Annual Spring Fest features quilt show, style shows March 8-9

Salado's Spring Festival is just nine days away, March 8-9, when some of the finest quilts and fashions will be on display. The festival was created to celebrate the beauty of Salado's spring season and the textile history of our village. Many events are set to take place for those visiting as well as those participating.

MARCH 8, starts the celebration with a welcoming surge of inviting merchandise featured in the merchants' shops. In addition many shops plan special events—trunk shows, quilts and related merchandise for sale, plus guest appearances by artisans.

From 1-7 p.m. March 8 the Salado Civic Center will open and host a beautiful quilt show of new and old quilts, loaned by proud Saladoans. Every quilt has a story to tell—some are recently made by talented stitchers, others are family pieces, still others are designed and stitched by professionals.

During this time Terri

Ellis, a Certified Quilt Appraiser will be available to answer questions about quilts and provide insurance appraisals. Appraisal is valuable in case of loss due to fire, theft or other accidental damage. Insurance companies and freight companies (UPS) require written appraisal if replacement cost of more than the materials is desired.

At 7 p.m. a lecture is planned by talented quilt professional Terri Ellis, of Ft. Worth.

Music and festive displays amid the storefronts and personal dwellings will add to the weekend affair.

The Quilt Show continues 11 a.m.- 7 p.m. MARCH 9, with Saturday's highlight a Fashion Show/Luncheon at the Mill Creek Country Club, 11:00 a.m. Many Salado shops plan to show the latest fashions, plus give away exciting door prizes.

Saturday afternoon Terri Ellis will once again assist the Salado community in finding its quilt treasures and provide quilt appraisals for those wanting to know the "real value" of their quilt.

Quilt members of the Village Artists have also volunteered to "set up a quilt" and demonstrate the technique of quilting.

To complete the weekend event a Saturday night lecture at the Civic Center will feature guest artist, Beth Kennedy from Austin. Kennedy is known for her talent in combining the history and beauty of old and new patterns into beautiful new quilts.

Volunteers

To make this festival the best ever, VOLUNTEERS ARE NEEDED. Please exhibit a quilt, then give an hour or more to your community. Men are especially needed to volunteer their services the evening of March 7 and again March 9, to set up and break down the heavier display items.

If you are willing to participate in this event please call the Chamber office, 947-5040.

Nancy Light, owner of the Main Street Place is shown above with a set of stone book-ends that she is donating for the Old Salado School Foundation's annual auction set for March 2, at the school cafeteria. Bill Hall, local auctioneer is donating his services once again to the auction. He is also shown above, with his gavel that will start of the bidding promptly at 7 p.m. Tickets for the evening are on sale at Peoples National Bank, First State Bank, Fletcher's Book Store, Hair Designs and the Civic Center Office. Price is $6.00.

Auction March 2

Annual event will raise funds for Salado Civic Center

Everything is in readiness for the Third Annual Civic Center Auction, according to Bob Cottle, chairman of this year's gala event that is slated for the school cafeteria this Saturday, March 2, starting at 6 p.m.

Cottle noted: "We have over one hundred items that will either be sold during the silent auction or on the block with our good friend Bill Hall handling the auctioneer duties."

He continued: "This is the third year in a row that the Old Salado School Foundation has held an auction. First two years it was to raise funds to payoff our bank note. This year and in the years ahead we will be raising money to keep the civic center in top shape for use by our community and our visitors."

The auction will begin at 7 p.m. sharp with all items on display throughout the school cafeteria so guests may either make a "silent bid" on a number of outstanding items or be ready to call out bids when auctioneer Hall gavels the start of the bidding.

Lloyd Parks, vice president of the OSSF, is in charge of the meal and he noted: "Once again we will provide an outstanding meal that will include the famous Mikeska barbecued sirloin plus sausage, cole slaw, potato salad, relish plate, beans, homemade bread. Topped off with home cooked brownies, coffee or tea."

"Truly a meal fit for royalty at a down-to-earth price" Parks concluded.

ITEMS DONATED

Over the past few weeks, the Salado Village Voice has printed the items that have been donated thus far to what has come to be known as the "Premier" auction held during the year.

