Superintendent applicants exceed 40 as deadline approaches

With less than a week before the application deadline, Salado ISD has a list of over 40 applicants for the superintendent position here, according to Dr. Paul Fleming.

Paul Fleming Associates is under contract with the school district to conduct a superintendent search. Dr. Fleming gave the board a progress report on that search at its special meeting Feb. 10.

The school board may name a new superintendent by March 24, although the board may act earlier, according to Dr. Fleming.

Approximately half of the applicants have experience as superintendents, while the remainder have administrative experience at the campus level or central office, Dr. Fleming said. A handful of the applications are from out of state, including one from Wyoming.

"As part of the process, each applicant was to write a Statement of Qualifications based on the characteristics laid out in the professional and personal criteria," Dr. Fleming said.

Dr. Fleming said that the school faculty, board trustees and community members were influential in drafting the professional and personal criteria deemed crucial for the job of the superintendent.

Dr. Fleming will review all applications, noting each candidate's strengths and weaknesses based on the district's criteria. He will meet in closed session with trustees later this month to present his ranking of the applicants.

From this ranking, the board will choose the top applicants to interview. "I recommend that the board interview only one candidate per night," Dr. Fleming said.

Once the board has agreed on a top candidate, a committee of the board will travel to the candidate's community to conduct further research. "You can learn a lot about a person by talking to people in their community," Dr. Fleming said.

Dr. Fleming also reported on budget reorganization recommendations. The district contracted with PFA to reorganize its budget when shortfalls in state and local income were discovered last semester. He presented his recommendations to the board.

Following Dr. Fleming's reports, the board considered other business, including these items:

- Adopt Building Code.
- Consider filing appeal to Comptroller's assigned taxable value of Salado ISD.
- Approve Dr. Bob Merrill's proposal regarding Policy Manual.
- Review Site Based Decision Making Process: Dr. Merrill.

In executive session, the board discussed personnel and considered a land purchase.

An Open Exchange of Ideas

Dear Editor:

Hilary Clinton has said that the President's recent troubles are the result of a "vast conservative conspiracy". Because of her efforts to fix our medical care system, I have learned to believe only half of what she says. Accordingly I believe that the alleged conspiracy may be only half vast.

Sincerely,
Bob Merrill

To the editor:

It was gratifying indeed that the President of the United States has called for regional forums, as well as a White House Conference on Social Security, to be held in December of this year. It is hoped that the real facts about Social Security will finally reach the public.

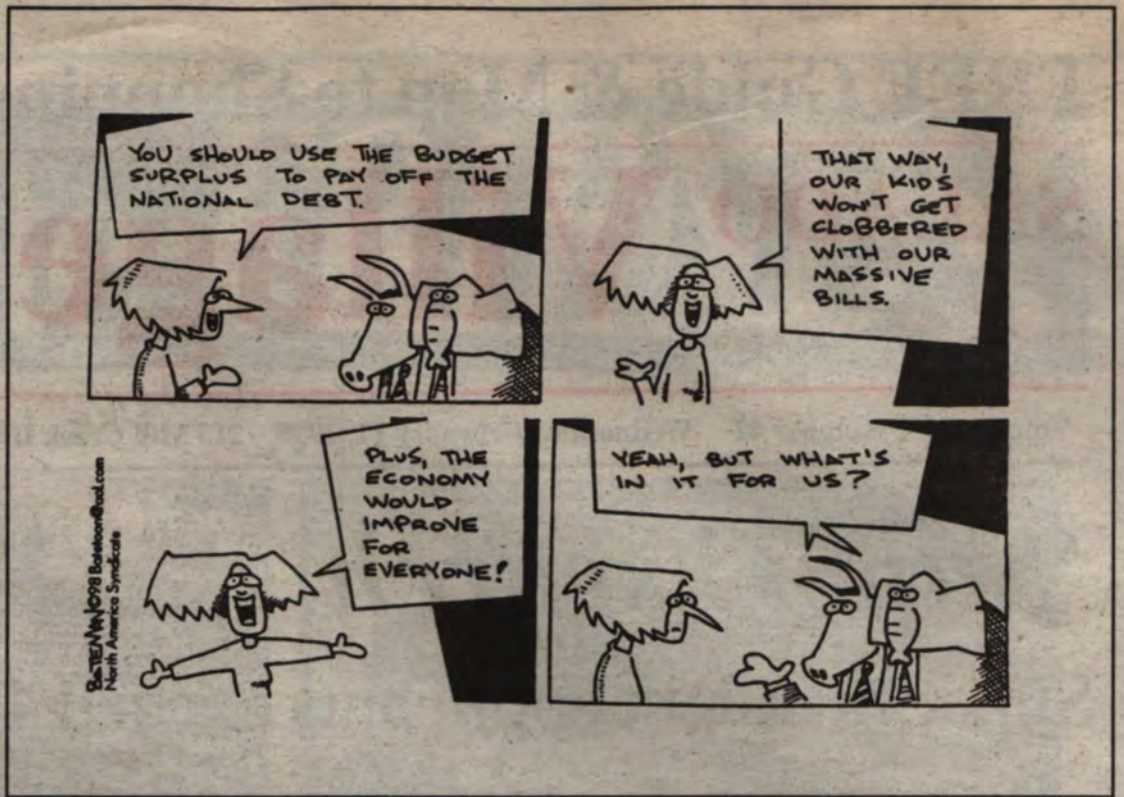

There has been a lot of "truth stretching" from some time now where the public is being led to believe that Social Security is facing a "looming crisis," that Social Security funds have been "siphoned from" in return for a "pile of IOUs," and terms in reference to the government borrowing as "looting," "Unconscionable raid," etc. The media has done such a good snow job that many Generation Xers have more belief in the existence of UFOs than in the Social Security being there for them! The truth is that Social Security is capable of continuing to pay recipients at the current rate until the year 2029 at which time it can continue to pay recipients 75 percent of the current level EVEN IF NOTHING IS DONE AT ALL. However, it is good judgment to look beyond 2029 and make what adjustments are needed now so Social Security can continue far beyond 2029 and be there for our children's children.

