1 files, 2 others announce

John Hall is the first candidate to file for election to the Village of Salado board of aldermen. Hall filed on the first day, Sept. 7 with County Judge Jon Burrows.

Darrin Robin Hood filed for the position of Marshal but later withdrew his name.

While they have not yet officially filed for election to the board of aldermen, Rick Ashe and Carse Williams have announced their intentions to run for election to the board of aldermen.

Williams told the Salado Village Voice that he would file for the election later this week. Ashe told the newspaper that he would file when he returns from Texas A&M University's Command College later this month.

Profiles of Hall, Ashe and Williams will appear in next week's edition of Salado Village Voice.

Earlier, Charlotte Douglass announced her intentions to seek election to the position of mayor.

According to County Judge Burrows, there will be an election for the position of mayor with the candidate with the most number of votes winning the race (no run-off election in the case of plurality of votes). The same is true of the race for Marshal.

The five candidates receiving the most votes will be elected to fill the five positions on the Board of Aldermen.

Citizens interested in filing as a candidate for election to one of these positions may pick up applications from the Bell County Judge's office in the Bell County Courthouse in Belton or from the Bell County Clerk's Office in the Bell County Annex in Belton.

Candidates must file for election with County Judge Jon Burrows. The last day to file as a candidate in the election is 5 p.m. Oct. 10.

To run for election as mayor, Marshal or alderman, a person must be a resident of the incorporated Village of Salado for at least six months prior to the election.

Early voting in the village election will be weekdays Oct. 23-Nov. 3 at the Salado Civic Center.

Election day, polls will be open at the Salado Civic Center 7 a.m.-7 p.m.

Only registered voters living within the two-square-mile boundaries of the Village of Salado may vote in the village elections. The boundaries are on display at the Salado Civic Center and the Salado Village Voice.

Salado firefighters responded to a wildfire Sept. 5 that burned over 1,000 acres southwest of Salado. The fire burned property on the Monteith Ranch and the Mustang Creek Ranch. Additional support was called in from other area fire departments including Ft. Hood, Jarrell, Holland and the Forestry Service. The dry and windy conditions proved dangerous and challenging for the firefighters who returned at least twice more to make sure there would not be a reignite. Salado firefighters remind everyone that the outdoor burn ban is still in effect for Bell County, which remains at risk for wildfires.

SISD trustees meet Sept. 18

The final agenda will be posted at the Salado Civic Center Sept. 15.

The meeting is open to the public.

Jarrell-Schwertner announces voluntary water rationing days

The following announcement concerns Salado users of the Jarrell-Schwertner Water Supply Corporation

The Board of Directors of Jarrell-Schwertner Water Supply Corporation along with the Bartlett Electric Cooperative, Inc. want to thank all the users of the water corporation for your support and consideration the last few months.

We want to thank you for your consideration in putting up with the outages caused by the fiber optic contractors hitting our lines. We hope this work will be completed very soon.

Thank you for complying with our request for volunteer water rationing. Your observance of this request has allowed us to avoid mandatory rationing so far. We certainly hope we will be able to prevent having to put this in effect this year. Perhaps we will be fortunate enough to receive some much needed rain in the near future. However, until we do and until you are otherwise notified, the Board asks that you continue to observe the volunteer water rationing. Please cut water usage any and all ways you can, and do not do any outside watering or car washing other than the day assigned for your area.

The watering schedule is as follows: Monday - Holland, Tuesday - Bartlett, Wednesday - Jarrell, Thursday - Salado, and Friday - Schwertner.

Library's tax check drops 11%

Texas Comptroller Carole Keeton Rylander Sept. 11 sent 1,103 Texas cities and 119 counties $210.2 million in sales tax revenue. September sales tax rebates are up 11.9 percent compared to September 1999. Year-to-date, payments to cities and counties are up 8.1 percent compared to 1999.

Salado Public Library District received a check of $12,103.61, an 11 percent drop from last year's check of $13,571.98.

However, so far this year, the Library District has received $128,938.62, an increase of 14 percent over last year's payments through September.

The Library District collects a half-cent tax levy in its boundaries that are the same as the Salado I.S.D.

The decline for the monthly payment is the first decline from one year to the next since the Library District began collecting sales tax.

Bell County levies a half-cent sales tax. Its check for the month totaled $636,543.37, an 11 percent increase over last year's payment.

Temple and Killeen both showed an increase in sales tax payments for September. Temple's jumped 10 percent to $816,153.20 while Killeen's jumped to $872,471.47. Belton's sales tax check declined almost 18 percent, however, at $116,984.20.

September sales tax rebates represent sales taxes collected in July and reported to the Comptroller in August.

For details of September sales tax payments to individual cities, counties, transit systems and special purpose districts, locate the Monthly Sales and Use Tax Allocation Comparison Summary Report on the Comptroller's web site at www.window.state.tx.us/taxinfo/allosum/compsum.html.

