

Local candidates stricken from May 7 ballots

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Omissions in filings by four local candidates will result in their names not appearing on the May 7 Village of Salado or the Salado ISD Board of Trustees election ballots.

Local officials are also finding out that they are not alone in facing this issue. Cities across the state, including Cedar Park and Kilgore, have learned that they must reject the applications for election due to fatal omissions concerning residency.

In order to qualify, a candidate must live within the state for one year and within the territory in which they seek election (school district, city, library district, etc.) for six months.

Despite their names not appearing on the May 7 ballots, mayoral candidate Skip Blancett, alderman candidates Amber Preston-Dankert and Linda Reynolds and Salado ISD Trustee candidate Michael Matthews will be Write-In Candidates.

All four filed the proper paperwork to be Write-In candidates after they were informed by the Village of Salado and Salado ISD staff that their applications would be rejected.

The three Village of Salado candidates were informed about noon Feb. 23 that the applications they filed with the Village of Salado had omissions concerning residency, even though they were reviewed and signed by Village Secretary Mary Ann Ray.

Matthews was informed mid-afternoon by Supt. Michael Novotny that his application was rejected. The omissions was discovered after a call by this newspaper to SISD administrative offices.

Blancett filed on Feb. 19, the last day to file as a candidate. Preston-Dankert filed on Feb. 2. Reynolds filed on Feb. 8.

Blancett and Reynolds did not fill in the form in terms of the “Length of Residency in the Territory Elected From.” Blancett filled in that he has lived continuously in the State for two years, two months. Reynolds filled in that she has lived continuously in the State for four years, three months.

Preston-Dankert filled in that she has lived continuously in the “Territory Elected From” for 13 years. She has been a resident of the state for 35 years, 11 months.

However, Preston-Dankert did not complete the Permanent Residence Address portion of the Application. She did complete part of the Permanent Residence Address portion of the Application to state “Salado, TX

BOA approves zoning of Sanctuary Development

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Salado aldermen voted unanimously Feb. 18 for the zoning of 57.985± acres to Planned Development District-Commercial and then voted 4-1 for the zoning and rezoning of two properties totaling 251.187± acres to Planned Development-Mixed Use.

The three properties were annexed into the Village limits by aldermen at their Feb. 11 meeting. Later in the Feb. 11 meeting, aldermen failed to give a motion for the zoning and rezoning of the properties. Alderman Frank Coachman was absent Feb. 11

With all five aldermen present Feb. 18, the motions for the zoning and rezoning of the Sanctuary properties was forthcoming.

But not until after several citizens voiced their opinions under Public Comment.

King Copeland, a resident of Dallas, questioned the zoning of the properties. He questioned how the board could support the zoning of the Sanctuary properties “when 31 of the 66 property owners of area A are opposed and only three are in favor. When 14 of 71 property owners of Area B are opposed, when there is a 3-0 denial from P&Z citing a lack of detail in the Master Plan, when there are scores of peoples comments at P&Z and aldermen meeting, when more of you have said privately and publicly that Sanctuary is not something people want.... What do you get out of it?”

Maurice Striegler, a resident on Salado Oaks Dr., discussed the legality of a developer using an easement as a thoroughfare through a smaller subdivision, “This has been cited in 16 different cases on the very subject matter pertaining to Salado Oaks Dr. and the Sanctuary,” Striegler said.

Larry Sands, a resident on Indian Trail, said that the developer of The Sanctuary has spent “a lot of money with a ton of architectural meetings. He has had meetings with land planners, with architects, with the Village. He has come to this very building and shared his dream with us. He had the foresight to have a longtime developer that I know has worked several years with TCEQ to acquire a permit on a designated tract of land. Has any dirt been turned to start any roads? Has any dirt been turned to building any buildings? What if the Sanctuary does not become a reality?” Sands was unable to finish his thoughts on the matter as he went beyond the three minutes allotted each speaker.

Debbie Harrison, who lives on College Hill Drive, was more concise when she said that she was there “to express my support for doing whatever it takes to get The Sanctuary in here. I think it will be beneficial to our town.”

