Segiv Eldridge, a fifth grader in Salado ISD, is working to organize volunteers in order to have a section represented at the Central Texas Veterans Cemetery in Killeen.

Eldridge says that after he met Jean Shine, a founder and President of Wreaths for Vets, he realized that other central Texas communities like Killeen, Harker Heights and Copperas Cove have sections of the Veterans Cemetery that they collectively take responsibility for each Christmas holiday to put wreaths at the gravesite CONTINUED ON PAGE 3A

The amended ordinance will continue to allow injunctive relief for the Village to prevent specific conduct that violates the Ordinance or to require specific conduct that is necessary for compliance with this Ordilows "other available relief."

The ordinance states that the Village administrator may provide written notice to the person owning the property that upon failure of the property to connect to the Village's Sewer System within 30 days from the date of the notice, the Village will connect the property to the Village's Sewer System property to the owner of the property" and may "institute suit against the owner to collect the costs."

The ordinance gives the Village authority to place a lien against the property for such costs and authorizes the Village to "undertake other measures within the Village's authority to recover the costs."

Yost named National Merit Scholar Semifinalist

Jared Yost of Salado, son of Dennis and Karyn Yost, is one of approximately 16,000 Semifinalists in the 65th annual National Merit Scholarship Program.

He attends Providence Preparatory School in Belton.

Yost is an active member of Northside Church of Christ Youth Group in Temple, where he leads classes, sermons and assists with Vacation Bible School. He is also a volunteer at Love of Christ Food Pantry

He is a prefect (head of house) of the Elliot House at Providence Preparatory School and Editor-in-Chief of the Yearbook Committee. He is in theater at Providence, having landed lead roles in Mary Poppins and Music Man.

He established outreach to homeless at school: Hope2Others.

He is also a member of the National Junior Classical League Latin Honor Society as ninth grader and was Summa Cum Laude on National Latin Exam.

He is a Mathnasium tutor in Temple and an Instagram football analyst and graphic designer.

These academically talented high school seniors have an opportunity to continue in the competition for some 7,600 National Merit Scholarships worth more than $31 million that will be offered next spring. To be considered for a Mer-Scholarship® award, it Semifinalists must fulfill several requirements to advance to the Finalist level of the competition. Over 90 percent of the Semifinalists are expected to attain Finalist standing, and about half of the Finalists will win a National Merit Scholarship, earning the Merit Scholar® title. NMSC, a not-for-profit organization that operates without government assistance, was established in 1955 specifically to conduct the annual National Merit Scholarship Program. Scholarships are underwritten by NMSC with its own funds and by approximately 400 business organizations and higher education institutions that share NMSC's goals of honoring the nation's scholastic champions and encouraging the pursuit of academic excellence.

Over 1.5 million juniors in about 21,000 high schools entered the 2020 National Merit Scholarship Program by taking the 2018 Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT/NMSQT®), which served as an initial screen of program entrants. The nationwide pool of Semifinalists, representing less than one percent of U.S. high school seniors, includes the highest-scoring entrants in each state. The number of Semifinalists in a state is proportional to the state's percentage of the national total of graduating seniors. To become a Finalist, the Semifinalist and a high school official must submit a detailed scholarship application, in which they provide information about the Semifinalist's academic record, participation in school and community activities, demonstrated leadership abilities, employment, and honors and awards received. A Semifinalist must have an outstanding academic record through-out high school, be endorsed and recommended by a high school official, write an essay, and earn SAT® or ACT® scores that confirm the student's earlier performance on the qualifying test.

Three types of National Merit Scholarships will be offered in the spring of 2020. Every Finalist will compete for one of 2,500 National Merit® $2,500 Scholarships that will be awarded on a state-representational basis.

TPWC Market and Economic Update

The Markets

An observer of market news could be forgiven some surprise that, for the week ending on Oct. 11, the S&P 500 stock index (SPX) was only up 0.62% to close at 2970.27. Only minutes before the market close on Friday, the SPX had risen 1.5% since its opening that morning. The market-moving news was a series of tweets from the President expressing optimism on the ongoing trade talks between the U.S. and China. Then, just before the close the index suddenly plunged 0.4% as the very limited scope of the agreement began to be seen. All in all, the market did turn in a week's gain for the first time in a month, even if it was a small one. That close puts the market about 2% below its recent high of 3028 at the end of July but up only about 1.3% from August of last year.

The near-term direction of the markets is dependent on the tangible outcome of the trade talks. If the tariffs scheduled to take effect on October 15 and those on December 15 go into effect the results will not be pretty. SPX corporate earnings for the third quarter are estimated to have declined about 4% from last year, but the market index is still up. It remains where it is based on optimism for cessation or relaxation of the trade war. If that does not happen there is nothing left to keep the optimism in place. The market is at an inflection point and all we can do is watch.