EPA mandates leave many Texans hot under collar

By Bill Hammond

Texans may be forced to pay a $1,000 air conditioning tax to shield their families from the summer heat-- all under the guise of protecting the Texas environment from smog.

The problem arises from the Texas Natural Resources Conservation Commission's (TNRCC's) efforts to comply with mandates from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to reduce ozone levels in Texas. If TNRCC doesn't come up with a plan that the EPA will approve by Dec. 6, the state faces the delay or loss of millions of dollars in highway funds for not following the Clean Air Act.

As part of the proposed TNRCC plan, which would become effective January 2002, outdoor coils of new central air conditioners and the coils of window units sold in Texas would have to be covered by a catalytic coating. Manufacturers say that would add about $1,000 to the price of an average central air conditioner.

In effect, this would eventually impose an air conditioning tax on more than 8 million homes and small businesses with central air and on many millions more Texans who cool with window units.

Ironically, tests by the company that makes the catalytic coating, cast doubts that it will even help reduce ground level ozone concentrations, the major component of smog. Even more startling is the fact that data from the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) suggest that catalyst-coating air conditioning coils will increase energy-use because the coils will require more electricity to produce the same amount of cool air.

The whole hubbub has sparked a feud between the environmental and energy agencies that resulted in a July 14 letter where the energy department warned the EPA to not take any action to require use of the coating.

Unfortunately, the TNRCC-- forced by the EPA - ignored the Department of Energy warning. Instead, they proposed a counterproductive, energy-wasting, scientifically questionable requirement that may increase ozone-forming emissions from power plants-- and still burden Texans with an unfair tax just to keep cool.

What sense does it make to waste electric energy and increase power plant emissions? Why should the TNRCC be forced to adopt a directive from the EPA that will unlawfully reduce the efficiency of air conditioners below the minimum requirement set by the U.S. Department of Energy?

There are many other questions that need answers, too. For example, just what is in this secret, potentially hazardous coating that will be applied to new air conditioners in Texas? Concerns are already being voiced about the potential for it to flake onto the ground and into the groundwater supply. What are the long-term effects of this mysterious substance on the environment, the general public, and air conditioning installers and maintenance personnel?

The Texas Association of Business and Chambers of Commerce is supportive of efforts to help non-attainment areas reach environmental goals under the Clean Air Act, and to help near non-attainment areas stay within the guidelines.

But, all emission sources ranging from cars and trucks to manufacturers and electricity generators should share equitably in the burden of reducing air emis-

Debate compromise may produce

5 Gore-Bush confrontations

Hopefully the "Debate Over The Debates" will be concluded by the time this column is printed and with exactly 55 days remaining until the general election, perhaps we can get down to the business of watching the candidates tackle the issues that divide them in some no-holds-barred verbal duels that just might decide the next resident of the White House.

Most observers believe there will be at least five debates - three sponsored by the bipartisan Commission on Presidential Debates and broadcast by the major networks, CNN and the cable groups - so at least 120 million prospective voters can make a judgement on which candidate for our highest office has the better grasp of what is going on and more importantly - what should be done to keep things running smoothly in the years ahead.

Candidate Al Gore favors this type encounter since he is by far the better political word-wrangler or at least his opponent thinks he is and that's what counts in politics.

Also, two talk-show type appearances that are more the style of Governor Bush - smaller audiences and format that works well with his "wink and grin" humor. He can certainly find happiness on the Tim Russert program since Tim tilts to the right, followed by the Larry King Show that is informal and non-threatening.

Couple of debates between Veep hopefuls Dick Cheney and Joe Lieberman should round out a gab fest that will satisfy even the hardest political junkie.

GORE SLIGHTLY AHEAD IN POLLS

Presidential polls are often called the "Fickle Finger of Fate" since they bounce around with first one candidate leading the charge and a week later the other guy's out front.

As of today - Bush has found himself behind for the first time in months and you can tell from his harried look and the general tone of his campaign dialogue that things are not going well.

Even syndicated columnist Bob Novak, who rarely finds fault with his conservative brethren, let slip last week in the Temple Daily Telegram, that Republican's admit morale is drooping but that it is not Bush's fault!

It is the American people who are to blame!

How Novak and his friends arrive at that amazing conclusion is mind boggling but the zealots proudly proclaim that if "voters while enjoying prosperity really want more government instead of less, then the GOP cause is doomed - because that is a mind set that no Republican can fight."

We have heard it said many times by conservatives that the "peepul" - voters, Americans, rank and filers - call them what you will, are "not real smart and will vote for good looks, personality, smooth talk" - anything other than important issues like the righteousness of anti-welfare, anti-poor, anti-minimum wage while naturally favoring big business and its partner - gross profiteering!

A word of caution to these denigrators. Don't underestimate the great unwashed populace out there. These are mostly patient folks who come in many sizes and shades. They do the work; fight the wars;

Off the Record

by Ken Clapp

raise the kids; pay their taxes (yes they do pay taxes); keep industry going by buying products that are too often designed to fail and you can bet they understand exactly what the issues are in this current presidential campaign and how it will affect them in the years ahead.