There are those who would have us believe that the Social Security funds in government securities (by law) is a bad risk. The Social Security Trust funds hold a relatively small amount of these securities while foreign investors, businesses, banks, local and state governments and individuals hold a majority of the securities and consider them to be very safe risks. Currently, the Congress is looking at changing the law in order to permit investing Social Security funds in the stock market (privatizing). Ask anyone who was living during the Crash of '29 if they believe funds are safer in the stock market than in our government securities.

The public must be educated as to what the facts are concerning Social Security. To provide the public with facts concerning issues is the mission of AARP/VOTE and its will be holding forums on Social Security around the nation and here in Texas. Please, when you read of one to be held in our area, make it a point to attend! Yes, education is vital, not just for children, but for adults as well.

Brits can have Pooh when they pry him from our cold dead hands

It is always interesting to observe those among us who savage the press for being either too liberal or conservative; too full of crime, punishment and salacious goings-on among the young and not so young - are the very same folks who read the newspapers and magazines carefully and listen and/or watch the radio and TV with robust voraciousness.

This juxtaposition of cause and effect relative to the media is not so strange since true believers have to gather their ammunition from some source and both the printed and electronic media are full of information that can be used by all sides of any argument. And thank goodness this is the case!

UNSCIENTIFIC SURVEY RESULTS

Last week, this column took an unscientific survey of the news from a variety of state and national newspapers, magazines, radio and television news programs to see if there were any items that were non-confrontational, non-violent, non-warlike, non-criminal or non-hedonistic.

We purposely omitted the sports pages in our review and will continue to do so until Cowboy owner Jerry Jones returns from his quest for the not so holy Grail of football - namely a winning coach.

THE BRITISH ARE COMING THE BRITISH ARE COMING

What we discovered, while perusing the periodicals, was a delightful AP story about our British cousins who are in a stew about Winnie-The-Pooh and his friends.

For those of you who noted the arrival of Tony Blair, England's popular new Prime Minister and thought he was in Washington to talk about Iraq with President Clinton - think again!

Behind this nefarious visit is a CIA-type adventure to repatriate the beloved animals made famous in A. A. Milne's famous series about Pooh, Tigger, Kanga, Eeyore and Piglet. These stuffed pets were enticed out of England more than 50 years ago and are today trapped in a glass cage in the New York City Public Library.

We have high hopes that the FBI and Secret Service agents are on full alert, especially keeping an eye on the gregarious PM Blair, who will gain points with opposition leaders in Parliament if he can successfully liberate one of Great Britain's better known national treasures.

NY MAYOR IN ACT

The on-going Pooh-Bear story naturally attracted members of the political class with New York Mayor Rudolph Guiliani leading the pack as he challenged the Brits to try and take back the famous immigrant and his associates.

It is not surprising to see the GOP mayor of the Big Apple hogging the limelight. After all, his shameless behavior on Saturday Night Live, dressed in drag, speaks for itself.

Wonder if our George The Younger still wants the goofy New Yorker as a running mate in 2000? Do conservatives actually need the votes of devotees of the wild gyrational side of weekend TV or is Rudy running as a Democrat?

EYORE'S AUSTIN CONNECTION NOTED

Austinites should be particularly enraged and watchful since it is Eeyore that unknowingly lent his name and personae to a popular hippy type celebration each year in the Capitol City by those who retain their young-at-heart days (and looks) while honoring the happy Pooh companion on his birthday.

OLD PIE FACE

Picture-of-the-week award goes to an Associated Press photographer who snapped his camera at just the right second following Bill Gates welcome to Belgium. The Microsoft Chairman, and richest man in America, was hit square in the face with a cream pie and the picture shows pie filling dripping unceremoniously from old Bill's nose, ears, glasses and mouth.

Importance of this event is to see if rich folks can laugh at themselves even if it is difficult for some of them to squeeze through the eye of a needle like the biblical camel.

MEDIA BALANCE APPEARS OK

All in all it was a fun week reading and reviewing so much news. General reaction is that the media does a fairly good job in keeping the rest of us up to speed on what is going on - provided we balance the Austin American Statesman with the Wall Street Journal and cap both off with a touch of Dan Rather and Rush Limbaugh plus a sprinkle of garnishes from a few "Christian zealotites".

A place for all of these types regardless of their position along the political and social continuum. Important so we can judge issues from every side.

birthday and as a present from Congress and Bill Clinton, the Washington National Airport was renamed in honor of his service to America.

The vote to do this was not without detractors. Our local congressman Chet Edwards went the "Nay" route as did all but two of his fellow Democrats. Ron Paul, Texas' "nature boy" who is listed as a Republican but is really a Libertarian (whatever that actually means) also voted against the name change.

