SISD trustees to consider $4.4 million budget for 1997-98, slate public hearing Aug. 28

by Tim Fleischer
Editor-in-Chief

Salado I.S.D. Trustees will hold a hearing on the proposed 1997-98 budget 7 p.m. Aug. 28 at the Salado Civic Center, immediately preceding the Bond Advisory Committee meeting.

The board will consider a $4.4 million budget for the 1997-98 school year with a proposed tax rate of $1.2228, a cut from the 1996-97 rate of $1.2897.

While the proposed rate is a cut in the actual tax rate, it is a slight increase in the effective tax rate.

The effective tax rate is that rate which is necessary to generate the same amount of revenues as last year's tax rate. A district can set its tax rate up to three percent higher than the effective tax rate without publishing notices or holding a public hearing.

The proposed tax rate falls below a three percent increase in the effective tax rate of $1.1872 for 1997-98.

The rollback rate for this year is $1.7319. Salado trustees can raise taxes to this amount without facing a rollback election.

Last year, Salado I.S.D. had

State Rep. Hupp will address Lions Aug. 27

State Rep. Suzanna Gratia Hupp, R-Kempner, will address the Salado Lions at their Aug. 27 luncheon at Mill Creek Country Club.

Rep. Hupp was elected last fall to represent District 54. As a first-term legislator, her accomplishments include legislative approval for the establishment of an upper-level public university in Central Texas, the inclusion of additional days for the ballots of overseas military personnel to be counted in an election, and the creation of a toll-free hotline to verify the safety record of an abortion facility.

In addition, Rep. Hupp worked to remove the legal liability which impeded the donation of much-needed firefighting equipment for use by volunteer fire departments.

Rep. Hupp is one of the leading advocates for an individual's right to carry a concealed weapon. In 1991, after leaving her gun in her car to comply with the law, she watched helplessly as her parents, along with 21 others, were gunned down in the mass shooting at a Killeen restaurant.

As a survivor of this tragedy, her impassioned calls for the right of citizens to self-defense have thrust her into the national debate on the right to keep and bear arms. Since the tragedy, she has testified numerous times across the country for the Second Amendment.

Rep. Hupp's efforts in this arena were recently recognized when she was awarded the Sybil Ludington Women's Freedom Award by the National Rifle Association.

Dr. Hupp was raised in Friendswood, Texas, with her older brother, Allan, and younger sister, Erika.

She attended the University of Texas at El Paso and Texas Chiropractic College, graduating with a Doctor of Chiropractic degree in 1985.

Dr. Hupp moved to Copperas Cove in 1987, where she opened and still owns the Cove Chiropractic Clinic.

State Rep. Suzanna Gratia Hupp, a survivor of the 1991 Luby's massacre in Killeen, is one of the leading advocates for an individual's right to carry a concealed weapon.

She and husband Greg also own a small Arabian horse breeding ranch. They have one son, Alexander, who recently turned a year old.

LION NOTES: The net profit from the Lions' barbecue sale at the Salado Art Fair Aug. 2-3 was $3,692. Special thanks goes to David Matthews, chairman of the Lions' barbecue sale, and those who helped prepare and sell the barbecue.

U.S. Seniors seek Social Security action-- but not too much of it!!

No conversation is complete these days in Washington without a discussion of Social Security - its past, present and future. Republicans and Democrats tread lightly around the subject due to their innate fear of fooling with this potentially dynamite subject as they recall what happened to former Congressman Dan Rostenkowski when he messed with the gray panthers among us.

You may recall the nationwide photo-op showing a group of oldies beating on the chairman's limo after Danny-boy threatened to cut back on the cost of living increases for annuitants.

Old Dan represented Chicago before his disgraceful resignation from the House and is now a resident in a post-prison halfway house. No connection between the pol's problems with the seniors and his later conviction for stealing - but most observers opine he will avoid both activities in the future.

OLDIES NEED NAME

Many believe that the first hurdle politicians and the media must overcome in dealing with social security issues is finding a proper title for our seniors. Something descriptive without being insulting.

Today's old geezers have been given titles all the way from mature to venerable seniors with in-between terms of an even less than happy tone including gone to seed, no spring chicken, hoary-headed, long in the tooth, senescent, moribund, wizened, rickety, driveling, senile, gaga, one foot in the grave, patriarchal, out to pasture, superannuated, dotty. Regrettably, the list goes on and on without much success.

I personally like something in the venue of "Gray Pan- thers" rather than being a member of the National Association of Retired Persons. Latter sounds too stuffy when action is needed - but not too much action - you understand!

But enough of this foofaraw with words describing those who have been around the barn a few times and are now involved in receiving social security as a recipient rather than a contributor and on to ways of fixing the program - if its fixable.

POLITICIANS FEAR OLDER VOTERS

No elected official is going to brave the outrage or the voting strength of our nation's retirees. So when Congress annually feels compelled to consider messing with the pittance received from a lifetime of premium payments into the social security administration, it does so with extreme caution.

Part of this is that oldsters take time to go vote and the nervous Pooh-Bahs know it!

We veterans don't get much in the way of money from our social security office, but woe betide the elected official who tries to fumble around with our monthly stipend.

EARLY PLANNING POOR

Too bad the early planners of social security did not emulate a number of our progressive States in handling retirement funds through proper investments rather than just creating a trust fund that continues to be raided daily by the eager beaver tax-spenders we send to Congress and the White House.

Incidentally, Texas is considered an excellent example of a State that properly and professionally manages its public employee's pension fund.

A TOP PENSION PLAN

Best way to explain the difference between a top pension plan such as the employees of the State of Texas enjoy and the current social security program is to make an honest comparison between the two systems.