Disregard and disparage them at your peril Mr. Politician. It is a sure ticket home after election day.

COMPASSIONATE POTTY TALK?

Governor George Bush's off-color description of New York Times reporter Adam Clymer last week sent campaigning Gore Democrats off in a paroxysm of giggles while Bushies were busy covering their bosses tracks - calling the vulgarity a "media story" only.

Fact is that Bush snickered his indelicate thought to running mate Dick Cheney just before a speech in Michigan. Cheney grinned and nodded in agreement as both these "boys" enjoyed a locker room moment bashing the bad old liberal press.

Only problem - the microphones on the podium in front of the two preppie types were "on and live" so everyone got a chance to hear from the compassionate conservatives up close and personal.

Carolyn Barta who writes for the Dallas Morning News put it best: "The remark, which referred to an aspect of the human posterior, returned to bite the Republican presidential nominee in the same general area."

We shudder to think what Bush the Younger mutters in private about Demos in general and Al Gore in particular.

DNG BACK IN NEWS

The Salado Chapter of the International Society of Do-No-Gooders, who meet with alarming regularity at the Stagecoach Coffee Shop, received an accolade they are not sure how to take.

Seems the group of curmudgeons were discussing local politics and the subject got around to who might toss his or her hat in the ring for mayor or alderman (or is that alderperson?).

The group was having a good time discussing the various folks whose names have been bandied about as possible candidates for high office in the Village, when a nearby coffee drinker stopped by and told the assembled group of rowdies: "If this discussion is typical of what is going to happen when we set up the village's government - we may need to reconsider our vote that kept Belton from taking over the town."

Since the highest commandment that DNGers follow is to promote disorder and confusion - it took the group a moment to digest the comment and see if it was a compliment or complaint.

As is common with the group - no final decision was arrived at when the meeting adjourned since the DNG motto has always been: "When all is said and done - all that's done is said!"

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

The voters of Bell County need to know how their money is spent although judging from the few in attendance at the budget hearing held by the Commissioners on Aug. 28, maybe they feel what they don't know won't hurt them.

However, the Commissioners voted to give themselves a $9,180 raise each! (Judge Jon Burrows received his raise last year.) Commissioners Richard Cortese and Tim Brown argued that half that amount would be sufficient. However, Commissioner John Stevenson argued that it was "time we moved into the 20th (sic) century" whereupon the good Judge called for the vote.

Two of the Commissioners, Cortese and Brown, voted against the large raise. Two of them, Leroy Schiller and John Stevenson, voted for it. Being a tie vote, the good Judge voted to break the tie IN FAVOR OF the large raise. The taxpayers in the courtroom that day of the hearing emitted a low gasp.

The Judge had a chance to be in support of the taxpayers; instead he chose to increase the salaries of the commissioners, two of whom are retired, one from the Texas Highway Patrol, drawing a state pension, and the other retired from the military drawing a federal pension. If voters keep them for two more terms, they will be eligible for a county pension as well - all at the expense of the taxpayers. Tax and spend - it seems nothing has changed.

sions. Since air conditioners are not a source of emissions that contribute to ozone formation and thus fall outside the Clean Air Act, we question the wisdom and legality of including them in the proposed plan.

All of us share in the responsibility to seek scientifically sound ozone reduction measures. We should concentrate on implementing cost-effective measures based on sound science that brings results, instead of wishful thinking and unproven technology.

public hearings around the state to seek citizen input before adopting the proposed air-conditioner rule and 16 other proposed rules.

For a list of the times and places of the public hearings, call TNRCC at 512-239-1000 or go to www.tnrcc.state.tx.us/oprd/hgasip.html.

And as for this tax on Texans to stay cool-- it should be enough to make a lot of folks a little hot under the collar.

Dear Editor:

Texas GOP Chair Susan Weddington suggests in a recent letter that Texas Democrats are disloyal to our state because we do not support George W. Bush for president. She demands that Texans join the Republicans' "defense of Texas," but she never says exactly she wants them to defend. She fails to list a single reason why a voter would want to cast a ballot for Bush or any other Republican in Texas.

That is because Bush and the Republican leadership cannot defend the GOP's record in Texas. They cannot win a debate on the merits of the issues-- and they can't back up their rhetoric or spin. So their strategy is to attack the patriotism of anyone who disagrees.

But those Republicans have very short memories. They appear to have forgotten Bush's first race for governor in 1994 and the barrage of criticism that he leveled against Texas that year. Based on the Republican's definition of bashing this year, George W.

Bush was the original Texas basher. Bush blasted Texas' system of criminal justice. He ripped Texas for runaway spending, denounced the state's school funding system and accused the state of squandering the money on the poor.

But there is a big difference between our efforts to tell the truth about Texas this year and Bush's sweeping criticism of the state six years ago. While Bush did not let facts get in his way when he went on attack in 1994, Texas Democrats have been telling the truth about Texas under Bush. We have not been bashing Texas. We have been using the cold hard facts to set the record straight amid exaggerations, falsehoods and other Republican illusions.

