Five file for local seats

Cooper, Mills, Ashe in city race,
Little, Coleman in school race

Michael Cooper, Jackie Mills and Rick Ashe have both filed for re-election to the Village of Salado Board of Aldermen. As of presstime March 4, no other candidates have filed for election to that board.

All five positions on the Board of Aldermen and the Mayor's position will be up for election May 4. The terms on the Board of Aldermen will be staggered for one and two years at the time.

Vic Means has indicated that they will seek re-election to the board of Aldermen. Dr. Raymond Carver told Salado Village Voice Feb. 25 that he has not yet made a decision about seeking re-election to the board.

The Village of Salado Independent School District and Salado Public Library District will hold concurrent elections May 4.

The May 4 election will include three three-year terms on the Salado I.S.D. Board of Trustees and three two-year terms on the Salado Public Library Board.

Trey Little and Cliff Coleman have filed for election to the Salado ISD

Board of Trustees. None of the incumbents -- Lynn Epps, John Konzen and Dr. Robert Merrill -- have filed as of presstime March 4. Epps and Dr. Merrill told Salado Village Voice Feb. 25 that they would not seek re-election to the Salado ISD Board of Trustees. Dr. Merrill will complete two three-year terms on the board in May. Epps will complete one three-year term on the board in May. John Konzen was unavailable at press time for comment about his intentions to seek reelection to the board.

No one has filed for election to the Library District Board of Trustees. Three positions on the board will be filled May 4. They are currently filled by Dr. Luther Brewer, Carolyn Britt and Hulda Horton, all of whom have indicated that they will run for re-election.

The last day to file for election to the Village of Salado Board of Aldermen, Salado ISD Board of Trustees or Salado Public Library District Board of Directors will be March 20. Applications will be

BILL HALL urges auction-goers to bid higher and higher in the fund raising Ninth Annual Civic Center Auction held Saturday, March 2, at the Salado intermediate school. Auction chairman Patsy Sanford reported late Monday that the final auction sale totals were not complete, but it was expected that the annual event would net a profit of well over $9,000.00. "Considering the bad weather we were faced with, this number is very good," Chairman Sanford noted. "The auction attracted over 260 who enjoyed an outstanding meal prepared by Johnny's Steak and Barbecue," according to Ken Clapp, chairman of Civic Center Foundation.

Belton set to annex more

Belton City Council met March 5 to consider directing its City Manager to prepare a Municipal Services Plan and set Public Hearings for April 23 and May 7 regarding the proposed annexation of approximately 25 acres along and on either side of I-35 south of the current city limits.

The Council met in the Belton Intermediate School Cafeteria at 1704 Sparta Rd. in Belton at 12:15 p.m.

This is the second annexation along I-35 in recent months by Belton. The city annexed almost 150 acres along I-35 earlier this year, bringing its one-mile Extra Territorial Jurisdiction (ETJ) to abut with Salado's half-mile ETJ. The 25-acre proposed annexation will bring its southern city limits to abut with Salado's ETJ, just north of FM 1670.

The meeting occurred after press time for this week's issue and notice of the meeting was received after last week's issue was distributed.

If approved following the April 23 and May 7 public hearings, Belton's ETJ will include a portion of Wild Rose Subdivision.

Masons work for schools, cook fish March 9

Salado Masons will don their aprons to go to work for the community during their Annual Catfish Dinner 4-7 p.m. March 9 in the Salado Intermediate School cafeteria.

The Catfish Dinner will feature fried or baked catfish with all the fixings for $6 per person.

Proceeds from the Catfish Dinner will benefit Salado school programs, including the school libraries and scholarships offered by the Lodge.

Salado Lodge #296 has given more than $5,000 in books to Salado school libraries from proceeds from its Catfish Dinners and matching donations from the Scottish Rite Bodies of Waco.

The Lodge has also donated more than $9,000 to the Salado Volunteer Fire Department in proceeds from its first ever Catfish Dinner.

Tickets are available from most Salado Masons. You can also purchase tickets from First State Bank of Salado, Village Pharmacy and Salado Village Voice.

Aldermen hear Jack in the Box sign request

Village of Salado Aldermen will consider a request 6:30 p.m. March 7 for a sign variance from Jack in the Box, which may purchase property in the Extra-Territorial Jurisdiction of the Village of Salado. Jack in the Box hopes to purchase property where Cowboy's Barbecue is currently located.

The corporation will then build a new Jack in the Box restaurant on the property. Representatives showed plans for the new restaurant at a February meeting of the Board of Aldermen.

Jack in the Box is requesting approval of a 70-foot pole sign to be built on premises.

In other old business items, the Board of Aldermen will hear a report from

Congratulations to Jeffrey Hart for having courage to speak the truth

Your Voice

Letters to Editor

Dear Editor:

I wish to commend the Salado Village Voice for running Jeffrey Hart's Commentary, "Harvard caves (again)." Having earned 3 Harvard degrees (B.A., M.A., Ph.D.) during the 1960's and '70's, I witnessed firsthand the unfortunate policy changes to which Hart refers: essentially from an admissions and grading policy based upon merit to a rigged admission system based upon racial quotas favoring Black applicants at the expense of more intellectually and academically talented White and non-Black minority applicants (e.g., students of Asian ancestry).