Example. Two workers. Both 25 years old. Both start to work the same day. One in private industry. One with a state agency in Texas. Both work until age 65.

Let us assume that the industrial worker paid in the maximum amount required by social security throughout his (or her) career which currently is 6.2 percent of salary up to $65,400.00 (an additional 1.45 is deducted for medicare).

The state employee paid six percent of his total gross wage into the state retirement system. The employers - state and private matched the contributions in both of these examples.

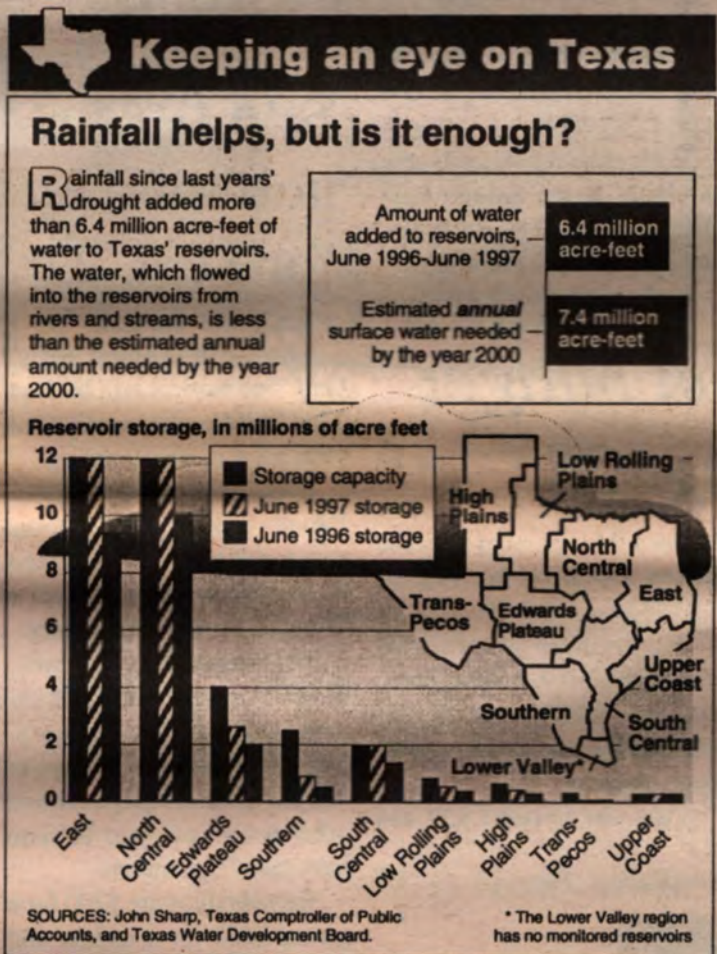

Both retired after 40 years service. And in this comparative example, let us assume that both had annual ending salaries of $65,400.00. That way we will be comparing apples and apples as the saying goes.

Can you guess what each worker receives for this lifetime of work in this example? It will surprise you.

The private enterprise employee will receive from social security $1,327.00 per month. The state worker's gross monthly retirement will be $4,905.00!

All this without any additional dollar supplements to

The Texas Camel Corps

by Tumbleweed Smith

There have been a few near traffic mishaps at Bellmead, just outside Waco, when drivers unfamiliar to the area glance over at a vacant lot and see two camels looking back at them.

The camels belong to Doug Baum, who works at the Waco Zoo. Doug grew up in Big Spring and Colorado City playing drums, bass and guitar. He still plays occasionally in Dallas's West End, but camels are his main interest.

He became fascinated with animals when he went to work as a volunteer at the Waco Zoo while attending McLennan Community College. He decided to do zoo work full time and found employment at the Nashville Zoo. His two camels, Bill and Ted, were born under his care. When he left the Nashville zoo to return to Texas, he brought Bill and Ted with him.

On Fridays, Doug takes his camels to schools to teach youngsters about the animals. Some Saturdays he takes his camels to various events around the state. At Christmas time, he cannot begin to fill all the requests he gets from people wanting his camels in their nativity scenes.

Doug tells the students about the time when Texas had a bunch of camels. One hundred of them were brought here in the 1850's. Secretary of War Jefferson Davis thought the animals could pack supplies on road and boundary survey expeditions.

The camels were based at Camp Verde, but were used in Fort Lancaster, Fort Stockton, Fort Davis and Fort Bliss, all frontier forts established to protect settlers from Indian raids. I suppose the Indians were scared off when they noticed the strange creatures.

Following the Civil War the camels were used less and less, probably due to Jefferson Davis's lack of popularity at the time. Most of the camels were auctioned off and ended up in private hands. Some went to circuses. Ranchers shot stray camels because they competed with cattle for food.

The last captive offspring of the government camels, Topsy, died in Griffith Park Zoo in Los Angeles in 1934. There are those who believe wild descendants of Uncle Sam's camels still roam remote areas of Texas, Arizona and California.

Doug says in the middle east, camels are considered as cattle. They provide meat, hide, milk and hair. They are hitched up as teams to pull plows or wagons. Camel auctions are popular events, just as cattle auctions are here. He says the camels require little care and have good dispositions. One of his camels loves to travel, can't wait to get into the trailer. The other is reluctant to leave his vacant lot. Doug has had his camels in hotels and auditoriums.

Doug dispels some misinformation about camels. Like the humps (one hump is Dromedary, two humps are Bactrian.) People think the humps are full of water and that's why the camel can go so long without water. Wrong. The humps are nothing but stored fat that is distributed throughout the body when it needs it.

Doug Baum knows about camels.

the fund from Texas taxpayers other than the original six percent match of the state employees contribution.

How can this be? Simple.