For Republicans to question our allegiance to Texas is blatantly hypocritical. The truth is, Texas Democrats are extremely proud of our state. But we believe that when you love your state you don't just stick your head in the sand and ignore the problems. If you truly love Texas, you will meet the challenges and work to make Texas the best state it can be.

How can you love your state and then ignore its problems? Bush and the Republican leadership seem to love the fact that they personally have prospered in Texas, but they don't seem to care much how anyone is faring outside their inner circles. They have neglected the environment, turned a cold shoulder to the health care needs of many Texas families and sought to weaken efforts aimed at improving education in the state.

Chair Weddington actually does Democrats a favor with her letter. While trying to scare voters by twisting and exaggerating Democratic positions on key issues, she acknowledges Democrats' commitments to affordable and accessible health care, a clean environment and tax relief that is fair to all Americans. She can't say that about the Bush record in Texas-- so she doesn't even try.

Since I am a former Republican, the FOP's campaign of personal attacks and distortions this year comes as no real surprise. The Republicans' penchant for obscuring the truth amid deceptive and diversionary tactics is par for the course. That is a big reason why I switched parties eight years ago.

One of the values my parents taught me was to tell the truth-- regardless of any political affiliation. That is exactly what we have been doing and what we plan to keep doing in this critical election year.

Proud to be a Democrat,

Dear Editor:

I am writing this as a concerned parent, not to degrade the management of the Salado school system. This evening my first grader had an Open House at Thomas Arnold Elementary. As my family and I went around to the various places my attention was heightened when we arrived at the gymnasium.

It was extremely hot! One of the teachers commented that the school is getting some coolers. An added solution that would be very helpful in keeping the gym cooler for the kids would be exhaust fans placed at both ends of the gym in the ceiling. This would exhaust the heated air out, circulating the air and keeping the area cooler. It really surprised me that when the building was constructed that a provision for exhausted heat was not drawn into the plans.

There are existing exhaust fans but their location is too low to do any good for the trapped hot air. My son has made comments when he got home that the temperature in the gym has been said to reach 120 degrees. There have been episodes of children being sent to the nurse with the symptoms of heat exhaustion.

I hope that this letter will invite some expertise and funds to solve this problem. We as a community must help to make our great school even better.

Eagles get week off following 20-0 loss to Riesel Indians

By TIM FLEISCHER
EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Salado Eagles get a much-needed week off, following one of those games that you would like to forget as soon as possible.

In their 10-0 loss to Riesel Aug. 8, the Eagles could not move the football or stop the Indian running attack. Riesel ran up 286 yards rushing, while throwing for just 29 yards on two receptions.

The Salado defense had a hard time getting a handle on Chris Howard, who carried for 134 yards and all three Riesel touchdowns. Howard had TD runs of 20-yards, one-yard and three yards.

Salado threatened once in the first half, driving 70 yards on 10 plays before missing a 26-yard field goal midway through the second quarter. The drive was marked by two key passes of 12 and 13 yards by Stephen Fewell to J.D. Glaeser. Fewell also ran the ball well during the drive, including a 16-yard jaunt.

Riesel took a 14-0 lead to the lockers, scoring in both the first and second periods of play.

The Eagles stopped Riesel from getting a first down in the third quarter, but the offense could not capitalize. The Eagles offense could not take advantage of good field position when the defense forced the Indians to punt from their own goal line. Robert Thomason, Hunter Konzen and Caleb Thompson all helped stop the Indians deep in their own territory, forcing a fourth-and-25 to go at the Indian goal line.

Riesel scored again in the fourth quarter, after a 42-yard run by Craig Hill brought the ball to Salado's 18 yard line. Howard ran it in four plays later from the Salado three yard line.

SALADO JV 20
RIESEL JV 8

Salado JV Eagles dominated the Riesel JV Indians in their Sept. 7 game.

Omar Torres rushed for 150 yards and touchdowns of 40 yards and 25 yards.

Quarterback Heath Hale scored on an 8-yard keeper, as well.

Center Cale Cox and left tackle Kyle Salisbury controlled the line of scrimmage for the Salado offense, providing holes on the left side. Fullback Brian Johnston was the lead blocker on many of the sweeps by Torres.

Johnston and defensive lineman Bill Tubbs helped the Eagles control the Riesel offense.

Riesel scored only in the waning moments of the game, preventing a shutout by Salado.

"It was very much a team effort," Coach Travis Ling said. "Everybody played and contributed to the win."

Salado 7th and 8th graders will play Jarrell's junior high teams this week, while the high school teams have a week off.

Arthritis Pain Mystery Solved

Horse Liniment is the secret!

OCALA, FL. — An ingredient used to treat inflammation in thoroughbred racehorse legs, is now recognized as safe and effective for human use. The ingredient has been formulated into a product called ARTH-Rx™ and comes in a strength designed for humans. Researchers are excited and say the formula can relieve arthritis pain for millions.