Darlene Walsh, who lives on Mill Creek Dr., said that the rezoning of Baines and Santa Maria was “spot zoning” and “preferential treatment” to the developer. “There are 21 in-town acres surrounded by single family homes,” she said, adding that rezoning it Mixed Use would allow for a restaurant or other business to be built in the middle of a residential development. “This would devalue homes in that area,” she said, adding that the board was not adhering to the incremental zoning change allowed by the Zoning Ordinance. She equated the change in zoning to Mixed Use as a “giant leap.”

Linda Reynolds asked aldermen to “put a big X of where your homes are” on the maps of the areas to be zoned and developed as The Sanctuary. “You’re not living in this area where you are rezoning and causing possible devaluation of property.”

Terry Crowell, who lives on Elizabeth Circle, asked that a letter be entered into the record. “Salado does need sewer but not under the conditions you have it planned on. The sewer needs to go the other way, not uphill,” he said.

Randi Bingham, who lives on Chisholm Trail, told aldermen that she has “lived here my whole life basically.” She said that there was a need in Salado for new heart and new perspectives. “This Board of Aldermen is for our city,” she said. “They do not want a town full of gas stations, restaurants and mean people. They want people to come and experience our city.”

She added that the Village needs Sanctuary “to develop our town and city. We need to bring people back to Salado and bring more money into the city.” Bingham said that the board has been negotiating for a year and a half. “They have looked at every aspect of it,” she said, “This will grow our economy. When the Sanctuary is established, it will help to build the economy on Main Street as well.

“We have to look to the future. We have the opportunity to embrace and have a wonderful partner in the Sanctuary. They want to be part of the Village. They want to give us their sales tax and have us prosper along with them,” said Jill Shipman, who lives on College Hill Dr.,

“If you look at a map of the I-35 corridor, you see this growth all the way from Austin and beyond,” said Maggie McGraw, who lives on Staghorn Lane. “You are going to see 700- and 1,000-home developments pop up. I am kind of tired of the redistribution of stuff. I don’t want to pay for their infrastructure if we are not getting any value out of it. If they form a MUD, how does that help us?”

Mark McGraw concurred: “I don’t want to see large developments coming in here, but it’s coming and not going to stop. We may have some control over it. The city is the only way to have any control over development. We are going to end up paying for extra impact on EMS, police, fire and our roads.”

Danney McCort, former mayor who lives in Royal Oaks, said that the village could have rules in its ordinances to “make the developer develop your infrastructure.” He questioned the impact of the increased number of cars “up and down Royal St. The street is not wide enough.”

“I caught heck when I got Johnny’s Outback in here,” he said, adding that the proposed music venue was akin to Austin-sized venues for South by Southwest. “That’s the most ridiculous thing I have ever heard.”

James Haney, who lives on Santa Rosa, said that Billy Hanks painted a beautiful picture of what he wanted; however, Haney added, “it seems totally out of concept with Salado.”

The board had little discussion of the proposed zoning of Planned Development District No. 2, which is the 57.985± acres at the southeast corner of FM 2268 and I-35 frontage road (Area C). On a motion from Michael McDougal and a second from Frank Coachman, the board voted 5-0 in favor of the zoning.

Aldermen approved the zoning and rezoning of PDD No. 3, which is the 53.922± acres at the northeast corner of FM 2268 and I-35 frontage road and identified as Area A, and the 197.265± acres at the corner of Salado Oaks Drive and FM 2268, and the 700 block of Royal Street Drive, just east of Rose Way Circle and identified as Area B on a motion by McDougal and second by Coachman. Amber Preston-Dankert voted against the motion after voting in favor of amendments to the motion, including an amendment offered by alderman Fred Brown to the effect that the Salado Oaks Dr. off of Baines St. on the east end of the drive would be “gated for emergency vehicle use only.”