The state retirement system hires top money managers and experts in the investment fields who take the hundreds of millions of pension dollars and invest them in strong, blue chip stocks, bonds, money market accounts, mutual funds and other approved investments to the point they can provide excellent lifetime retirement annuities for their workers.

And most importantly, they don't let the state legislature get their greedy little hands on any of these funds!

SS CANNOT COMPETE

Social security today is not considered (at least by Congress) to be the sole retirement fund for most retirees although most recipients are forced to live on these meager amounts alone.

What the government figures is that most folks have a personal or corporate retirement program and that social security merely supplements it.

While this may be true for some - think of the benefits that would accrue to recipients if the social security administration would be allowed to invest their contributions from the workers of America the same way the State of Texas does!

Of course this would mean that other agencies of the federal government would not be allowed to borrow from the social security trust fund at low rates of interest the minute the money arrives.

Borrowing from the SS trust fund will never allow the federal pension to be more than a pittance, so if Americans want an aggressive program of investing worker's dollars in order to provide a decent pension - then basic changes will have to be made.

Perhaps not "privatize" social security but at least use some of the tools that private and/or state pension managers have at their disposal and stop making the social security retirement system an annual plaything for elected officials to tinker with - thus keeping older folks on edge at a time in their lives when they need peace and quiet, especially from their government.

Saladoan announces candidacy for County Court at Law #3

Temple Attorney Gerald M. Brown announced Aug. 26 that he will seek election as Judge of the County Court At Law No. 3 of Bell County.

In 1995, the Bell County Commissioners sought legislation to create a County Court No. 3 for Bell County, effective January 1, 1999.

"I believe that more than 25 years of practicing law on both the civil and criminal side of the docket has qualified me to fill this judicial position," Brown said at his announcement. "I have tried more than 150 jury trials in my career. My civil clients have included a land owner whose property was damaged, a building subcontractor who was not paid for his labor and materials, a parent seeking custody of his child."

He continued, "As a prosecutor with the Travis County Attorney's office, I represented the State in 24 jury trials. Since moving to Bell County I have served as a special prosecutor both for the City of Temple and Bell County."

"Every judge is subject to having his decisions reviewed by a higher court, I am familiar with that process because I have represented civil clients, the State of Texas, and court appointed defendants in more than 75 appeals. I believe that appellate work has provided me with insight into judicial conduct and procedures needed to ensure verdicts that are upheld by the Appellate Courts," Brown added.

"By the time County Court At Law No. 3 is created, it will have a built-in caseload as a result of the backlog of pending cases in the other two Courts. I promise to attack that backlog with energy, to uphold the law to the best of my ability, and to perform my judicial duties in accordance with the Code of Judicial Conduct," he stated.

Brown is a 55-year-old attorney who resides in Salado, and has his law office in Temple. He graduated from Texas A&M University with a degree in Economics and received his law degree from the University of Texas School of Law.

He has been married to Rebecca Donaldson Brown for more than 30 years. They have two adult children, Beth Brown Bonini and CPT Robert Bradley Brown, and three grandchildren. The Browns are members of Grace Presbyterian Church in Temple where Gerald is an Elder and Trustee.

Brown is a partner in the law firm of Brown & Cox and has practiced both civil and criminal law for more than 25 years. Prior to moving to Bell County, he was a prosecutor with the Travis County Attorney's office and served five years active duty as a Judge Advocate officer in the U.S. Army.

Brown has been admitted to practice in all Texas Courts, the U.S. Supreme Court, U.S. District Courts for Western and Northern Districts of Texas, and the U.S. Court of Military Appeals. He is a former President of the Bell-Lampasas-Mills Counties Bar Association and is a Life Fellow of the Texas Bar Foundation. Brown is a past director of the Temple Jaycees and a current director of the Greater Temple Area A&M Club and the Kiwanis Club of Temple. In 1996, he was named the Kiwanian of the year for his outstanding service to the community and the Temple Kiwanis Club.

Griffiths celebrate 62nd anniversary

Louis and Thelma Griffith began celebrating their 62 years of marriage Aug. 9, with a dinner party in their home. On the same day Louis also celebrated his 87th birthday. After out of state travel plans to a family celebration were interrupted, grandson Christopher and his wife Melissa provided a private dinner party at their home. Thelma remarked on the beautiful flowers provided by their children Linda and Richard Thomas of Salado and David and Cheryl Griffith of Austin.

The couple will continue to celebrate Aug. 30 at a party to be hosted by their son David and Cheryl Griffith at their home in Lakeway. This party will also hallmark the 81st birthday of Thelma.

With an historic Salado family heritage, Louis and Thelma grew up in the Salado/Belton area. According to Louis, the courtship lasted three to four years. The years that followed included 35 years in the Houston area with Louis working for the Houston Light & Power Co. Immediately after retiring, the couple returned to Salado where they have resided for the last 22 years.

Louis and Thelma Griffith are the grandparents to Brad, Chris, Jennifer and Timothy and great grandparents to Megan, Sarah and Katelyn.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE Faith Without Question

"Now faith is the assurance of things hoped for, the conviction of things not seen."

— Hebrews 11:1

It would not be difficult to deny faith in a God no one but a few visionaries ever claimed to have seen. And the same could be said for Jesus Christ, the savior for whom there are no historical records save for the stories set forth by the gospels. Yet though there are many things in life we cannot perceive visually, our senses tell us they exist. We cannot see the heat of the sun, yet we bask in its warmth; nor witness the freeze of winter, but we experience its chill. Thus, though we do not behold God or His Son, we are aware of Their presence around us and in our lives. How else to explain the glories of nature and the commandments that enrich our being?

Beef industry changing

by James M. Davis
Co. Ext. Agent

The beef cattle industry is going through another change. Dr. Bill Mies with the Animal Science Department at Texas A&M University gave a talk at the 1997 Beef Cattle Short Course I will share with you over the next two weeks.