Before this disgraceful quota system was initiated, Harvard admitted Black students whose academic preparation, grades and test scores entitled them to be there--on merit, not because of their skin color. After racial preference policies resulted in the admission of many academically unqualified Black students, the institutional "solution" was to inflate grading practices to ensure that almost everyone received an "A," or if they were doing rather poorly, at least a "B."

I was encouraged when new Harvard President Summers initially indicated that he expected competitive academic performance--even from the faculty of the Afro-American Studies Department--a somewhat surprising and refreshing stance from a former Clinton appointee! By abandoning principle under political pressure, Summers has now put himself in the running to be considered the 'Neville Chamberlain" of 21st Century university presidents.

Congratulations to Jeffrey Hart for having the courage to speak the truth on this issue and for the Voice for running his column in this time of "political correctness" -- a phrase that is the antithesis of the "Veritas" once revered at Harvard and still emblazoned in stone and iron throughout Harvard Yard, albeit now with an unintended sense of irony.

John Fryer

Dear Editor,

When Salado was incorporated, it was incorporated as the Village of Salado. The transportation plan has not been in keeping with the "village image".

What attracted my husband and I to Salado was a quiet, relaxed and calm life style. This is, also, why our friends and neighbors have chosen to make their home here. The visitors to our village leave busy cities to come shop, stroll and relax here.

Why do our Aldermen and Mayor want to change the small community atmosphere that we all have come to love?

Why should a few decide on a plan that has impacted so many lives? A change of this magnitude should warrant a vote by the taxpayers of the Village of Salado.

We are still requesting that all four lane road ways and the Glasscock roadways be permanently removed from the transportation plan.

Thank You,
Joyce Vannatta

Vouchers: A way out of the public school ghetto

By BILL PEACOCK
ETN News

The Supreme Court last week heard arguments on the constitutionality of school vouchers, an issue which the Wall Street Journal has characterized as "our Brown v. Board of Education."

The parallels couldn't be more obvious. Minority parents, who have lost all hope that the public schools will treat their children as equals and teach them the skills they need to survive in this world, are seeking to change the system. The parents are being opposed by those who are more powerful and privileged, people who have benefited from the system, people who refuse to change the system because of their biased beliefs.

Does the system need to be changed? Absolutely. In Cleveland, which has implemented the voucher system being debated, barely 25 percent of students who enter the system will receive high school diplomas. Equally depressing results can be seen in urban areas all across America. Throwing more money at the broken system will only perpetuate the damage it is causing.

What are the biases of those who oppose vouchers? They fall into three categories.

The first is an anti-religious bias. Parents who are escaping the public schools tend to use their vouchers in Christian schools. Because of their bias, voucher opponents attack any plan that benefits Christian or other religious schools, even though it is the parents, rather than the government, who make the decision where the funding goes.

Minority parents, who have lost all hope that the public schools will treat their children as equals and teach them the skills they need to survive in this world, are seeking to change the system.

The second bias is against those who do not belong to the public education establishment. In a story this week, we look at how unions have used any means necessary, including violence, to force employers to hire their members. Advocates of public education want to force parents to send their children to public schools at any cost, in order to maintain their near-monopoly on education funding. The violence being done to children for this cause puts union thugs to shame.

Finally, many residents of suburban school districts oppose, or fail to support, vouchers because they don't want to get their hands messy. They believe their children are getting a good education and don't want to make any changes that might shake up their suburban paradise.

However, in the real world, we can't separate urban and suburban any more than we can keep religion out of politics. Urban problems, such as drugs and crime, creep into the suburbs through the schools. Parents who would ignore the plight of inner-city kids are merely turning a blind eye to the problems in their own schools, and families.

If the problems in our failing schools are going to be solved, then our schools ought to embrace religion rather than ban it. As Joel Belz of World Magazine put it, the "Bible is what tells us that racism is wrong, that treating the poor with compassion is right, and that God has ordained distinctions between male and female for the good of His creation. It's from the Bible that we learn that cheating and adultery and drunkenness are destructive, and that a servant spirit, honoring your parents, and thriftiness will be rewarded."

These are the kind of teachings needed in our schools. For the failure of the schools involves much more than the failure to teach children to add and subtract. The failure is ultimately a moral failure, and it is the moral failure that also reaches into the suburban schools, no matter how well they teach the ABCs.

Vouchers will not solve all the problems that our public schools face, but they will allow many children to break out of the public education ghetto so that they can be taught how to read and write, and how to tell right from wrong.

Pentagon's Propaganda Program

It's always a knee-slapping hoot to hear the Pentagon try to fool We the People with one of its GBHLs---Great Big Honking Lies. My favorite was when Major Joe LaMarca, spokesman for the U.S. Central Command, declared in 1998: "We don't practice propaganda in this country." Surely he was wearing a clown suit when he said that.