“Oftentimes my opinion is not the opinion of the board,” Preston-Dankert said. “I listen to the voice of the P&Z and voices of many of those who spoke or developer who lives states away. Just picture if

An Open Exchange of Ideas

Block an Obama Nomination

According to Sen. Elizabeth Warren, the future of the republic teeters in the balance. Unless the United States Senate bows to the will of President Barack Obama and approves his replacement for Justice Antonin Scalia on the Supreme Court, everything we hold dear will be lost.

A refusal to get with the program, Warren insists, “would threaten both the Constitution and our democracy itself. It would also prove that all the Republican talk about loving the Constitution is just that -- empty talk.”

This is the twisted view now prevalent on the left and in the media: It reads Article II of the Constitution giving the president the power to appoint justices with “the advice and consent” of the Senate as, in effect, an affirmative obligation on the Senate to consider and approve the president’s nominees.

Might this wholly fanciful constitutional exegesis have something to do with a desire to replace Scalia, a giant of originalism, with another progressive rubber stamp? Back in 2007, Sen. Chuck Schumer, D-N.Y., a giant of clever partisan manipulations, all but pledged his life and sacred honor to blocking any further George

Rich Lowry

W. Bush appointments to the Supreme Court -- and somehow democracy survived. Of course, Barack Obama can nominate whomever he likes to the Supreme Court. Of course, the Senate can block him or her. And of course, Democrats can call Republicans heedless obstructionists and try to turn the public against them. This is the natural contest between the political branches, which is a feature of the U.S. Constitution, not a bug.

At the fault line between the two elected branches, the nomination process is inherently political, and, inevitably, tensions will be highest when a president is about to leave office. The Congressional Research Service looked at rejected Supreme Court nominees a few years ago and concluded, “Opposition to the nominating President played a role in at least 16 of the 36 nominations that were not confirmed. Many of the 16 were put forward by a President in the last year of his presidency.”

No doubt, Republicans will take heat for simply saying “no” to another Obama appointee to the court. But there will be none of the faux drama of a government shutdown, when the national parks are shackled and the media acts as if America’s national life is on the verge of collapse. The country will be able to survive some 4-4 Supreme Court decisions, which affirm the lower-court decision.

The Senate owes President Obama no deference or consideration. He has trampled on the legislative power at every opportunity, including attempting to deem the Senate in recess on his own say-so (he lost the resulting Supreme Court case 9-0). His unconstitutional immigration and clean-power directives both have been held in abeyance by the courts.

If President Obama wanted a collegial relationship with the Republican Senate, he should have thought of that long ago. Now, he will pronounce himself shocked and saddened that Congress doesn’t want to hold his coat while he remakes the high court. The Senate should hold firm, and let Elizabeth Warren and her colleagues rend their garments and gnash their teeth.

Not just Flint where kids’ health is in danger

By RONALD WHITE AND MOLLY RAUCH

Brown, foul-smelling water spewing out of faucets. Children poisoned by lead and other toxic metals. Families with aching joints, brittle bones, and shocking hair loss. These troubling images and more have been flowing out of Flint, Michigan since late last year as the scope and impact of the city’s austerity-driven water contamination crisis has become increasingly clear.

But pollution, contamination, and toxic chemicals that harm children’s health aren’t confined to Flint. America’s children are being exposed to a host of toxic chemical hazards. From deteriorating lead paint still widespread in many communities, to toxic toys sold at dollar stores, to dangerous chemical facilities near homes and schools, we’re putting our kids in danger.

All children, but especially those under age five, are susceptible to toxic chemicals because their bodies and brains are still growing and developing. However, there is a striking inequality in the likelihood that children of color and those living in poverty will be exposed to dangerous substances. That disparity is especially clear when we look at facilities that use, store, or produce toxic chemicals.

A recent report from the Center for Effective Government [foreffectivegov.org] found that nearly one in ten schoolkids – 4.9 million – attend school within a mile of a hazardous chemical facility. Almost two-thirds of the kids who live in homes near these facilities are children of color. Children of color living in poverty are especially hard hit, with poor black and Latino children more than twice as likely to live in these “fenceline communities” as white children who are not poor.

