (a zoning distinction that will allow Sanctuary to set its own design standards regarding such things as setbacks, widths of roads, sidewalks, lighting and other aesthetic items, incentives and financing.

Possible incentives are outlined in the Economic Development guidelines and policy statement that is slated for adoption on June 18.

The Economic Development policy states that priority consideration is given for projects that meet these criteria:

· Located in or contribute to Enterprise zones, designated areas, development areas or target areas.

• Result in a development with little or no additional cost to the Village.

• Result in 100,000 square feet or more of newly constructed facilities at new or existing business locations.

• Result in at least $10 million or more of new taxable appraised value to the tax rolls.

• Result in 200 or more new, permanent jobs

• Result in five or more new, permanent jobs in designated areas.

tives and financing are part of the ongoing negotiations with Sanctuary Development.

The Letter of Intent with Sanctuary Development includes broad terms for the construction of a public wastewater system, annexation of Sanctuary and permission for the development company to set its own design standards.

The Village on April 29 requested that the Sanctuary Development gift the site (for the wastewater treatment plant) of a minimum of six acres and the Texas Pollutant Discharge Elimination Permit (TP-#WQ0014898001 DEP) to the Village and in turn the Village would contract with the Sanctuary to be the developer of the wastewater treatment plant, Royal Street lines and lift station."

'The site for the wastewater treatment plant will be donated and the permit transferred as part of the agreement," Foutz stated in a media release about the Letter of Intent. "In exchange, the Village will provide sewer service to Sanctuary as well as Main Street and other areas of the Village."

Design of the wastewater treatment plant and the lines will begin immediately. It is expected to be operational within 18 months.

Foutz told Salado Village Voice this week that the Village is waiting to hear a final decision on the $1 million grant from the U.S. Department of Commerce on an Economic Development Agency grant for construction of a wastewater system for the Main Street and Royal Street areas of Salado.

The Village will have to match the $1 million in federal funds with more

• Result in two or more permanent jobs in target areas.

• Result in a calculated direct payback of five or less years.

• Result in new minimum annual local sales tax of $50,000 or more annually.

• Result in new minimum annual hotel motel tax of $100,000 or more annually.

For real property tax abatement, the policy outlines minimum requirements in terms of the square footage of new construction, the creation of full-time jobs, the improvement to real property values.

Negotiations with The Sanctuary include incentives such as property tax abatements, sales tax rebates and hotel occupancy tax rebates, annexation of the development and public financing of infrastructure of the development.

Developers have a myriad of methods to fund infrastructure, including formation of Municipal Utility Districts (MUD), Municipal Management Districts (MMD), Tax Increment Reinvestment Zones (TIRZ) and Public Improvement Districts (PID).

Robert Sulaski, CEO of Sanctuary Development, said last year in a meeting that the developer hosted for local residents and business owners that a PID is one of the ways that may be utilized to fund the infrastructure necessary for the 300-acre development.

PIDs have been successful in many other states and are relatively new to public financing in Texas.

According to Texas statute, PID money can district; and (15) the development, rehabilitation, or expansion of affordable housing.

Before it can be formed, a proposed PID must have appraisals conducted on the property in its current unimproved state and market-analyzed appraisals of the property once the improvements are made.

A market analysis must be conducted for the proposed improvements in the PID.

assessment and An service plan must also be developed to define what improvements will be built and when they will be completed.

The assessment plan will include the period of time that the assessment will be applied within the boundaries of the PID. Those assessments will be paid for by the developer until property within the PID sells and is developed by the end user, whether it is a commercial building or residential building. At that time, the owner of the individual property then becomes liable for the PID assessment.

The end user pays the assessment based upon the appraised value of the improved property with the buildings.

The funding considerations, development design and annexation agreements are all part of the continuing discussions between the Village and the Sanctuary Development Corporation.

Developers plan on premiering the The Sanctuary in 2017 with the completion of the boutique hotel, live music venue, assisted living facility and some retail spaces. Other residential units will follow shortly thereafter with a total build-out of 20 years.

