Ernesto Cortes, Jr.

Cortes, Jr. to discuss social fabric

Ernesto Cortes Jr., one of the nation's most outstanding community organizers, will make two presentations in Salado, Oct. 31 and Nov. 1.

On Oct. 31, Cortes will lead a seminar in the Halley House on Main Street, 10 a.m. -3:30 p.m., on "Reweaving the Social Fabric." On Nov. 1, he will speak at 4 p.m. at Mill Creek on "Education, Engagement, and the Civil Society." His lecture will be followed by discussion. The programs are sponsored by the Institute for the Humanities at Salado.

Cortes is the third speaker in a series of four weekend programs this fall exploring the theme of "The Humane Imagination." The series began Oct. 3-4 with Hollywood writer and film producer Patrick Duncan. The second speaker was poet and educator Pat Mora who was in Salado Oct. 17-18.

Cortes is the Southwest regional director of the Industrial Areas Foundation. This past year he served as the Martin Luther King, Jr. visiting professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Cortes has built and continues to supervise community-based organizations in Texas, Arizona, New Mexico, Louisiana, Nebraska, and the United Kingdom. He assists working people, especially the economically poor, to develop the capacity to effectively act in public life. His grass-roots approach has improved inner-city schools.

Cortes has received numerous awards for his community work that now spans three decades. In 1997 he received the George I. Sanchez Memorial Award for human and civil rights from the National Education Association. This past March he received the $250,000 Sen. John Heinz Award, one of four Americans that were honored for civic and academic achievements at a White House ceremony.

His work has been highlighted in the book and PBS series, "A World of Ideas" by Bill Moyers. "Cold Anger: A Story of Faith and Power Politics," by Mary Beth Rogers, provides a history of the Industrial Areas Foundation and Cortes's development as a nationally recognized community leader.

The Institute for the Humanities at Salado is a non-profit educational institution dedicated to serving the general public. The fall series is supported by the Joe & Louise Cook Foundation, the Frank W. Mayborn Foundation, Bernard and Audre Rapoport, the Houston Endowment, Catto Charitable Foundation, and the Texas Council for the Humanities.

For additional information and reservations, contact the Institute at (254) 947-5729.

Safe, fun Halloween activities offered to area children

Salado children will have safe and fun activities this Halloween.

Brookshire Brothers #69 invites children under age 10 to its Halloween Boo Bash beginning at 1 p.m. Oct. 31 at the grocery store in Salado Plaza.

There will be a pumpkin decorating contest. Bring your decorated pumpkin to the grocery store to be judged.

There will also be a costume contest, scary screaming contest and a guess the number of candy corns in the jar contest.

The Boo Bash will also have lots of treats and prizes for the kids.

Children are also invited to come to the Salado Civic Center 10 a.m.-noon Oct. 31 for face painting on the front porch.

The Salado Public Library will sponsor the face painting and treats with no tricks.

Join the Village Artists as they share their talents for the delight of our children.

The Temple College annual Halloween Carnival for young children will be held 4-8 p.m. Oct. 31 at the Arnold Student Union Building on the TC campus.

The indoor carnival will

Salado FFA sponsors Big Buck contest

The Salado Future Farmers of America Chapter is sponsoring a Big Buck Contest this deer season. The deadline to enter the contest is Nov. 1, so area hunters should respond quickly. Entry fee is $10 for the open division, which is open to all Texas residents. Only white-tailed bucks legally taken in Texas will be eligible.

For official entry submission and scoring, a valid Texas driver's license or other proof of Texas residency must be submitted along with a color picture of the deer. Pictures will not be returned.

The head and horns must be submitted for official scoring to the Ag Science Department of Salado High School by Jan. 8, 1999. All local, state and federal laws, bag limits and regulations will be followed. Disqualification and forfeiture of entry fee will result from the abuse of any an all laws.

Prizes will be awarded at the Jan. 11, 1999 Salado FFA meeting. All antlers and heads will be returned to the rightful owners. All judges decisions will be final.

The following prizes will be awarded: First Place, Remington model 700 .243 Rifle with a 22" barrel; Second Prize: 1999 membership at Solana Ranch for Dove Hunting; Third Place: $100 Gift Certificate from Peacock Archery; and Fourth Pocket Knives set.

Corporate sponsors of the Big Buck Contest are these: Bob Duran, Wal-Mart Distribution; Solana Ranch; Bell Pawn; Peacock Archery; Outlaw, Inc.

For more information, contact SHS Ag Dept. at 947-5429. Adjacent is an entry form, which must be submitted by Nov. 1.

An Open Exchange of Ideas

Other nutty ideas offered to make airways safe for all

The Transportation Department in its finite wisdom has decreed that airlines provide a peanut-free zone on flights which might carry persons who suffer from allergies to peanut dust. The recent decision by the Transportation Department came about because of a handful of cases last year of allergic reactions to the particles emitted by peanuts.

If ever there was an example of bloated, wasteful big government, it was the peanut controversy. Leave it up to liberals to twist a decent idea, such as respect for others, into something which is unrecognizable and silly.

Besides being misguided, the Transportation guys are wasting valuable time and materials trying to stamp out the plethora of peanut particles hampering the enjoyment of flying.

If the transportation department really cared, it would solve these problems in air-traffic:

- Crying babies.
- People who take off their shoes during the flight....much more offensive than peanuts.
- People who take everything they own onto the flight, crushing my smaller, better-packed carry-on (which meets industry standards).
- Individuals who tell you their life stories in the three hours of your flight, never letting you get a word in edgewise about your own very important life story.
- People who won't listen to your important life story during the three hour flight.
- People who say that their cousin Thelma Reynolds lives in Austin, after learning that you're from Texas. You're chances of knowing Cousin Thelma are less than winning the lottery or being struck twice by lightning.

Digressions

Tim Fleischer

- People who ask, "If you're not going to eat that, I'd like it," referring to the soggy sandwich and pickle served as a "meal" on longer flights.

- People with small bladders who do not insist on an aisle seat, but instead crawl over you six times during the flight.

- People who snore.

Now, I do not propose that flights ban these people, because that would be downright socialistic and un-American.

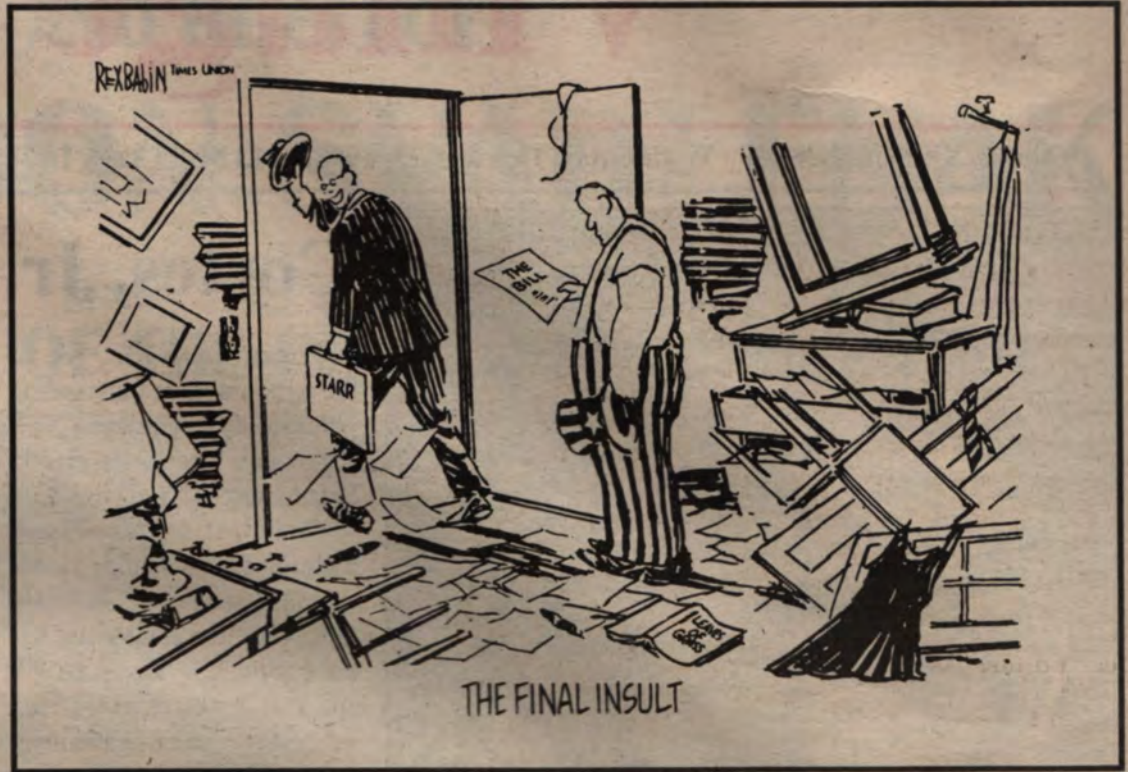

Rather, certain sections of a plane could be set aside to put these folks into the correct groups. On the wings perhaps.