One wag - no doubt a Demo - noted that the largest and most expensively overcharged federal building in Washington already bears the name of the 40th President. A building that needs to bear the full name, the disgruntled left winger noted, "The Ronald Reagan National Debt Building" - in honor of the buildup of federal IOUs handed out during the happy-go-lucky 1980's when spending went up and income taxes tumbled!

LOCAL LANDMARKS MAY NEED NAMING

All this naming and renaming of landmarks leaves locals wondering when they will get a crack at putting new faces on old favorites here in Salado.

Example, we have, according to our roving village sign editorialists, an expensive bridge that is going nowhere!

This remarkable Main Street attraction should have a name and since it is "going nowhere", we definitely need to mark it after someone headed in the same direction.

Woods are full of these types all the way from Bell County to the District of Columbia.

We could have a contest with the winner receiving a full week's free vacation in Temple. Second prize would be two weeks in Temple!!

Other local highlights in our Village that need to be examined for potential renaming might include Salado Creek, the federal Post Office, Mill Creek and of course Main Street.

Just funning folks.
This is the time of year - as the tax man approaches and winter wears out its welcome - when we need a smattering of whimsey, jocularity and drollery with a pinch of tomfoolery tossed in for good measure.

So - be happy and try to find something humorous in this great life we have cause we ain't going to get out of it alive!

LOCAL BUSINESS EXPANDS

TEMPLE GARDEN OF MEMORIES, a Perpetual Care Cemetery, located just off Highway I-35 North, began operations in early 1953. Extensive land is available and with the progressive development made by the owner, Temple Garden of Memories promises to be one of the largest cemeteries in Central Texas.

Temple Garden of Memories is currently undergoing a million dollar expansion program. The program includes the construction of a 462 crypt community mausoleum and the development of new gardens for ground burial. This development will double the size of the cemetery. The new expansion includes a Veterans Garden. The announcement for the opening of this Garden will be made in a few months.

The new mausoleum will be one of the finest in the South. Built by Mausoleum Constructors of America, the crypts are of a special reinforced concrete. The exterior will be of granite. The design is different from any in the south and is to be a beautiful addition to Temple Garden of Memories Cemetery.

The cemetery is being designed by Tim Gaffney of Temple, TX. He is a nationally recognized cemeterian. The cemetery offers all options of burial or entombment-ground burial, community mausoleum, private mausoleum and cremation burial-a full service cemetery.

Temple Garden of Memories has the most modern means of record keeping available with all phases computerized. The office is always staffed by qualified personnel to insure service when you need assistance. Their experience is valuable to you in deciding exactly the kind of service you require.

Temple Garden of Memories is located in a peaceful country setting off the busy highway, surrounded by farm land.

The grounds are maintained daily using the best equipment available. Every effort is made to maintain and improve the cemetery. A perpetual care fund established by the cemetery is deposited to the highest interest bearing account available to insure the future maintenance of the cemetery.

The current development and promotion is being coordinated by Dan Brothers. The sales staff has many years of experience in the cemetery industry and are knowledgeable of all facets of burial including a prearrangement program, making arrangements in the proper way-before you need it-insures your loved one against financial and emotional obligation at the time of death. Prices are thus established and will never rise when prearrangements are made. All purchases are financed by the cemetery.

Temple Garden of Memories is a member of the International Cemetery and Funeral Assoc., Southern Cemetery Assoc., Texas Cemetery Assoc., and Better-Business Bureau and the local Chamber of Commerce. If you move from the area, you can exchange your purchase items for those in your new area.

Temple Garden of Memories is dedicated in offering the community the most in cemetery and mausoleum services. The staff is concerned with making a difficult decision less difficult. Please call on them if you need assistance at 778-1991/742-0441 or write us at 8156 No. IH 35 Temple, TX 76501-6625.

Saladoan attends statewide conference of Texas Democratic Women in Austin Feb. 7

Saladoan Violet Palmer attended the statewide conference of the Texas Democratic Women in Austin Feb. 7.

"It is expected that the Democrats' family-based agenda will appeal to women across Texas because it spotlights issues such as quality education and health care, which are so often women's priorities," Palmer said.

Palmer explained that their top priority is to ensure a quality education for every Texas child by improving school facilities, making computers accessible for the education of all public school children, and providing necessary help for those hard-working high school graduates who wish to go on to college. This helps ensure that they need to succeed in the future.

Another priority is the proposal of a constitutional amendment banning taxes on food and medicine. As far-fetched as that may seem, 44 members of the House presented a bill in 1997 proposing an increase in sales tax on these items, which failed.

Palmer, whose husband got two degrees using the GI Bill, says "it has made all the difference. We they have paid in taxes for his education 10 times over. Our dream for American children is that they will have that same privilege someday."

Old photo in paper inspires reader to tell us more about it

by John Eubanks

The photo of the 1926-27 Salado High basketball team that ran in the Feb. 4 edition of the Salado Village Voice inspired one of our readers to call the office.

Longtime Salado resident Lois Shepperd called to tell us that her late husband, Roy T. Shepperd, coached the team.

Mrs. Shepperd also said that Roy T. (as others called him, including his players) was the school's first basketball coach and is credited with giving the school its mascot (Eagles) and school colors (red and white).