Less humorous (and much scarier) is when the military brass becomes so powerful that it no longer feels it needs to lie to We the People about its lying. Unfortunately, we are at that point. The Pentagon has now conceded not only that it engages in propaganda, but that it even is creating an office to distribute what it admits will be lies. The new "Office of Strategic Influence," headed by Brig. General Simon Worden, will be in the business of mass distribution of official lies, not merely spreading "disinformation" to hostile nations, but unapologetically giving false information to the leaders and journalists of our allied nations.

The OSI has a multimillion budget for its lying--a budget drawn from the $10 billion unrestricted fund that Congress so carelessly shoved into George W's hands after the September 11 terrorist attacks. And, yes, the Pentagon concedes that, since news is global, the lies it places in foreign media outlets quite likely will be picked up by our media, thus propagandizing us and our Congress critics.

Gen. Worden also plans to create third-party fronts for the distribution of the lies. A senior Pentagon official told the New York Times that propagandistic email messages will be zapped from the Pentagon to opinion leaders around the world, but instead of identifying the true source, "the return address will probably be a dot-com" that the OSI will create.

The Pentagon was already several bales short of a haystack when it comes to credibility, but now that it has opened up a full-fledged propaganda shop, we can believe nothing it says. This is what happens when Congress gives too much money and power to an autocratic agency. --

Belton eligible for Single Family Housing program

Bryan Daniel, Texas State Director, USDA Rural Development recently announced that the city of Belton has been designated as an eligible area for the agency's Single Family Housing Program.

To be eligible for financing, the home must be located in a rural community with less than 10,000 in population or open country not closely associated with an urban area. Under certain circumstances loans can be made in towns and cities between 10,000 and 25,000 in population.

"Rural Texans should never assume they are not eligible for a home loan. We encourage anyone interested in owning their own home to call the Hillsboro Local Office for details on eligible area," said Daniel.

The rural housing loan program may be used to finance new or existing homes that are structurally sound and have certified mechanical, electrical, plumbing and insulation systems.

For more information regarding USDA Rural Development Programs, contact the Hillsboro office at (254) 582-7328, Ext. 4.

Salado Church of Christ began March 10, 1859, when thirty-six Christians from the Darr's Creek congregation, led by Dr. Carroll Kendrick, met in a brush arbor on the bank of Salado Creek. Dr. Kendrick was frontier physician, preacher, and educator. The village of Salado Springs had existed for a while. A Post Office opened in 1852. Dr. Kendrick settled in the village because of its location and resources. Soon, congregations of Baptist, Methodists and Presbyterians moved into town and with the Church of Christ met together in a non-denominational Sunday School. From Pentecost, to the Retortion Movement in America, to the banks of Salado Creek, we will follow the 143-year history of Salado Church of Christ.

Salado Cemetery expands with land purchase

By MARYBELLE BROWN

There have always been groups of volunteers who took care of the cemetery. There was no formal organization until recent years.

The first mention of a Cemetery Association on record was in 1896 when a group of people came together to plan a fundraiser and a clean-up of the Cemetery. Old timers tell us that at that time the Cemetery was overgrown with weeds and brush. Whatever needed to be done in upkeep of the Cemetery was handled by asking interested individuals and families for donations.

The responsibility for care and maintenance has been handed down from generation to generation. This has worked as it not uncommon to find two or three generations of family members buried near each other.

A perpetual Endowment Fund was begun in the 1930's. Money donated to this fund is invested and the interest from the investment is placed in the Maintenance Fund and is used for care and maintenance of the Cemetery. The money in this perpetual Endowment Fund can never be used for anything else.

The Cemetery Association was formally organized and chartered in 1996. Bylaws for the Cemetery Association and for the sister organization, "Friends of Salado Cemetery, Inc." were written and are carefully followed in the function and operation of the Executive Board.

The Executive Board or "Board" is made up of elected officials, three (3) trustees, the chairmen of all standing committees and an appointed parliamentarian. The Board meets quarterly or more often as needed. There is an annual meeting of the Executive Board as well as one of "Friends."

The sister organization known as Friends is made up of lot owners, members of families who have family members buried there, and other interested individuals from the community. Board members are elected from Friends. Friends also serve as volunteers in care and maintenance and with special events related to the Cemetery. There are approximately six hundred names on the Roster of Friends. This group, as well as other interested people, have donated the sum of $30,000 for payment on the bank note for the newly acquired land.

A newsletter is mailed out to Friends in the Fall and Spring of each year.

Additional land for expansion of the Cemetery has been acquired when needed down through the years. The land on which the Old Salado Grave Yard was located was donated to the "People of the Town of Salado" around 1852. Additional land has been acquired in 1887, 1899, 1905, 1950, and 1967. All of this land has been purchased with donations of Friends. A gift of four (4) acres of land was donated by the C. B. Hodge family in 1970.

Additional land was needed to meet the demands of the rapidly growing population of the newly incorporated Village of Salado for burial spaces in the beautiful historic Salado Cemetery.

The last available bit of land adjoining the Cemetery became available.

Since new housing developments had begun adjoining the Cemetery, the Board borrowed the money from one of the local banks and purchased this eight plus acres of land in July, 2002. This acreage will serve the community for many years to come.