For example, people who take off their shoes during the flight could be grouped with the folks with advanced appetites.

Crying babies could be placed with those who carry on too much luggage, a fitting punishment.

And those who tell their life stories to anyone near them could be grouped with those who don't want to hear about it.

If the Transportation addressed these issues, it would restore our faith in democracy, Americans would return to the polls in record numbers, just and good men would be elected to office, there would be a chicken in every pot and all would be well.

Power co.'s push for deregulation, even though it's bad for customer

It would appear that the legislatively divisive matter of deregulating our electric utilities is already underway, even if Texas lawmakers are months away from their 76th session kickoff.

Power companies have donated over $600,000 to candidates, mostly Republicans, thus far in the current campaign, with more available in the final days leading up to the November 3, general election, primarily to get lawmaking friends elected and in place by January, 1999.

Interestingly and on point, is an in-depth and highly confidential survey currently being taken by a major research company located near Dallas, that is asking Texas commercial energy consumers statewide, some pointed questions about the current level of service and efficiency that power companies are providing under the present regulated system here in the Lone Star State.

The most surprising item arising from the survey is the section asking respondents if they would consider using any one of a number of off-the-wall candidates who are apparently thinking of getting into the Texas power delivery system, should deregulation pass muster by legislators and be signed into law by the governor.

The potential energy hopefuls, that were named in the survey, amazingly included a number of major national banks, several credit card giants, three national telephone systems and the nation's largest computer manufacturer.

WAL-MART ELECTRIC?

The additional shocker in the list, was the discovery that Wal-Mart was apparently interested in being a power broker/provider!

What apparently is in the making, should deregulation come to pass, is the formation of large inexperienced, non-utility money-grubbers, hoping to enter the lucrative business of buying and selling electricity to statewide customers.

A dangerous concept since selling power is more than just moving electricity along in-place lines. There is the matter of emergency service, customer relations and local day-to-day assistance-expansion from local offices.

Many of these items, incidentally, have been purposely downgraded by most power companies as they seek higher returns on each investment dollar.

DEREGULATION NOT PANACEA

Deregulation rarely, if ever, brings down prices or provides additional customer services in any industry freed from the tentacles of government control. This despite the fact that cheaper prices and more direct customer satisfaction are the siren calls luring lawmakers and citizens towards deregulation.

Two examples of this complaint can be found in the deregulation of the telephone industry and the airlines. The minute the phones were released from their controlled semi-monopolistic status, havoc reigned supreme and now, years later, we find no reduction in undecipherable phone bills plus a mishmash of long distance fees and promotions that allow little time for eating supper thanks to solicitors gnawing away at our patience.

And if you think the airline industry has gone anywhere but downhill, since they were released from certain rules and regulations, just try your hand at a long air trip that has all the fun of a cattle-car ride.

High prices and low service levels are the current "de rigueur" of today's providers of services created by such simplistic buzz words, so popular among conservatives, as "Getting 'gumint' off the backs of business through deregulation" and the more recently misbegotten Frankenstein monsters: "Consolidation and Merger"!

MERGER MADNESS

Banks are excellent examples of the latter. Huge financial institutions are being created with corporate head-

Letters to the editor

To the Editor:

I want to thank everyone involved in Friends Feeding Friends this year. As Director of the Salado Food Pantry, I was thrilled to see three pickup truck full of food back up to the pantry door! This was at least double what it was last year.

Special thanks to Melanie Kirchmeier of Century 21 for all her efforts. Also to Salado school students and staff, Britt Owens, FFA and Brookshire Brothers. The entire community should be commended. The clients of the pantry will sure be blessed by your giving.

Cathy Coe, Director

Dear Editor:

I wish your newspaper was a paid-circulation publication so I could cancel my subscription. For certain, I will never again advertise in it. And I will share my feelings with my friends, family and anyone else who will listen. I know you won't print this letter, but I guess that's the prerogative of a monopoly-owner. In fact, I doubt you will even have the courtesy to reply.

Your "digression" article is totally disgusting. Just who do you think you are? Do you have the right to tell the citizens of Salado how to live their lives? How long have you lived here yourself?

This is a town, Mr. Fleischer, and people LIVE here. This is not a tourist attraction, not a Disneyland, not an amusement park made to look like a quaint village. People live here. People grew up here. People have yard sales. If the businesses of Salado take offense to people living normal lives here, then I suggest they open their businesses in a place where people don't live. I doubt this is the case.

I noticed your wife wrote the Christmas in October article, so she's probably an auxiliary member. Does she think these garage sales and puppy sales took away some of their business? Or are we just trashing up Main Street for all the important tourists who came to their event? Why is it more important to keep Main Street "clean" during this event than any normal Saturday? Personally, I attended the Christmas in October event and enjoyed it very much. I saw many attendees stopping at the yard sales and shops, too; no one appeared annoyed or disgusted like you were.

One final point: As you sit atop your moral high horse, I wonder how you rationalize your own business. You take money for any ad that anyone wants to run. In fact, you run many, many ads for garage sales on Main Street and elsewhere. You run the scam ads from Texcap. Don't you think this might tarnish your image, or that of this quaint village? Or is this a different since it's YOUR living????? Shame on you and shame on your little newspaper.

Sincerely and disgusted,
Michele Fuller

A Saladoan

Dear Editor:

We applaud your article in Wednesday's paper about the horrendous flea market/carnival atmosphere we viewed during Christmas in October weekend. As we drove up Van Bibber and turned onto Main Street, we were appalled at the site of junky yard sales and puppies for sale. It destroyed everything we have loved about Salado. In the past six years, we have glowed at the mention of our new hometown here in Salado. Friends have come from all over Texas and the U.S. We have often laughed about our popularity growing since moving here and friends anxious to come to visit our charming town. We have also encouraged friends to buy property here for retirement.

We are business owners here, but fortunately not shop keepers. For the shop keepers have invested so much into their buildings and merchandise to follow through with the historic treasures we have here in Salado. As they opened their shops a few weekends ago and viewed the carnival-style atmosphere, they must have cringed. Yes, it will hurt their business, Mr. Fleischer. These street vendors have invested nothing in our town and are only an eyesore compared to what we have all worked towards.

We also feel passionate about the creek. In the middle of summer, when some locals are only saying, "we just need a good rain to clean out the creek," we should all roll up our sleeves and have a Clean Up the Creek Day. I could imagine that it could be quite fun for families to come out and enjoy the cool waters of the creek in an effort to clean it up. The creek that runs through the Main Street area is the town's most valuable asset. As we used to drive up and down I-35 the past 25 years, we have always been in awe of the beauty and ambiance of the creek as we have observed children laughing and playing in its cool, clean waters. It reminded us both of our childhoods, when we played in a creek near our home all summer long. We would like to recommend that a fund be established to assist in the costs of keeping the creek clean and clear. This fund could be set up through the Village Voice. There will be some expense as to the need of clearing smudge and buildup at various points where the creek has small dams. Mainly it will take a quarters located hundreds of miles from customers, complete with computer driven telephone answering devices; ATM machines taking the place of branch offices that once housed humans rather than talking machines plus higher customer costs associated with all phases of day to day banking - including some institutions that charge a fee to make a deposit (if you can believe that horror)!

With such mergers comes the reduction in the number of employees and the decline in personal services. And why? Simple. These items cost money and take away from profit's bottom line.

All of this deregulation and merger mania calls to mind - once again - the dismal rallying credo of early day's businesses in this country led by one of the nation's leading 19th century unregulated entrepreneurs - William Henry Vanderbilt - who, when asked about the effect high prices and nonexistent services had on his railroad customers, clearly stated: "The public be damned!".

This and other unholy profit-driven philosophies led eventually to government control through formation of the antitrust laws as well as the interstate commerce commission and other entities set up to protect consumers.

We are now at the point where we are attempting to reverse government oversight control and return to the days of unregulated commerce with what promises to be a happy day for investors at the expense of the rest of us.

WHY THE TV OVERKILL?

Question going round as we enter the final lap of this year's races for high state offices here in Texas, is why Governor George Bush is spending so much of his campaign funds on TV when he is close to racking up an unprecedented percentage of winning votes?

George the Younger, say the pundits in Austin, could easily coast to victory with a few select television promotions; couple of print ads plus a few campaign visits that promote free exposure on local stations - radio and TV. Thus saving plenty of bucks from his multimillion dollar treasure chest.

Right now, Bush is at least 50 points ahead of Garry Mauro, so why the over-kill?

Some say part of the strategy is to run up such a high score that a year or less down the road, the popular Republican Governor will have an easier time securing his party's presidential nomination.

Could be true, but the one thing we have not seen in all this is how Bush will handle himself in the big media leagues. It is one thing to go up against a hapless Mauro, but quite another to tangle with such meanies as Steve Forbes, Danny-boy Quayle or California's Pete Wilson, to mention but a few.

joint effort from us all. The responsibility is not just to the shop keepers near the creek; the responsibility falls on every citizen of our community. It is what drew all of us here to Salado, right? Who of you will be brave enough to step forward and support this effort?