"Roy wasn't a coach," Lois said. "But all the teachers were girls, and the only man in the school was the superintendent. One of his friends asked him if he would coach the boys team, and he said he would."

Lois believes that was in 1926, after Roy had graduated from Salado High. (The school had only 11 grades, so he completed the 12th year at Belton.) He coached the team on a part-time basis, while working for the state highway department.

Roy and Lois married in September 1931, after Lois had graduated the previous May from Salado High (which now houses the Civic Center on Main Street). She was among 15 in her class who were the first to graduate from the then-new schoolhouse building.

South of the school, along what is now Van Bibber Road, were numerous trees where students would tie up their horses. "Each kid had his own tree and you didn't dare tie your horse to someone's tree," Lois said, laughing.

From 1942 to 1967, Roy and Lois ran the Salado grocery store, which is located where the Royal Emporium antique store is now.

After the Shepperds sold the grocery store to the owners of the Stagecoach Inn, Lois continued to work there for 10 more years. She worked there for another year, when Stagecoach sold the store to a Methodist minister.

When the store was converted to an antique store, she worked there for another eight years.

While Lois continued to work at the grocery store, Roy decided to enter politics.

He was elected Bell County treasurer and held the position for 12 years before retiring in 1982. He died in 1993 at the age of 87.

Had he lived two more weeks, he and Lois would have been married 60 years.

Saladoan attends statewide conference of Texas Democratic Women in Austin Feb. 7

Saladoan Violet Palmer attended the statewide conference of the Texas Democratic Women in Austin Feb. 7.

"It is expected that the Democrats' family-based agenda will appeal to women across Texas because it spotlights issues such as quality education and health care, which are so often women's priorities," Palmer said.

Palmer explained that their top priority is to ensure a quality education for every Texas child by improving school facilities, making computers accessible for the education of all public school children, and providing necessary help for those hard-working high school graduates who wish to go on to college. This helps ensure that they need to succeed in the future.

Another priority is the proposal of a constitutional amendment banning taxes on food and medicine. As far-fetched as that may seem, 44 members of the House presented a bill in 1997 proposing an increase in sales tax on these items, which failed.

Palmer, whose husband got two degrees using the GI Bill, says "it has made all the difference. We they have paid in taxes for his education 10 times over. Our dream for American children is that they will have that same privilege someday."

New district should be an interesting one

The recent realignment of districts by the University Interscholastic League kept Salado in District 26-2A, as reported last week.

Versus & Verses

by John Eubanks

Salado and current district members Florence and Holland will join newcomers Little River-Academy, Troy and Johnson City.

Although rival Rogers leaves for District 24-2A, Salado will resume a rivalry with former district foe Academy.

Troy drops down from Class 3A, and should make for an interesting opponent.

Johnson City, however, is the unknown factor. Located the farthest from any district opponent (some 40 miles west of Austin and south of Burnet), it should at least make for some interesting drives on out-of-town games, if nothing else.

And some of you thought the drive to Lago Vista was bad. (Lago Vista, by the way, does not play football, but will remain in Salado's basketball district.)

Johnson City was apparently the odd man out, when it came to grouping the 2A districts in Central Texas.

Or the even man.

The UIL apparently tried to give the districts an even number of teams. Of the eight districts in Salado's Region 4, only one district (29) had an odd number of teams (seven).

The realignment also gave District 26-2A potential new opponents for bi-district play. Instead of playing the likes of Crawford, Moody, Riesel and Valley Mills, as in the past, district members will now play any of eight teams from District 25-2A: Bangs, Coleman, Early, Goldthwaite, Hamilton, Mason, San Saba and Winters.

SYA MEETING NOTE: The Salado Youth Association will meet at 6 p.m. Feb. 18 at the Civic Center.

Representatives from soccer, baseball and basketball are urged to attend, along with interested parents.

Lady Eagles clinch district title

by John Eubanks

The Salado Lady Eagles clinched the District 26-2A championship Feb. 6 with a 77-29 home win over Hutto.

The Lady Eagles, 25-6 overall and 11-0 in district, finished district play Feb. 10 at Florence (results were unavailable at press time). They are tentatively scheduled to host Thrall Feb. 13 in a non-district game, but it might not be played because of scheduling conflicts.

Salado is scheduled to play Goldthwaite at 7 p.m. Feb. 16 at Lampasas in a district warmup game.

Salado would start the first round of the playoffs no sooner than Feb. 19, against either Academy or Valley Mills. Both were tied for second in District 25-2A entering a Feb. 13 matchup between the two. A Valley Mills victory would force a district playoff game either Feb. 16 or 17.

They are two games behind district leader Crawford, ranked 10th in the latest state poll with records of 24-3 overall and 8-0 in district as of Feb. 9.

Salado and Crawford would not meet until the regional tournament, provided, of course, they survive the first two rounds of the playoffs.

The Lady Eagles had little trouble in their home finale against fifth-place Hutto (3-7).

They jumped out to 25-4 first-quarter lead and capped the game with a 23-point fourth quarter.

Melissa Matthews led the way with 20 points. Leah Davis added 15, Chrystal Whiteley had 11 and Lauren Quirk chipped in 10.

Matthews hit four of Salado's nine three-pointers. Whiteley added three. Kathy Matthews added eight rebounds.

Katie Punched injured an ankle in the first quarter and did not return. She was expected to play against Florence.