Beginning at 6 p.m., the Divine Desserts evening will feature a fajita buffet, silent and live auctions, live music by the GTOs and beverages. Tickets are $80 per person or $150 per couple.

Sirena soon to be surrounded by a sea of flowers courtesy of local Eagle Scout project

Members of Boy Scout Troops 108 and 109, along with friends, family, and community members joined Eagle Scout candidate Ryan Cook June 6 in creating an accent flower bed surrounding Artist Troy Kelly's Sirena sculpture near Salado Creek.

Cook had first approached Keep Salado Beautiful late in 2014 on projects within the community that need to be completed. Susan Terry, the representative for Keep Salado Beautiful, presented him with the basic requirements for the project at the Sirena sculpture and both agreed on the terms of the project completion.

In early May, initial planning was complete and Cook met again with Troy Kelly and Keep Salado Beautiful for final approval. Cook began coordination for supplies, equipment, and materials to complete the project with Apache Stone of Salado donating the white Texas limestone to the project that would make up the border of the flower bed.

Early in the morning, volunteers gathered at Salado Creek to begin work on the project by first clearing grass from the surface surrounding the Sirena. By late morning preliminary work was complete and the stones were starting to be set in the accent flower bed.

Shortly after a pizza lunch provided by Kelly, workers began the final stage of the project by adding new top soil to the beds in preparation for Keep Salado Beautiful to add the plants.

CASA names new executive director

Court Appointed Special Advocated (CASA) of Bell & Coryell Counties announced that it has chosen Mance Bowden as Executive Director to move the mission of the program forward in Bell & Coryell Counties.

Bowden most recently served as the Volunteer Coordinator at CASA for the Highland Lakes Area in Kingsland, Texas.

"CASA is very pleased to welcome Mance whose professional accomplishments and passion for protecting abused and neglected children will serve our organization well," said Yveta Phillips, CASA Board President. "I believe that he is a perfect fit, and I look forward with great anticipation to the things our organization will accomplish during his tenure."

Bowden brings over 20 years of private and public sector experience including serving as Legislative Director to former-State Representative Kenneth "Kim" Brimer (F-Fort Worth) and as Chief Committee Clerk to the House Business & Industry Committee.

He has also served as the Grassroots & Legislative Director with the Texas Credit Union League, and national Executive Director of the Young Republican National Federation. He is a graduate of Baylor University with a degree in Political Science.

"Being selected as Executive Director for CASA of Bell and Coryell Counties is a true honor," said Bowden. "Together, with CASA's Board of Directors, judicial and human services partners, numerous community volunteers, donors and like-minded children's advocates, I believe together we can restore the fundamental needs of vulnerable children to feel safe, secure and supported. Often, it takes just one caring adult to forever change the path in a child's life. I know CASA volunteers can be those childhood change-makers."

The mission of CASA of Bell and Coryell Counties is to provide uniquely screened, trained and supervised community volunteers to advocate for abused, neglected and exploited children. CASA works in partnership and collaboration with the CPS Courts of Bell and Coryell Counties, the Texas Department of Child Protective Services and other community resources to

SUMC women raise funds for Project Backpack

Women's Ministry at Salado United Methodist Church is raising funds to support the Salado Family Relief "Back to School" program, specifically the purchase of backpacks for school-age kids.

The goal for this year's fundraiser is to collect donations for 70 backpacks for the 2015-2016 school year.

A tax-deductible donation of $25 will provide a high-quality backpack for a Salado student.

Founded in January, 1999, the Salado Family Relief organization provides assistance to Salado families and individuals in need and is completely funded by donations from the community.

The "Back to School" program on Aug. 11 and 13 provides gift cards to qualified families to help with the purchase of school supplies.

"Project Backpack" is an important part of the program and this makes the sixth year that it has been sponsored by Women's Ministry at SUMC. Last year the group provided 60 backpacks and also made a donation of $1,000 to help supply gift cards.

To make a donation to "Project Backpack", call 254-947-5482 or send an email to marilyn.griffin@ medtronic.com.