Salado

Dear Editor,

This is in response to your editorial in the October 21, 1998 paper entitled, "We've Come To This Salado?" In my humble opinion, Salado should be for everyone - not just tourists. Also, not everyone lives in Mill Creek and Main Street is not the only street in Salado.

I personally find nothing wrong with people who wish to have a yard sale on their private property whenever they desire. I myself enjoy going to yard sales as well as shopping Main Street. Would you deny me the privilege of doing either whenever the opportunity arises? Next thing you know, the people who live here and pay taxes will be asked to please not use Main Street when there is some event going on. Don't you think that some of the tourists might also like to attend a yard sale - who knows, they just might find a treasure that will be in their memories always that they found in Salado!

And speaking of treasures, four of the things I treasure most are dogs. While I haven't bought a puppy on Main Street and don't know if the vendor was the same one I saw there a few years ago, I do have a very fond memory of stopping by that same corner and playing with some beautiful Cocker Spaniel puppies. That brought back so many memories of when my own Cockers were puppies. And what a setting it was! On a carpet of green grass, under a beautiful big tree - not in some awful pet store, flea market or on some hot parking lot. I also remember the smiles on the tourists faces and their children's squeals of delight. Now you can't tell me that isn't a memory they will take home with them!

Your editorial mentioned the selling of advertising to shops and restaurants, etc. Do you not sell advertising for yard sales? Have you never sold advertising for a yard sale on Main Street? During an "event"? If you have, then you are talking out of both sides of your mouth.

You seem to think we are losing class. While your concern seems to be mostly with Main Street - remember that it is not the only street in town. How about suggesting that some of the vacant lots in town be cleaned up? (Both east and west of the interstate). There are even some of the shops in particular that could stand to clean their porch off of "stuff". The items I am talking about have been left out there for months in all kinds of weather, (making it look like a continuous yard sale and this shop is on Main Street). Also, some of the wooden signs on buildings are so faded, the tourists probably can't even read them.

As for cleaning up Main Street, how about after the Christmas Stroll when the paper sacks from the luminaries are left for days? How about during the Christmas season when some of the lighting goes out (on the bridge, in particular?) Isn't there anyone who could make sure that all lights remain burning for the entire season? How about after Christmas when the Christmas lights have been left up til February? To me this shows a complete disregard for the spirit of the season.

The creek has been in bad need of cleaning in the past years. I have noticed that the weeds along Main Street bridge have usually been left to flourish until August when they are cleaned away just in time for the Art Fair (and its visitors). Don't the citizens of Salado who cross that bridge on a daily basis deserve a beautiful scene? I have noticed in the past year that one merchant has done a lot of landscaping down to the water and has kept the area clean. I applaud them. In closing, I have this one thought - must everything have a dollar sign attached to it? Or do you spell this wonderful village Salado?

Radical Harvest "In the Light" will be held at the Salado Elementary Cafeteria starting at 7pm Oct. 31 sponsored by Grace Baptist Church. Admission is free, but donations are appreciated. A love offering will also be taken to help benefit the ministries involved.

This year's line up of music includes three groups. The first group on stage is Balaam's Ride. Led by Jordan Johnson, lead singer, these guys are sure to set a wonderful tone for worship. The second group, Hearts of Fire, is performing for the second year in a row. Their music is a mix of Christian Southern Rock, and Christian Blues. The headliner is two fish. Their acoustic rock style features many praise songs as well as originals. All three of these groups will definitely touch your heart.

There will also be entertainment between bands, as well as a costume contest so come decked out. (Please, no monsters, demons, skulls, devils, or anything that would detract from the worship, organizers request).

"This marks the third year in a row that Grace Baptist Church of Salado is reaching out to young people on Halloween." stated Jeremy E. Wentreck, Minister of Youth, Grace Baptist Church. "Oct. 31st is usually regarded as a night filled with ghosts and goblins, surrounded by darkness. God has given us the vision to change that." 1 John 1:5-7 says "This is the message we have heard from him and declare to you: God is light; in him there is no darkness at all. If we claim to have fellowship with him yet walk in the darkness, we lie and do not live by the truth. But if we walk in the light as he is in the light, we have fellowship with one another, and the blood of Jesus, his son, purifies us from all sin." Wentreck continues by saying, "As followers of Christ we are to live in the light. Everything should be in view. Darkness has absolutely no place in our hearts, hence the theme, "In the Light." This night as well, as the other 364, should be an evening in which we glorify the name of Jesus, and celebrate the majesty in which He reigns. Radical harvest was created to do just that. Give people young and old an alternative to Halloween, where they can worship God in a way that has no boundaries".

Graveside services held Oct. 24 for LTC Earle "Jack" Westlake

Earle "Jack" Westlake, LTC (Ret.), 67, of Harker Heights, passed away Oct. 21 in a Temple Hospital.

Mr. Westlake was born on July 10, 1931 in Elko, Nev. to Edward Alfred and Virginia Juanita Westlake. He married Shelvia Faye Barfield on Oct. 17, 1958. He attended the University of Virginia until he was drafted into the Army in 1954. He retired from the U.S. Army in 1973, serving in the Vietnam and Korean Wars. He was later employed as a Flight Simulator Instructor for Civil Service at Fort Hood. His military decorations are as follows: National Defense Service Medal with oak leaf cluster, Good Conduct Medal, Parachute Badge, Master Army Aviator Badge, Army Occupation Medal (Berlin), Armed Forces Reserve Medal, Vietnam Service Medal, Vietnam Campaign Medal, Air Medal (7th Award), Bronze Star Medal, Four O/S Bars, Meritorious Service Medal.

A graveside service was held Oct. 24 at Killeen Memorial Park with Military Honors. His body was cremated.

He is survived by his wife, Shelvia F. Westlake of Harker Heights; daughter, Kimberly Ann Grimm of Salado; son, Ted Westlake of San Angelo.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests that memorials be made to the Second Chance Animal Clinic, 147-B Clear Creek Road, Killeen, Texas 16542.

Heritage Funeral Home of Harker Heights is in charge of arrangements.

Senior luncheon, games set Nov. 12 at Salado UMC

A Brief Visit With Pastor J. Floyd Franks

The Bible says that we are to assemble ourselves together (Hebrews 10:25a).

Let me tell you why I quit attending athletic events:

1. Every time I went they asked me for money.
2. The seats were hard and uncomfortable.
3. The coach never came to visit me.
4. The referee made a decision with which I could not agree.
5. I was sitting with hypocrites who came only to see what others were wearing.
6. Some games went into overtime and I was late getting home.
7. The band played some numbers I didn't like.
8. My parents made me go to too many games when I was growing up.
9. I don't want to take my children because I want them to choose for themselves what sport they like best.

P.S. If some of these excuses sound vaguely familiar as to why you don't attend church, that was my intention.

Annual Fall Fashion Extravaganza and Luncheon Nov. 7 at Salado Civic Center

The Third Annual Fall Fashion Extravaganza and Luncheon will take place at the Salado Civic Center Nov. 7.

The benefit show will feature a delightful luncheon with exciting fashions presented by Cio...A Unique Ladies Boutique of Salado. Fall, holiday fashions and accessories will light up the runway. Cio will donate a percentage of purchases Nov. 8-9 to the Garden Guild. "We are delighted to present the show for the Garden Guild. They are doing a magnificent job of landscaping the church grounds and we are happy to assist their efforts with a benefit fashion show," stated Virginia C. Cospers, co-owner of Cio.

The Salado Methodist Church has been restored and the Garden Guild has undertaken the beautification of the church grounds. They have researched the type of plants that would have been used in the 1800's when the church was built. Much time and effort has been put into the beautification project.

Tickets are $10 per person and seating is limited to the first 100 guests. Tickets must be purchased in advance and they are available at Cio #3 Salado Square on Main Street in Salado or from all of the Garden Guild members. A drawing will be held at the show and drawing tickets are also available. "The prizes are spectacular this year. Our designers have been very gracious and generous. When they heard about the projects the Garden Guild has planned, they were anxious to help with wonderful prizes," stated Cospers. Double D has donated a beautiful henna Holy One Jacket - value $249. Sharon Young has donated an exquisite sweater and skirt ensemble from their Black Forest Collection - $270 value, and Brighton has donated a wonderful Maria Camera Handbag (new from their Holiday Collection) - value $125. Cio...A Unique Ladies Boutique has donated a $100 Gift Certificate. Drawing tickets are also available from Cio and you do not have to be present to win.

ing hard and fast and then your heart stops. You're dead, and nobody knows."

Dr. Alexander will address students in grades 5-8 at 8:30 a.m. At 9:30 a.m., he will speak to high school students.

Parents and community members are encouraged to attend one of his talks in the Salado High School gym.

Local churches are sponsoring this event.

ER doctor to tell Saladoans about drug abuse

An emergency room physician will speak about the consequences of drug abuse when he addresses Salado students 8:30-10:30 a.m. Nov. 6.

Dr. Larry Alexander is an emergency room physician with the Baylor School of Medicine in Dallas.