Mint condition shotguns, paintings, overnight stays at the various bed and breakfast establishments, handmade stagecoach, buggy and wagon, gifts from a large number of Salado merchants plus quality foodstuffs have all been listed and are ready for the auction block.

Late entries include: a set of espresso cups and saucers from Larry and Cathy Sands; a food basket arrangement from the Strawberry Patch; lunch for four at Brownings and four Sunday lunches at the Stagecoach Inn.

Gladys Kelly is preparing the meal. See Auction, Page 3A

SISD Board extends contracts

The Salado I.S.D. Board of Trustees extended the contracts of its elementary and high school principals by one year during its regular meeting Feb. 22.

Thomas Arnold Elementary Principal Rod Stockstill was given a contract through June 30, 1998. Sammy Edwards, who has been serving as interim high school principal was given a one-year contract through June 30, 1997.

The board voted unanimously on Stockstill's contract and 5-1-1 on Edwards' contract with Rita Brown voting against and Sara Mackie abstaining.

The board took no action on the district's athletic directors contract. Traditionally, the board votes an athletic director's contract in February. Athletic directors Dan Wasik (boys) and Larry Salisbury (girls) contracts continue until June 30, 1997.

No action was taken on the probationary position of the high school assistant principal.

In other business, the board set May 4 as the date for the school board election. Three full terms of three years on the board come up for election. Those seats on the board are currently filled by Tom Berrier, Rita Brown, and Sara Mackie. To-date only Sara Mackie has filed for the school board.

Salado ISD residents may pick up applications to file for the school board election at the Superintendent's Office in the Salado Civic Center.

The board discussed the TTAS program and will seek being a pilot school for the program which will be instituted in a year. The TEA program will be piloted in 30 schools in Texas.

During the community input portion of the meeting, Jeanne Moran, Erin Rigsby and Candy Rigsby spoke about the resignation of Judy Trador. Trador resigned her position as high school secretary effective immediately Feb. 22. Vernon Claburn, Tricia and Ken Norman, Dorothy Foster, Patti Gamble and Mark Foster spoke regarding opening the high school principal position, keeping a strong honor curriculum and keeping Claudia Cabaniss.

Republican revolution turns inward at recent primaries

"I hold it, that a little rebellion, now and then, is a good thing, and is necessary in the political world as storms in the physical."

Thomas Jefferson
In a letter to James Madison
dated January 30, 1787

Off the Record
by Ken Clapp

Foreign observers of the American political scene must be bum-fuzzled these days as they view all that is going on in the Republican frenzy for delegate votes in the various early primaries.

Fact is - most Republicans and Democrats right here at home are equally puzzled at what is passing for campaign strategies among the conservatives who are running for president.

GOP presidential aspirants, who should know better, seem to have taken a page from the Democratic play book and are whittling away at each other while espousing strange ideas - at least strange for conservatives.

Democrats, namely President Clinton and his close minions are acting with modest outward decorum while "tsk-tsking" at the show put on by their adversaries.

Actually behind that false front there is a sense of glee not found in recent White House months.

Some say the Demo "Happy Hour" begins at daybreak and ends only when they fall asleep while dreaming that "Happy Days Are Here Again!"

PREDICTIONS FINALLY RIGHT

Last week this column batted 100 percent in correctly predicting the outcome of the New Hampshire primary including the exact order the top four candidates ended up in after the votes were tallied.

The time to quit soothing is when you finally get something right. This we intend to do but before wrapping up the crystal ball there is one final forecast that needs to be made on behalf of the Republican hierarchy - those busy business boys with the big bucks and influence.

If you GOPers want to win in November, you better put all your muscle behind getting rid of Pat Buchanan soonest (which you are trying to do as we speak); deep-six Lamar Alexander (offer him some neat job in government - which he would take) and get behind a strong move to put together a Bob Dole-Colin Powell ticket.

Yes - Colin Powell for Dole's running mate!

This writer thinks that Powell would take this unwanted job simply because he knows that Dole is the only Republican on hand that can keep the party from splintering into a Democratic type, multi-faceted melt-down.

Most political observers think that a couple of successful terms as Veep and this good man could waltz into the White House carrying even some of the more intolerant members of his party with him.