Developed by the Phillips Gulf Corporation, ARTH-Rx is a breakthrough in the treatment of painful disorders ranging from minor aches and pains to more serious conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, tendonitis, backache and more. Scientists suggest that ARTH-Rx works by intercepting the pain messenger substance that sends pain signals to the brain. Although the mechanism is not totally clear, pain is relieved in the affected area because the pain signal actually disappears.

ARTH-Rx is the only product on the market with Neurocaine and is available in a convenient, pleasant scented roll-on applicator without a prescription. According to a spokesperson for the company, ARTH-Rx is available in pharmacies, nutrition stores, and even some feed stores. ARTH-Rx can also be ordered by calling 1-800-729-8446, ©2000 PGC

ARTH-Rx is available locally at:

Bible study begins in area

The Temple/Belton Community Bible Study (CBS) class held its first meeting, 7:30 p.m. Sept. 11, in the old sanctuary of the First Baptist Church of Belton at 6th and Main. Visitors are welcome to attend. The Class is studying the book of Luke this year.

CBS is an interdenominational study for men, women and couples of all backgrounds who are interested in an in-depth weekly study of God's Word. There are more than 350 CBS classes around the country.

The Temple/Belton class will meet every Monday night 7:30-9:30 p.m.. Each week participants receive a reading commentary on the previous week's topic and a set of questions to work on each day covering the next week's reading.

These questions are discussed in small groups of about 15 men, women or couples. Couples can choose to participate together in a couple's small group or individually in a men's or women's small group. Following the small groups there is a short lecture over the same section of scripture.

The class will break for three weeks at Christmas and finish at the end of April 2001. Baby sitting will be provided for infants through five years of age. Pre-registration for baby sitting is requested.

Call Rick Erickson 771-0237, Howard Lufburrow 780-4226 or Gene Kimes 773-1842 for more information or attend on Monday nights.

Salado Lions fed hungry Salado football fans prior to the Sept. 8 game against the Riesel Indians. John Denison serves Salado's Ultimate Sports Fan Coach Smith. The Lasagna Dinner raised money for the Lions Club scholarships to local high school seniors. Lions Club President Joe Holt said the club fed about 350 people, raising over $1,200 for the night. This is the first of many future dinners for the club. New member Bill Ruth chaired the event for the Lions Club.

Busy Grandparents Day

Randy and Dana Britt visit Jenna Horne's third grade class during Grandparents Day at Thomas Arnold Elementary School last week. The Brittts were there to visit their granddaughter Brittany Finger. Grandparents were invited to eat lunch with their elementary school grandkids and to visit their classrooms. The Brittts ate three times that day: 10:30 a.m. with Derrick Fitzpatrick in Beth Ward's Pre-K class, 11:10 a.m. with Anthony Finger in Molly Cripe's First Grade class; and 12:15 p.m. with Brittany's class. They got enough cafeteria food for the rest of the year. Grandparents Day is an annual event at Thomas Arnold Elementary.

The Company at Tablerock Sept.17

The Company will perform 7 p.m. Sept. 17 at Tablerock Amphitheater as part of the First Baptist Church series "September Sunday Nights." The concert is free and open to the public. For your comfort bring lawn chairs and blankets.

The Company derived their name from Psalms 68:11 (NIV) "The Lord announced the word and great was the company of those who proclaimed it." The Company, as a part of that great number of believers in Christ, travels around the world spreading the message of the Gospel through the creative arts.

The Company was founded in the Fall of 1985 by Dennis K. Parrish, who is now the Chair of Christian Communication Studies at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth.

From worship services, workshops, and street ministry to youth camps, rallies and retreats, The Company has built a far-reaching ministry which has touched audiences across the United States and throughout the world.

The Company has been featured at various state Drama Festivals, National Creative Arts Festivals, the National Youth Ministers Conference, State Baptist Youth Evangelism Conferences, various state B.S.U./B.S. M. Conventions, the Southwest Theater conference, Regional Student Missions conferences, the annual meeting of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, the Southern Baptist convention, the National WMU Convention, spiritual emphasis weeks at various colleges and universities, and state Super Summer School weeks for youth. The Company has also performed during the Jericho weeks at Ridgecrest and Glorieta, as well as for Marketplace Ministries in Boston and Los Angeles. The Company was also featured at several YouthLink 2000 sites.

The Company's international tours have included the Baptist Youth World Alliance in Zimbabwe, Africa; The European Baptist Convention in Interlaken, Switzerland; and the International Worship Conference of the Baptist World Alliance in Berlin, Germany. Various other ministry experiences have included performances and workshops at local churches scattered around Germany.

Jo Bird talks about the old days

September 13, 2000 SALADO Village Voice Page 7B

BY TUMBLEWEED SMITH

Jo Bird used to surf the internet, but her fascination with that faded. "There's too much information there. I find out way more than I want to know."