He has spent most of his free time educating youths in the Dallas/Ft. Worth area on the fearsome dangers of drug abuse.

People die of heroin overdoses usually die in their own vomit, he tells kids in order to wake them up to the seductive danger of heroin.

Heroin makes users seek solitude, and they often die alone when they overdose. "Your brain is still thinking, but you're so groggy, you're not able to talk," he was quoted in the Dallas Morning News in June. "Nobody saw you vomit. Then you feel your heart beat-

SUMC to change Sunday a.m. worship time

The Salado United Methodist Church will change its Sunday morning worship time beginning Nov. 1. The early morning worship service will begin at 8:30 a.m., rather than at 9 a.m. beginning this week.

The change in time will allow a break between the early service and Sunday School classes for fellowship time.

Refreshments will be served 9:30-10 a.m. with Sunday School following at 10 a.m.

and the second worship service at 11 a.m.

Earlier in the month, the Salado United Methodist Church added a third worship service at 5:30 p.m. each Sunday.

Salado ladies invited to Monday Club Nov. 2 at SUMC

The Monday Club will meet 2 p.m. Nov. 2 at Salado United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall. Hostesses are Sadie Holland and Wilma Hall.

Arlene Dewhurst will bring the devotional and will present a program on the Biltmore Castle in Asheville, North Carolina.

The Nominating Committee will present the slate of proposed officers for 1999.

Ladies of Salado are invited to attend the meeting.

Salado Youth Fair Boosters are now selling tickets for the Nov. 14 reverse raffle at the Bell County Expo Center Special Events Room. The reverse raffle is the group's main fundraiser to purchase projects of Salado students sold at the Bell County Youth Fair and Auction.

The top three prizes in the reverse raffle are $5,000 in travel vouchers for top prize; $2,500 in travel vouchers for second prize and $500 in travel vouchers for third prize. But these prizes do not go to the first names pulled from the pot.

Rather than the first ticket pulled being the winner of the grand prize, all tickets are pulled with the last remaining ticket being the winner; hence the name reverse raffle. A maximum of 200 tickets is sold for the event. Prizes are drawn throughout the evening donated by area businesses and individuals until the final 10 tickets are left.

A ticket holder may auction their ticket at any time during the drawings. In past years, tickets have brought $500 and more, with the Youth Fair Boosters receiving a portion of the sale.

Also, this year, if your ticket is drawn from the pot, you can buy your way back in for just $5, but this is done only once.

The Youth Fair Boosters reserve one of the final 10 tickets, which will be auctioned off before the last 10 contenders are brought forward and their tickets drawn one at a time. During this time, each ticket holder is given a chance to sell their lot to the highest bidder with the Youth Fair Boosters receiving a portion of the sale price.

These events generate lots of fun and excitement for the participants as tickets are drawn and the crowd has the chance to bid on the few remaining tickets being offered.

"The Youth Fair Booster Club has always been fortunate to have some great supporters who come out and make this event a success and a great time as they bid for the last remaining tickets and a chance at the first place prize," said Booster member Carol Fleck.

Tickets will admit two for the evening with catered Barbecue Dinner, cash bar and dancing after the raffle. Tickets are available to those 21 years and older.

All Youth Fair Booster Club members have tickets for sale, as well as 4-H and FFA leaders. Tickets will also be available at the last varsity Eagles home football game 7:30 p.m. Oct. 30.

Call Carol Fleck at 947-8988 to order your tickets.

Christmas Raffle Dec. 16 to benefit SYA

A Christmas Raffle benefiting the Salado Youth Association will be held until Dec. 15. Prizes are being donated by Billy Pipes, a winner in the annual Duck Race held Oct. 3. He has donated all the prizes he won during the Duck Race to the Salado Youth Association.

The prizes consist of a Sterling gas grill, a Mill Creek County Club golf package, a dining gift certificate from Inn on the Creek, three Salado Mansion dining gift certificates and an American Eagle Dollar Proof set.

Tickets will be $1 each, six for $5 and can be bought from soccer coaches and at the concession stand during soccer games.

The drawing will be held during the 6:30 p.m. Dec. 16 meeting of the SYA board of directors.

You need not be present to win.

The SYA is a nonprofit organization and all proceeds will go towards the expansion and maintenance of Salado's Field of Dreams.

Crime fighting grants given to Bell County police depts.

U.S. Rep. Chet Edwards announced Oct. 24 that $269,087 in crime fighting funds will be going directly to Bell County police departments. Rep. Edwards announced that a total of $759,460 will be distributed to police departments within the 11th Congressional District.

The amounts granted to the Bell County police departments are these: Bell County, $44,528; Killeen, $125,503; Temple, $99,056.

Other police departments to receive funds include the following: Bellmead, $34,340; Copperas Cove, $22,527; Marlin, $23,625; Rockdale, $11,154; Waco, $405,139; Hill County, $20,200; and McLennan County, $17,916.

All departments except Bell County will use the funds to purchase a variety of equipment and technology. Bell County's grant will assist in hiring additional officers.

"I am pleased to see these departments receive these important crime fighting grants," Edwards said. "This is good news for law enforcement and bad news for criminals in and around Congressional District 11."

The grants are made available through the Local Law Enforcement Black Grant (LLEBG) program. The program is administered by the Bureau of Justice Assistance, a component of the Justice Department's Office of Justice Programs. The grants are being distributed using a formula based on violent crime data the FBI has collected from the states and localities covering the three most recent years' data was compiled.

Salado's the site of 37th Annual Scottish Games & Gathering of the Clans Nov. 13-15

Salado will come alive this fall with the color and sounds of the 37th Annual Scottish Games and Gathering of the Clans Nov. 13-15.

Friday

All-day registration begins at 9 a.m. Nov. 13 at the registration desk in front of the Central Texas Area Museum on Main Street, across from the Stagecoach Inn Restaurant.

Also at 9 a.m. that day is the tee-off for the John Ambrose Jr. Memorial Scottish Scramble at Salado's Mill Creek Country Club. The fee is $65.

From 9 a.m.-4 p.m. that day, Scottish vendors will be stationed at Scots Hall of the Clans and College Hill, ready to greet visitors. A genealogy workshop will be held 10 a.m.-3 p.m. in the Longhorn Room of Stagecoach Inn. The fee is $25.

As the day progresses, pipers, drummers and dancers will gather at the Village Green along Salado Creek near the Main Street bridge.

Capping the day's festivities will be a Fingertip Supper in the Longhorn Room beginning at 6 p.m. Cost is $10.50.

Reservations are required and can be made by calling the Central Texas Area Museum at (254) 947-5232.

Saturday

Separate piping and drumming contests will be held at College Hill, while the Highland Dance Contest will be held at the Village Green, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Nov. 14.

The Wee Scots Shop and Scottish vendors will be operating out of the Scots Hall of the Clans as well as College Hill.

Those whose souls are stirred by the sounds of bagpipes and drums will want to attend the Ceilidh at 3 p.m. at the Salado High gymnasium.

The host band is from St. Thomas Episcopal School in Houston.

At around dusk at 5:30 p.m. on College Hill begins the Tattoo, which features a battle of the (pipe and drum) bands, along with dancers and individual singers.

Following the Tattoo, the Tartan Ball will be held that evening in the Longhorn Room, a more formal occasion featuring dining and dancing that ends at midnight.

During this time, judges from the various weekend events visit with the crowd.

Reservations are required by calling the aforementioned phone number.

The Scottish Gathering "is always intended to be a family event," Scottish Games organizer Cile Ambrose said. "We respect the Inn's policy of no pets and we stress no alcohol on the grounds."

Sunday

Activities Nov. 15 begin with a church service 9-10 a.m. in the Longhorn Room.

It will feature the "Flowers of the Forest," a memorial service for friends and family who have passed away during the past year.

Following the services, the various competitions begin, including the pipe band contest, the drumming contest (both at the Village Green) as well as the "Over 18" Athletic Games at Robertson Plantation.

Continuing this day will be the Wee Scots Games on the Village Green and Scottish vendors at the Scots Hall of the Clans and at College Hill.

Following the Pipe Band Contest will be the Parade of Bands and Tartans starting between 2 and 3 p.m. This stirring and colorful parade down Main Street, with bagpipes and drums playing, wraps up the three-day event.

The Annual Scottish Games and Gathering of the Clan benefit the Central Texas Area Museum.

The annual affair "came about as the perfect fund-raiser for the museum, since this area was settled by many Scottish families," said Mrs. Ambrose, whose ancestors (including Col. Sterling C. Robertson) are among those who settled the area.

Grounds fees for the three-day event are $2 on Friday, $6 on Saturday and $5 Sunday, for adults.

Children 10-16 are $2 Friday and $3 Saturday and Sunday. Those under 10 are free.

There is a separate ticket price for the fingertip supper Friday, the Ceilidh on Saturday afternoon, the Tattoo Saturday evening and the Tartan Ball that follows.