Members of all ethnic groups are invited to purchase burial sites. Hispanic families are doing so. There have been no Afro-American families buried in the Cemetery in many years. This may be due to the fact that there is a Cemetery for Black Americans located on the northwest edge of the Village of Salado. Some former slaves buried with their former masters many years ago are among the unmarked and "lost" graves in Old Salado Grave Yard.

Copies of policies and guidelines are given to all lot owners. Owners are encouraged to follow these carefully and Board members are always available to answer questions or advise owners when problems arise. This has led to a good working relationship with members of the community.

The world hates change; yet it is the only thing that has brought progress.
Charles Kettering

Merrill's book about creek reviewed

A Neglected Treasure-
Salado Creek by Patricia Merrill.

Reviewed by Jane Wilmer.

This short history of Salado Creek is a "must read." It is edited by Robert E. Merrill. Sandra Edwards, Salado artist, introduces each chapter with a drawing. Chapter headings feature the mills along the creek, floods and bridges, gold, Salado College, schools, churches, and Stagecoach Inn. Each chapter takes one back to the days when the creek waters were clear as crystal, and the watercress, crawdads, and fish were edible. The steams were strong enough to power five mills. It is said that the water fountains over five feet high burst forth from the stream.

Pat Merrill spent several years tape-recording memories of long-time Salado residents. The interview with Dr. Harry Farrell was fascinating as he told of swimming, fishing, and camping by the creek in the 1930's. Many enjoyed these activities in the 1970's. Now in 2002 there is concern about the state of the creek, and swimming is a risk.

Pat founded the Salado Creek Preservation Committee of the Salado Historical Society with a message all must heed, as concerned citizens, and preserve the most precious gift of natural beauty of the historic Salado Creek, our treasure.

The book is available locally through the Salado Historical Society, Salado Galleries, Royal Emporium at Settlers Crossing, Salado Pottery, Bill Bartlett Century 21 Real Estate, 1860s Shop, Charlotte's of Salado and the Salado Chamber of Commerce office.

Eagles off to 5-0 start, win own tournament

March 6, 2002 SALADO Village Voice Page 9A

By MELVIN BATES

The Salado Eagles baseball team rolled to three victories during the past week. The 5-0 record for the Eagles is their best start in several years.

Salado Eagles 13
Johnson City 3

Salado took on Johnson City on Feb. 26. The local Eagles fell behind 3-0 after three complete innings. J.C. scored a run in the first and added two in the top of the third.

The Eagles finally got on the scoreboard with a run in the fourth. Scott Bates reached on an error, he moved to second on Garrett Quarles single. Miles Wallace followed with a single to drive Bates home.

Salado tied the score at three with two runs in the fifth. Jeremy Grimm started things with a one out walk. Heath Hale followed with a single. A Bates double scored Grimm. Quarles followed with a single to score Hale and tie the score.

The heavy artillery was broken out in the sixth inning by Salado.

The Eagles batsmen pounded out ten hits in the inning and scored ten runs to end the game by virtue of the ten run rule 13-3. Grimm had two hits in the inning and Quarrels provided the big blast with a three run homer.

Quarles led the offensive attack, going three of four with four rbi's. Bates was three of five with three rbi's. Wallace, Hale, and Grimm each collected two hits.

The Eagles used a multitude of pitchers on the night. Cole Cox started and went two innings. Roland Buckley pitched the third. Bates pitched the sixth and received the benefit of the offensive explosion and was the winning pitcher.

Miles Wallace leads off from first.

Salado Eagles 12
Holland 4

In the opening round of the Salado tournament, the Eagles took on the Holland Hornets. Salado took a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first on a Scott Bates homerun.

The Eagles increased their lead with five runs in the second. Salado received four free passes in the inning. Heath Hale, Hunter Konzen, and Jeremy Grimm all had rbi hits in the inning.

Holland scored two runs in the top of the third to close within four, 6-2. The Eagles kept control of the game by scoring five more runs in the bottom of the third.

Lane Wolff started the inning for Salado with a single. After a stolen base Randy Tubbs singled to score Wolff. Hunter Konzen doubled to put runners on second and third. Roland Buckley slapped a two out single to produce another run. Bates followed that up with his second homerun of the day, a three run shot to right field.

Holland added a run in the fourth and one in the fifth while Salado added one more in the fourth for the 12-4 final.

Konzen was two of two on the day. While Bates was two of three with four rbi's. Wolff was credited with the win on the Mound for Salado. He went three innings, allowing two runs and two hits. Miles Wallace pitched the final three.

Salado Eagles 18
Valley Mills 1

Salado faced Valley Mills in the second round of the tournament. The Eagles offensive ways continued in their match with VM.

In the bottom of the first Jeremy Grimm, and Roland Buckley drew walks to start the Eagles off. Scott Bates singled to give Salado a 1-0 lead.

A fourteen run second inning took all suspense out of the game. Salado pounded out eleven hits in the inning. Grimm, Buckley, Bates, Miles Wallace, Randy Tubbs, and Garrett Quarles all drove in runs during the inning.