Living near a dangerous chemical facility increases the chances of being exposed to toxic air or water pollution. These facilities operate in just about every state in the nation, though they are more densely concentrated in the Midwest, the South, the Mid-Atlantic, and California.

Living in a fenceline community also significantly increases the risk of exposure should a large-scale chemical disaster occur. Again, that danger is greater in communities of color. Facilities located in these communities have almost twice the rate of incidents like chemical leaks, fires, and explosions as those in communities largely populated by whites.

Tackling this environmental injustice and protecting our children from dangerous chemicals require significant effort, but there are solutions at hand. First, national standards should require that manufacturers and chemical facilities switch to the safest alternative substances available, when feasible. This has already happened at water treatment plants and bleach manufacturing facilities across the country, but many more plants continue to pose a serious risk to children and nearby communities by using deadly chlorine gas and other toxic substances.

Other steps local, state, or federal agencies can take include adopting new zoning laws or revising existing ones to block con-

The Billionaire Bankrolling the Latest Trade Deal Push

A CORPORATE-BACKED STUDY SAYS THE LATEST WASHINGTON TRADE SCAM WILL RAISE INCOMES — BUT FOR WHOM?

Jim Hightower

A New York Times article about Barack Obama’s Trans-Pacific Partnership opened with this sunny headline: “Trade Pact Would Lift U.S. Incomes, Study Says.”

But wait, a study by whom? It comes from the Washington-based Peterson Institute for International Economics.

What’s that? We’re not told, even though that information is key to understanding this group’s upbeat take on the TPP trade scheme.

It turns out the institute is largely funded by major global corporations that would gain enormous new power over consumers, workers, and the very sovereignty of the United States if Congress rubber stamps this raw deal.

In fact, many of the multinational giants financing the institute were among the 500 corporate powers that were literally allowed to help write the 2,000-page agreement — including Caterpillar, Chevron, IBM, GE, and General Motors.

Peter “Pete” Peterson Institute for International Economics, Wall Street.

And get this: The Peterson Institute itself helped write this scam it’s now hyping.

Is this Peterson guy some sort of unbiased scholar? Hardly.

Pete Peterson, a Wall Street billionaire and the founding chairman of his eponymous institute, is one of the 400 richest people in the country. He’s also a reactionary, anti-public-spending ideologue who was Nixon’s commerce secretary.

Hailed by the Los Angeles Times as one of “the most influential billionaires in U.S. politics,” he uses his influence (and his fortune) to demonize such people’s programs as Social Security and to push policies that enthrone the billionaire class over the rest of us. The TPP would be his ultimate political coup against us commoners.

We don’t need an academicky institute to tell us who would benefit from TPP. All we need to know is that it was negotiated in strict secrecy with global corporate elites, while consumers, workers, and all others were locked out.

Remember, if you’re not at the table, you’re on the menu.

ment Residence Address portion of the Application to state “Salado, TX 76571” but gave no further address. Instructions on the form state: “Do not include a P.O. Box or Rural Route. If you do not have a residence address, describe the address at which you receive personal mail and location of residence.” Preston-Dankert did complete the form in terms of Permanent Mailing Address with her address of 2313 Chisholm Trail, Salado, TX 76571.

Texas Secretary of State office states on its website: “The Election Code provides no process for a candidate to supplement a defective application. The application and petition must stand or fall as originally filed. Some case law seems to suggest that in certain cases, a candidate may have a right to supplement a defective petition.”

Furthermore, “The Texas Supreme Court has held that candidates, who made timely filings and whose petitions were accepted, could not be rejected later for minor clerical errors that could have been fixed had the candidate been notified of the defect,” according to the Secretary of State website.

If an application does not comply with applicable requirements, the authority must reject the application and immediately deliver to the candidate written notice of the reason for the rejection, according to State Election Code [Sec. 141.032(e)].