She feels young inside but she's not. "Back when I was 35, I was just as cute as I wanted to be. I was old enough to know better, but young enough to go ahead and to heck with the consequences." She loves to eat a fresh juicy peach and has a special way of doing it "I put on a bathing suit, get in the bathtub and let that juice run down by chin and down my elbows. God that's good."

Jo Bird grew up in the country. "We were poor as Job's turkey," says Jo. "We lived in a log cabin with cracks between the logs." Now she lives in the country just outside Rockdale after a successful and busy career in Houston. "I look at my life today and realize it hasn't changed very much from when I was growing up. Back then, I hauled water from the well to the house. Now I haul it from town."

She shared bath water with 5 brothers and sisters. "We had to fill the tub only twice for the six of us. The three oldest kids took baths in the first water, then the three smallest ones used the second water. I was always the last one. So I sat down in that water amidst all the chicken feathers, weeds, grass burrs and all the things the little kids left in the water."

Jo has a lot of trouble with water. When she'd help her grandmother with the dishes, she sloshed water everywhere...floor, counters, herself. "You know, I can walk by a sprinkler and it's nice and still. When I get within a few feet of it, it turns on.

Everything gets wet." Jo says her brother was the funny one in the family. "The last year of his life he pretty much spent it at our house. So this particular day he wants to go shoot pool. He went to the pool hall and drank some beers. He was taking medicine for cancer, so the combination of beer and medicine made him pass out. I went to get him, brought him home, put him to bed. Next day we were sitting at the table having our coffee and I told him I'd hurt him if he ever did that again. He say 'O, Joe, what are you gonna threaten me with. I've already got terminal cancer,' I said how about terminal cancer and two broken legs?"

Her dad used to work for the railroad. "He'd bring home these big old bridge nails, maybe a foot long. One day he nailed those things on the wall every three or four feet all around the living room. He said he wanted to be able to throw his hat and have it land on a nail. I don't know what he used to hammer those nails with. But he got to be real good at tossing his hat and making it land on a nail."

When she was a little girl, Jo and her siblings would worry about what was under the bed. "One day I looked under my bed and there was a big old whip snake. Our parents and kinfolks told us the most god-awful stories about stuff like hoop snakes. They said they bit their own tail and make a big hoop and go rolling across the pasture. But it taught me to look under the bed, I do every night."

Collectors are showing a growing interest in technology antiques and early mechanical devices. There is a need for working phonographs that can be used to play the old records that are collected by music historians.

The first talking machine was made in 1877, but some of the ideas behind it were borrowed from earlier experiments by other researcher. Nineteenth-century record players had records that were earlier cylinders or extra-thick "platters," but were discontinued in 1929. The standard LP record was used after 1929.

One type of machine that played a disc record was made in the U.S. It used two horns to carry the sound. The large horns took up space, and soon a smaller horn that could not be seen was built into the machine.

Q: Can you tell me anything about my Rand McNally globe? I've had it for about 30 years; the map appears to be much older. Iran is even labeled "Persia." The globe is 18 inches in diameter and sits in a tall, four-footed, wooden floor stand. Do people collect old globes? How old is mine and what is it worth?

A: Rand McNally was founded in Chicago in 1856. They made their first globe in 1857. In 1935, the government of Iran asked that the country be referred to as Iran rather than Persia. So we know that your globe dates from sometime between 1887 and 1935. You can get a better idea of the date by looking more closely at the names of other countries. It would be helpful to compare it to maps of Europe before and after World War I. Globes like yours sell for hundreds of dollars. Some are worth much more, depending on the age, condition, and beauty of the stand.

The following recipe was taken from the cookbook "Salado Country Cooking." It was sponsored by the members and friends of the Monday Club from the Salado United Methodist Church.

Penoche Candy

Berta Russell

1 cup Brown Sugar 2 cups granulated sugar
1-1/2 cups Pet Milk 2 Tablespoons Butter
1/8 teaspoon Baking Soda

Mix in a saucepan. Cook to the boiling point, stirrin constantly. Continue cooking, stirring occasionally, to 236 degrees or soft ball stage. Remove from heat and cool at room temperature, without stirring, until lukewarm. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup chopped pecans. Beat until candy holds its shape. Cut into squares.

Aerobic system requires correct chlorine

Thousands of households in suburban and rural Texas dispose of their wastewater by using a process called aerobic treatment with spray irrigation. When properly maintained, these treatment systems are safe and effective, benefiting both the homeowner and the environment. If neglected or improperly maintained, these same systems can pose a serious health risk and danger to the homeowner.

According to the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission (TNRCC) all wastewater that is disposed of above the ground, such as spray irrigation, must be thoroughly disinfected to prevent the spread of waterborne diseases. If a dry chemical feeder and chlorine tablets are used to disinfect the wastewater, TNRCC regulations specify that the feeder must use a type of chlorine called calcium hypochlorite, "properly encapsulated and suitable for wastewater disinfection."