Eagles still in hunt for playoffs

The Salado Eagles remained in the hunt for a playoff berth by winning their two most recent district games.

The Eagles, 14-14 overall and 6-3 in District 26-2A, played at Florence Feb. 10 (results were unavailable at press time) in a game pitting two teams battling for second place behind unbeaten Rogers.

Salado then plays at Rogers Feb. 17 before capping district play Feb. 20 at home against Holland.

Salado 60, Hutto 45

The Eagles avenged a two-point (37-35) loss to the Hippos in first-round play Jan. 13 by winning big at home Feb. 6.

Salado took the fight to Hutto, leading 15-6 after the first quarter and 26-13 at half-time.

"Inside power," Coach Alan Haire said, assessing the win. "The kids were poised. David Kirk had a great game."

Kirk, a 6-1 inside player, led all scorers with 22 points and tied Chris Michna for most rebounds with nine.

Michna added 14 points, and Shawn Mitchell had 10.

The Eagles hit an impressive 17 of 25 free throws, including 14 of 21 in the final quarter.

Hutto actually outscored Salado in the fourth quarter, 25-20, hitting seven of its eight total three-pointers that period.

Salado 45, Jarrell 39

The Eagles won despite being shut out in the second quarter. Despite being outscored 6-0 that period, they still led 17-16 at halftime.

Salado outscored the Cougars 18-15 in the last quarter for the victory. Michna scored six of his team-high 15 points that final period. Mitchell and John Woolard added 11 points apiece.

Mitchell hit two of his three three-pointers in the final period.

Of Jarrell's four fourth-quarter baskets, all were three-pointers.

JUNIOR VARSITY

The JV defeated Hutto 36-35. Troy Smith led Salado with 13 points.

It came on the heels of a 35-34 loss at Jarrell. Rory Oldham scored 17 points, including all eight of Salado's fourth-quarter points.

In tournament play, the JV lost to Waco Christian 40-37 (Oldham had 10 points) and beat Waco Vanguard, 72-38. Oldham had 11, Larry Witt 10, Eric Mentzel nine, and Sonny

See Eagles, Page 14A

Salado 63, Jarrell 59

The Lady Eagles overcame 10 first-quarter turnovers and a 10-0 deficit to earn a hard-earned road win Feb. 3 over the second-place Lady Cougars.

It marked the first basketball game between the two schools in Jarrell's new gym. It was also the Lady Cougars' first home loss since the gym opened last month.

The win gave Salado records of 24-6 overall and 10-0 in District 26-2A. Jarrell dropped to 13-7 and 7-2.

Jarrell's 10-0 lead, midway in the eight-minute first period, was the biggest lead by either team the entire game.

Salado finally scored with 3:46 left in the period on a Lauren Quirk basket, and eventually cut the deficit to 12-7 at the end of the first quarter. The Lady Eagles finally came alive in the second period, outscoring Jarrell 19-13, and led 26-25 at halftime.

Lady Eagle Leah Davis scored eight of her team-high 20 points in the second period. The 6-foot-3 senior post scored her points on 10 baskets, many on short jump shots.

Jarrell was playing without its regular post, 5-10 Cindy Domel, who injured a knee four days earlier in a 63-38 win over Hutto. Domel scored a team-high 16 points in Jarrell's 48-37 loss to Salado in first-round play Jan. 9. Her replacement in the rematch was 5-6 Kristen Eckert.

Salado Coach Larry Salisbury said the gameplan was to get the ball inside to Davis. It just took awhile.

Davis' eight second-quarter points, on four straight baskets, occurred during a span of two minutes, 36 seconds.

But it was a Katie Punchard three-pointer that finally tied the score, at 18-all, forcing Jarrell Coach Dona Charpentier to call time-out with 4:10 left in the period.

A minute later, the Lady Eagles took their first lead, 20-18, on a Chrystal Whiteley basket. It was set up by a nice bounce pass at the right moment from Punchard.

Whiteley gave Salado its biggest lead of the first half, 26-23, on a three-pointer with 30 seconds left. But Jarrell came back to cut the lead to 26-25 at halftime.

The third quarter was worth the price of admission as neither team led by more than two points for the first six-and-a-half minutes.

Salado then went on a 7-2 run in the last minute-and-a-half to lead 45-38 at the end of the third quarter.

Whiteley capped the scoring with five seconds left in the quarter on a three-point shot. It was set up by an inbounds play in which Whiteley shot from behind a wall of teammates at the top of the key.

The fourth quarter had the feel of a playoff game, as both teams laid it on the line.

The Lady Eagles took their biggest lead of the game, 49-40, with 5:30 left to play, on an odd-looking hook shot by Davis (which likely would have appeared on ESPN's SportsCenter if the teams had been playing a WNBA game).

Jarrell, inspired by its vocal fans, came back to make it 49-46 with 3:44 left to play.

Salado went back up, 54-48, only to have Jarrell cut the lead in half on an Amber Sladeczek three-pointer with 1:28 left.

Sladeczek, a 5-5 senior, hit two more three-pointers, including one at the buzzer. She finished with five three-pointers and a game-high 25 points.

Salado held off Jarrell's late charge by scoring its last 10 points from the free-throw line. The Lady Eagles hit 10 of 12 free throws in the final quarter and 13 of 18 overall.