The Secretary of State website states that: “Unless accompanied by a petition, the review must be completed not later than the fifth day after the date the application is received by the authority.” State Election Code [Sec. 141.032(b)]

By this stated standard, Preston-Dankert should have been informed that her application was invalid no later than Feb. 7. Reynolds should have been informed that her application was invalid no later than Feb. 13. Neither was informed until Feb. 23 at about noon when they learned that the only remedy to them was to file as a write-in candidate.

The deadline to file as Write-In candidate was 5 p.m. Feb. 23.

The issue came to the attention of City Secretary Mary Ann Ray after she read an email from another city secretary in Kilgore that faced the same issue. The election applications have changed slightly this year.

Hans Fields will appear on the ballot as candidate for Mayor. According to his application, he has been a resident of the state for 55 years and a resident of the Village of Salado for eight years, two months. Frank Coachman will appear on the ballot as candidate for alderman. He has lived in the state for 52 years, seven months and in the Village for 14 years, six months.

A review of applications filed by candidates for the Salado Public Library District Board of Directors found no omissions in terms of residency. Bill Kinnison and Nancy Mills Mackey are the only two candidates to have filed for election by the Feb. 19 deadline. No one filed as a write-in candidate by the Feb. 23 deadline. According to their applications, Kinnison has lived in the State for 16 years and in the Library District for 16 years. Mills Mackey has lived in the state for 61 years and in the district for one year, seven months.

A review of applications filed by candidates for the Salado Independent School District Board of Trustees found no omissions in terms of residency.

cy of Darrell Street and Jeff Kelley, who have both filed for re-election to the SISD Board. Michael T. Matthews original application did have omissions in terms of residency. Matthews has filed as a Write-In candidate for election to the SISD Board of Trustees. Matthews stated on the original application that he has lived in the State for 58 years. He did not state on the original application how long he has lived in the District. He also did not list a Permanent Residence Address. He did list a Public Mailing Address.

On his application as a Write-in Candidate, Matthews stated he has lived in the district for six years.

Street has lived in the State for 73 years and in the District for 20 years. Kelley has lived in the state for 38 years and in the District for 38 years.

Two three-year terms will be decided in the May 7 election.

Early voting for the May 7 elections will be April 25-May 3. The last day to register to vote in the May 7 election is April this were going right next to your home. There could be a parole office or cafeteria, dry cleaning. This will change the look and surroundings near their homes. My priorities will always be to protect current residents.”

“When it comes to other developers bringing in their properties to Salado, we have already sold the farm. What can we offer them? We have given it all to Sanctuary and have nothing left,” she said. “We can’t beg them and force them to come into our city limits. They have to want to come here.”

Preston-Dankert referred to a map that Mayor Skip Blancett showed of the Village of Salado and surrounding areas that are being developed. Some of those areas, according to the Mayor, are being developed through Municipal Utilities Districts (MUDs), including one MUD that will be 4,000 houses when built out.

Mayor Blancett pointed to a development at the corner of Royal and Blackberry that will be 200 lots, a development on Stinnett Mill that will be 120 lots, a development extending Mill Creek that will be 100 lots, Amity Estates that will be 200 lots and Windmill Estates that will be 100 lots.

“We offered one of those developers a variance to the subdivision ordinance if they would come into the city limits, but they said ‘No thank you,’” Mayor Blancett said.

“We cannot annex at will,” he added. “In order to do that we have to have 5,000 people in our city limits and we have to offer utilities of some sort.”

“What happens if we say to Sanctuary, ‘we’re not interested, do your MUD?’” he continued, adding that the Village would lose sales tax revenues, property tax revenues and the ability to have any influence on the development itself.

“They came after us. We got the annexation, the permit and the land. We got all of the sales tax,” he added. “We were willing to bargain on the property tax for 15 years.”

“If it becomes MUD, then it becomes Village of Sanctuary and then we get nothing for it,” he said. “But they can use our roads and infrastructure and you pay for it. That is what we face and that is what has been in front of us as we go forward.”

existing ones to block construction of new or expanded chemical facilities near homes and schools and to prevent new homes and schools from being built in fenceline zones; requiring chemical facilities to continuously monitor and report their fenceline-area emissions to agencies and the public; and improving enforcement of existing environmental and workplace health and safety regulations to safeguard all communities from toxic pollution and chemical disasters.