And while you conservative string-pullers are doing all this - best to tell Buchanan he cannot speak to the national convention as he did in 1992 to the complete undoing of George Bush.

After all - Buchanan is not really a Republican, is he?

Or has the Grand Old Party suddenly embraced a pro-labor and anti-Wall Street stance? Ergo, if he has, GOP should have him screwing up the nominating convention?

GLEEFUL DEMOCRATS

While we are giving away unsolicited (and probably unwanted) advice to the powers that be - a word of warning to the Demos certainly is in order.

Sure, it's fun and games ing some cakes and pies for the silent auction as is Ruby Townsend with her outstanding Italian Creme Cake.

Other items of interest include a set of encyclopedias from Clyde Howard; several books from the library of Harry and Jane Wilmer plus a crystal hurricane lamp.

A brand new pressure cooker, in its original box, never opened is the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Neinst. Also, a rocking chair from Heirlooms by Paul and Jean White; a pie from Cathy's Signature Cakes thanks to Cathy and Frank Carlson; gift certificates from Jim Murchison at the Antique Mall and Titia Dunn, The Village Potter; plus a special gift from Bob and Doris Denman at the Royal Emporium.

Baked goods are coming in from: Sadie Holland, Maurine Bluntzer and Wilma Hall and a surprise gift from Mrs. Pat Barrett.

Also, Don Mackie has given a round of golf for four at Mill Creek Golf and Country Club; Peggy Wilson has given services and products from Hair Designs; Jackie Mills has given eight tickets to Salado Legends this summer. Willard Bennett has given $350 worth of pressure washing and Barbara and Ray Carve have given floral wreaths and a metal cabinet. Bundle of Joy recently gave a gift certificate to the auction.

UNUSUAL GIFT

Many times it is thought that only gifts from the home or store can be donated to an auction. Not necessarily so, as we consider two items "cut" by "Shorty" Kelly. How about two cords of aged oak firewood? To be sold by the cord and included will be delivery and stacking to the buyers specifications. Buyers are reminded that it will not always be an unseasonably hot winter. Case in point the subfreezing days of early February this year.

Also ready to be auctioned is a $25.00 gift certificate at La Mansion; a youth fishing vest, a Panasonic electric broom and a Smith-Corona dictionary and calculator donated by Bobbie Bennett; and a "no-ice" ice cream maker and handmade ladies vest from Perry and Woodie Grisham.

Susan Marie's is giving a $200 gift certificate to be auctioned off Saturday evening.

The famous "money jar" that created such great interest in last year's Civic Center auction will again be donated by Bill Bartlett, shown above with his daughter Melanie Kirchmeier, at their new Century 21 office on Main Street. Bill would not tell anyone how much money is in the jar but for a donation of $5, folks will have a chance to take home the "jar". The drawing will be held at the Civic Center Auction March 2, at the school cafeteria.

Photos by Marilyn Fleischer

A lovely framed landscape painting depicting the Peaceable Kingdom Retreat For Children, has been donated by Norma Brown and Charles and Mary Helen Schreiner. The Schreiners have also given a weekend stay for two at the world famous Y-O Ranch.

There will be a number of additional items for the auction arriving after this report is printed in the Salado Village Voice, according to Hulda Horton, civic center building manager, but everything will be on display when the doors open at the cafeteria well before the meal is served at 6 p.m.

The Board of Directors of the Old Salado School Foundation have asked that a special word of thanks be given to all these good people who have donated items for the auction, helped collect the donations, sold tickets and helped with the many other preparations.

It is the hope of the foundation that this will be the most successful of all auctions held to date by the civic center.

The aim of the foundation's board is to keep the civic center in excellent shape so that visitors and villagers who use the building almost on a daily basis will always be proud of the achievement that is today considered the very center of village life.

Chili supper silent auction set for Feb. 29

The annual Chili Supper and Silent Auction to benefit the Salado Volunteer Fire Department and Salado High School Student Council will be 5-8 p.m. Feb. 29 at the school cafeteria.

The volunteer fire-fighters will be serving chili to folks for $3 per bowl with all the fixings.

Frankie Rodriguez from the Sheriff's Department will be there for Identikid, where each child will have a snapshot and fingerprints taken for the parents.