The BOCCC estimates that approximately $250,000 will be needed to finish the clinic and purchase additional dental equipment. A fund raising effort was begun last November to raise the needed funds. Dubbed the "Building Smiles" campaign, thus far the BOCCC has raised about $75,000. A fundraising Building Smiles dinner will be held on September 1 at Tenroc Ranch in Salado. Tickets for the event will go on sale later this summer.

The building, to house the dental clinic, was donated to the BOCCC, and was formerly a church. The current work being done is interior demolition in preparation for the construction of the dental clinic. When finished, the new clinic will have six dental treatment rooms, a reception area, and offices. Currently the BOCCC has only two dental treatment rooms.

The new clinic will be located at 1508 Oleta Street in Belton, just down from the current location of the BOCCC. Volunteers to help with demolition and construction are needed. Contact the BOCCC for additional information.

About the BOCCC: It is a medical and dental ministry which opened its doors in 2010 to provide care to the underserved populations who live in the Belton or Salado ISD. It is sponsored by 14 area churches of various Christian denominations. Since opening the clinic has had over 6,700 patient visits and has grown from three hours a week to fifteen hours a week. It is staffed primarily by volunteers.

Program will provide housing stabilization and support services to Veterans and their families

Veterans and their families who are at risk of being homeless in south central Texas now have an additional resource to find housing. Volunteers of America Texas, a faithbased nonprofit dedicated to helping the vulnerable reach their full potential, received more than $1.9 million from the United States Department of Veterans Administration to end homelessness among veterans. The Supportive Services for Veteran Families program will provide housing stabilization and supportive services to those who have served the country and their families. The organization will serve about 450 families over the three-year term of the grant, who are either homeless or at risk for being homeless, hoping to put a dent in the number of veterans who make up roughly 12 percent of the adult homeless population. "There is a shortage of affordable housing options for our veterans. These are people who made sacrifices to serve and defend our country. We are grateful for this opportunity to serve them and their families," said Angela King, president and CEO of Volunteers of America Texas. Case managers will work with veterans and their families to coordinate services and address any barriers to self-sufficiency. The SSVF program also will provide rent and utility assistance to help families who are at risk-of losing housing or connect homeless families to appropriate housing. Eligible veterans' families must have low-income and reside in a shelter, on the street or be in danger of losing housing in one of the following counties: Bastrop, Bell, Blanco, Burnet, Caldwell, Comal, Coryell, Gillespie, Gonzales, Guadalupe, Hays, Kendall, Kerr or Williamson counties. "Our goal is not to replace the efforts that are being made to mitigate homelessness among our veterans but to integrate those efforts to end homelessness," King added.

Outreach will be conducted with several referral sources including homeless shelters, the VA, South Texas Veterans Health Care System, veterans' centers, churches, schools and on the street.

SSVF is the first veteran-specific grant for VOA Texas, which complements the efforts of other national affiliates who have already implemented SSVF and other veteran specific programs. About Volunteers of locations in more than 30 urban and rural communities, Volunteers of America Texas has been helping those who need the most help for close to 100 years. War on Climate Change

President Barack Obama is less than stalwart in the fight against ISIS and doesn't seem overly concerned about Vladimir Putin's predation in Ukraine or China's aggression in the South China Sea. It is the fight against climate change, an allegedly dire threat to the nation's security, that brings out his inner Churchill.

In remarks to the Coast Guard Academy commencement, Obama pledged his undying hostility to climate change and his determination to fight it on the beaches and in the fields. He called it "one of the most severe threats" we face and "an immediate risk to our national security."

He hailed the Coast Guard for building more fuel-efficient cutters, and the Marines for deploying with portable solar panels. It was one of the most insipid calls to arms ever made by an American commander in chief, and there is unlikely to be much competition until President Elizabeth Warren rallies the U.S. Navy against income inequality. From the president's urgency, you would think that climate change is beheading American hostages and taking over large swathes of Middle Eastern countries, toward the end of establishing a hostile empire. climate-change The reality is that, even accepting his premises about the state of the science, he can only point to laughably tenuous connections between climate change and national security.