Spikers win district title

by John Eubanks

The Salado High Lady Eagles rallied from a 6-0 deficit in game three of a memorable volleyball match at home Oct. 24 to defeat Academy 10-15, 15-11, 15-13 and go undefeated in district play.

The Lady Eagles finished the regular season 6-0 in District 20-2A and 14-9 overall. They also garnered Salado's first district title in volleyball since the school first fielded a team in the early 1970s.

Last season, when Academy won the district title with a 6-0 mark, Salado finished last in the four-team district with a 1-5 record and won but six of 25 games overall. Two years ago, Salado was 0-6 in district.

Academy (8-15) ends the season tied with Rogers for second place at 3-3. Both teams will play a district play-off match to determine the runner-up in the playoffs. The top three teams in each district qualify for the playoffs.

As district champs, the Lady Eagles draw a bye in the first round. They will play a second-round match during the period of Nov. 5-7 against the winner of the match between the District 17 runner-up and the third-place team in District 18. Both districts are in East Texas.

The date, time and site for the first playoff match will be listed in the Nov. 4 edition of the Salado Village Voice.

The regular season finale against Academy certainly had a playoff atmosphere, especially in game three. After outscoring Academy 6-1 down the stretch to win game two, the girls quickly found themselves down 6-0 in game three.

But they finally tied the score 6-6, after a long nerve-wracking back-and-forth volley at 6-5, on a Katie Punched kill that got the home crowd excited.

Academy came back to lead 11-7, but back-to-back digs by Sommer Wilson -- including a diving dig to give her team a side-out at 11-7 -- swung momentum Salado's way.

Salado regained the lead 12-11 on a Lori Matthews kill to the only open spot on Academy's side of the net.

The lead changed hands twice more before Salado went up for good, 14-13, when Academy hit a shot out of bounds. Then at game-point, Matthews dinked the ball just a shade inbounds near the net to end the exciting match in See Spikers, Page 12A proper fashion.

"We got lucky on that one," Matthews said to no one in particular, as the post-match celebration began.

Black could only roll his eyes in relief.

"They (Academy) started the third game on fire and we were making mistakes," he said. "They earned only one of those points. But then they made four hitting mistakes and we took advantage of it and got the momentum."

Black said his team had good net play, especially at the end of game two when three Sarah Summers kills led to the last three points of the game.

Serving was another story. The girls missed nine serves, after missing just 14 in the previous five matches combined.

Salado started off the match by leading 7-3 in game one. But Academy, down 10-7, scored the last eight to win.

Boys qualify for regionals in cross country

The boys on the Salado High cross country team qualified for regionals with a third-place finish at the district meet Oct. 26 at Belton's Heritage Park.

The girls team placed fourth, as Tracy Higginbotham qualified for regionals with a fourth-place finish on the two-mile course. The girls missed qualifying for regionals as a team by one point.

The top three teams and top 10 individuals qualified for the regional meet Nov. 7 at UT-San Antonio.

First-year coach Danny Quick said he was disappointed that the girls didn't qualify for regionals, but noted that all of them ran their best times of the year against tough competition.

As for the boys, who run a three-mile race, all five are juniors, which gives the team a building block for next year, Quick said.

Salado boys: 4. Michael Gamble, 16:41; 9. Vicente Fraire, 17:16; 11. Gilbert Chavez, 17:24; 16. Paul Lucas, 17:56; 29. Troy Smith, 20:21.

Salado girls: 4. Tracy Higginbotham, 12:24; 11. Laura Schatte, 12:41; 13. Melissa Matthews, 13:08; 21. Sarah Buchanan, 13:54; 28. Lisa Karnes, 14:42; 32. Victoria Edwards, 15:17; 33. Hope Buchanan, 15:58.

Team results: (Girls) 1. Troy 37, 2. Academy 45, 3. Lago Vista 76, 4. Salado 77, 5. Florence 121. (Boys) 1. Lago Vista 33, 2. Academy 55, 3. Salado 69, 4. Troy 72, 5. Florence 102.

Top individuals: (Girls) Amanda Umerhagen, Academy, 11:27. (Boys) Jody Burn, Lago Vista, 15:58.

Junior high girls win district championship

The Salado High girls cross country team won the district championship on a muddy two-mile course at Academy Oct. 24, sweeping the first six places and placing all 10 runners in the top 20.

Salado scored 15 points, outdistancing second-place Academy, which had 53. The lower the score, the better.

Eighth-grader Lauren Mewhinney had the best time (14:42), followed by seventh-grader Abby Buchanan (15:05).

Had Salado's squad been split into seventh and eighth-grade teams, the eighth-graders would have placed first and the seventh-graders second in the four-school field.

Salado results

- 1. Lauren Mewhinney 14:42

Yoga classes on Tuesdays in Salado

Yoga expert and instructor, Paul Coates, will be hosting a second six-week session of Yoga classes at the Cultural Activities Center beginning Oct. 26. Classes are held every Monday evening from 5:45pm-7:00pm. Salado classes begin Oct. 27. Salado classes are held every Tuesday from 6:45pm-8:00pm at the Salado United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall (entrance is on church street). To help holiday stress, three weeks of yoga will be held Dec. 8, 15, & 22.

Paul Coates has been teaching Yoga for 20 years and has studied with experts from California, New York, New Dehli, Benares, India, Rangoon, Bangkok, Hong Kong and Singapore. "Yoga doesn't require any special equipment to be enjoyable," explains Coates. "Students should wear loose clothes and bring a large beach towel or bath towel to each class." His yoga instruction will include basic deep breathing and control, localized muscle and tendon stretches, skeletal placement and mind control techniques.

Cost for the six week session is $35 per person. To register, contact the CAC at (254)773-9926. For more information on Yoga, please contact Paul Coates in Salado at (254)947-9992.

This isn't your mother's volleyball

'Two points shy of victory' -- caption above the photo of the Salado High volleyball team in the 1973 yearbook.

In researching the short history of volleyball at Salado High to find out if the current team is indeed the school's first one to win district and advance to the playoffs, I discovered that it's easier to perfect the jump-serve than it is to pin down facts about past teams.

Verses and versus John Eubanks

When the sport began here in the early 1970s, it's likely there were few if any smiley-face bumper stickers proclaiming, I dig volleyball.

So you really can't blame yearbook editors or their sponsors if there wasn't much information on the volleyball teams.

In the aforementioned caption from the '73 annual (chronicling the '72 season), the phrase "Two points shy of victory" is not explained.

Is it a veiled reference to a winless season? Was it '70s slang for "Two bricks shy?"

Shoot if I know.

The coach in the photo is U.G. Smith, who now owns the Dairy Queen. (And no, he didn't invent the phrase "soft serve" while coaching volleyball.)

Coach Smith -- or just

Coach, as he's known now by locals -- was apparently in his second year as the team's coach. It's been awhile, he says, but he believes the team he coached in '71 was the school's first volleyball team.

The team photo of the '71 squad does not include a coach, but Smith was coaching girls sports at Salado that year.

Smith had coached volleyball in California before coming here, and figured it would be a good addition to the girls' athletic program.

The '72 yearbook I looked at makes no mention of the '71 team being the school's first one.

There are volleyball team photos in the '74, '75 and '76 yearbooks, but no mention of the sport in the '77 annual.

Salado High teacher Dennis Cabaniss, who coached the '75 team, said there was a time in the 1970s when the school didn't field a volleyball team, but wasn't certain when that was.

(As far as he knows, in his 27 years at the school, a Salado High volleyball team has not won district or been to the playoffs.)

Apparently, there was no team during the 1976-77 school year, because in the '78 yearbook it notes that, "Volleyball was reinstated in Salado High when Sally Wulbrecht agreed to sponsor the group. The team played Academy, Lago Vista, Jarell (sic) and other schools. It can be said that the team had more fun than victories, due to inexperience on the part of the players."

Among the seven players pictured from the '77 team is sophomore Susan Headley, now Susan Jackson, the secretary at the high school. Her sister, Sandra, was one of two team trainers.

Susan's daughter, Nikki Jackson, is a junior on the current Lady Eagles volleyball team.

Volleyball at Salado High has come a long way from the days when Nikki's mom played the sport. A time when, as Susan says, "we just tried to get the ball over the net."

Heck, it's come a long way in the last two years. Five of the current team's eight seniors started on the '96 varsity that won four of 20 matches and went 0-6 in district.

Katie Punched was a second-team all-district pick that year, and fellow Seniors '99 Melissa Matthews, Kathy Matthews, Sarah Summers and Sommer Wilson received honorable mention all-district.

After the '96 season, then first-year coach John Black

Paul Lucas scampers for a touchdown against the Johnson City Eagles.

Eagles beat Johnson City 39-7

by Tim Fleischer
Editor-in-Chief

Scoring 24 points in the third quarter, the Salado Eagles routed the Johnson City Eagles 39-7 Oct. 23 in Johnson City. Salado scored almost at-will during the third quarter with touchdowns through the air, on the ground and from the defense, as well as a 35-yard field goal.

Johnson City was able to keep it close during the first half, as Salado took a 7-0 lead to the lockers, following Ryan Gillespie's 5 yard keeper into the endzone with just 2:24 left in the half.