The beef industry is divided by the controversy over producing a product that should be more price competitive versus higher in quality. The opinions are strident on both sides of the argument. Each side is sure that its analysis is correct and is mystified why the other side cannot see their point of view. These arguments generate fire fights over USDA quality grading, industry structure, marketing techniques, genetic selection, futures markets and almost every other internal dispute in the beef industry. The conflict can mark a starting point with the Shue-Johnson report in the mid 1980's.

Four eminent economists looked at the beef industry from a purely economic theory point of view and concluded that high beef prices accounted for 98 percent of beef's take of competitiveness. Their sole recommendation to the industry was to lower cost of production. This recommendation was used justify a maximization philosophy that called for production of pounds at every stage in the industry regardless of quality. The industry was thus given a hunting license to find genetics for growth rate at every stage in the production chain. During the last 10 years, the market share for beef has gone down ten percent which matches the decline of the previous ten years. During the last ten years, the price of beef relative to poultry is more favorable, but we have lost market share. This was not supposed to happen. In a purely economic world, we should be gaining on poultry as we are improving our cost relationship. Something else must be at work in the marketplace that affects our success.

Quality is the issue that has expressed itself in our market. We produce a higher quality product than any of our competition. Our consumers have a higher level of expectation for our product than our competition. If we fail to deliver up to a customer's expectation, we have a dissatisfied customer that will turn to our competition. If you analyze any consumer product today, the issue of quality is usually the first consideration. Advertising sensitizes people to quality. Everything is advertised to be of "The Highest Quality."

The word quality is used in a subliminal way in almost every advertisement. Close your eye as you listen to advertising and count the number of times the word "quality" is used. The producers of major consumer items have slogans with the word "quality" as the focus idea. Advertising executives explain the concept with the phrase, "In the 70's and 80's, sex sold the product, today quality sells."

Next week we will continue with Dr. Mies' challenge to the beef industry.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, national origin or disability.

Deception on His Mind is more than just "who done it"

Deception On His Mind
by Elizabeth George

Novel now available at Salado Public Library located in the Salado Civic Center on Main St. Book review by Katherine Wende

Most of us who read mysteries seek more than just an answer to "Who done it." Good mysteries are constructed of flowing prose, lots of incidental data we wouldn't find elsewhere and interesting characters that often find their way through several books. The novels of Elizabeth George combine the best of these elements. With each publication, we look forward to renewing acquaintance with Lord Thomas Lynley who has renounced his title to become Detective Inspector for Scotland Yard.

As a departure, however, Ms. George builds this story around Detective Sergeant Barbara Havers. A dedicated story around Detective Sergeant Barbara Havers, a police woman who usually works with Lynley. Havers is recovering from wounds incurred in a previous case. She has been told to take a vacation. Though she considers herself too homely to attract any man, she is drawn to her Pakistani neighbor because of her love for his daughter. When she learns that he and his daughter are going to the East coast of England because of the murder of his cousin, she impulsively follows. There she discovers that a friend is head of police in the village and is in charge of the investigation of the cousin's murder. She offers her assistance. While investigating leads and assessing clues, she is confronted with the extreme racism of the British, who because of the Common Market, must admit persons of color to their country. Aside from being a very good read, this book is a definitive study of how race hatred has affected the British citizenry. Ultimately, she finds the greatest bias in her friend who is chief of police.

It is a long book, but I was sorry when it ended.

Soldiers test rodeo skill during Cen-Tex State Fair this weekend

Soldiers will be testing more than their skills and strength on Aug. 31 as they compete in wild bronc saddling, bull riding, steer saddling and wild cow milking during the Fort Hood Rodeo.

The rodeo, held in conjunction with the Central Texas State Fair in Belton, has moved into the air-conditioned dome this year and will start at 6 p.m. Admission to the rodeo is free of charge with paid admission to the fair.

"We were looking for ways to include Fort Hood soldiers and military families in the Central Texas State Fair several years ago and decided to add the rodeo to Military Appreciation Day," said Odis Pippins, Fort Hood Rodeo coordinator and Fort Hood National Bank executive vice president. "We want to make this an affordable fun event for soldiers and their families so the Fort Hood National Bank is giving military kids free tickets to the Central Texas State Fair."

Military children will also be able to participate in the Fort Hood Rodeo in mutton bustin' and a calf scramble. Military parents can sign up their children at the Fort Hood

National Bank location prior to the rodeo.

Military units can participate as three-man teams in the wild bronc saddling, steer saddling and wild cow milking for cash prizes. The first-place military unit will receive $500, second place will receive $250 and third prize is $100. The bull riding is an individual event in which a silver championship buckle will be awarded to the winner. All stock will be provided by Billy Hamilton. All contestants must sign up prior to the rodeo at Fort Hood National Bank on Hood Road.

For more information on the rodeo, contact Fort Hood National Bank at (254) 532-1100. For more information on the fair, call (254) 933-5353.

SISD trustees hire construction manager during regular meeting

The Salado ISD Board of Trustees hired Way Juston Construction Management Services, Inc. for the possible construction of a Grade 5-8 middle school and renovations at the other campuses during its regular meeting Aug. 18.

Way Juston will serve as Construction Manager for the project, if a $6.5 million bond issue passes Sept. 27. The district will pay Way Juston 7 percent of the total cost of the construction during the building process.

Claycomb and Associates architectural firm was hired earlier this summer to serve as architect for the proposed building program. The school district will pay the firm 6 percent of the construction cost during the building process.