Currently, there are two predominant types of chlorine tablets found on the market, calcium hypochlorite and chlorinated isocyanurates. Calcium hypochlorite tablets, which are made for wastewater, are very reactive and quickly kill bacteria present in wastewater (99 percent of the bacteria killed takes place in the first 10 minutes after contact). Just as importantly, any residual or leftover chlorine present after disinfection dissipates quickly, so it will not damage lawns or shrubs.

The other type of chlorine tablets are the chlorinated isocyanurates, or tri-chlor tablets, which are made for use in swimming pools. These tablets are carried in most swimming pool supply and retail stores. Though their use in wastewater disinfection is both dangerous and illegal, many homeowners erroneously purchase these types of tablets for use in their aerobic treatment spray irrigation system.

Formulated for swimming pool disinfection, tri-chlor tablets release much less reactive chlorine than calcium hypochlorite, and as a result, fail to kill all the bacteria present in the wastewater. The real danger of using tri-chlor tablets for wastewater disinfection is not to the environment, but to the homeowner. Tri-chlor tablets exposed to a periodic flow of wastewater tend to break down and produce nitrogen trichloride gas. This colorless, heavier than air gas accumulates in the treatment system and if a significant volume of the gas is generated, a violent reaction can occur.

For further information regarding home wastewater disinfection and chlorine safety, please contact your local TNRCC office or Norweco, Inc. at 220 Republic Street, Norwalk, Ohio 44857. Our telephone number is 419-668-4471, the fax number is 419-663-5540, and the email address is email@norweco.com.

DPS offers wireless number for roadside assistance

The Texas Department of Public Safety and six wireless carriers have established *DPS, a statewide wireless phone number for Texas motorists to use when reporting non-life-threatening situations on Texas roads and highways.

Customers of the participating companies - ALLTEL, Nextel, Southwestern Bell Wireless, GTE Wireless, Houston Cellular and Verizon Wireless - can dial *DPS free of airtime charges anywhere in Texas, and receive roadside assistance for non-emergency situations. Similar to the DPS Roadside Assistance number 1-800-525-5555, callers may quickly contact a DPS representative who will dispatch a State Trooper, other peace officer or appropriate assistance to the scene.

"We at DPS are pleased that many of the wireless companies in Texas have chosen to participate in this program," said Col. Thomas A. Davis Jr., director of the DPS. "Texas motorists who have wireless service with these companies will have fewer numbers to remember when they need roadside assistance."

Examples include:
* stranded with car problems
* hazardous road conditions, or
* suspicious activity at a rest area.

"I am delighted the DPS and these participating wireless companies have come together to make it easy for motorists to access DPS Roadside Assistance. As a husband and father of two daughters, I know my family will be safer and I will be less concerned about their safety on our state's highways because of this initiative," said State Sen. Steve Ogden (R-Bryan), sponsor of the original legislation that created the DPS toll-free motorist assistance line.

Herb Festival seeks exhibitors

September 13, 2000 Village Voice Page 9B

The Lampasas County Chamber of Commerce is currently seeking vendors and exhibitors to participate in their Sixth Annual Herb and Art Festival on Oct. 14. The festival will offer guest speakers, cooking with herbs demonstrations, seminars, children's activities, and numerous paintings, prints and craft items for purchase and display.

Guest speakers for the 2000 Herb and Art Festival include Howard Garrett, the "Dirt Doctor" from WBAP Radio in Dallas; Scott Ogden, garden consultant and writer; and John Dromgoole, owner of "Natural Gardener" in Austin. Samples of herbs, seeds, and other gardening tools will be given out as door prizes. Three garden tours as well as tours of the historic Lampasas courthouse will be provided during the event. The Keystone Museum in Lampasas will also showcase an exhibit entitled "Proudly We Stand," displaying World War I and II items that have recently been submitted to the museum. Nancy Gray, an award-winning versatile painter, is the featured artist for the art festival. The festival will begin 9 a.m. on Oct. 14 on the Courtyard Square in historic downtown Lampasas. Booth areas are 10'x10' and cost $40 per space. Vendors and exhibitors wishing to participate may contact the Lampasas County Chamber of Commerce at lampasachamber@classicnet.net.

Free Prostate cancer testing offered by Scott & White

Nearly 40,000 men die annually of prostate cancer -- roughly one every 15 minutes. Scott & White is sponsoring a free prostate cancer screening in the wake of recent studies that show routine testing of men aged 50 and over resulted in decreased death rates from prostate cancer.

The free prostate cancer screening will be 8-11:30 a.m. Sept. 23 at the Scott & White Clinic in Temple at Desk 3A.

Reservations are mandatory. Proof of insurance is not required. Appointments can be made by calling 254/724-2020 or 800/750-6131, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays.

"Early detection means prostate cancer is caught and treated earlier, when men have a lower risk of complications," said Scott Coffield, M.D., Scott & White urologist and professor with the Texas A&M University System Health Science Center College of Medicine. "Prostate cancer is the second leading cause of cancer death among men, second only to lung cancer."

Scott & White is offering the screening to men who have not had a prostate exam in a year or more. To be eligible for the screening, men must meet the following guidelines:

- 50 to 75 years old: Younger men with a family history of prostate cancer (such as brothers or father with the disease) are also eligible. African-American men are eligible at ages 40 to 75 because they are at higher risk for the disease.