The U.S. Treasury 10year note yield joined the stock market in muted relief, rising 4.9 basis points

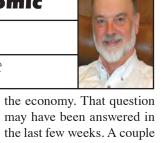

Market & Economic Update

By Jeffrey W. McClure

jumped 3.41% to close at $54.84 but most of that gain was credited to news that an Iranian tanker had been hit by missiles off the coast of Saudi Arabia. The dollar declined about half a percent but is up 3.28% for one year against a trade-weighted basket of world currencies with the WSJ Dollar Index, closing at 98.35. The Economy

The hard data indicator for the week was the release of the September U.S. Consumer Price Index (CPI) which came in at exactly zero. That zero change puts it up 1.7% from a year ago. The big movers in the underlying data were a 4.7% decline in energy prices offset by a 2.9% increase in services. The ominous trend though has been downward, suggesting a reduction in demand over the last year. The good news is that the absence of ongoing inflation leaves the Federal Reserve cover to cut interest rates again at its next meeting.

Trucking companies cut employment by 4,200 jobs in September and manufacturers lost a net 2,000 jobs. Those losses were more than offset by hiring in health care and the business and professional services category. Thus, the pattern continues that the service sectors are adding jobs while the manufacturing and transportation sectors contract. Two-thirds of economists surveyed by the Wall Street Journal believe the manufacturing and transportation sectors are in a recession. That impression is confirmed by a 5.5% decline in railroad car-loads in the third quarter.

the last few weeks. A couple of weeks ago, the short-term borrowing market suddenly became unstable as overnight interest rates shot to an annualized rate of 10%. The Federal Reserve, as it is mandated to do, stepped in for several days in a row with tens of billions of dollars of emergency liquidity driving short-term interest rates down. Initially, the causative factors were announced as one-time odd events but as the weeks have gone by the Fed has had to step in daily which suggests that something fundamental has changed.

On Tuesday, Federal Reserve Chairman Jay Powell announced that the Fed would start regular purchases of short-term U.S. Treasury securities to restore liquidity to the short-term market. The apparent driver of the short-term cash deficit is the Treasury is borrowing record amounts of money, over $1 trillion in the first 11 months of this fiscal year, and most of that borrowing is in the shortterm market. Our financial system is being squeezed on the short end of the yield curve by the deficit and the extra cash to cover that borrowing must be provided by the Federal Reserve. Contrary to political rhetoric, there is a limit to how much we can borrow to cover the deficit without negative side

Maiden Mermaid Author, sculptor donate Tale of Sirena to SISD libraries

Local sculptor Troy Kelley and local author Sheri Wall recently donated five copies of Maiden Mermaid - The Tale of Sirena to the Salado Independent School District. These books will be an excellent addition to the elementary school library. While the legend of Sirena is well known to many folks in the village, this picture book has a unique twist.

Sheri explains, "I was honored to take the story Troy treasured from his Grandmother Kelley and transform it in rhyming verse. Coupled with the original watercolors by Dutch illustrator Ilona Stuijt, this book will engage young children and beyond. Maiden Mermaid can also help elementary educators satisfy the Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills (TEKS) requirements for poetry objectives and characteristics of legends. Discussion themes and vocabulary definitions are included in the back of the book." As Troy Kelley likes to to 1.732% but that lack-luster rise was enough to end the inversion of the Treasury yield curve as the 90day T-bill still was yielding 1.687%. Unfortunately, history indicates that once a yield curve has been inverted this long a drop in shortterm rates is not necessarily good news. West Texas Intermediate crude oil (WTI)

Economists have often wondered what level of government debt and monthly borrowing would begin to distort and disrupt the rest of effects.

The bottom line remains the same. The economy and the markets are looking quite good but are on a knife's edge with further growth possible if the trade wars suddenly end but being dangerously close to sliding downhill if things don't turn out to be truly excellent in the near future.

Little did Dr. James Naismith know when he invented the game of basketball in Springfield, Massachusetts, in 1891 that, more than a century hence, it would become beholden to its Chinese overlords.

The NBA disgraced itself kowtowing to Beijing after the general manager of the Houston Rockets, Daryl Morey, tweeted his support for Hong Kong protesters. The words he associated himself with -- "Fight for Freedom. Stand with Hong Kong" -- would seem uncontroversial. Who doesn't hope for the best for plucky demonstrators trying to advance democracy against an overweening imperial dictatorship?

Morey, though, failed to adequately account for the feelings of the dictatorship. "I was merely voicing one thought," he said, in a groveling tweet after deleting his original offending one, "based on one interpretation, of one complicated event. I have had a lot of opportunity since that tweet to hear and consider other perspectives."

The "other perspectives" are those of people supporting a regime that is determined to crush Hong Kong underfoot, maintain a one-party state that stifles all internal dissent, brutally repress Uighur Muslims, grab the South China Sea, build up its military with an eye to a future confrontation with United States and rewrite the rules of the international order to its liking.

But who's to judge?