Salado was plagued by penalties and turnovers in the first half, but scored twice in the first two minutes of the second half.

After the second half kick-off, Gillespie found Paul Lucas for a 41-yard touchdown reception. Lucas broke a couple of open field tackles and eluded Johnson City defenders on the way to the endzone. Lucas caught four passes for 91 yards for the night to lead all receivers.

On Johnson City's first play from scrimmage of the second half, Michael Schoepf picked up an errant pitch and ran 40 yards untouched into the endzone to pad the Salado lead.

Schoepf intercepted a

Johnson City pass and returned it 30 yards to set up Salado's next scoring drive in the third quarter. It took Salado just two tries from the Johnson City 7 to punch the ball in on Taylor Hutton's 7-yard dive. Lucas added the PAT to give Salado a 28-0 lead.

Matthew Fleck recovered a Johnson City fumble at the 45, which Salado converted into a 35-yard Lucas field goal with just over a minute left in the third quarter.

After holding Johnson City on the next series of plays, Salado took the punt to the Eagles' 42. On first and goal, told me, "If people look at the record, they think we did bad. But the (district) coaches said there was quite an improvement (from the previous season). We should be pretty salty next year."

See Eagles, Page 17A

Verses

Although they certainly worked up a sweat in '97, the girls won just six of 25 matches and placed last in the four-team district with a 1-5 mark. Current seniors Shelly Dillon, Stacy Krueger and Lori Matthews, along with Jackson, joined the other five seniors on last year's team that won the school's first district game since 1995.

Lauren Quirk, the only other underclassmen on this year's team besides Jackson, was on last year's JV team that won 11 of 19 games and placed second in district with a 4-2 mark.

Most of the girls on that JV team are on this year's JV that will become the gist of next year's varsity.

They will replace a group of girls who have clearly made the biggest impact in the history of a sport that, for all intents and purposes, has not made that much history here.

"Two points shy of victory" is not much of a battle cry to rally around. Unless, of course, it's all you have.

Gillespie ran the ball in from Johnson City's 7. He converted a bad snap into two-points on the conversion by dashing into the corner of the endzone to give Salado a 39-0 lead with nine minutes left in the game.

Salado almost held Johnson City scoreless, but Rodney Topper threw to Johnny Slawinski for a 44-yard touchdown with 3:03 left in the game. Despite racking up over 100 yards in penalties and turning over the ball four times, Salado dominated Johnson City throughout the game.

The Eagles hope to do the same when they face the Florence Buffaloes 7:30 p.m. at Eagle Field for the final Salado home game.

Eagles to host Florence in final home game of season

The Salado Eagles will play their final home game Oct. 30 against the Florence Buffaloes. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

The Eagles (5-3, 2-1) are coming off a 39-7 win over a Johnson City team (0-8, 0-3) that's tied for last in District 26-2A with Florence.

The Buffs (2-6, 0-3) lost 27-17 to Academy (2-6, 2-1). Florence running back Flee Montemayor is one of the top backs in the district.

Last year, the Buffs' offense was held to 10 yards of offense in a 29-6 Salado win.

The Eagles used a 24-point third quarter to pull away from Johnson City's Eagles.

Salado outgained JC 373-194 in total offense. Offensive coordinator Alan Haire said tackle Matt Wood did a good job of blocking in his first start. The 180-pound senior was named offensive player of the week.

Michael Schoepf, who returned an interception 40 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter, was named defensive player of the week.

The Florence game will be the final tuneup for the Eagles' season finale against first-place Troy (7-1, 3-0), which is coming off a win over second-place Holland (6-2, 2-1). The top three teams in the district will advance to the playoffs.

*It's not April 15—
So why should you use your IRA now to help cut your taxes?*

Now that you can take a breather after having filed your taxes, it's a good time to review your plans for trying to cut taxes for 1998. At our seminar, you'll learn how your IRAs can help to cut taxes, and you'll get answers to these critical questions:

- Does it make sense for me to convert my traditional IRA to the new Roth IRA?
- Can I benefit from the special 4-year tax spread by converting to a Roth IRA in 1998?
- My teen-ager has a summer job. Why should he open an IRA?
- I've just changed jobs. Should I roll over my 401(k) to an IRA?
- Can I contribute to an Education IRA for my kids, nieces, nephews or grandchildren?

Find out why an IRA is a year-round tax-saving opportunity. Call us today to reserve your place at our upcoming free workshop and we'll help you examine the figures and try to find tax saving ideas for 1998.

Junior high teams win

JV gridders lose close one to Johnson City

by John Eubanks

The Salado junior varsity Eagles lost a 14-8 heartbreaker to the Johnson City JV Oct. 22 at Eagle Field.

Salado is now 4-3-1 overall and 2-1 in district.

The Eagles were at the Johnson City 1-yard line when time ran out.

They started the last drive at their own own 24 with 3:58 to play and drove 74 yards to the JC 2 with 23 seconds left.

Salado then called its last time out, moments before Johnson City was attempting to call a timeout of its own.

The Eagles, who had called two plays during the timeout, failed to score on the first one, and then hurriedly lined up at the 1 to run the same play -- "fullback lead" -- with less than 15 seconds left.

But Gordon Smale, running behind the lead block of fullback Sam Daniel, was stopped short of the goal line as time ticked off the clock.

"We ran out of time," coach Mark Marshall said.

Salado had started its previous drive at its own 8 with 6:03 left in the fourth quarter, after holding JC on downs inside the 10.

But on third and 8 from the SHS 28, the Eagles lost a fumble with 4:06 to play. JC returned the favor on the next play, fumbling the ball back to Salado at the 24. From there, the Eagles began the game's final drive with just under four minutes to play.

They called the first of their three timeouts at the JC 23 with 50 seconds left. They called their second one with 29 seconds left, after Smale had carried the ball to the 5.

Had JC called a timeout before Salado called its final timeout, the Eagles would have been able to call timeout and run one more play.

Adam Gonzales started his first game at quarterback in place of Chris Ray and drew praise from Marshall for his play. Ray was one of three JV starters who were elevated to the varsity this week. The others were tight end Garland Hennig and linebacker Hunter Konzen.

Grant Schilling, Andrew Hansen and Jeremy Grimm were among several Eagles who took up the slack on defense.

Trailing 14-8 with 2:14 left in the first half, the Eagles began their last drive of the half after Grimm intercepted a pass near the Eagles 40 and returned it to near the JC 40. But on fourth down, Johnson City intercepted a Salado halfback pass near the JC 30 with 48 seconds left in the half.

The 14-8 score would remain intact for the rest of the game. The Eagles scored their points in the second quarter on a 26-yard run by Smale and a two-point conversion pass from Gonzales to Derek Cravens.

tense," Black said. "It was like life and death. We already had district wrapped up, so maybe they pushed themselves to go 6-0 (in district). Actually, that was one of our goals, to go 6-0 and win district."

Academy, on the other hand, wanted to win to avoid a district playoff match.

"Both teams played hard," Academy coach Linda Barganier said. "Salado wanted to go undefeated and we wanted second outright."

Individual stats: S. Summers (9 pts, 5 assists, 12 kills, 3 blocks, 7 digs), K. Punchard (4 pts, 4 kills, 1 block, 12 digs), M. Matthews (11 pts, 2 aces, 5 kills, 9 digs), L. Matthews (7 pts, 6 kills, 1 block, 9 digs), K. Matthews (3 pts, 3 kills, 1 block, 3 digs, 4 assists), N. Jackson (3 kills, 1 block, 2 digs), S. Wilson (7 digs), S. Dillon (6 digs), L. Quirk (1 kills, 3 digs).

SHS CLINCHES TITLE

Black said the 15-11, 14-16, 15-12 Rogers win was "probably the most exciting one I have ever been associated with. It was exciting not only for the fact that it clinched the district title, but how it was played out."

The Lady Eagles overcame a 7-2 deficit to win game one, but lost an 11-point lead in game two to set up the deciding game three. Salado led at game-point (14-3) in game two before Rogers scored the next 13.

"We had been in this position before, so I knew we could come out and have a good game three," Black said.

No team had a clear advantage in game three, as the score was tied 5-5 and 11-11.

"Kathy Matthews got two points to get to 14-12," Black said. "Nikki Jackson served the last point with Sarah Sommers finishing the game with her 16th kill. Katie (Punchard) and Sommer (Wilson) had excellent games digging Rogers hits, and Sarah had probably her best game of the year -- and her career."

Individual stats: Sommer Wilson (8 points, 1 ace, 18 digs), Nikki Jackson (3 kills, 1 block, 3 digs), Stacy Krueger (8 points, 3 aces, 17 assists, 9 digs), Sarah Summers (3 points, 13 blocks, 16 kills, 6 digs, 8 assists), Katie Punchard (13 points, 5 kills, 17 digs), Lori Matthews (7 points, 3 blocks, 4 kills, 6 digs), Melissa Matthews (6 kills, 10 digs), Shelly Dillon (5 digs), Kathy Matthews (2 points, 2 blocks), Lauren Quirk (2 kills, 3 digs).