The Eagles finished out their scoring with three runs in the third. Tubbs reached base on an error. He scored on a single by Hunter Konzen. Cale Cox singled later in the inning. Ben Marsh tripled to left center to score both Konzen and Cox and run the score to 18-1.

The game was called after the top of the fourth because of the score and weather. Jeremy Grimm was the winning pitcher. He allowed three hits and struck out eight.

Offensively five Eagles collected two hits on the night. They were Grimm, Buckley, Bates, Wallace, and Tubbs.

March 2 Tournament games were cancelled due to inclement weather. The places were determined by total runs. First place went to Salado. Clifton placed second. Bartlett third and Valley Mills fourth.

Local community colleges offer registered radio logic technologists

Central Texas students seeking to become Registered Radio logic Technologists have a local option for taking these courses, thanks to a new distance-learning partnership between Temple College and McLennan Community College.

An open house and information session on the x-ray tech program is set for 4 p.m. March 11, at the Nursing Education Building on the Temple College campus.

Classes will be offered via two-way interactive video connection between MCC in Waco and students at the Temple campus. MCC faculty will teach the lecture, lecture/lab and clinical courses.

Temple students will be able to complete most course work at Temple College Clinical rotations are required at Scott and White, and Olin E. Teague Veterans Center. Other clinical sites include and King's Daughters Clinic in Temple and Hillcrest Baptist Medical Center and Providence Health Center in Waco.

"We are very pleased to bring this new program to the Temple area," Deborah Durham, director of the TC Health Sciences Division, said. "The partnership between MCC and TC will allow students in Bell County to participate in a well-established, highly respected program in a convenient location. The resources of the Temple medical community will be a great asset to this program."

Radio logic Technology is a two-year associate of applied science degree program. Graduates are eligible to take the certification exam administered by the American Registry of Radio logic Technologists (ARRT) and apply for a state license as a Medical Radiologic Technologist. The curriculum includes some general academic courses, which may be taken before admission to the program.

The application deadline for this program is April 1, and courses will begin in September. Prospective students should contact college officials as early as possible to assess previous course work.

This is the second health sciences partnership between TC and MCC. Surgical Technology is currently available to Waco students through Temple College under a similar agreement.

For more information, contact Brenda Dobelbower, MCC's Radiologic Technology program director, at (254) 299-8342 or Deborah Durham, director of the TC Health Sciences Division at (254) 298-8678.

Breaking the laxative habit

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am 75 years old, and for the past 25 years I have taken a laxative every day. I know this is not right, and I have been trying to get off laxatives—but with no success. Can you suggest a program?

Answer: You can break the laxative habit. It takes time and determination, but I'm confident you will succeed. First off, let's define constipation. Not having a daily bowel movement is not constipation. Movements can be as infrequent as three times a week and be normal. Constipation has more to do with difficulty eliminating stool and its rock-hard consistency.

The first and most important step is to increase diet fiber. Aim for a total of 30 to 35 grams a day. Fiber is the indigestible part of food. In grains, it's the outer shell (bran) that's discarded in the refining process. Pick whole-grain cereals and breads. Obtain bran from a health food store and sprinkle it on cereal, add it to juices or use it in baking rolls and muffins.

Start out with modest amounts of fiber. Too much too soon causes bloating. Work up to the 35gram goal slowly.

Fruits with their skins and many vegetables are good sources of fiber. One apple with its skin has 5.5 grams of fiber. One-half cup of baked beans has 10 grams. In most bookstores there are little books that list the fiber content of food. Get one.

Before breakfast, take a walk. Walking not only exercises leg muscles, it also jump-starts intestinal tract muscles, the muscles that push undigested food through the tract.

After breakfast, head for the bathroom and sit on the toilet for five to 10 minutes. Breakfast sparks a reflex that stimulates the digestive tract to evacuate its contents.

The constipation report has more information on how to establish good bowel habits. Readers can obtain a copy by writing Dr. Donohue — No. 7W, Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475. Enclose a check or money order (no cash) for $4.50 along with the recipient's name and mailing address, printed clearly. Allow 4-6 weeks for delivery.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can high blood pressure medicine make you blind? I have been told by a reliable source that it can.

I am under treatment for high blood pressure but am now worried about continuing treatment

Answer: Who is your reliable source? High blood pressure medicines do not cause blindness.

Don't stop the medicine on your own. Talk to your doctor, who is your most reliable source. Untreated high blood pressure can impair vision. Maybe that's where the confusion came from.

Do pill popping adolescents know the dangers?

Young people taking performance-enhancing drugs may get stronger and faster, but they may also kill themselves, Texas Medicine magazine reports in its February issue.

Adolescent athletes, often those participating in power sports such as football and wrestling, are most likely to experiment with performance-enhancing drugs. Young athletes are not the only kids being lured, however. Adolescents who never "pump iron" or run wind sprints turn to drugs like anabolic steroids, creatine, and androstenedione, Texas Medicine reports.

Why?

Sex appeal. As many as one-third of teenage steroid users in one study turned to drugs to artificially bulk up to be more physically attractive. The price of sex appeal, speed, and strength in a pill can be quite high, however: How sexy are increased acne, depression, rage, or diarrhea?