In its own lickspittle statement, the NBA said that Morey's views "have deeply offended many of our friends and fans in China, which is regrettable." It appears that the Chinese-language version was even more craven, saying that the league is "extremely disappointed" in the GM's "inappropriate" tweet.

If you follow the NBA and missed the part where Red China stole the league's soul, it's only because you haven't paid enough attention to the international business. China is a huge and growing market for the NBA. When Chinese sponsors and partners of the Rockets began to pull out, the team and the league buckled.

The joke of it is that here at home the league flaunts its woke social conscience. The NBA used the leverage of its All-Star Game coming to Charlotte to force changes to a North Carolina bathroom bill, in the name of "equality."

One would think that reeducation camps for a million Uighurs is much worse than any choice North Carolina makes about its restrooms. The NBA should be repelled by China's policies, which run counter to everything that the NBA purports to stand for.

This episode exposes the league's gutless hypocrisy. So long as social activism is costless, the NBA is all about its values. As soon as there is any price, it is willing to salute smartly at the dictates of one of the most cynical, self-interested regimes on Earth.

Of course, any profit-generating enterprise is going to care about its bottom line most of all. That shouldn't efface all sense of decency and self-respect, though. James Harden, the Houston Rockets star, has grown very rich and famous playing an American game in an American league. His reaction to Morey's tweet was unequivocal: "We apologize."

He thus neatly encapsulated the willingness of a segment of the American business elite to express a kind of national loyalty to a nation that isn't its own. Rich Lowry is editor of the National Review. (c) 2019 by King Features Synd., Inc.

Born Before 1955 or Living with a Disability? Here are 5 Questions to Help You Choose a Medicare Plan

Joe Tompkins, West Texas Medicare Sales Director Humana

If you're one of 56 million Americans eligible for Medicare, it's important to understand coverage options when selecting your health plan for 2020. Research can take time, and many people find working with a licensed health insurance agent helpful when deciding between Original Medicare, Medicare Advantage plans, Prescription Drug Plans and Medicare Supplement plans. Answering these five questions can help you make an informed choice during the Medicare Annual Election Period, October 15 to December 7:

Are my doctors, hospitals and specialists in network? Most Medicare Advantage plans offer online tools to help you find doctors and hospitals that are in a plan's network. A licensed agent can also help you look up hospitals and doctors to see if they're in a plan's network and taking new patients and confirm what's in network if you're a seasonal resident.

Which plans will cover my prescription drugs? Original Medicare does not cover most prescription drugs. Many Medicare Advantage plans include prescription drug coverage, or you can sign up for a Part D Prescription Drug Plan separately. A licensed agent can look up the medications you would like covered and help you estimate what the cost of each drug would be on a plan.

Are there new, innovative benefits I should consider? Beyond vision, hearing and dental coverage, if you aim to become healthier, look for fitness program benefits as many Medicare Advantage plans offer a gym membership. If you travel or appreciate technology, virtual doctors are helpful services when you can't see a doctor right away. Most Medicare Advantage plans now offer transportation to doctor appointments and the gym.

Will a zero monthly premium plan save me money? Private insurers help keep premiums down through programs like disease and chronic care management, which help people better manage health conditions and, in turn, reduce medical costs. You'll still need to pay your Medicare Part B premium, which covers medical services and preventive care. You might want to use the additional premium dollars you save for out-of-pocket medical costs, such as co-pays.

Do I need to sign up for Medicare Parts A and B if I'm still working? If you or your spouse have health insurance from an employer, you can delay enrolling in Medicare until the employment or the coverage stops. At that point, you're entitled to a special enrollment period of up to eight months to sign up for Medicare without incurring any late penalties. to help you in this process, including licensed sales agents, local seminars, and websites such as medicare. gov and humana.com/ Medicare. You can also call 1-800-MEDICARE (1-800-633-4227) (or TTY: 1-877-486-2048) 24 hours a day, seven days a week, or call Humana at 1-800-213-5286 (TTY: 711) 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. local time seven days a week.

As with any major decision, proper research will go a long way toward making the best plan choice for your personal health care needs.

Wreaths for Vets: Showing respect of each veteran buried there.

"I realized that Saladodoes not have any section or volunteers to represent our school district or village to honor and remember our military veterans past and present," he said. "I need your help!"

He is asking Saladoans to join him on three dates to adopt Section 18 of the Central Texas Veterans Cemetery off of Hwy 195 north of Killeen.

He is looking for at least 20 adult volunteers, high schoolers and students in grades five and higher to join him in placing wreaths at the 800 graves in Section 18, which will be the Salado section.

He is asking community members to coordinate with him by calling 254- 319-4679 (his mother Galia's phone) and gathering in Killeen on Nov. 23, Nov. 30 and Jan. 11.

On Nov. 23, volunteers will meet at 10 a.m. at the Killeen Special Events Center, 3301 South WS Young Dr. in Killeen to prepare the wreaths for placement at the graves. There will be a food truck onsite with food and drink for purchase (profits benefiting the Wreaths for Vets 501(c)3 Charity.