In other business, trustees moved the date of Spring Break 1998 from March 9-13, 1998 to March 16-20, 1998. The board also adopted a policy on use of school equipment:

"Staff Use: School owned equipment and supplies may be used by staff for the service of the District. Private use of equipment by the staff will follow the same guidelines as set for public use. The Board shall permit school equipment to be taken from school premises by employees when directly related to studies or extracurricular activities. Proper guidelines shall be established by the principal of each building to ensure borrower's responsibility for, and return of, all such equipment. The principal shall clearly distinguish between proper and improper use.

"An instructor shall not be permitted to personally benefit from a student learning activity in which school resources are used.

"Public use: Community members shall be permitted to use school equipment during the hours of a regular school day. Keys will not be loaned to anyone other than school faculty, staff, and employees. Anyone other than employees of the District possessing keys will follow proper guidelines set by the principals and the principals will assume responsibility for the use of the facility.

"School supplies and equipment may be used by the community provided the borrower becomes solely responsible for the resources. A fee will be set by the District, and borrower is responsible for payment in full. Supplies will be provided by the school and only these supplies will be used in, or servicing of, equipment. The principal may deny use at any time.

"Use of School Vocational, Bus, and Maintenance: Vocational, bus and maintenance shops with their equipment and supplies shall be for the instructional, transportation and maintenance program of the school and may not be privately used at any time.

"School vehicles will not be used for personal benefit."

The board renewed its contract with attorneys Schwartz & Eichelbaum, P.C.

After executive session, the board hired the following: Cara Keaton, third grade teacher; Cindy Mewhinney, High School history (one class period); and Joann Arnold, pre-Kindergarten aide (three hours per day).

Eagles to scrimmage Crawford on Aug. 29

by John Eubanks

The Salado Eagles' varsity football team defeated Franklin three touchdowns to two, in a scrimmage Aug. 22 at their place.

Salado's final scrimmage will be Aug. 29 at home against Crawford. The junior varsity will begin at 5 p.m., with the varsity to follow between 6 and 6:30.

It will be the Eagles' final tuneup before their season opener Sept. 5 at Riesel.

Coach Joe Mullins said he was pleased with the varsity's performance against Franklin. "They did a good job, hustled hard and played well," he said. "Going in, we really didn't know what to expect. We knew they (the kids) would be competitive."

Taylor Hutton scored twice for Salado, and Sergio Saucedo scored once. Running back John McLaughlin sprained his ankle, which will likely sideline him for the Crawford scrimmage, Mullins said.

Mullins singled out cornerback Joe Barron, noseguard John Woolard and end Tate Hunter for their play on defense.

The Eagles play a 5-2 defensive set (five lineman, two linebackers, along with four defensive backs) and are anchored in the middle by the 260-pound Woolard.

The offense, led by senior quarterback Paul Mashburn, will run a multiple set, which allows it to line up in a variety of formations, giving opposing defenses different looks.

"We're right on schedule," Mullins said. "We still have some things to put in (before the season opener). We're trying to get prepared for Riesel.

Our lineup's set, more or less." SUBVARSITY PLAY: Salado fielded a freshman team in the scrimmage against Franklin and won 1-0. The JV lost by the same score, but as Mullins said, "All levels got after it."

Salado will field a JV team against Crawford but no freshman team. There will be no freshman team during the regular season as well.

by John Eubanks

The inspiration behind Village Boutique on Main Street was due, in part, to a love affair.

"A long-time love relationship with Salado," said Sharlean Ledel, who owns the store with sister Yvonne Collins. "My sister and I wanted to do something together ... and guess what? We bought the shop from the previous owner."

Their family had been coming to Salado for 50 years, so they were certainly familiar with the surroundings. And the sisters were already offering their antiques at a couple of stores, including Heirlooms.

With their husbands semi-retired, the time was right to begin their venture.

On Jan. 1, 1994, they opened Village Boutique, located between The Village Potter and Pink Rose Tea House & Gift Shop.

Their experience in retail was admittedly limited. Sharlean was a para-legal for 23 years, while Yvonne and her husband had been in the food business for 40 years.

Sharlean did have her retail selling experience from high school and college to fall back on. And her mother was manager for 18 years of the boys' department at a Monning's Department Store in Fort Worth, a chain of locally-owned stores that have since closed.

It wasn't necessarily a dream of Sharlean's to own a business in Salado, as much as it was a desire. She simply "wanted to do something in Salado," she said.

And something unique as well. "What we try to do is have things that others don't have."

A ribbon-cutting was held prior to the Aug. 22 grand opening of Markie McTravel travel agency in Salado Plaza, next to Brookshire Bros. grocery. There were 125 people who attended. Prize winners from the drawing were Jean Brunson, who received Continental Airlines tickets for anywhere in the Continental U.S.; Jack Oliver, umbrella; Eldon Miller, Trafalger T-shirt; Mary Robertson, Princess T-shirt; John Eubanks, hotel playing cards; Barbara Lenis, bridge cards; and Tina Bolick, swim bag. Seniors should change their eating habits We've all seen the commercials on TV. As we age our nutritional needs change. In order to remain healthy and active we need to consume vitamin supplements, herbal remedies, and special shakes... or do we?

"It really depends on the individual," says Lorraine Reck, clinical nutrition manager at Scott & White Hospital in Temple. "In general people of all ages need to follow the food guide pyramid and eat a well-balanced variety of foods."

"The main purpose of those products is to supplement someone's diet who has a poor appetite, poor nutritional intake, unintentional weight loss, or maybe a chronic disease that is affecting their nutritional status. They may also serve as a meal replacement."

As a person ages, the body changes physiologically. Older adults need to adapt their eating habits accordingly. There are, however, a number of factors adversely affecting nutrition that are more common in seniors than in other age groups.

"Many older people live alone and, therefore, eat alone. It's harder to plan meals for just one person and decreased social contact may result in a decreased appetite. This means that people who live alone tend to have a lower nutritional intake than those who don't," Reck explains.