Our children deserve to be protected from chemicals that damage their brains, disrupt their ability to learn, wreak havoc on their developing reproductive systems, cause cancer, or spark deadly disasters next door to their homes and schools. We owe it to them to require common-sense solutions to reduce or eliminate these dangers.

- Discussion on amendments to the Village’s Contract for Consulting Services with the Salado Chamber of Commerce as proposed by the Chamber.

The meeting is open to the public.

CONGRATULATIONS!!!

The Texas Medical Association (TMA), which endorses ‘great’ Texans like Reps. Lloyd Doggett (D-Austin) and Joaquin Castro (D-San Antonio) and over 60 other Texas Democrats, has just added one more to their list: in their effort to make Obamacare work in Texas they are reaching into District 54.

Congratulations to Scott Cospers, Mayor of Killeen, on his endorsement by the TMA; and good luck to all of the business owners that are standing such ‘firm’ ground. Of course this was not advertised, just mailed directly to medical workers so it would not get too much publicity.

According to neighborhoodscout.com, 90% of cities the same size as Killeen are safer. They have had 4,500 evictions in this area last year. Killeen has not diversified its retail economy even after the collapse after Desert Storm. Soldiers that are moved by the Army have their houses foreclosed on because the market is saturated with overbuilt residential areas.

Oh, and he’s a member of TXDOT’s Central Texas planning board.

Between the Killeen and Salado, I think enough lives have been ruined by bad government. My name is Larry Smith and I am asking to be your next State Representative here in District 54.

As a combat veteran, I did not risk my life and see young Americans get shot up so we could sprint down the path to economic collapse. Get smart, we have a lot riding on this one. So pick up your ballots and follow me.

Softball adds one to the win column against Jarrell

Salado Lady Eagles started the softball season with a demonstrable win over the Jarrell Lady Cougars Feb. 19, getting 13 hits and 12 runs and holding the Cougars to three runs on four hits.

Meagan Hill got the win on the mound for the Lady Eagles. She faced 20 batters, striking out 10 of them. Jarrell scored two runs in the second on a fielding error on Katriana Fojtik's shot to right field. C. Martinez and Renae Bruce both scored on the error.

Jarrell added another run in the fourth inning. Grace Bruner led off with a walk and went to second on a sacrifice bunt by Hope Arnold. She scored on a two-out single by Fojtik.

Hill threw just 91 pitches in the complete game appearance, of which 62 were strikes and 29 were balls. She walked two.

Lead-off batter Malory Schattle led the Lady Eagles offensive attack, going three-of-four at the plate. She had two singles and an RBI triple to deep center.

Schattle led off the bottom of the first with a single, stealing second base and going to third on a passed ball. She scored on a shot to right field by Jenna Calder, who took advantage of a fielding error and reached second base. Calder went to third on a passes ball and scored on a single by Rebbecca Dockray before Jarrell could record the first out. Bailey Tindell knocked the runner with a single to center field. Payton Dreitz singled, but runners were left at the corners before the final out was recorded.

Salado went scoreless in the second inning, but increased their lead to 4-2 in the third. Madeline Murray singled to start the frame and stole second. She scored on a single by Dreitz to centerfield. Salado left runners at second and third.

The Lady Eagles added four more runs in both the fourth and fifth innings.

Stephanie Mancilla doubled to lead off the bottom of the fourth. Schattle singled and Calder hit a triple to score both runners. Dockray hit an RBI single, scoring on a passed ball with one out.

Mancilla led off the bottom of the fifth with a walk, stealing second and scoring on a triple by Schattle to deep center. Calder and Dockray reached to load the bases when Madeline Murray laid down a bunt that scored Schattle and kept the bases loaded. Tindell singled to center, scoring the two runners and ending the game.

The Bulldogs took a 2-0 lead in the first half of play.