Volunteers are encouraged to bring 4-6 foot tables folding tables to the event for personal use to use as a work surface as well as work gloves. Be sure to label your table with your name.

Wreaths will be put out by volunteers on Nov. 30. Buses will shuttle volunteers to and from the Cemetery from the Volunteer Parking lot at Texs A&M Central Texas campuses beginning at 8 a.m. and ending at noon.

If weather is bad, the wreath laying may be moved to the following Saturday.

A Wreath Ceremony will be held at the Cemetery at 10 a.m. Nov. 30, followed by the laying of the wreaths beginning at 10:20 a.m.

Family Members will be release first to allow them the opportunity to lay a wreath for their loved ones. The Master of Ceremonies will then announce that Monument Volunteers will be released to place wreaths.

The MC will then announce that all volunteers may be released to place wreaths.

Wreath pick up and cleaning will be 10 a.m. Jan. 11. In case of inclement weather, the day and time may be changed to the following Saturday. Wreaths cannot be stored wet.

Eldridge reminds high school students that volunteering for Wreaths for Vets qualifies toward community service hours required for graduation and for scholarship applications.

He asks that all Salado volunteers where Salado shirts so that others will see that there is a Salado presence for this important event.

He also encourages local organizations, businesses and individuals to contribute to the Wreaths for Vets organization, which is tax-deductible.

Sid Spindor and Jim Franz from the Salado Volunteer Fire Dept. demonstrated to the local American Business Women's club the new equipment the department now has, the Lucas 3, which allows one individual to perform CPR via machine. This equipment is invaluable when only one assistant is available for an emergency. This technology was developed about 10 years ago. The department now covers 117 miles and receives between 900-1,000 calls a year.

OCTOBER 19 Halloween Carnival held at Armstrong Community Center

The Armstrong Community Improvement Association will hold its annual Halloween Carnival beginning at 6 p.m. Oct. 19 at the historic community center southeast of Belton.

The family friendly festivities will include games for kids, an old fashioned cake walk, quilt raffle, bingo for prizes, an auction and much more. Barbeque sandwiches, sweet treats, nachos, sausage wraps and other concessions will be available for purchase.

The community center

once served as a two room school house for the first through tenth grades serving those who lived in the nearby area.

Past students, E.R. King Jr., Mac Hickerson and Fred King fondly remember attending school there and even watering their horses during recess breaks. All three of these former students are actively involved in the community association.

This will be the 100th carnival and is a rich tradition in the community just outside of Belton.

The community center association meets monthly, on the second Monday at 7:30 p.m., and exists to promote community support, fellowship and service.

Proceeds from the carnival go toward funding the upkeep and improvement of the historic school building.

The center is also available to rent for meetings and special occasions.

Iris Sale expands to Belton Expo Center with BCMG Fall Plant Sale

By NEIWYN PERSKY BELTON IRIS SOCIETY

It's been a longer wait than usual, with a big bonus: This Saturday's fall rhizome sale features a larger number of rhizomes, this time at the Belton Expo Center.

One day only, the Belton Iris Society's October 19 sale will be held from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m., but closing earlier if sold out so early shopping is strongly recommended.

The Fall Iris Sale is again being held in conjunction with the Bell County Master Gardeners' big Fall Plant Sale, which also will offer a more plants this year to meet increasing demand.

Rhizomes will cost $6 each, or three rhizomes for $15. BIS accepts cash, checks, and credit cards.

While there are many types of irises, including bulbous irises like Dutch irises, and beardless irises including water-loving Louisiana irises, this year's BIS sale features the beardless irises that grow so well in this area.

For a full list of the irises being sold Saturday, search for the Belton Iris Society website and check the entry 2019 Belton Iris Society Annual Fall Rhizome Sale.

Color photographs of the sale irises are listed alphabetically by the registered name, accompanied by a description of the flower. Descriptions include the type of iris: The tall bearded irises (TBs) most popularly grown throughout this area flaunt the stately, showy flowers seen blooming every Spring on tall stalks in many gardens - and even deserted lawns and cemeteries. All the rhizomes for sale Saturday are TBs except 'Little Blackfoot,' a Standard Dwarf Bearded, and 'Soap Box,' a Miniature Tall Bearded iris. For more information on the types of bearded irises, including differences in bloom dates, see: •Bearded Iris - American Iris Society http://www.irises.org/gardeners/care-classification/ bearded-iris/

This 2003 tall bearded iris introduction 'Obi-Wan Kenobi' is shown blooming in Nelwyn Persky's country garden west of Bartlett on December 6, 2017.

http://www.stloui-Irises sirises.com/bearded.html

Descriptions also include bloom-stalk height, bloom season, and whether the flowers are fragrant or - like 'Jaunty Texan' and 'Silent Patriot,' among others on the 2019 sale list - may rebloom after the usual spring season. [Likely occurring in autumn if at all, rebloom is intermittent, unreliable, and unexpected but always a pleasure. I have had the occasional surprise iris blooming in December and even January.]