JUNIOR VARSITY

The JV Lady Eagles (9-7, 3-3) lost to Academy 15-8, 15-11 to tie for second in district. "Micki Rosanky had a good game on the front row and Sarah Buchanan had a good defensive game," Black said.

The girls were coming off a 13-15, 15-11, 15-4 win over Rogers. "It was a great team effort, especially in the second and third games," Black said. "They dug well. The varsity says in practice that they dig everything, and they did against Rogers."

Black singled out Rosanky, Buchanan and Tessa Schreiner, noting that Schreiner did a good job of getting the ball to the hitters. Jennifer Punchard got things going in game 3, serving up the first seven points.

FRESHMEN

The frosh (5-7, 3-3) lost to Academy 16-14, 11-15, 15-9 but still finished second in district. Black said they played great and hustled in game two.

They were coming off a 15-7, 14-16, 15-9 win over Rogers.

Salado scored eight points in game one off kills, two each by Lindsey Quirk, Amanda Rivers and Kate Mentzel.

Coach Marilyn Salisbury's squad came back from missing several serves in game two to lead the entire game three.

Black said the girls were winless in district the last two years and may have won only one match both years combined. "They have come a long way this year," he said.

EIGHTH GRADE

The eighth-grade Eagles (4-3, 3-0) defeated Johnson City 22-0 at their place.

Stephen Fewell scored on touchdown runs of five and 42 yards and added two-point conversions after each TD. Jarrod Whitfield added an eight-yard run.

Offensive standouts were Fewell, Kyle Salisbury and Brian Johnston. Defensive standouts were Beau Bartlett, Fran Ruiz and Lane Wolf.

SEVENTH GRADE

The seventh-grade Eagles

(4-3, 2-1) downed Johnson City 26-14 at their place.

Receiving the opening kickoff for the first time in district play, the Eagles scored on their first possession when halfback Scott Bates ran 16 yards on a fake reverse.

JC took the lead 8-6 on a long run and two-point conversion, but Salado came right back to take a 12-8 lead on a 6-yard Bates run. JC scored on another long run with just seconds left in the half to take a 14-12 halftime lead.

Starting the second half, Salado held JC on a defensive stand near midfield to set up a 2-yard run by Bill Tubbs and lead 18-14.

Salado's last touchdown was set up by a Kris Steinman recovery of a fumble caused by Cale Cox. Bates scored the TD on a 1-yard quarterback sneak. Chris Kelley added the two-point conversion on a pass from Chase Simpson.

Coach Melvin Bates singled out the offensive line of Cox, Ben Marsh, Nathan Grigsby, Josh Wright and Tim Roberts.

Defensive standouts were Steinman, Evan Clements and Cody Pendergrass.

Entries being taken for Nov. 21 Family 5K Turkey Trot at SHS; walkers are welcome

Entries are being taken for the Family 5K Turkey Trot Nov. 21 at Salado High School. Walkers are welcome.

The event is hosted by Salado United Methodist Church, and 50 percent of all proceeds will go toward food and lodging for the homeless.

All participants will receive a commemorative 5K T-shirt.

Entries received prior to Nov. 9 will be guaranteed a T-shirt on the day of the race and will also be entered in a special prize drawing.

Entry fee is $12 for adults and $10 for children 12 and under. Refreshments will be served after the race.

Registration (and T-shirt and packet pickup) will begin at 7:30 a.m. race day. The race begins at 9 a.m., but runners are urged to be at the school no later than 8:30.

An entry form and further information can be obtained by calling (254) 947-5482.

Additional donations for the cause of helping feed and lodge the homeless are gratefully accepted.

Margrit's Shoe Chateau

Best little shoe shop in Salado

by John Eubanks

Margrit's Shoe Chateau in Magnolias on the Square is the best little shoe shop in Salado.

The business celebrates one year this month at its small space among Magnolias' emporium of shops in Salado Square on Main Street.

Enter Magnolias' front door, and imagine your left side being 9 o'clock and your right being 3. Margrit's Shoe Chateau is between 1 and 2.

Margrit Chapman's self-described "shoe shop, etc.," also offers handbags, hats and belts.

"I have my little niche," Margrit says, with a slight German accent. Within her limited space is a table from the 1800s once owned by her Aunt Mikolajewcz.

A native of what was once West Berlin, Margrit first worked in retail 40 years ago selling shoes at a post exchange in Germany.

She and her husband, a retired soldier, recently celebrated their 26th wedding anniversary. They raised five kids and have six grandkids -- with one more on the way.

Margrit's outgoing personality allows her to talk about a variety of subjects ranging from shoes (of course) to Salado.

"I like this little town. I feel comfortable here," Margrit says. She has worked 20 years in retail, including eight at Village Boutique.

When that shop closed, she decided to open the Shoe Chateau. "Financial-wise, to get my feet on the ground, it's perfect," she said.

The phrase "feet on the ground" certainly fits the business. Margrit started out carrying fancy shoes, but soon realized that "people just want comfortable shoes they can walk in."

Margrit also tries to stay low-budget, particularly with children's shoes. "Most of my shoes are $12 and up, and you can't moan about that," she said.

"My purses are all leather with different styles and variety, and the most expensive ones are around $40."

All of her shoes and handbags are open stock, which means that if you don't see your size among the limited stock, you can place an order (at no extra charge) and have it in about a week.

Among the more popular shoes are the comfortable blue denim ones featuring Texas designs such as Longhorns, shoe horses, oil wells and cowboy hats.

The popular moccasin shoes are available for men, women and children. Matching men's hats are also offered.

If Margrit isn't there, another associate in Magnolias is more than willing to help. You can almost always catch her on Thursdays.

Margrit is a firm believer in

The Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Raney Home
Raney Home on Christmas Tour Dec. 4-6

The home of Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Raney at 800 DeGrummond Way will join eight other architecturally and historically important structures open for the public Dec. 4-6. The Salado Historical Society is sponsoring the Tour of Homes, which will coincide with the first weekend of the Salado Christmas Stroll, sponsored by the Salado Business Association.

The Raney Home is an architectural classic built in 1972 by Col. (Ret.) and Mrs. Jack Knox. The home sits on almost two acres nestled back among many giant live oak trees on one of the original streets in Mill Creek.

The architectural focal point of the living room is a large bay window overlooking a 200 year old oak tree, but another attractive feature is a wall of glass leading to a cantilevered deck projecting out into the tree tops, overlooking a stone retaining wall and stone pathway to the back yard. The furnishings are eclectic with many family antiques and large overstuffed sofas and chairs.

Opening off of the living room is the formal dining room, which flows into the gallery. The gallery runs across the Watercolor artist Ed Hoag will present a workshop Nov. 6-7 in Salado.

Village Artists sponsor watercolor workshop

Ed Hoag, a prominent Texas artist, will present a watercolor workshop beginning at 9 a.m. Nov. 6-7.

The Salado Village Artists are sponsoring this workshop by Hoag, a signature member of the Texas Watercolor Society and Western Art Association. The workshop is open to anyone interested in the arts, whether a beginner or an advanced painter.

Hoag's work is representational with elements of impressionism as he endeavors to share with the viewer his impression of the time and place of the subject shown. He states that, "like a good book, a truly fine painting must reward the viewer with something new every time it is enjoyed."

His work has been accepted in regional, national and international juried shows and exhibitions. He is represented in a number of collections.

He has studied under artists such as Harold Phenix, Bob Wygant, Lowell Smith, Martin Greele, Bruce R. Greene, Larry Weston and Don Andrews.

Galleries in Kerrville, San Antonio and College Station represent his work.

In addition to his work as an artist, Hoag continues to teach in the College of Architecture in College Station, where he is an Associate Professor of Landscape Architecture. He is active in the College Station community, teaching classes for adults and children. He also conducts workshops throughout central Texas.

The cost of the workshop is $110 per person. A deposit of $40 is required prior to the workshop with the remainder due at the time of the workshop.

You may register by sending $50 deposit to the Salado Village Artist, PO Box 303, Salado, TX 76571. Specify Ed Hoag Workshop.

A supply list will be mailed to each registrant.

Artist of Month Jo Griffitt displays works at Compass, First State banks

Turn off Salado's Main Street into the entrances of Compass Bank of First State Bank to view the beautifully designed and crafted quilts displayed in their lobbies, the handwork of Village Artist Jo Griffitt.

Jo and her husband, Jim, moved to Salado from Bonham, Texas in 1995 to be near their children and grandchildren who live in Belton and San Antonio. Both had been educators for many years. Jo received her B.S. and Master's degree in Education from East Texas State University (now Texas A&M, Commerce).

Her interest in fabrics and quilting dates to childhood when she watched her mother sew. This was enhanced by her experiences in a high school home economics class and a continuing education quilting class. Her first quilt, a design of applied butterflies, was completed in 1978 for one of her daughters. She enjoys creating her own designs and says that her favorite pattern is the one she has just finished, usually one which includes an iris, her favorite flower.