These are known side effects of steroids and creatine, as are liver failure and heart disease, which could lead to premature death.

According to Texas Medicine, a monthly publication of the Texas Medical Association, America's best medical society, kids who take these drugs put themselves at risk of maladies ranging from shrinking sex organs to sudden weight gain, all in the name of making the team or making out on a date. Moreover, researchers question whether educating young people about the risks of taking performance-enhancing drugs would make them think twice about popping the pills.

February's Texas

Medicine journal section, which is the scientific portion of the magazine, focuses entirely on the unique challenges of providing health care for young people. Physicians can receive continuing medical education (CME) credit by reading the publication's articles and completing a form. The edition's topics range from young people with special needs transitioning into adulthood, to substance abuse.

Texas Medicine examines performance-enhancing drug use in February issue--Add One Texas Medicine is the only medical journal in America to offer this type of CME credit service to its physician members.

Texas Medicine is the official news magazine of the Texas Medical Association, and provides timely information on medical issues that affect Texas patients and their physicians. For the full text of these articles, see the February issue of Texas Medicine or find it online at www.texmed.org/. Click on the Texas Medicine magazine cover, and scroll to the article you choose.

Texas Medical Association is the largest state medical society in the nation, representing more than 37,000 physician and medical student members. It is located in Austin and has 119 component county medical societies around the state. TMA's key objective is to improve the health of all Texans.

Suggestions for tax wise living

Dollars & Sense

by David Uffington

With tax season upon us, I'd like to devote upcoming columns to a variety of tax topics.

First of all, I'd like to pass on some "suggestions for tax-wise living" covered in "Taxes For Dummies," 2002 edition, by Eric Tyson and David Silverman, which I reviewed in last week's column. This list goes on a while, so we'll split it over a couple of weeks.

Use tax laws to reduce your taxes. If you educate yourself about the tax laws and incentives, you can dramatically and permanently reduce the taxes that you pay over the course of your lifetime. Now more than ever, with massive changes coming from the Economic Growth and Tax Relief Reconciliation Act of 2001, it pays to understand tax-reduction strategies.

Use retirement accounts as a simple but powerful way to reduce your income taxes. The 2001 tax law dramatically increases the amount you can contribute to these accounts. Lower income earners also will be able to get free government matching money from contributions.

Take control of your taxes. Find out enough about the tax laws by reading the relevant sections of this book so that you can prepare your own return or intelligently hire a good tax preparer and review your return when someone else prepares it.

Use tax preparers only when you need them. If your situation hasn't changed since last year, you're probably wasting your hard-earned dollars paying a tax preparer to plug your new numbers into this year's return. Unless your finances are complicated or the tax laws have dramatically changed in an area that affects you, try preparing your own return. If you get stuck or want another opinion, you can always go to a preparer at that point.

Get, and stay, organized. Try keeping your tax and financial documents organized year-round. This practice saves many hours, not only when you prepare your tax return, but also when you make important financial decisions.

Remember that the IRS isn't always right. Whether providing advice over the phone or challenging taxpayers' returns, the IRS makes mistakes, so don't panic if you get a call from Uncle Sam. If you haven't knowingly cheated or defrauded the IRS, you have little to fear from audit notices or other IRS letters. Calmly organize your supporting documents to prove your case. Next week, I'll conclude the list of suggestions provided by Tyson and Silverman.

Salado students go to Cozumel

By ERIN LUMMUS

Since August, Salado High School students have teamed up with students from Rogers to become certified scuba divers. Steve Muribito, a Salado High School geometry teacher, and his wife, a Rogers High School biology teacher, brought 26 of their students to C&J Divers, in Killeen, where they learned the safety and importance of diving.

On November 10, the first group of students, which was approximately half of the students, went on their first real dive at Travis Lake in Austin. This dive was lead by dive instructors Chris Mendoza and Jennifer Woolsey and dive masters Mary Hennigan and Chelle Josefowicz.

Dive instructor Chris Mendoza has gone on over 10,000 dives and plans to continue diving for as long as he can. Mendoza started diving when he was a teenager and he would play around with his friend's father's equipment. Later in life Mendoza joined the army and went into Special Forces and was on the scuba team. In 1993 Mendoza got involved with Professional Association of Diving Instructors (PADI), which is responsible for 80% certification worldwide. It was when he got involved with PADI he decided to open up a dive shop of his own.

Genealogy classes to be held at Salado Public Library

Noted genealogist, Richard Hooverson, will offer a course on "Writing Your Family History" at the Salado Civic Center. The course, a series of five two-hour classes, will be held 7 p.m. March 18-17 and March 21-22 and March 25. The fees is $40.

"This is one of my most popular courses," Hooverson said recently. The topics covered will include ways to relieve author anxiety, unblock "writer's block," and conduct "painless interviews," and develop narrative style.

In addition, methods for blending historical events with genealogy in a way that makes the life of an ancestor come alive, will be discussed.

The series also includes lessons on word processing techniques and the use of software programs, as well as how to self-publish and market family histories. He describes the course as one for "first-time authors who want to write and even publish a memoir or family history, but have delayed because of apprehensions about technology involved."