Completing the description are the hybridizer and year registered, along with any American Iris Society awards.

As for roses and so many other plants, autumn is the premiere time to plant iris rhizomes here in Central Texas. Bearded irises typically are grown directly in the garden, but also may be grown in pots. Bearded irises are drought-tolerant and cold-hardy. It is important to plant rhizomes soon after you buy them. If you have to wait a few days, spread them out in a cool, dry place so they don't get wet and rot. Never refrigerate bearded iris rhizomes.

There are two preeminent requirements for success with irises: sunshine for good blooms and welldrained soil to prevent rhizome rot.

Search for the Belton Iris Society website for links on growing irises, including how to plant, fertilize, and divide iris rhizomes. Like tubers and bulbs, iris rhizomes are essentially bareroot plants that grow lovely green 'fans' of iris leaves which will flaunt enviable, and enviably photographic, spring blossoms.

As a special note: There can be a real payoff to keeping track of the name of each rhizome you plant. Irises are great pass-along plants! They readily self-propagate and thrive when divided every few years. But among advantages to keeping a planting map and labeling each variety are these: If you know the name ... just in case! ... you can always buy more. And it'll be easy share the information with admirers who want to know more about your lovely flower, including what to look for to buy some just like it. Plus, you can show off your named blooms by entering them in the annual BIS spring Iris Show.

Medicare Open Enrollment: Help available for Texans

By MARY SCHUERMANN KUHLMAN TEXAS NEWS SERVICE

AUSTIN, Texas - It's shopping time for the 2.5 million Texans who have Medicare coverage. Open enrollment for the program started this week and runs through Dec. 7. It's the one time of year beneficiaries can review their plan, and switch coverage if needed.

State Director of AARP Texas Tina Tran noted that because health insurance plans change every year, what works now may not be the best option for 2020. So she said she encourages folks to do some homework.

"People should be making sure that they balance coverage with cost," Tran said. "Often folks who are on limited incomes want to go for the lowest cost, but we want to make sure that they are really looking at their coverage as well so there is a balance there."

reviewing plan options include current medical conditions, prescription medications and whether your current health care providers are in-network.

Medicare is offering a new plan finder tool online at medicare.org to help consumers compare coverage options. And Texans can get free assistance from certified benefits counselors available at Area Agencies on Aging, who can offer unbiased information about plan options. More information is available by calling 800-252-9240.

Alice Novaro, lead benefits advisor for Capital Area Agency on Aging, said everyone enrolled in Medicare - including those under age 65 with special circumstances - can get assistance from a benefits counselor. She said she's noticed some plan premiums are increasing, which could be a concern for those on a fixed income.

"Although you may have Factors to consider when to take a plan that might be less expensive per month, its possible that plan might end up being a better fit," Novaro said, "because it may cover the prescriptions that you need, but also give you benefits you may not have considered wanting, such as Silver Sneakers. That seems to be a really popular benefit."

Medicare has been around for more than 50 years, and Tran said AARP Texas will continue its work to make sure Medicare is strong for older adults and individuals with disabilities.

"It's really in our lifeblood to make sure that people have access to affordable health care - particularly in their older years when their income is limited. It's a part of our legacy to fight for Medicare, making sure it's there for people for decades to come."

According to AARP, before Medicare, nearly half of Americans age 65-plus had no insurance to cover hospitalization, and even fewer had plans that covered doctor visits.

Theatrical design students visit Dior exhibit

Salado students from the high school theatrical design class received first-hand inspiration when they visited the Christian Dior exhibit at the Dallas Museum of Art. The exhibit, entitled "Dior: From Paris to the World" includes gowns worn by celebrities in films and at red carpet events, including the dress Marilyn Monroe wore in her last formal photograph for Vogue Magazine. "The Last Sitting" was a three-day shoot taken six weeks before her death. Lady Eagles beat Burnet, Taylor, start round 2 district Salado would jump on Burnet 25-19 in the first set on Oct. 12. Salado would keep the energy up in set two winning 25-23. The Lady Dawgs were not ready to go home yet as they fought off the third set with a score 19-25. That would be as close as Burnet would get. Salado put the game away with a 25-21 victory in set four. Salado improves to 19-16 overall and 4-1 in District 27-4A play.

The Lady Eagles would pad the stat book that night. Landry Rogers led the charge for Salado with 27 kills. Amy Manning and Lainey Taylor would combine for 17 kills. Salado's setters, Reese Preston and Haleigh Wilk, had a combination of 54 assists.