- Not previously diagnosed with prostate cancer.

- Have had no PSA (blood test) within the last year.

Each man will receive two key tests for prostate cancer. He will receive a digital rectal exam from a Scott & White Senior staff urologist, urology resident or radiation oncologist. He will also have a blood test (called a PSA) to check for evidence of cancer.

The PSA blood test measure an enzyme called

Prostate Specific Antigen. This is made by prostate tissue that dissolves the proteins which cause semen to clump. Elevated amounts of PSA may mean prostate cancer, although levels can increase due to age, sexual activity and a variety of factors other than cancer. The prostate can have other conditions that are not necessarily cancerous. Symptoms of prostate problems include frequent urination and difficulty in starting to void.

If the examinations indicate further treatment and follow-up is necessary, the man will be referred to his primary care physician or he will be given an opportunity to make an appointment with a Scott & White urologist.

Prostate cancer studies were conducted by The National Cancer Institute in the U.S. and by the University of Innsbruck in Austria. The National Cancer Institute study showed a 16.1 percent drop in prostate cancer deaths among white men and a 10.9 percent drop among African-American men when screenings were conducted.

According to the American Cancer Society, more than 180,400 new cases of prostate cancer are diagnosed in the U.S. each year. As the general population ages, the number of prostate cancer deaths is also expected to rise.

Southwestern University Sarofim's perform Godspell with new lyrics

The Southwestern University Sarofim School of Fine Arts Department of Theatre presents Godspell, a rock and roll musical with music and new lyrics by Stephen Schwartz.

Performances are 8 p.m. Oct. 5-7, 2 p.m. Oct. 8, 7 p.m. Oct. 10-12, in the Jesse H. and Mary Gibbs Jones Theatre on the Southwestern University campus.

Dr. Rick Roemer, Professor and the new Chair and Artistic Director of the Department of Theatre at Southwestern is directing Godspell.

According to Roemer, "This production of Godspell is uniquely our own. We follow a group of young adults, somewhat lost and disconnected, as they break into a warehouse after midnight to perform a "rave" party.

Interrupting their party is a strange, charismatic young man with fantastic ideas to share on how we, as a society, can become more compassionate, less selfish, with each individual contributing something of value to humanity.

This production of Godspell follows the journey and transformation of these young adults as this charismatic young man leads each of them to a more personal understanding of their own spirituality and sense of good." All this is told, in part, with a score featuring songs like "God Save the People", "Day by Day", "O, Bless the Lord", "All Good Gifts", and "You are the Light of the World".

Attorney General of Texas

A: My brother was recently murdered, and your Crime Victims' Compensation Program helped us pay funeral expenses. This allowed us to have a nice funeral for him, which I am grateful for. I don't understand why the taxpayers have to support this program instead of the criminals.

A: This is a common misperception about the Crime Victims' Compensation Program, which the Office of the Attorney General administers on behalf of the State of Texas. In fact, money for the program comes from the State's Victims' Compensation Fund, which is supported primarily by convicted offenders.

The Crime Victims' Compensation Program helps victims of violent crime and their families pay for out-of-pocket expenses incurred as the result of a violent crime. No tax dollars are used to run the program or to fund awards.

Criminals contribute to the Fund through fines that are assessed by the courts based on the level of the conviction. These fines are assessed in both state and federal courts.

In state court, criminals

Over 250 Methodists of Salado Methodist Church enjoyed eating, swimming, hiking and watching movies at Peaceable Kingdom August 20.

pay the following fees: $45 for felony convictions, $35 for Class A and B misdemeanors and certain municipal ordinance convictions, and $15 for Class C municipal ordinance convictions. During the 1998-99 Fiscal Year, more than $68 million was deposited in the Fund through state court fees.

Offenders who are on parole for crimes that occurred after September 1, 1993, pay $8 per month to the Fund. These fees contributed more than $1 million during the 1998-99 fiscal year.

As of January 1, 1996, all jurors in Texas are provided with information on the Fund and are given the option of donating their daily pay to the program. I am pleased to report that nearly $200,000 came from jurors who contributed to this worthwhile program.

Q: I was recently the victim of a carjacking. The Crime Victims' Compensation Program helped pay for my medical bills, but not for my car, which was totaled. I also was not awarded any money for pain and suffering. Why not?

A: Reimbursement guidelines for the Crime Victims' Compensation Program are set by the Texas Legislature. It is important to remember that the goal of the program is to reimburse victims of violent crimes and their families for out-of-pocket expenses that are incurred as the result of a crime.

The Fund does not allow for the replacement of material possessions, such as stolen items or crashed cars, unless the item has been seized by law enforcement officials as evidence. In many cases, victims can use other sources such as car or homeowner's insurance to cover these costs.

Since the program can reimburse victims and their families for out-of-pocket expenses only, there is no compensation for pain and suffering.