The Eagles came back with two goals within the first five minutes of the second half. Sam Shearer headed the ball into the net to make the score 2-1.

Edgar Castillo walked his goal in to tie the game.

Both teams had opportunities to take the lead but James Armas put the Eagles up 3-2 on a direct kick with a rocket shot finding the back of the net.

Burnet tried desperately to even the score but Salado's defensive line held and with only seconds remaining in the match, Feerman Vitolas collected the last shot on goal as goalkeeper and jogged off the field. Jose Olvera, Gabriel Perez and Coby Arguallerez were credited with the assists.

JV Lady Eagles 0
Burnet 5

The JV Burnet Lady Bulldogs shut out the Salado Lady Eagles at home 5-0 on Feb. 19. The loss drops Salado to 4-3-1 and 2-3-1 in district.

Award-winning landscape artist Larry Prellop will have a work of art for sale during the auction for the Public Arts League of Salado Taste of Salado on Feb. 27.

Taste of Salado presents palette of food and art

For an outstanding evening, Salado has gathered the local artists who create visual art—painting, sculpting, pottery with the growing group of experiential artists—winemaking, culinary, art to showcase Salado's surging art community.

The Public Arts League of Salado (P.A.L.S.) is focusing the annual fundraiser, The Taste of Salado and Art Auction, on these interesting and successful local artists. The Taste of Salado and Art Auction will be held 6-9 p.m. Feb. 27 at Jack's Barn, 535 Pace Park Road.

Tickets are available online at Eventbrite.com:

<https://www.eventbrite.com/e/taste-of-salado-2016-tickets-19620894624?aff=es2>

The Taste of Salado and Art Auction is celebrating the art of hospitality by serving signature recipes from Salado's finest Bed and Breakfasts.

These recipes will be interpreted by award winning Chef Dave Hermann owner of The Range restaurant located in the historic Barton House.

With this sumptuous food, June Ritterbusch, owner of the Salado Wine Company will be serving wines created from her grapes, harvested and bottled right here in Salado.

These viniculture and culinary experiences are followed by a live auction for art work donated by the Salado art community.

The event's proceeds support the growing public art displayed throughout Salado's streets and public buildings. Salado's public art walk gives everyone who visits an opportunity to experience all forms of local art. In addition to procuring art for the general public to enjoy P.A.L.S. is developing new initiatives to provide funds to support local artists in the creation of art that is purchased by PALS and displayed in public venues.

Viennese Gambit

Contract Bridge

By Steve Becker

Here is a neat hand played many years ago by Viennese expert Siegfried Klausner. Not many declarers would have found the way to bring home the slam.

The principle involved is known as a gambit -- a term borrowed from chess -- where a player deliberately sacrifices a piece in the expectation of later capturing one or more of his opponents' pieces in return.

West led the king of diamonds. Klausner saw that it was impractical to play the hand on a crossruff because it would be difficult to ruff back and forth without eventually running into an over-ruff.

So he decided to bank his hopes on the establishment of dummy's clubs, even though there was an apparent shortage of entries to dummy to accomplish his purpose.

He won the ace of diamonds, led a club to the ace and ruffed a club, taking care to trump with the queen rather than a low trump. This was the first of two fine plays he made.

Next, Klausner played the ace of spades, both opponents following suit. Then he played the two of spades, deliberately conceding a trump to the jack, even though this would have cost him a trick if the spades had been divided 2-2. It was the second excellent play he made, and it was this vital move that assured fulfillment of the contract.

West won with the jack, but there was no way he could stop the slam. He did as well as he could by returning a diamond, forcing dummy to ruff, but Klausner then ruffed a club with the king -- felling East's king -- and led the six of spades to the ten to score the rest of the tricks.

If Klausner had earlier neglected to ruff the two of clubs with a high trump, or had failed to lead a low spade after cashing the ace, he would have gone down.

The longlegged bullfrog leads a dull life.