Salado's JV Red team came out hot against Burnet and would never let up. After falling behind early 3-8, Salado would find its rhythm and cruise to a 25-18 victory. The Lady Dawgs would be unable to stop the momentum in the second set as the Lady Eagles would crush Burnet 25-12. Salado played with a complete team effort, but the story would be the big middles. Kiara Garza racked up 6 blocks and Kenslee Konarik would contribute 7 kills. Setter, Emory Craddick would also have a big night with 14 assists. Salado improves to 16-10 overall and 4-1 in district play on the season.

The young JV White squad would struggle Oct. 12. After losing the first set 17-25, they were unable to recover in set two dropping the game with a score of 9-25. Makayla Bush and Jordan Ferguson would have the most energy and Brooke Martinez also played well.

8-4A is tough top to bottom

Eagles face Lorena Leopards in game with playoff implications

BY TIM FLEISCHER EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Last week certainly proved that anyone in District 8-4A Div. 2 can beat anyone else in the district as there were two upsets in three of the games played.

Four teams in District 8-4A Div. 2 have graced Dave Campbell's Texas Football Top 10 rankings at one time or another in the past seven weeks.

Connally continues to be the No. 1 team in state after the Texarkana Pleasant Grove Hawks lost two Fridays ago. At one time, District 8-4A had three teams in the top 10 as Lorena and Robinson both joined Connally there.

Lorena dropped out when the Leopards unexpectedly fell to the Fairfield Eagles in the first round of District play. Fairfield moved into the top 10, despite a non-district loss, with their decisive 41-21 home win over Lorena.

The Fairfield Eagles were expected to handle the visiting Mexia Blackcats. The Blackcats didn't get that memo and beat the Eagles decisively 37-10 on their own turf. Salado Eagles found the chink in the Robinson Rockets armor in week two of district play, beating them 31-28. The Leopards beat the Rockets 42-21 last week to put the once top 10 ranked team at the bottom of District 8 standings with an 0-2 mark. Connally Cadets are undefeated, but should thank their lucky stars for an offsides call against the Eagles that helped the Cadets to narrowly hold on to their homecoming win in the first week of district, 28-21. Salado travels to Lorena to face the Leopards on Oct. 12 with kick off at 7:30 p.m.

Moore is Bradley Lina's favorite target as the receiver has more than half of the Leopards' total yards in the air on 38 catches. Moore averages 23.3 yards per catch.

AJ Brem is the leading rusher for Lorena with 408 yards on 68 carries.

Wrook Brown leads the Eagles' rushing game with 601 yards on 103 carries. Brown's longest carry is 71 yards. He has nine touchdowns on the ground and a catch for a touchdown.

Hunter Turk, who was out for the Austin Travis game, has 448 yards on 64 carries. He also has five touchdowns on the ground. His longest run from scrimmage is 68 yards.

Reid Vincent has 505 yards rushing on 55 carries. He has four rushing touchdowns for the Eagles. He has runs of 73 yards against both Taylor and Robinson, not to mention long TDs that were called back for penalties.

Expect Salado to continue doing what they have done all year: control the clock and keep their op ponent's potent offenses off the field. On offense, the Eagles are 3 yards and a pile of dust (or rubber if on turf), with one or two break-aways as defenses breakdown against the slot-T scheme. The Eagles defense has proven to be pretty stingy, allowing 283.3 yards per game. The defense is a swarming one with a nine takeaway edge over the past six games played. The Eagles have turned the ball over just six times on the year, while taking away the ball 15 times (including six against Robinson). Brown's kicking game has been a solid one, with 25 PAT kicks on as many attempts and two field goals on two attempts. His long is 41 yards. The Eagles have also converted their one two-point conversion to remain perfect on PATs.

of Taylor in four sets (25-22, 25-22, 16-25, 25-22). The Senior passers, Breigh Oliver and Erin Faske would lay the foundation for Salado to have a big night at the net. Oliver and Faske would frustrate Taylor hitters all night. Lainey Taylor would also give the Lady Duck hitters trouble in three sets (25-17. 24-26, 25-19). Salado would jump out to a 1-0 match lead after a hot start from Freshman, Holly Giesecke, who had 5 kills and 4 assists in the first set. Taylor's scrappy defense would respond in the second set, fending off a late Salado comeback attempt fueled by Middle Blocker, Kenslee Konarik. Konarik would finish with 6 kills and 3 blocks on the gles would step their game up in crunch time, putting Taylor away 25-19.

The JV White squad handled Taylor in straight sets with scores of 25-20 and 25-21. Led by outside hitters, Makayla Bush and Emma Grant, who totaled 14 kills together, would prove to be too much for the Lady Ducks to overcome. REPORTED BY: COACH CHRISTY WILK

Oktoberfest at Barrow

Celebrate Oktoberfest at Barrow Brewing Company Oct. 19. Salado's brewery has crafted their first Oktoberfest beer, a Marzen style lager, for the occasion.

The annual celebration will feature fun contests, like beer stein holding and hammerschlagen as well as a vendors' market in the field by the creek. There will also be live music and guest food trucks.