Proceeds from the silent auction will benefit scholarships for Salado High School seniors.

If you would like to donate an item or make a cash donation, please call Salado High School and ask for Dee Fate or Erin Rigsby.

Some of the auction items include gift certificates from local shops, a $50 savings bond from Peoples National Bank, weekends at local hotels and bed and breakfast inns and free dinners at local restaurants.

Students take Salado Eagle Challenge

Students preparing for the TAAS Exit Exam have accepted The Salado Eagle Challenge issued by school administration, teachers and staff, area merchants and parents. The TAAS testing will be next week March 5-8.

Students have been collecting their TAAS Bucks by answering TAAS math problems correctly posted at Salado business. A special TAAS preparation class will be held from 2-4 p.m. March 3 at the High School. Volunteer administration and teachers will be assisting the students. Additional TAAS Bucks can be earned at this preparation class.

On March 4 an Auction will be held so that students can bid on various auction items using their TAAS Bucks. A wide range of auction items have been donated by Temple, Belton and Salado merchants, parents and teachers.

Parents are reminded to encourage their student to get a good night's rest each day before testing and eat a nutritional breakfast in the morning.

Pat Buchanan

On The Issues

America First We need a new foreign policy that ends foreign aid, and pulls up all the trip wires laid down abroad to involve American soldiers in wars that are none of America's business. And we need to demand that rich allies begin paying the full cost of their own defense.

Economic Nationalism Rather than making "global free trade" a golden calf which we all bow down to, and worship, all trade deals should be judged by whether: a) they maintain U.S. sovereignty, b) they protect vital economic interests, and c) they ensure a rising standard of living for all our workers. We must stop sacrificing American jobs on the altars of transnational corporations whose sole loyalty is to the bottom line.

Restoring Freedom American society is over-regulated, overtaxed, overburdened - by government. We need tax cuts across the board, and an end to the bias in the tax code against investment and saving. The IRS needs to be downsized. And any Balance Budget Amendment must have a tax limitation provision, so politicians cannot use it to raise the government's share of the people's income.

Restoring the 10th Many functions of the federal government are, de facto, unconstitutional, wholesale violations of the Tenth Amendment that reserves such powers to the states. The federal government should be cut, with Cabinet departments abolished, the money they spend returned to citizens, the duties they assumed returned to the states.

Judicial Reform Supreme Court Justices and federal judges have grabbed more power, far more, than the Constitution intended. We should strip that power away through judicial term limits, voter recall of renegade federal jurists, and reconfirmation of Supreme Court Justices every eight years.

Immigration Control Illegal immigration must be halted, and no illegal alien given welfare. We need a nationwide Proposition 187, a closing of the Southwest border to illegals (with the National Guard, if necessary) and a new immigration law where we Americans decide who comes, and when. Our first concern must be the peace, stability and unity of our own country.

Equal Justice Under Law Reverse discrimination - by quota, contract set-aside, busing, affirmative action - is un-American. We need to outlaw the federal classification of American citizens by race or ethnicity, and end all discrimination and all preferential treatment.

Traditional Values We must reverse Roe vs. Wade, persevere in the fight for life, and restore to citizens their Second Amendment rights and freedom to clean up the cultural pollution poisoning the hearts and minds of our children. The Presidency must become a bully pulpit for traditional values, not gays in the military. We will keep the Republican Party solidly in the pro-life camp, and get the U.S. government completely out of the abortion racket.

The Cultural War All federally funded institutions, from the Smithsonian to the National Endowment for the Arts, will manifest a respect for America's history and values; and all monuments, battlefields, and symbols of America's glorious, if not sometimes tragic, history will be protected.

Parental Control of Education Parents everywhere are fighting for the hearts and minds of their own children. We must shut down the Department of Education, and return authority to the states and the people.

Reinventing Constitutionalism In questions of power, said Jefferson, let us hear no more trust in men, but rather, bind them down from mischief with the chains of the Constitution. We need term limits on all members of Congress, and all our federal judges.

Warning to Parents

Warning to Parents: A form of tattoo called "Blue Star" is being sold to school children. It is a piece of paper containing a blue star. They are the size of a pencil eraser and each star is soaked with LSD.