Whiteley was four-of-four in the final period and finished with 14 points. Punchard also scored 14 points.

Melissa Matthews added eight points, five in the last quarter.

Ashley Hawkins added 14 points to Jarrell's cause, before fouling out with 42 seconds left in the game. She also fouled out in the first game with Salado.

Cheryl Townley chipped in 11 points.

JUNIOR VARSITY

The JV girls defeated Hutto 44-38. Nikki Jackson had 21 points, and Sarah Buchanan had 14.

Junior high girls win district championship

The Salado seventh and eighth-grade girls basketball teams captured their respective district titles during the junior high district tournament Feb. 5-7.

EIGHTH GRADE

The girls captured their second district championship in their junior high careers, ending the season with an impressive 13-1 record.

After an opening round bye in the tournament at Lago Vista, the Lady Eagles defeated Florence, 39-15. Robyn Womac had an outstanding game with 23 points.

In the championship game against Rogers, the first quarter ended in a 7-7 deadlock before the Lady Eagles pulled away for a 34-19 victory. Julie Couchman had the hot hand with 12 points, most of which came on outside shots.

Coach Melvin Bates said the entire team displayed great hustle, desire and enthusiasm.

Team members are Stephanie Marley, Megan Fleck, Emily Bates, Amanda

Pritchard takes hand-on approach in her job as a massage therapist

by John Eubanks

If you would have told Linda Pritchard in her past life that she would someday run her own massage therapy business, she might have given you that look of hers that translates into "Huh?"

So how did it feel when she finally took a hands-on approach to earning a living?

"I was scared to death," she said.

It wasn't the idea of becoming a massage therapist that scared her. After all, she had spent 10 years as a registered nurse, dealing with God knows what, before enrolling in massage therapy school in Austin.

Sure, there were 300 hours of training to undergo, including the performance and written exams required by the state.

But, as she said of her new profession, "I felt comfortable with it. I fell in love with it."

What scared her was the idea of supporting herself and two kids by her own means.

So, how did she overcome fear of the unknown?

"It was something so intrinsically strong (to do) that there was no doubt," Pritchard said, sitting outside of her office at Salado Square on a beautiful January day.

"It was faith."

Faith is what apparently sustained her during the journey to this point in time. Pritchard was at a crossroads when she first moved to Salado in 1980.

Newly divorced and with two kids just starting school, Pritchard moved from Houston to Salado with her parents.

"My mother had always loved Salado, and she told me 'there's even a nursing school nearby.' It was also an idyllic place for kids," she said.

So Pritchard went back to school, earning a nursing degree from the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor in 1984. Shortly thereafter, her mother died.

Pritchard remained in Salado with the rest of her family, working at King's Daughters Hospital as a registered nurse.

Two years later, Pritchard and her sons moved to Dallas, where she worked for eight years at a psychiatric hospital.

"That's where I belonged," she explained. "I loved it. I worked with tremendous people who helped me with my personal and professional growth."

In 1991, when Pritchard's father died, she came back to Salado to take care of his affairs. She was struggling with a decision to sell the house, until one day when a man came to the door -- "out of the blue" -- and asked if the place were available to lease.

So, Pritchard leased the house and returned to Dallas. There, she stayed until 1994, when oldest son Evan graduated from high school. (Evan, now 22, will graduate from the University of Texas this summer and plans to attend law school. Eric, 19, is attending Austin Community College.)

A series of events in '94 were again leading Pritchard back to Salado, including talk of downsizing at the hospital where she was working.

Deciding not to sell her parents' home, she instead moved into it.

But she was at a crossroads in her career, and eventually decided to enroll in massage therapy school -- appropriately named, "A New Beginning."

Four of the 12 students in her class were registered nurses. They had become frustrated with the limited role they played in the healing of the patients they encountered.

They wanted to have a more "hands-on" approach, if you will. And massage therapy certainly provided that.

"It was beginning to unfold that it was what I was called to do," Pritchard said.

A year later, in 1995, she was certified as a registered massage therapist.

She began working out of her home and also did contract work at "My Hiding Place" salon when it was in Old Town Salado.

She moved to her present location in a cozy -- but inconspacious -- office at the back of Salado Square on Main Street in December 1996.

Most of her clients are local regulars, but she also enjoys working with newcomers who come to Salado during retreats.

She has basically two types of clients: those seeking relief from pain incurred from accidents, for example, and those seeking relief from stress.

Pritchard said there is sometimes a catharsis -- the purifying of the emotions or relieving of emotional tension -- when she works with someone.

She explained that toxins build up in muscles and connective tissue, and if blood does not circulate through a particular area because of inactivity, the area can't be cleared of toxins. Thus, healing cannot take place.

Pritchard says she takes a holistic -- mind, body and spirit -- approach to healing.

"I'm very much into people learning to be aware of their body," she said, noting that she has taken up yoga to help her become aware of her own body.

"I try to help people become aware of their lifestyle. Their posture, exercise and how much joy they are getting in their life."

Her philosophy is simple. "I do really believe each one of us has a life purpose, and we need to be aware of what this is.

"Each of us has to be responsible for our health, but I also believe in mentoring and facilitating each other as much as we can to promote each other's growth."

Linda Pritchard can be reached by calling 947-HAND (4263). Her ad appears on Page 3A.