She has many hobbies: calligraphy, scherrensaitte (paper cutting), listening to music, and with her husband, gardening, and traveling. She collects thimbles, silver sugar spoons, small individual white pitchers, decorative plates, and cotton fabrics, and quilting books.

Since moving to Salado she has served as Vice President of the Village Artists and has shared her skills with a group of artists who now quilt together regularly.

Jo's work will be on display in both bank lobbies until October 31.

Saladoans named to honor society

Three Saladoans are among 12 outstanding Temple College students interested in psychology who have been inducted as members of Psi Beta, the national honor society in psychology for community and junior colleges.

The new members are Janet Bandas, Susan McDonald and James Wigley of Salado.

Psi Beta is a member of the Association of College Honor Societies and is an affiliate of the American Psychological Society. Psi Beta chapters sponsor programs, activities and participation in community service projects. Members also have opportunities to present research papers at regional meetings, attend national meetings and compete for national awards.

back of the house with one long wall of floor to ceiling glass overlooking the brick terrace and the wooded back yard, and the other wall being a perfect showplace for the owner's collection of art and antiques.

The gallery also runs past the spacious kitchen and informal dining area, which have large skylights that add additional light to both rooms, already well lighted from the floor to ceiling windows of the gallery. With all that light, the kitchen and adjacent. Dining area jump to life with the white cabinets and countertops accented with colorful McKenzie Child fish pulls, and further emphasized by the black terrazzo floors. Naturally, this part of the house becomes the center of many informal gatherings.

The family room, located on the front of the house off of the Informal dining area, offers a more traditional fireplace with a carved country French mantel. This room looks through a glass wall and a cantilevered deck across the vast front lawn to a pond across DeGrummond Way where deer are frequently seen drinking and grazing.

Three auxiliary bedrooms open off the interior hall served by two baths. One of these bedrooms was the original master bedroom and now serves as the VIP Guest Bedroom. The son's bedroom is furnished with fishing and hunting trophies as well as personal wild life photography.

A recent addition to the house is the new master bedroom suite. This suite offers a sleeping area, a sitting area, and a comfortable master bath with his and her closets attached. The sleeping and sitting areas share a panoramic array of floor to ceiling glass overlooking the brick terraced and heavily wooded back yard. The master suite is situated in its own wing, accessed by double doors, that can be shut off from the balance of the house for privacy.

Throughout the house the Raney's have used interesting floor and wall treatments which are enhanced by multiple vaulted ceilings and unique architectural window treatments in various rooms. This home exudes the ambiance of a beautifully designed classic contemporary and eclectically decorated family home, enriched by a lifetime of treasured family mementos.

The homes will be open for the tour 5-8 p.m. Dec. 4, 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Dec. 5 and 1-5 p.m. Dec. 6.

Admission is $10 per person the days of the event. Tickets will be available at each location.

Advanced tickets are no available for $8 per person at the following locations: Salado Chamber of Commerce, Stagecoach Inn lobby, Royal Emporium, Gregory's, Springhouse Antiques, Pine Cottage, Barnhill-Britt, Horsefeathers, Angel Inn, Heirlooms, The Store at Old Town Salado, Angelic Herbs, Bayberry's on Main and Remember This Antique Mall.

For more information about the Tour of Homes, call the Salado Chamber of Commerce at 254/947-5040.

Local citizens will be locked up for good by MDA Oct. 29

The Salado Mansion will be the site of the 1998 Salado MDA Lockup Oct. 29. Leading citizens will be "locked up for good" at the MDA Maximum Appreciation Facility for one hour while they raise their bail to help Jerry's Kids.

The Bosque River Outlaws, a gunfighter club, will serve as the posse for rounding up the jailbirds. They will drive vehicles provided by Fisher-Vincent Ford in Belton.

The jailbirds will then be incarcerated at The Salado Mansion, where they will be given a cellular phone provided by ALLTELL to use in raising their bail. After they have their mug shot taken, they can also partake in some of the wonderful jailhouse chow provided by the Courtyard Cafe.

The monies raised through the MDA lockup program and other year-round fund-raising events support the MDA Clinic at Hillcrest Baptist Medical Center, support groups, MDA research, and patient services programs such as wheelchairs and braces. Money is also used to provide young people ages six-21 who have a neuromuscular disease to spend a week at the MDA Summer Camp at the Greene Family Camp in Bruceville-Eddy. The Camp is provided at no cost to the family/caregiver of the child.

The only criteria for free service is diagnosis of one of the 40 neuromuscular diseases covered by MDA. These include Infantile Spinal Muscular Atrophy (the number one genetic cause of infant mortality), Duchenne Muscular Dystrophy (which kills one in 3,500 boys born with this disease by their late teens or early 20s), ALS (Lou Gehrig's Disease which strikes and kills adults in the prime of life, plus 37 other diseases.

For more information, to volunteer at the event, to register as a jailbird, or to sign up a friend as a jailbird, contact the Heart of Texas Office of the Muscular Dystrophy Association at 254/752-9632.

FSA photograph remembered

by Tumbleweed Smith

In 1936 Arthur Rothstein worked as a photographer for the Farm Security Administration, a government agency. With his camera, he documented the plight of farmers during the dust bowl era.

One photograph he took became famous. It shows a farmer and his two sons heading for shelter during a severe dust storm. He titled it "Dust Storm, Cimarron County, Oklahoma 1936."

Arthur's brother, Robert Rothstein of Odessa, recently went to the site of the photo to meet with John Patterson of Canada, who is writing a book about Arthur. Bill Murchison, a documentary photographer from Galveston, also made the trip. Arthur passed away in 1985 after a distinguished career in photography. He was director of photography for Look and Parade Magazines and later taught photography at Columbia University.

His famous photo was taken in the Oklahoma panhandle near the community of Felt. The people in the photo are the father, Arthur Coble and his two sons, six year old Milton and four year old Darrel. They are walking past an old structure that served as a milking shed. The photograph shows the trio trudging against the wind.

The picture has been in textbooks and displayed in museums around the world. One of the three original prints recently sold at auction for $35,000.

There isn't much left of the Coble house near Felt. There are half buried fence posts, remains of a windmill and some rusting car bodies. Rothstein took the photo as he was leaving. He had already packed his equipment in his car when he saw the trio heading for the house. He grabbed the camera and took only one exposure. It was the last picture on the roll of film. The photo, more than any other image, symbolizes the struggle of farmers on the plains during the depression years.

"The thing that impresses me is the photo had an effect," says Robert Rothstein. "We've had soil conservation in this part of the country for some time because of pictures like that."

"New farming methods were developed," says John Peterson. "They found new strains of wheat and new ways to plow the ground to hold moisture."

Lloyd Coble, whose father was one of the small boys in the photo, says the picture stayed on the living room wall for a long time. "We never really paid much attention to it," he says. "We knew it was our dad, uncle and granddad in the photo and we knew it was coming around to be an important photo, but we never talked about it much until people started coming around asking about it."

For Bill Murchison, standing on the site was an emotional experience. "I knew Arthur and admired his work," says Bill. "Being here where the famous photo was made is a thrill. The photo is one of the most published ever. It is almost art, beautifully done."

Peterson says "It's a photo that worked."

The photo is embedded in the tombstone of Darrel Coble in the cemetery near Felt.

Junior is National Merit Commended student

Salado High principal Marvin Agnew recently announced that Shane Rigsby has been named a Commended Student in the 1999 National Merit Scholarship Program.

A Letter of Commendation from the school and National Merit Scholarship Corp. (NMSC), which conducts the program, will be presented by the principal to this scholastically talented senior.

Some 34,500 Commended Students throughout the nation are being honored for their exceptional academic promise. Although they will not continue in the competition for Merit Scholarship awards to be offered next spring, Commended Students placed among the top five percent of more than one million students who entered the 1999 Merit Program by taking the 1997 Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

A Merit Program spokesperson commented, "Recognition of academically talented students and of the key role played by schools in their development is essential to the pursuit of educational excellence in our nation. The young men and women named Commended Students are honored for their outstanding scholastic potential demonstrated by their high performance in the very competitive Merit Program. We hope the recognition received by these able students will encourage them to take advantage of their opportunities for higher education and to diligently pursue their professional goals. The nation will benefit from the full development of this valuable intellectual resource."

Saladoan is propane assoc. district director

David J. Pany, owner of Killeen Propane and Hardware Inc., was elected to a two-year term as district director on the Texas Propane Gas Association board of directors at TPGA's recent state convention in San Antonio.

Killeen Propane and Hardware offers propane service in Bell and Coryell counties. Pany has been in the propane industry for four years. He previously served as alternate director on the TPGA board of directors.

The Texas Propane Gas Association is a statewide trade association of dealers and suppliers who promote safety and education in the propane industry. Propane, a by-product of natural gas and petroleum, is a source of energy used for heating homes, cooking, drying clothes and heating water. It is also a clean-burning alternative vehicle fuel that plays a major role in reducing air pollution.

As a director of the association, Pany will lead efforts to promote propane as the residential and vehicle fuel of choice.