Bullfrog voices can be heard almost a mile away

As a herpetologist (one who studies reptiles and amphibians), I have spent the majority of my time researching the former group. However, there is a species of amphibian that has always intrigued me, not only due to its large size, but because of its uses to man as a food source, as well as a bait item. This species is the familiar Bullfrog.

Bullfrogs (Rana catesbeiana) belong to a family that has eight representatives here in Texas. This particular frog family is known as the “true” frogs based on their long legs, extraordinary jumping ability and habitat selection. As with other members of this family, Bullfrogs prefer to live in areas of permanent water such as lakes, ponds, rivers, and creeks. Immature specimens are often seen basking on or along the shorelines, while the adults, who have fewer predators, will frequent the deeper waters, choosing to bask in the sun while perched atop lily pads and other vegetation debris.

As a species, the Bullfrog naturally occurs throughout the eastern three quarters of this state. However, displaced specimens can occasionally be observed in the drier climates of the Trans-Pecos region. Outside of Texas it can be observed from western Oklahoma eastward to the mid-Atlantic states.

The dorsal coloration of this large species of frog is always some shade of green, ranging from lime to an almost black hunter green. The face area is typically where the brightest green appears. The front legs are short, and are generally flecked with dark spots. The back legs are disproportionately long, with feet that are extensively webbed. There is no webbing on the front feet, nor are there any toe-pads. The eardrums are exposed on the side of the head and are known as the tympani. The skin is relatively smooth, save for several small tubercles on the back and a prominent skin ridge that runs along the head from the back of the eye to just above the front leg.

Wild About Texas

As stated already, this species of frog is large. In fact, it is the largest species of amphibian that is indigenous to this state. Adult females are slightly the larger sex, with mature individuals approaching eight inches in body length. Males are smaller, seldom exceeding seven inches. Generally, most observations are of specimens that are between four and six inches. Females can be differentiated from males by the fact that their tympani is of similar size as the eye, while in males the eardrums are conspicuously larger.

Like other amphibians, Bullfrogs live a dual life. Like most frog species, breeding is initiated by the late spring thunderstorms that generally occur. The breeding call of the male is distinctive, and is a familiar sound to anyone who has spent time camping near bodies of permanent water. Their calling voice can be heard at distances of almost a mile and consists of two or three syllables of “brrr-ummmmm” or “jug-o-rum”. Once a receptive female approaches the male, he will clasp the female around the waist and externally fertilize up to twenty thousand eggs. This activity is known as amplexus. Once the eggs hatch, the fish-like tad-poles are primarily herbivorous, although they have been known to feed on small water-living invertebrates and even tadpoles of other species. Bullfrog tadpoles can grow quite large with individuals over five inches being reported. Metamorphosis can occur quickly (several weeks) or be prolonged, up to two years. The time parameters are chiefly dependant upon things such as water quality, pH levels, heat, and drought. Eventually, all the tadpoles metamorph into small froglets, developing air-breathing lungs rather than gills, absorbing the tail, and developing legs.

Bullfrogs are alert and shy, and can be extremely difficult to approach too closely, especially during the day. Once they hop into the water for safety, watch for them to emerge at the surface several feet from the shoreline. However, they are quite approachable at night, and many will sit completely still when the light from a flashlight is pointed in their eyes. This species is still hunted for food (their legs are the traditional frog legs that appear on many menus) and biological studies, but does not appear to be in decline. In fact, in many areas where this species has been introduced it is considered a menace to local frog life. Bullfrogs consume any smaller vertebrate that it can fit into its large mouth, including other frogs. These introductions have generally come about due to incidental releases by fisherman, as the tadpoles of this species are utilized for fish bait.

What is an MLS ?

Ask an Agent

A Multiple Listing Service, or MLS, is another resource to help ensure you reach a large number of prospective buyers and dramatically increase the exposure of a property.

It is a system under which participating brokers agree to share commission on the sale of houses listed by any one of them. For example, if you list your house with ERA Colonial Real Estate and another broker sells it, we share the commission. The advantage to you is clear; more people have an interest in selling your house.