The president cited drought as one of the causes of the Syrian civil war. Yet an article in the journal Middle Eastern Studies notes that Israel, Jordan and Lebanon experienced drought in 2007-2008. None of them collapsed into a genocidal hellhole. Nor is drought unusual in Syria. Quite reasonably, the article counsels focusing on the corrupt and dysfunctional Syria government as the fundamental cause of the uprising. Not to mention the fact that countries all over the Middle East and North Africa experienced revolts at the same time.

The president warned of how climate change could create "mass migrations," the kind of disruption that a White House document says will disproportionately affect Africa and Asia. Even if this is true, how will it implicate our national security? The United States was content to stand by while 800,000 people died in the Rwandan genocide and more than 5 million in Congo's civil war. If that mass slaughter didn't move us, we aren't going to mobilize the troops to manage climate-driven mass migrations.

Another climate-change hot spot is the Arctic, with President Obama predicting that summers could be icefree there by around 2050. Man the battle stations? Well, no. A Brookings Institution article notes that "what we're seeing in the Arctic is that receding ice is triggering commercial competition and governance cooperation; not conflict."

Typically, the president implied clear and present dangers from climate change, although the "consensus" science he purports to champion projects effects on extreme weather roughly 80 years from now. By then today's cadets will have long ago passed the baton of the fearsome battle against climate change to subsequent generations.

Of course, if climate change were a true enemy

Readers on local sewer, The Sanctuary, deer population

To the Editor: Almost seven months ago the citizens of Salado voted to tax themselves to the tune of more than $10 million so that a sewer collection and treatment system could be built to benefit primarily the main street business district as well as the eventual west side development and the schools. It certainly was not intended to be an enticement or incentive to a developer. To date, nothing has been accomplished; at least that is how things appear. Is that the case, or are things progressing and occurring behind the scenes that we are not being informed about? The sad truth is that yes things are occurring but the folks who will be footing the bill are not being kept informed and are not being given the opportunity to scrutinize the planning so that they can be assured that their money is being well spent and being spent as intended. Why?

The point of democratic governance is to allow the people a voice and an opportunity to participate in the decisions that impact their lives. A major part of that democratic governance is the responsibility of the elected leaders to be open and honest with regards to the negotiations, discussions, and decision making processes that affect their constituency. That is not happening in Salado. The meetings behind closed doors and the failure to inform and keep the public involved in the process foster the appearance of malfeasance and dishonesty, no matter whether that appearance is real or perceived. A mayor's blog on the internet with very vague references to "negotiations" and essentially saying "trust us" is not how a democratic government is supposed to work. The citizens and taxpayers of Salado deserve more, much more from their elected officials.

Greg Fariss Salado

To the Editor:

The Village Aldermen appear to be struggling with making a decision on who will best serve Salado tax payers; joint venture with The Sanctuary or a contractual relationship with the City of Belton. Option 1) Go with the Sanctuary. Probably means approving a (PID) Public Improvement District. This will require The Village to issue a series of bonds to supply The Sanctuary with on going financing for their infrastructure as each successive project is completed. Additionally, The Village will be responsible for millions more in bond issues to build and operate a waste water collection system along with a waste water processing plant. Option 2) Belton is now in the process of bringing a trunk line to within 5 miles of Salado City Limits. Kasberg stated that the connection with a 6 inch line could be made for 6.5 million. This appears to be more viable and probably the least cost. No waste water processing plant to build and operate.

Does Salado have a deer overpopulation? I think so and others do also. Just a few months ago a petition was circulated to encourage our City Officials to do something.

signatures Numerous were obtained. Unknown to those of us working on this project, Mayor Blancett had already asked Alderwoman Amber Preston Dankert to work on this project. She does have a plan and a deer count will be done after the fawns are born. This count will be evaluated by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Dept. They will advise Alderwoman Dankert as to their thoughts about management of Deer in Salado.

On May 29, I attended a workshop at Texas State University sponsored by the Texas Parks & Wildlife Dept. on managing of overabundant white-tailed deer in the urban community. I was accompanied by my Son, Daniel Raney an avid outdoors photographer. There were some their ugly heads.