Woolard signs with Angelo State

by John Eubanks

Salado High student-athlete John Woolard signed a letter of intent Feb. 5 to play football at Angelo State University.

The 6-foot-4, 260-pound lineman was a three-year letterman for the Eagles. He played tackle on offense and noseguard on defense this past season, and was named Defensive Player of the Year in District 26-2A.

Woolard selected ASU over Cisco Junior College for a variety of reasons. He visited the San Angelo school Jan. 26.

"It was nice down there," he said. "They seem to have a good football program, and it looked like I would get a good education."

Woolard, who ranks among the top 10 academically in his class of about 70, listed engineering as a possible major. Math is one of his favorite subjects.

According to the ASU catalog, the school was listed as one of the top 10 "Up and Coming" regional universities in America's higher education in U.S. News and World Report's 1991 College Guide, America's Best Colleges.

This same publication in its 1993 College Guide listed ASU as one of the three highest-ranked, state-supported regional universities in Texas.

ASU has an enrollment of approximately 6,100, and campuswide the student-to-computer ratio is 20 to 1.

The school has a new mathematics-computer science building with "state of the art communication capabilities," according to the catalog.

ASU's football team competes in the Lone Star Conference as an NCAA Division II school.

The Rams posted a 10-2 record last season, after placing second in the conference with a 8-1 record. They received an at-large bid to the playoffs, beating Western Colorado in the first round and losing in the quarterfinals to UC-Davis, 50-33.

The Rams finished the season ranked sixth nationally in Division II. Jerry Vandergriff has been head coach since 1982 and has been at the school for 27 years.

Mike Martin, ASU assistant head coach who recruited Woolard, said the Rams lost six seniors along the offensive line and four seniors who played defensive tackle.

"Replacing these guys was a priority," Martin said. "We signed four junior college offensive linemen and five high school linemen (two on offense and three who can play offense or defense)."

Martin said Woolard's attitude is what stood out when Woolard visited the school. "After getting him on campus and talking to him, he's very eager. He's put on quite a bit of weight the last two years, and I think he can put on more. When his strength matches his size, I think he can be an excellent football player."

Martin said most freshmen, particularly linemen, are redshirted (held out of games their first year to allow them to mature, thus giving them an extra year of eligibility.)

Joe Mullins, Salado head football coach, said he believes that Woolard's success at SHS will carry over to ASU.

"He was a heck of a player for us, easy to coach, worked hard," Mullins said. "I'm just glad he can go on and further his career. There's no doubt in my mind he can be a success at whatever he does."

Woolard is the son of John and Susan Woolard of Salado.

He is also a member of the Salado basketball team, and moves well on the court for someone his size, Coach Alan Haire said.

Haire said Woolard can lay on his back with his hands behind his head and flip himself onto his feet.

ASU played only one non-conference game last season (against Sam Houston State), because of the large number of conference teams. The 15 conference schools that play football are divided into north and south zones.

ASU is in the south zone, along with defending conference champion Texas A&M-Kingsville, Texas A&M-Commerce, Abilene Christian University, Eastern New Mexico University, Midwestern State in Wichita Falls and Tarleton State in Stephenville.

The north zone includes six

Oklahoma schools and two from Arkansas.

ASU will again play Sam Houston this season (at home), along with its south zone foes and two schools from the north zone.

NOTES: As of Feb. 9, ASU had announced the signing of 14 players to national letters of intent.

Besides Woolard, they include Hutto quarterback Kirk Alan Walker (6-1, 185), Copperas Cove defensive lineman Thomas Guillotte (6-1, 275) and Gatesville offensive lineman Barron Williams (6-4, 290).

If other players who reportedly signed with ASU did not fax their letters of intent to school officials by Feb. 9, they would not be included on the list released by ASU.

Valentine's week marks 1st anniversary for Salado's Blass Floral & Gifts

Denny Blass is celebrating her first year of business this week at Blass Floral and Gifts in Salado.

She just wanted to thank all the people who have supported her the past 12 months.

"Everybody knows your first two or three years is your hardest," she said.

Denny opened the business three days before Valentine's Day last year, after moving into the building at 1209 N. Stagecoach Inn Road the previous month.

She shared the building with her twin brother, Mike Roe, who sold rare coins and stained glass. She now has the building to herself, after Roe moved on to another venture. (Denny said he's finally getting things in order, after his home near Lake Belton was destroyed by a tornado on May 27.)

Blass Floral and Gifts offers flowers, balloons, stuffed animals, green and blooming flowers and silk. Denny also does decorative windows. "I scrape 'em, paint 'em and put in mirrors," she said. (At reasonable prices, she adds.)

Denny's been as busy as one would expect someone running a business. On Feb. 6, she was preparing a hundred red, black and white balloons with streamers that were ordered for the two seniors on the basketball team playing that night in their last home game.

During last year's homecoming, she teamed with Deanna's Floral Creations and Aunt Granny's gift shop for a Homecoming Mum fund-raiser for the FFA at the high school.

"We work together during mum time," Denny said of Deanna's Floral Creations, Salado's other florist. "Anytime we need something, we call one another."

Helping Denny at her shop is employee Angie Teer, along with Denny's daughter, Laurie Burrier. Her son, Thomas Blass Jr., helps with the delivering.

Tommy Dorsey Orchestra plans Feb. 26 concert

The Tommy Dorsey Orchestra will be presented by the Temple Community Concert Association at the Cultural Activities Center at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 26. This is the third of four concerts presented this season.