Chronic diseases prevalent among older adults include osteoporosis, high blood pressure, heart disease, cancers, gastrointestinal problems, and chronic undernutrition. Studies conducted by the Food and Drug Administration reveal that good nutrition later in life reduces both the risk of the diseases and their symptoms. For example, fulfilling daily calcium requirements at age 80 could deter further bone loss from osteoporosis.

Chronic or acute illnesses also may result in poor nutrition due to loss of appetite or drug-nutrient interactions.

"For example, some medications may reduce iron absorption. Consuming foods high in Vitamin C along with iron-rich foods improves absorption. Often something as simple as drinking a glass of orange juice when eating red meat will help. Anyone who has questions regarding a medication should ask their pharmacist at the time they have the prescription filled," says Reck.

Many health problems require special diets in addition to medication. For example, a low sodium diet for high blood pressure or a low fat diet for high cholesterol enhances the beneficial effects of medication prescribed for these conditions.

"Problems with dentures, teeth, or gums often cause difficulty chewing and swallowing. People may not consume fresh fruits and vegetables because they are more difficult to eat. These foods are significant sources of fiber, vitamins and minerals. By avoiding them, food intake is decreased and nutritional deficiencies may occur," Reck says.

As the baby boomers enter their fifties, numerous products targeting the nutritional problems of aging adults have appeared. Many of these products offer so-called miracle cures, but is there a risk in taking natural medicines?

"Currently there is no federal regulation of herbs and vitamin supplements, so there is a risk. A large amount of research is being conducted in the areas of vitamin supplements and natural medicines, so as time goes on we will learn more about them," Reck answers.

"In general it is more beneficial to eat foods that are high in vitamins than to substitute them with pills. The foods themselves are a better source for obtaining nutrients. There is no 'magic cure' to any disease or disorder so one should use caution when considering herbs and supplements," she continues.

Reck gives these tips to help older adults meet their changing nutritional needs:

- Anyone with nutritional concerns or health conditions should meet with a registered dietitian to work out a meal plan that fits their life-style and needs.

- Seniors living alone should have a group of friends to go out to eat with occasionally in order to avoid loneliness at meal times. Eating out is not off-limits for anyone, including older people, as long as they make their choices carefully.

- Convenience items such as frozen dinners offer food in small quantities. Look for those containing less than 500 milligrams of sodium and less than 10 grams of fat per meal.

- The Older Americans Act provides nutrition and other social services to older people in need. Meals-on-Wheels and congregate nutrition services ensure seniors receive at least one well-balanced meal per day. Meals-on-wheels administers meals to seniors limited by transportation, while congregate nutrition services offer meals at a local site so they have companionship during mealtimes.

- Decreased activity causes appetite and metabolic needs to decline. Eating three big meals every day might be overwhelming for some seniors. Five to six smaller, more frequent meals may be more realistic. Snacks such as fresh fruit and vegetables, popcorn, low fat cheese, low fat yogurt, ice milk, graham crackers, low fat cookies and crackers provide needed nutrients without excess fat and calories.

Coffee shop to open at Civic Square

The Gathering Place, a new gourmet coffee shop that the owner hopes will live up to its name, opens Aug. 30 at Salado Civic Square, 417 N. Main, next to the Civic Center.

Owner Dan Donaldson said the place will open at 6 a.m. each day and tentatively close at 9 p.m., although he said he would stay open until 10 p.m., depending on how many customers are still gathered there at the regular closing time.

The Gathering Place is located on the west side of Salado Civic Square, Salado's newest professional building which Donaldson also owns.

The L-shaped, two-story rock structure also houses a realtor (Properties by Larry Sands), an attorney (Ken Norman), an insurance agency (John Hall) and a builder (Wayne Stillwell). Donaldson has all but three of the nine offices filled, and those three have been spoken for.

Red Cross is recruiting volunteers

The Mid-Tex chapter of the American Red Cross is currently recruiting men and women over the age of 16, to perform volunteer disaster relief work within their own local communities.

"The Red Cross is seeking husband and wife teams, teenagers over the age of 16, as well as other individuals," according to Keith Green, Red Cross Assistant Station Manager and disaster relief coordinator.

Green said that last year, the local Red Cross chapter assisted 90 families, most of whom suffered the loss of their homes due to fires.

Those interested in the training should call the Red Cross, 800-497-4280 to register.

My name is Lady. I am a 3-year-old Huskie mix, complete with one blue and one brown eye. I'm white with a gray saddle and my fur is like a Shepherd. I skinned up my chest when my previous family pushed me out of the car door; but I'm fine now, healthy and had all my shots. I'm house broken and love people, especially when they scratch my ears and under my chin. If you would like to adopt me, please contact the Salado Humane Society at (254) 947-0918 or (254) 947-5288. If you can't adopt a new family member and would like to donate either cat or dog food, or give a cash donation, you may send it to: The Salado Humane Society, P.O. Stay alert & arrive alive

by Ilene C. Miller
Co. Ext. Agent

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration reports that 100,000 motor vehicle crashes each year are caused by drivers who fall asleep at the wheel, killing 1,500 people and injuring 71,000 more. Drowsy driving is America's silent killer. Sleepiness slows a driver's reaction time, decreases awareness and impairs judgement, much like alcohol and drugs do.

One explanation for this problem is that we cram so much into each day, and spend less time relaxing and getting sleep time. Most people feel sleepy during the afternoon between 2 and 5 p.m., and between midnight and 7 a.m. Not so coincidentally, those are the times when most drowsy-driver crashes occur.