The course is sponsored by the Salado Public Library. Students may enroll at the Library or by

This summer the students will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Muribito, and will fly to Cozumel, to explore coral reefs and undersea life.

Project Graduation 2002 plans are underway

Plans for Salado's Project Graduation 2002 are underway. A steering committee has formed and begun plans for the graduation party for the Class of 2002. The Department of Public Safety started Project Graduation several years ago, state-wide, as a way to encourage safe, alcohol-free and substance-free graduation celebrations. Salado has had its own Project Graduation celebrations in recent years, thanks to the generosity of Salado residents and business who have supported them.

As in recent years, parents of graduating seniors will again be contacting members of the Salado community to help raise funds needed to pay for this year's celebration.

One of the fund-raisers planned is a Fajita Dinner 6 p.m., Auction 7 p.m. April 13 at the Salado Intermediate School. Project graduation will be soliciting both monetary donations and donated items for a live auction, during the next few weeks. Letters will also be going out to explain the project and ask for donations from community members.

This year's Project Graduation will be on graduation night 11 p.m. - 6 a.m. at an undisclosed location to surprise the seniors.

The celebration will be a lock-in, with only graduating seniors and chaperones allowed at the party. Transportation will be provided on buses to and from the event. No private cars, will be allowed. It will be fun-filled evening with food, games, unstructured activities, and prizes. Project graduation is designed to be a substance-free, tobacco-free night for all.

If you would like to contribute to this year's celebration, contact chairperson, Carol Fleck at 947-8988.

Salado Wedding Wishes is everything you need for your special day

By ALBERTA URQUIZA
STAFF WRITER

She wasn't a professional wedding consultant but yet "I was the one that friends called for weddings," states Shannon Ashe.

Ashe is a licensed substance abuse counselor (LSAC). She has a degree in mental health and a minor in theater. For ten years she worked in prisons with addicted women and children. But when her daughter Addie was born, having a high risk job did not seem like a good idea. So she decided to do what she had done most of her life....coordinate weddings. Ashe researched to see if there was a need for wedding coordinators in Salado and indeed there was.

Now, owner of Salado Wedding Wishes, Ashe is a Professional Bridal Consultant, accredited by the Association of Bridal Consultants. She combines her experience in directing (theater) and counseling to improve the quality of her skills.

Her services range from full-time consultation to simply a wedding day coordinator. Coordinating a wedding on average takes six months, but if there is no time left she can plan a wedding in as little as three weeks. According to one of her customers, "Shannon kept me on schedule so I didn't have to worry about a thing. I felt secure in knowing that she had everything under control."

Distance is not a problem. Ashe can help the bride plan a wedding long distance. According to a bride, "planning a wedding long distance was a breeze..." She can contact the bride through e-mail, phone, or fax. "I planned

Kamman speaks on healthcare to Lions Club

March 6, 2002 SALADO Village Voice Page 58

By ALBERTA URQUIZA
STAFF WRITER

"The word doctor comes from a Greek word meaning someone who teaches," said Bethany Kamman, RMT at a Salado Lions Club meeting.

Kamman is a massage therapist at Salado Chiropractic. She has trained in Texas, Oklahoma, California and Florida. She is also certified in Watsu, aquatic massage.

According to Kamman, there are three tools to take care of a person's health.

"First, educate yourself about health." Ask the doctor about treatments, and side effects. "If you are informed you will be able to make better decisions. Let him teach you."

"Ask your friends what kind of healthcare they are using. Is it working?"

"Second, take care of yourself." Kamman suggested exercising. "Gardening is good exercise." She also suggested reading and finding other ways to reduce stress such as massage therapy.

"Last, find someone to help take care of yourself." Find professionals who will answer questions.

Research for the best Allopathic medicine and alternative healthcare.

Alternative medicine, such as chiropractic, uses natural methods to eliminate patterns of imbalance in the body.

Massage therapy improves circulation, decreases stress and alleviates pain.

Reflexology, which is based on energetic techniques, finds stimulation points on hands and feet to make the body get back in balance.

Traditional Chinese Medicine, which Kamman practices, allows the body to heal itself. The practice is based on empirical evidence. If records show that it worked back then, then it could work now.

Be open to all the varieties of healthcare. According to Kamman, "If you keep doing what you have always done, you will always get what you have always gotten."

Whether using chiropractors or doctors it is necessary that the patient identify his needs and communicate them to the professional. "The state of Texas has minimum requirements for health-care professionals," she said. So be sure that the professional taking care of your healthcare has a good education background.

Kamman related a story about Traditional Chinese Medicine, "doctors got paid as long as the patient stayed healthy." The Lions seemed to like that idea.

Winds of spring time

TUMBLEWEED SMITH

March is the windy month in Texas. Somebody told me the other day, "It'd be all right if the wind didn't pick up that gritty dust." But then it wouldn't be Texas, would it?

The Texas winds are tame to those of New England. When my wife and I visited Mount Washington in New Hampshire years ago, we nearly froze in the snow, even though we were at the base of the mountain.