It is a tedious process that evolves at a pace that often seems either too slow or too fast. Details slow the process, but shortcuts can lead to a disastrous end.

An open communication policy has been our focus from the beginning. It still is.

Communication is important, but sometimes the reporting is not easy since people often tend to "read between the lines", seeking agendas not there.

Each issue the aldermen/lady face, changes and tweaks the situation until it is completed.

Skip Blancett

Negotiations change things. This week's report on the projects will be different than last week's report, but that is part of the forward progress as we check off the details. Next week will also be different. There is no misleading. It changes as we go because we are going forward until we get there.

As I quickly ate my morning bowl of oatmeal today, I smiled as I remembered the encouraging messages waiting in the bottom of the oatmeal

Now the bottom of the bowl more often reads: "All gone dummy."

Sometimes I miss those encouraging hands that kept me held up and standing tall as I set off to conquer the day's problems.

As Charlie Chaplin once wrote: "You can't see the rainbow if you are looking down."

Thank you for all the hands offered each day encouraging and holding us steady as we put forth our best efforts to get to the bottom of the bowl - for our village.

The New Face of Noplace, USA Big hotel chains are opening fake boutique lines to snare travelers who prefer independently run lodging

As everyone who travels a lot soon learns, it's easy to forget where you are. Those big chains uniformly offer all the charm of Noplace, USA.

This disorienting sameness has become more dizzying in recent years as the chains have merged and conglomerated.

Weary travelers might choose to stay overnight in one of the Residence Inn hotels, or a Courtyard, the TownePlace Suites, or even splurge for a night in a Ritz-Carlton. In fact, though, you're in a Marriott — the $14-billion-ayear amalgamation that owns all of the above hotel chains, along with 15 others.

Marriott is among the world's 10 largest hotel operators. Combined, these companies run 113 different chains.

Naturally, as uniformity and conglomeration have taken over the industry, a consumer rebellion has erupted. More and more travelers - especially younger ones - are seeking out independent hotels, unique inns, and local B&Bs. They prefer the un-corporate places that have cool names like the Moxy, Canopy, and Vīb.

But, oh crud, guess what? All three of those are just offshoots of corporate hotel chains that opened in the past year. These intentionally hip brands belong, respectively, to Marriott, Hilton, and Best Western.

Known in the industry as "lifestyle hotels," these fake independent lodgings are the hot new niche for mega-conglomerates trying to nab travelers in search of authenticity. "The big hotel chains are in the business of pretending they aren't big chains," says Pauline Frommer, editor of the well-regarded Frommer's travel guides. "They want you to think they are boutiques."

It sounds sneaky. But do they think that duping customers is a good strategy? Once travelers realize we're being deceived, we'll get angry. And that's bad for business.

Central Texans for Israel host wine tasting with HaYovel director June 22

Central Texans for Israel will host a reception fundraiser 6 p.m. June 22 at the Goodnight Ranch, 11780 FM 2484, Joshua Waller, the Director of Operations of HaYovel (serving Isreali farmers) will talk about the group's work in Israel.

The stated mission of HaYovel, according to its website, is "to take an active role in and education people about the prophetic restoration of the land of Israel that is happening today."

"Our goal is to equip every volunteer to be an educated, effective, positive ambassador for Judea and Samaria," states Tommey Waller, who founded HaYoval in 2004.

Since its founding, Ha-Yovel has brought 1,700

Seven Ph.D Biologists along with others discussed various topics on this issue. The Mayor of Lakeway, Texas presented their experience dealing with overpopulation over the last 18 years. Their yearly budget for this is some $15,000. A TPWD biologist discussed how Holly Lake in East Texas manages their problem.