Live music begins at noon with Evelyn Billington followed by Sunshine Willi Band at 2:30 p.m., Color Me Brass at 4:30 p.m. and a 7 p.m. performance by Mandy Rowden Band.

Happy Pizza Company will be in its usual location and guest food trucks include Check Point Germany and Finadene.

Oktoberfest continues this weekend at Barrow Brewing Company. Fun and games include a beer stein holding competition. PHOTO BY JASON DECKMAN

Tablerock's Fright Trail history remembered

By Jackie Mills Tablerock Board of Directors

It was in October of 1999. The annual Institute of Outdoor Drama Conference was hosted by the Outdoor Drama, Blue Jacket, in Xenia, Ohio, Jan Able was the director of Blue Jacket and the force behind First Frontier, Inc. (like Tablerock, Inc. produces Salado Legends). Denver was still working and could not afford the time off to go with me to the 1999 annual Outdoor Drama conference. It was my seventh conference to rub elbows with writers, directors, professors, actors and noted people from all of the 125 Outdoor Dramas throughout the United States and parts of the rest of the world. I was anxiously looking forward to all of the new acquaintances I would make. When I arrived the facility was abuzz with preparation for their Halloween program which Jan had named The Psycho Path. It was the walking path behind the stage that had several ramshackle barns and storage sheds tucked in inconspicuously with trees. Jan was a lawyer by trade and not a theater person, but she sure did learn quickly, and what a good, kind person she was. At one of the evenings of the three day conference we were given a full evening tour of the path instead of a night of class work. Their Psycho Path ran along the natural woods path, through the guts and gore, past the jump outs, emitting shouts, screams, and ending up exhausted at the end and wanting refreshments that were terribly over priced. Then, questions from the attendees and answers from Jan and her faithful followers. Jan named the evening "The Night of the Inquisition." BUT, all the evening that we toured, there were people waiting in a block long line to experience The Psycho Path.

that extended over all three Saturdays before Halloween. Jan made her money by charging a LOT for tickets and for the price of a drink and a candy bar. We are still $5 for an Adult ticket and $3 for a Child's ticket. Drinks and a candy bar are moderately priced at $1 each. And too there are times when we see an elderly grandmother digging deep for the last change in her purse that we declare a sale on tickets. We don't make a lot, but then that is not what we are try-

The next day, at our first class of the day...the whole conference talked about the Psycho Path, how many extra workers did Jan have to hire? Did she make enough money to afford all the extra workers?

Question after question about the PATH. Jan gave out the information freely (this is not unusual for Outdoor Dramas...we share). Jan told us that she made more money during Halloween than they made on Blue Jacket. We asked her if we could copy her and she said she was happy to share. She did ask us to please use a title other than Psycho Path.... she did want to exclusively retain that name.

I jumped on the plane home ready to tackle the Tablerock Trail and turn it into a Fright Trail.

Our newly finished Walking Trail with trees and flowers named in limestone had an educational cause, being NATURE that was furnished jointly by Tablerock and Texas Parks and Wildlife, and we could always use other worthwhile causes.... these being READING and THEATER skills. Yea, skills other than gore were taking forefront. We are going to send children home smiling instead of crying.

I wrote the three minute scripts for about thirty of the classic fairy tales, held auditions for elementary to college age actors, and held auditions for guides to tell about the authors of the fairy tales or famous classics, visited schools in Salado, Belton, Rogers, and Temple to recruit, recruit, recruit.

Fright Trail has grown over the past 18 years. Some of the classics we originally used have been dropped making way for more exciting tales. I have encouraged the kids to write their own scripts and have helped them to do so. Today we have about 30 classical scenes.

The line grows longer every year. Last year the wait was three hours and only one couple went home to put their children to bed...we gave the Mom and Dad their money back and they came back the next week, but came earlier.

I had no idea that grown ups would be such faithful attendees. One group of women from the Dallas/Fort Worth area came every year, spent the night and loved it.. we've become friends over the years. Some have used the event as a Birthday Party. (Good idea) Keeps your house clean, and refreshments are from the Tablerock concession stand.

We learned early-on that Fridays are out. Most of our actors and guides were involved with Friday night football games either in the band or on the team. We have gradually (learned by doing) stretched the event into three Saturdays. Only once have we had rain-outs ing to do, just so we can pay the light and water bills and help teach a few skills in a fun way.

It has been a learning experience for all of us. Our earnings for Fright Trail go to Scholarships for our high school seniors who are in Salado Legends, but not at the expense of our 1st graders.

When I got old and my feet begin to hurt from walking the trail to check on everyone, the Sandwich Queens were created. I found pink feathered tiaras on sale for half price and bought ten of those things. "The Mom's who volunteer to be Sandwich and drink Queens to check on their children and bring all of the workers a half of a sandwich and a small water are given a tiara to wear and assigned the title of "Sandwich Queen"....they love it!