The following is a list of danger signals of drowsy driving

- * Eyes close or go out of focus by themselves.
- * Can't stop yawning.
- * Trouble keeping your head up.
- * Have disconnected thoughts.
- * Don't remember the last few miles you've driven.
- * Drifting between lanes, tailgate or miss traffic signs.
- * Keep jerking the car back into the lane.
- * Have drifted off the road and narrowly missed crashing.

Here are some suggestions to help you keep alert behind the wheel:

1. Be rested ... get enough sleep the night before your trip.
2. Pick your time ... avoid driving during your body's downtime when sleep is almost irresistible.
3. Take a break ... schedule breaks every two hours or 100 miles. Be sure to walk or exercise before continuing your trip and talk with your passenger.
4. Make sure both people in the front of the car are awake. A driver who needs to rest should go to the back seat, buckle up, and sleep.
5. Pullover ... if you feel sleepy, pull off the road, find a safe, well-lighted place and sleep. A 15-20 minute nap can be highly restorative.

Most people know how dangerous drinking and driving is. Driving drowsy can be just as fatal as driving drunk. Drive Alert ... Arrive Alive.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, national origin or disability.

Regular exercise key to longevity

Regular exercise can deter the effects of aging according to John A. Schuchmann, M.D., Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation Specialist at Scott and White Clinic in Temple. Dr. Schuchmann practices what he preaches to his patients by riding his bicycle or running to work at least three days per week. Having turned 50 this year, he is eligible for and plans to participate in the Scott and White Senior Games which will be Sept. 22-28 in Temple. He hasn't decided whether he will enter the cycling, triathlon, or tennis events, however.

Anyone who is 50 years of age and who lives within a 100-mile radius of Temple may participate in 18 competitive sporting events: archery, badminton, basketball 3-on-3, bowling, cycling, golf, horse-shoes, race-walk, racquetball, road race, shuffleboard, softball, swimming, table tennis, tennis, track & field, triathlon, and volleyball.

In addition, those who have qualified in these competitive events at Texas Senior Games held throughout the state are invited to participate.

Any Senior may also participate in twelve recreational events including Basketball Free Throw, Basketball Around the World, billiards, bridge, checkers, creative writing, dancing, dominoes, 42, soccer, bocce, and washers.

"Regular exercise can be helpful in preventing a number of diseases such as heart disease, diabetes, and colon cancer, says Dr. Schuchmann, who is also an Associate Professor of Physical Medicine at Texas A&M University Health Science Center College of Medicine. "In addition, it helps control weight, hypertension, stress, anxiety."

As people age, their blood vessels become more rigid. Exercise can help control elevated blood pressure, decreasing the chances for heart disease and stroke. A recent study from the Journal of the American Medical Association shows that postmenopausal women can reduce their risk of premature death by 30% by exercising regularly.

Treble hooks makers promise to prevent fish loss with triple grip

by Keith R. Warren
Texas Angler

New designed treble hooks promise to prevent fish loss. That's what the folks from Mustad hooks are saying about their "triple grip" hook.

Any bass fishermen who has thrown a lure that has treble hooks has been frustrated over the amount of fish lost due to fish throwing the lure. There has been a problem, until now.

Unlike normal treble hooks where the hook point and shank are parallel, the triple grip hook point turns in towards the hook shank at a radical angle. This angle is what Mustad claims keeps the fish from throwing the lure.

Upon first glance, most fishermen question the ability of the hook to catch a fish at all. It appears that the bend in the hook is at such an angle that the fish can't get caught.

But touring bass tournament pros are finding great success with the triple grip. "Until now, you could expect to lose a high percentage of fish on treble hooked baits, but not anymore as long as you change your hooks to Mustad's triple grip," said tournament pro Denny Brauer.

Everyone I've talked to that has tried the "triple grip" hook has been so impressed that most of them are changing out all the old style hooks on their lures.

Mustad Hooks are available at Academy Sports & Outdoors and fine tackle retailers everywhere. For free product information, contact Mustad at 1/800-453-4540.

You can contact The Texas Angler at 830/625-3474 or P.O. Box 310601, New Braunfels, TX 78131-0601, or visit online at www.txang-hoa.com.

wide. Check your local listings for showtimes.

Texas Parks & Wildlife Area Fishing report for Aug. 13

Prepared by Chester Moore

Belton Lake: Water fairly clear; 84 degrees; black bass up to 4 pounds are fair to good on topwaters fished early and on small crank baits and Carolina-rigged worms fished in deep water; crappie are fair to good on minnows and small spinners fished around boat docks; catfish are fair on trotlines baited with liver and cut bait.

The Salado Lady Eagles varsity volleyball team won one of four games during the first week of the season Aug. 19-23.

Results of their home opener Aug. 26 against Granger were not available before this issue's press time.

The Lady Eagles began the season Aug. 19 with a 15-9, 15-6 road loss to Milano. Coach John Black said the team "had a bad passing day."

The JV fared better, beating Milano 15-12, 15-4, as Tessa Schreiner started the second game by serving 11 straight points.

At the Bartlett Tournament Aug. 23, the varsity opened with a 17-15, 15-12 win over Bynum.

With Salado down 12-3 in the first game, Lori Matthews served 10 straight points to give the Lady Eagles a 13-12 lead and the momentum for victory.

Kathy Matthews served up seven points in game two.

Black credited the team with good passing.

"Even when they were behind, they were together," he said, of his team. "They felt they could win."

Salado lost its second match of the tournament, 15-1, 15-2, to host team Bartlett. Black said the effort wasn't as bad as the score might indicate. "Bartlett had to work for its points," he said.

The Lady Eagles were trailing 12-2 in game one when Melissa Matthews sprained her ankle, which "messed up our chemistry and set the tone for the second game," Black said.