There are approximately 1.5 million car crashes and 150 deaths per year in the U.S. as reported by insurance companies. Texas ranks number 4 in crashes. The actual numbers are probably higher because the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration's figures rely on inconsistent state reporting. Lime disease is extensive in the states of Pennsylvania and New York. Texas only reported 66 cases last year. Salado has minimal records of dead deer found and disposed of. There are essentially no records of crashes or deaths. All communities with an overpopulation report extensive damage to landscape. This is an expensive replacement cost. Health and disease of the herd becomes an issue in time and the antlers deform. Dead deer attract more vultures. Disposal of dead deer is a great expense to the cities and counties. Austin has a No Feed Ordinance that is enforced. Lakeway also has the same but requires little enforcement. Their citizens are well informed and cooperate with management. Some of the deer corn is contaminated with Aflotixin that is toxic to deer. This toxin is produced by a fungus. Corn only supplies 10 percent of protein needed by deer. It is like candy. There are about four methods of management that have worked. Sharp shooters have been hired. This is expensive and most city laws don't permit this. Organized bow hunts are the least expensive and Salado is considering this. Sterilization programs are expensive costing some $1,000 per deer. Trap, transport, and translocate (TTT) works but hard to find sites for relocation. And, a permit must be obtained from TPWD. It is also expensive. Trap, transport, and process (TTP) is currently used by Lakeway and averages $600 per deer. Management must be a continuing process. Deer can re-produce at age six months. Deer herds double in size about every four to six years. Those of us that are concerned have no intention of suggesting exterminating the entire herd. The goal is to limit the size that our lands can support. TPWD maintain good statistics on the numbers.

More articles will follow as we approach a Salado deer count in or around August. We will also ask Texas Parks and Wildlife

Republican women to hear about water issues from Clearwater manager

Salado Area Republican Women and guests will hear Aaron Dirk, general manager to the Clearwater Underground Water Conservation Water District, discuss water issues relevant to Bell County at the June 25 dinner meeting.

The meeting commences at 6 p.m. in the Meadows Room of the Civic Center.

The Clearwater Underground Water Conservation District was formed in 1989 to protect and manage the groundwater resources of Bell County. The District regulates water well drilling, spacing and pumping. It also manages groundwater conservation quality and transport. Groundwater resources include portions of two aquifers – the Edwards and the Trinity, both of which are considered major aquifers.

According to the Texas Water Development Board (TWDB), during the year 2000, Texans consumed nearly 15 billion gallons of water each day. Of this, approximately 9 billion gallons, or 60%, was groundwater. The TWDB has identified nine major aquifers and 20 minor aquifers throughout the state.

Aaron will address local concerns and the results from the recent rains.

He will also discuss the U.S Geological Survey gaging of Salado Creek springs in the downtown com or 281-787-1073.

four spades on the bidding shown, and West led a diamond. East won with the ten, cashed the ace and continued with the king. South ruffed with the nine of spades and was overruffed by West with the king. West then returned a low club, taken by declarer with the ace.

South now proceeded to make the rest of the tricks and his contract. He cashed the ace of trumps and led a low trump to dummy's six. After cashing the ace of hearts and discarding a club, declarer continued with the queen of hearts, planning to discard if East followed low. But East covered with the king, ruffed by declarer, and South then crossed to the ten of trumps to discard his remaining club on the jack of hearts.

At the second table, where Dominique Pilon, then an up-and-coming young star, held the West hand, four spades went down one. Again three rounds of diamonds were led, and again declarer ruffed with the nine. But here young Pilon did not overruff! Instead he discarded a heart.

Declarer naturally assumed that East had the missing king of trumps. So, in an effort to avoid losing a trump trick if East had the K-7, South played the ace and another club. He was planning to ruff his third club in dummy as soon as possible and then take the "marked" trump finesse.

Alas, South's plan did not succeed. East won the club with the nine and led a fourth round of diamonds.

The event is made possible through a grant from the Texas Commission on the Arts and the generous support of Tablerock.

The Heart of Texas Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution will have a colonial color guard to present the colors during the Fourth of July picnic sponsored by the Salado Historical Society.

Patriotic theme set for Fourth of July picnic

Salado Historical Society will host its annual Independence Day celebration with a picnic at 6 p.m. July 4 at the Salado Intermediate School.