I thank Jan Able (the famous, overly generous lawyer) for sharing her creation with all of the outdoor drama people. Jan helped me with other things, too. Like finding a composer to take all of Salado Legends music (written by many people here in Salado) and give it that special touch that makes it sound like it was written by one composer. Jan was a good ole gal.

Come join us for Fright Trail on Oct. 19, 26 and 27 from 6:30 to 9:30 at Tablerock's walking Trail turned into Fright Trail for three fun nights. Tickets $3 for Children 12 and under and $5 Adults.

The Daytripper to host Salado premiere at Barrow with Costume Party

The Texas travel show, The Daytripper, is hosting a special Salado Premiere Party at Barrow Brewing Company (108 Royal St.) at 6 p.m on Oct. 27.. The night will feature live music, multiple costume contests, raffle prizes, a Meet & Greet with show host Chet Garner and the premiere of the new Season 11 Episode in Salado.

Guests are invited to dress up in their Halloween costumes, as the party will have two different costume contests - a Classic Halloween Costume Contest and a Chet Look-Alike Costume Contest. Local vendors will be selling eats and treats, including Happy Pizza Co., Longbow Roasters, Magical Treats and The Rosanky's Kettle Corn. Throughout the night, guests will have the chance to win fun raffle prizes with goods from local Salado businesses. Pets are welcome, and guests are encouraged to bring chairs

Salado will be featured on The Daytripper travel show. Chet Garner will host a premiere party at Barrow Brewing Company on Oct. 27. Attendees are encouraged to come in costume for a either a Classic Halloween Costume Contest and a Chet Look-Alike Contest.

and blankets for seating on the lawn.

The Daytripper is a production of the Georgetown-based Hogaboom Road, Inc. It began airing in 2009 on PBS and is now in its 11th Season of taking viewers to the obscure dives and hideaways in Texas all within a day's reach. Find more information about the show at www.thedaytripper. com, and see information on The Daytripper's Salado Premiere Party on Facebook.

This deal occurred in a national team-of-four championship many years ago, and features a spectacular play by one of bridge's all-time greats, Sidney Silodor.

He held the East hand and was defending against three notrump, reached on the auction shown. His partner led the diamond deuce, and, after taking dummy's jack with the ace, Silodor returned the king of spades! Regardless of whether declar-five tricks for down one. With a more normal diamond return by Silodor at trick two, declarer would have had no trouble making nine tricks.

It is, of course, true that East's kingof-spades play gave declarer three spade tricks instead of only the one or two he might otherwise have scored. But any spade tricks Silodor might have lost by his unusual return were more than compensated for by the ultimate outcome.

Silodor reasoned that if South held the ace and another heart, there was no chance whatever of defeating the contract. He therefore had to assume that declarer had either the singleton ace of hearts or one or two low hearts.

Whichever the case, dummy's ace of spades had to be dislodged at once to cut declarer off from the heart suit. If South happened to gain one or two spade tricks in the process but went down as a result, that would be more than a fair exchange. And if it turned out that declarer had nine sure tricks from the start, the king-of-spades return would at worst cost only an inconsequential overtrick.

When the hand was played at the other table, the North-South pair wound up in four hearts and went down two.

Your Unclaimed Rewards Could Be a Hoax

By: Better Business Bureau 10/11/19

Free cash you didn't know you had? It sounds like a dream come true, but it's actually a trick many consumers have reported to BBB.org/ ScamTracker. In this scheme, con artists use the false promise of unclaimed rewards to fool consumers into giving up their credit card information. How the Scam Works:

You receive a postcard in the mail, an email, or a message on social media stating you have an unclaimed reward that can be redeemed with major retailers, such as Walmart and Target stores. According to the message, your reward is worth $100 dollars or more. But you had better act quickly, because you only have a few more days to redeem it. You are given a phone number to call to find out how to get your reward.

When you call, you are asked for personal information in order to "confirm your identity." Con artists may ask you for your name, address, government ID number, or other sensitive details. Once your identity is confirmed, you may be asked to pay a small fee to cover mailing costs. Now, the person needs your debit or credit card number. Scammers will have gained access to your personal information and may attempt to make fraudulent charges using your card information. And, of course, your "unclaimed money" will never arrive because it never existed. How to Protect Yourself from Unclaimed Asset Scams:

Unclaimed money comes from accounts in financial institutions and companies where there's been no activity or contact by the account owner in more than a year. Mostly common those are savings or checking accounts, stocks, uncashed dividends, security deposits, and tax refunds.

Be wary of unsolicited correspondence. If you receive an unsolicited letter, phone call, email or any other kind of correspondence from a stranger, be careful! Most legitimate companies will not contact you this way unless you have previously given them permission to do so.

Never give your personal information to strangers. Never give anyone you don't know and trust access to any of your personal information. This includes your full name, phone number and address, your ID numbers, and your banking information.

If you've been the victim of a scam, help others avoid the same fate by reporting your experience on the BBB.org/ ScamTracker.