In his book A Walk in the Woods, Bill Bryson relates a weather story. On April 12, 1934, Salvatore Pagliuca, a meteorologist at the summit weather observatory on Mount Washington had an experience no one else has had before or since.

Mount Washington gets a little gusty, to put it mildly. And this was a particularly breezy day. During the previous twenty-four hours, the wind speed had not fallen below 107 miles an hour and often gusted much higher. When it came time for Pagliuca to take the afternoon readings, the wind was so strong that he tied a rope around his waist and had two colleagues take hold of the other end. The men had difficulty getting the weather station door open and needed all their strength to keep Pagliuca from becoming a kind of human kite. How he managed to reach his weather instruments and take readings is not known, nor are his words when he finally tumbled back in. A few come to mind, like GEEEEEEEE WHIZ!

What is certain is that Salvatore had just experienced a surface speed of 231 miles an hour. Nothing approaching that velocity has ever been recorded elsewhere.

In The Worst Weather On Earth, A History of the Mt. Washington Observatory, William Putnam writes, "there may be worse weather, from time to time, at some forbidding place on earth, but it has yet to be reliably recorded."

Among the Mount Washington weather station's many other records are: most weather instruments destroyed, most wind in twenty-four hours and lowest windchill (a combination of 100 mph winds and a temperature of -47 degrees, a severity unmatched even in Antarctica).

Mount Washington receives 246 inches of snow a year. In 1969, eight feet of snow fell on the summit in three days. On average, the wind blows at hurricane force (over 75 miles an hour) two out of three days during the winter and 40% of days overall. Because of the length and bitterness of its winters, the average mean temperature at the summit is 27 degrees. The summer average is 52 degrees, a good 25 degrees lower than at its base. It is a brutal mountain and yet people go up there, or at least try to, even in winter. 122 people have lost their lives on Washington, the second most murderous mountain in North America. Only Mount Denali in Alaska has claimed more.

Washington is the highest peak north of the Rockies and east of the Rockies at 6,288 feet. It is the most popular summit in the White Mountains.

Somehow those March winds we experience in Texas don't seem so bad now.

Steps to help you plan your dream yard/garden

Respect the space for which you are designing:

- How and when does the sun strike your site?
- Can the soil support the plants you have planned for it?

- Does your design allow for water to drain or be stored as needed by your plants?

- Do your chosen plants look like they "belong" with each other, with the terrain, and with the buildings on it?

Make your location a reflection of yourself:

- Do you have enough time to care for the garden you have designed?
- Or will you become annoyed at the amount of effort involved?

- Does the layout complement the activities which you and your family wish to pursue in this space?

- Would you like to grow veggies, attract butterflies, raise flowers for cutting, have a place to play crochet?

Consider all characteristics of the plants:

- At what time of year does each provide color or texture in the landscape?

- Do their colors complement each other?

- Do nearby plants have similar nutrient and water requirements?

How large will the plants grow?

- Will they crowd or shade others nearby?

HOUSE HUNTING

How to make the most when selling your home

Many do it yourself projects can help homeowners save money, but selling your own home may not be one of them.

Answering a few questions may help you decide if you want to sell your own home.

1. Can you assign your home a market value, meaning the price that accurately reflects what a buyer will pay?

2. If your listing price is not in line with comparable properties and market trends, are you prepared to let your home linger on the market?

3. If your For Sale by Owner sign attracts a bargain hunter, as many do, are you prepared to lower your asking price?

4. Are you prepared to show your home to everyone who is interested?

If you don't wait, don't have the time to show your home and are not flexible about your asking price, you may want to consult a real estate professional.

A recent survey by the National Association of Realtors showed that 80 percent of home sellers in 1999 chose a real estate professional to sell their home—a percentage that has remained fairly constant over the years.

According to Gee Dunsten, CBS, president of the Council of Residential Specialists, there are several advantages to using an agent and more benefits to using a certified agent.

First, real estate professionals can walk you through the process of selling your home. Then they can price your home accurately by doing a market analysis, advertise your home for maximum visibility, hold an open house, and suggest ways to make your home more attractive to potential buyers.

They can also help you explore alternative financing methods that may help cement a sale. They act as a third-party negotiator between you and the buyer to negotiate the best price and terms, plus they screen prospects so you don't have to open your door to strangers.

When choosing a real estate agent, either to help you sell or buy a home, it's important to know that not all agents are certified by the Council of Residential Specialists. The CRS designation that's conferred by the Council stands for Certified Residential Specialist. It is the industry's highest professional designation, signifying a proven track record of handling residential real estate transactions, plus advanced professional training and education in related areas such as finance, technology and marketing. ### Quick and easy house tips

- Cornstarch and water mixed together will remove (or lighten) grease spots from wallpaper. Just sponge the mixture onto the spot, let it dry and then brush the cornstarch away.

- Dust your bronze. Then try the Chinese method of polishing. Rub the bronze with the palm of your hand. This puts a little oil on the metal.

- A bristle brush will create a nice, shiny coat on pets with slick fur (it won't work well on curly haired pets, like poodles).

- Try rubbing a coat of car polish onto your tub and shower walls. The polish will keep soap and water residents from sticking to the surface.