Buddy Morrow, conductor of the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra, is recognized as one of the great all-time great trombone players. He first came to the public eye when he was featured with leading orchestras such as Tommy Dorsey, Paul Whiteman, Artie Shaw, and Jimmy Dorsey and as a staff musician with many of the major radio and television shows. As conductor of the one and only Tommy Dorsey Orchestra, Buddy Morrow insists that the band retain the authentic sound and style of the late Tommy Dorsey. The band's repertoire embraces not only the classics of the original orchestra but the spectrum of popular music from Dixieland rhythm and blues and intricate ballads to progressive jazz or current rock tunes.

Oliver Whitener's walking sticks ain't for sale, but are made as gifts of love

by Tumbleweed Smith

Oliver Whitener's name had been on my list of potential interviews for sometime. While I was having lunch at the Burton cafe I asked the owner if he knew where I might find Oliver. "He was just in here," the owner told me. "He was having lunch with his son. Try the bank. He might be there."

I walked around the corner to the bank and asked the young executive wearing the tie if he knew where Oliver might be. "I guess he's home," the banker replied. "He's my father."

I introduced myself and told him I wanted to interview his dad about his walking sticks. "You better be prepared to spend some time with him," the banker told me. "The canes are his favorite subject."

Oliver Whitener's home has furniture he has made with his own hands. The items are made with different types of wood; some native, some exotic. "I took shop in high school and learned woodwork there. This table here is made of cherry wood," says Oliver modestly.

He has deep roots in the community. His family has lived in the Burton area for nearly 150 years. Oliver is a retired rancher and chairman of the board of the Burton bank.

Oliver makes walking sticks. They are works of art, made of black walnut, ash, willow, birch, elm, chinaberry and other woods. Each one is numbered and contains Oliver's brand, a half moon over a cross.

He keeps a collection at home, but has given several away to friends and kinfolks.

He hasn't sold a single one. He donated one to a service club auction last spring and it brought fifteen hundred dollars. "I'd rather give them away than sell them," says Oliver. "That'd take a lot of the joy away if I sold them."

He has made 409 canes during the past 25 years. Each one has a hollowed out box near the top of the cane. The box has a wooden ball inside it. Each cane is carved from a single piece of wood. Working with old chisels, pocket knives and small files, Oliver carefully trims away the excess wood to make a perfectly round ball.

"You finally cut it loose with a coping saw," says Oliver. "But you can't tell where it was cut." His work follows the same principles involved in carving a wooden chain or building a ship inside a bottle.

Oliver says he got the idea to make his canes after seeing one made by a prisoner. "I figured if he could make one, I could," says Oliver. He made his first one in 1969 and gave it to a friend of his. The friend said he had never had anything that created so much comment.

He starts out with a straight block of wood one and seven-eighths square and 39 inches long. He puts it on a lathe, then begins his hand work. Each cane takes about fifteen hours to complete. "Ebony is a real hard wood, very dense," says

Oliver. "It's hard to work with."

Oliver is planning on his special art to be handed down to subsequent generations. He has carefully written a book, complete with sketches, explaining how he makes the canes. He says mostly it takes good tools and good eyesight.

I had a nice visit with Mr. Whitener. Secretly, I coveted one of his canes. In the mail recently, I received a cane with my initials on it. It's number 409 and is made of magnolia wood. It is straight, with a rounded head on it. The ball inside the box is round and smooth and makes a pleasant sound when you shake the stick. I'm extremely proud of it. I keep it near my desk.

Susie Luchsinger to perform Christian Country Music at SHS 7 p.m. Feb. 21

Susie Luchsinger will be in concert at the Salado High School cafeteria at 7 p.m. Feb. 21. There will be no charge, but a love offering will be taken.

Susie has won numerous honors and awards from the Christian Country Music Awards, including Female Vocalist of the Year in 1994 and 1995. She was also voted Christian Country Artist of the Year by Gospel Voice Magazine in 1996, as well as numerous nominations for Dove awards.

Susie was raised on an Oklahoma ranch filled with love and music. Her parents Clark and Jacqueline (Jackie) McEntire had four children, three daughters and one son; Susie, the youngest; super country star, Reba; their son Pake, and Alice. Clark was a Champion Steer Roper who traveled the country with his family. It was during these years that Jackie began to pass her talent and interest in country music onto her children.

Following college graduation from Oklahoma State University, Susie toured as a country performer with her sister Reba appearing on different television shows, such as; the Johnny Carson Show, Hee Haw, and The Grand Ole Opry and with other country artist including Ronnie Milsap and Merle Haggard.

Susie married Paul

Susie Luchsinger

Luchsinger, a professional rodeo steer wrestler, on Nov. 27, 1981, and they became parents to son, E.P. in 1983. Shortly after in 1984, Susie began singing Christian Country Music. In the summer of 1986, E.P. became the big brother to Luchese; and she became the big sister to Samuel Clark, July 1989.

In recent years Susie has appeared on Nashville Now, CBN's 700 Club, The Richard Roberts Show, Miracles Now with Oral Roberts, the Trinity Broadcasting Network, The Leeza Gibbons Show, Music City News, Crook & Chase, and Day & Date.

There is limited seating available and it will be first come first serve.

"Be sure to come early so you won't miss this wonderful blessing," organizers said.