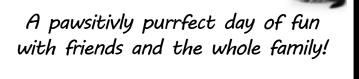

This is a community wide celebration that will include music, colonial reenactors, singing, a ceremonial signing of the Declaration of Independence, and, of course, a pot luck meal.

The Salado Historic Society will be pleased to again provide fried chicken and drinks of iced tea and lemonade for the picnic. Attendees are asked to bring a side dish, salad or dessert to share with the community.

A patriotic program is planned to celebrate the signing of the Declaration of Independence 239 years ago. Heart of Texas Chapter (#26) of the Sons of the leading up to and follow-American Revolution will ing the signing of the Decbegin the evening with a colonial color guard presenting the U.S. flag, with local children leading the community in the Pledge of Allegiance. Following a pot luck dinner, the children will lead the community in singing several popular patriotic songs familiar to everyone. A local brass ensemble will accompany the singing. Colonial reenactors will recite quotes from seven involved in declaring the 13 colonies "free and independent" from England. Following the re-enactors presentation of events laration of Independence, a copy of the Declaration will be signed by all participants as a symbol of our continuing freedom and independence as a nation in celebration of this, our 239th year of independence..

5502 or 721-1807 tfnb Two 12 acre lots on How to address a mold problem after weeks of rain BBB helps you find a check for visible mold mold remediation business you can trust.

Last month, severe storms and flash flooding affected several areas of Central Texas. Many of those affected are now dealing with a common result of water damage: mold. Mold is a factor consumers may not immediately consider, but one that can cause serious structure damage and health problems if it is not taken care of. According to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), mold reproduces by releasing tiny spores that float through the air, invisible to the naked eye. It is able to grow anywhere a food source, oxygen and moisture are present, and is especially prevalent after extensive rain or flooding. Excess moisture in homes and businesses due to flooding is a cause for concern because it provides breeding conditions for mold. It is important to act quickly when cleaning and repairing a home or business after flooding because the longer it grows, the more damage it can cause. Also, remember that if you clean up the mold but don't fix the water problem, the mold will most likely come back. Better Business Bureau serving Central, Coastal, Southwest Texas and the Permian Basin offers the following advice if you think you may have mold: Inspect for moisture problems and document results. According to the EPA, consumers should inspect the interior and exterior of the building, whether it is a business or home. Look for evidence of moisture and mold problems like water damage or stains on the walls or ceilings, foundation cracks that leak water and peeling paint. Also, growth, wet or damp spots and a musty odor.

Discard items with visible signs of mold growth. Unfortunately, it's not possible to salvage items with mold growth (sofas, carpeting. mattresses, towels, etc.), especially if they have been wet tor more than 48 hours and not properly dried. Solid wood furniture can be saved if surface cleaning removes any signs of mold. When in doubt, throw it out! Know your risks and possible side effects. There are several health risks associated with mold and mold growth. Many people may experience allergic reactions and other respiratory issues when mold is present. Exposure to mold can cause symptoms such as eye irritation, wheezing and skin irritation. Extreme reactions may include fever and shortness of breath. Mold can also trigger asthma episodes.

according to Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). They are the most studied molds in medical research, and are associated with numerous respiratory disorders. Stachybotrys molds grow on material such as wood, paper and cardboard. Commonly called "black mold," this mold requires very wet or high, humid conditions for days or weeks in order to grow. Be Proactive. To control mold growth, control moisture. If you notice a leak in your shower faucet or sink, repair it immediately to avoid the ideal habitat for mold. Clean and dry any wet or damp surfaces within 24 to 48 hours. Vent bathrooms, kitchens and other moisture-generating sources to reduce indoor humidity and prevent mold growth. If you do have mold, BBB advises: Do your research before hiring a mold remediation business or contractor. In 2014, BBB received several consumer complaints nationwide against Mold and Mildew Inspection/ Removal/Remediation services. Most complaints reported problems with CONTINUED ON, PG. 4C

When local governments make decisions they are required to publish a newspaper notice to let you know. But that could change. Local governmental entities across the state want to bury their public notices on little seen, rarely visited government websites. What you don't know will affect you personally! If it is not in the newspaper, you won't know about it.