Salado then played Thorndale for third place, but lost 4-15, 15-9, 15-9. Game three was a "rally scoring game," where either team can score, whether serving or not. In that game, Salado gave up seven points on missed serves.

In the second game, Black said Sarah Summer and Kathy Matthews had good hitting games. Katie Punched scored seven points as the team hit and passed the ball well, Black said. Summer was named to the all-tournament team. "At this point, we're playing better team-wise than in the past," Black said. "I think the work they did in the summer paid off."

The freshmen played at a tournament in Academy Aug. 23. They opened pool play by beating Troy 15-4, 15-5, then split with Academy 3-15, 7-2 and split with Florence 5-11, 8-4.

Tara Donaldson was singled out for her play. Schreiner did a good job serving the ball.

DOWN THE ROAD: After hosting Granger Aug. 26, Salado will travel to Milano Sept. 2. Melissa Matthews is expected to be back for that game, after missing the Granger game because of an injured ankle.

Salado will then host Milano Sept. 9. District play starts Oct. 7 at home against Rogers.

The regular season concludes Oct. 28 at Academy.

from the Surgeon General, physical activity need not be of vigorous intensity for it to improve health. Health benefits appear to be proportional to the amount of activity; thus every increase in activity adds some benefit.

Emphasizing the amount rather than the intensity of physical activity offers more options for people to select from in incorporating physical activity into their daily lives. A moderate amount of activity can be obtained in a 30-minute brisk walk, 30 minutes of lawn mowing or raking leaves, a 15-minute run, or 45 minutes of playing volleyball. These activities can be varied from day to day.

"The Surgeon General's report is great news for those of us who are aging," says Dr. Schuchmann, "because we can participate in activities that are appropriate for our physiological condition. We need to consider and differentiate chronological aging from physiological aging."

Records in various sports like running, swimming, cycling, and weight training indicate that people hit their physical peak during their late 20s and early 30s.

Generally, people can expect a 20-30 percent decrease in cardiac output by age 65, a 30-50 percent decrease in respiratory capacity by age 70, a 20 percent loss in muscle mass and strength by age 65, a 1 percent loss in bone mass every year after age 35, and a 10-15 percent loss in nerve conduction by age 60.

Then, is life all downhill when you're "over the hill?"

"Consider these examples," suggests Dr. Schuchmann. "At age 73, Paul Reese ran across America in 124 days running a marathon a day. At 100, George Bakewen was playing on a softball team in Florida, Hulda Crooks climbed Mt. Whitney for the 23rd time at age 91. 'Banana' George Blair at age 77 was water skiing barefoot at Cypress Gardens."

"Exercise can have a very important role to play throughout one's life span including the senior years. Although not the 'fountain of youth,' exercise can help delay and modify some of the negative physical effects associated with the 'normal' aging process.

"The secret to long life is proper ancestor selection, good fortune, and living a healthy lifestyle," adds Dr. Schuchmann. "You can't do much about the first two factors, but you can do something about the third one."

Dr. Schuchmann has this advice for senior athletes:

* If you now have an exercise routine, keep it up. Many of the beneficial effects of exercise training diminish within two weeks if physical activity is substantially reduced, and effects disappear within two to eight months if physical activity is not resumed.

* If you are beginning an exercise program, get a physical exam with special attention to the cardiovascular and musculoskeletal systems. Start slowly, increasing the endurance and intensity at a comfortable level. The terrible too's - too much, too soon, too fast and too hard - often lead to injuries.

* Everyone should warm-up by beginning the exercise session slowly and cool down with stretching exercises.

* One should not play a sport to get into shape; rather one should get into shape to play a sport.

1st Convenience Bank opens in Albertson's

First Convenience Bank is now open inside the Albertson's grocery store at I-35 and West Adams in Temple.

The bank will hold a grand opening at 10 a.m. Aug. 27.

Switzer L. Deason, bank president, offered the following reasons to bank there:

-- Convenience. Bank where and when you shop at Albertsons.

-- Convenience. "We're open when you need us -- 88 hours a week! Twice as long as other banks, 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Sunday," he said.

-- Convenience. More convenience ATMs than any other bank ... more in Temple, more in Belton, more in Bell County -- 120 ATMs in Central Texas and over 400 ATMs statewide. "Our ATMs are free to our customers -- just look for our GOLD KEY signs," he said.

-- Savings. Auto loans as low as 6.9 percent APR. One penny opens any account. Open a checking account before Sept. 30 and receive a $10 Albertsons Gift Certificate. (Receive new checks free when you bring in your old ones to open an account). Age-Plus CDs allow you to add your age to the rate. CDs start at $100 and you can add on for just $25. Personal loans start at $50. There's also Western Union money transfers.

-- Prizes! Register for a free trip for two worth $1,000 to Las Vegas, Cancun, New Orleans, Branson, San Francisco or Nashville (plus two Albertsons shopping sprees).

"Our banking services are first in convenience and service. You won't find better anywhere," Deason said.

"We are reinventing banking in the Temple area by offering seven day banking. We're here 88 hours a week to serve the hard-working people of Bell County with banking convenience."

First Convenience Bank is truly a full service banking center with the ability to make local decisions benefitting the Temple community, he added.

THE HOMEPLACE

Nestled on a tree-covered knoll in Salado's Historical District, THE HOMEPLACE represent the much sought-after lifestyle of yesteryear. A winding lane meanders around large live oaks to a dry creek crossing. Its character reflects a day in history where people shared time together on front porches. Only a short walk away is excellent shopping, art galleries and dining, giving a reflection of Salado's past.

THE HOMEPLACE will reflect proportions, detailing and simplicity of true classical architectural styles. "Something old, something new" literally comes to life as treasures from historic homes are blended in harmony with new construction. The best of yesterday . . . built better today.