The drug is absorbed through the skin simply by handling the paper.

There are also bright colored paper tattoos resembling postage stamps that have the picture of the following: Superman, Mickey Mouse, Clowns, Disney Characters, Bart Simpson, and Butterflies. These are laced with drugs.

If your child gets any of these, do not handle them. These are known to react quickly and some are laced with strychnine.

Side effects which are noticeable are hallucinations, severe vomiting, uncontrollable laughing, mood changes, and change in body temperature.

Baseball sign-up

Salado Baseball Association will hold the annual sign-up 9 a.m.-5 p.m. March 2 at IGA Village Foods.

If your child has not played baseball in Salado before, you must bring a copy of their birth certificate. The cost for one child to play is $30, two children $55 and $5 for each additional child.

Good fortune will elevate even petty minds, and give them the appearance of a certain greatness and stateliness, as from their high place they look down upon the world; but the truly noble and resolved spirit raises itself, and becomes more conspicuous in times of disaster and ill fortune.

Friends of Salado Public Library 1996 membership drive now underway

The 1996 Friends of the Salado Public Library membership drive is continuing into 1996. Annual dues are used for increasing and updating the collection of books, videos, audios, magazines and newspapers. Dues are also used for expanding the children's programs and to provide help with the operating expenses.

All libraries operate without federal or state support with the exception of a small amount for books which is given by the state. Many Friends enjoy working in the library as part of the volunteer staff. They also assist with fund raisers such as the annual Art Fair.

For those who would like to join Friends of the Salado Public Library send dues to the Salado Public Library P O Box 706, Salado, TX 76571. Individual membership is $15, family membership is $25, Sponsorship is $100. All dues are tax deductible.

For more information about the Salado Public Library call 947-9191.

Public Notice

Central Telephone Company of Texas (Centel) has filed with the Public Utility Commission of Texas (Commission) to charge the same rates to switched access customers (primarily long distance providers) for interstate and intrastate service. These access rates are typically paid by long distance companies to local exchange companies like Centel for completion for long distance calls.

Section 3/211(j) of the Public Utility Regulatory Act of 1995 permits local exchange telephone companies to charge the same interstate and intrastate switched access rates after filing with the Texas PUC and their order within 60 days of filing. Centel's application was filed on February 5, 1996

This adjustment does not apply to the local or long distance rates paid by residential or business customers. The rate adjustment is applicable only to approximately 75 specialized customers that purchase switched access from Centel.

Once implemented, Centel's annual intrastate revenue will increase by approximately $6,734,664 or approximately 9.8 percent.

Persons who wish to intervene in or comment upon these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible, as an intervention deadline will be imposed. A request to intervene or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Austin, TX 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission's Consumer Affairs Office at (512) 458-0256 or (512) 458-0221 for text telephone. The deadline for intervention in the proceeding is 45 days after the date the application was filed with the Commission.

Prune roses

Prune your roses this month as leaf buds swell, but before active growth starts. Cut off all winter-killed, broken or insect-damaged or diseased canes.

Most bush roses should be pruned to leave about five vigorous canes about 18 to 24 inches tall. Hybrid tea varieties may be cut back about one-fourth to give an abundance of small blooms, about one-half to produce moderate number of medium-sized flowers and about three-fourths to provide a smaller number of exhibition size roses.

Climbing and rambling roses should be pruned after they bloom. They produce flowers on one-year-old canes from buds which developed late last summer. If the canes are too long they may be reduced now to a suitable length for the trellis. Do not cut drastically leaving only short stems as this would eliminate most of your flowers this year.

After the pruning is done, cover the cut end of the canes with wound dressing or caulking compound. This prevents the entrance of carpenter bees who lay their eggs in the soft pith in the center of the freshly-cut stem. These eggs develop into larvae that burrow into the canes and weaken the bush.

All weeds and grass should be dug or pulled from the beds. This can be most easily done when the soil is moist after a rain or irrigation. Do not dig too deep as the roots of your roses may be damaged. Put a layer of fresh mulch around your rose bushes to control weeds and conserve moisture.

To promote vigorous green growth, broadcast one-hag cup of 8-8-8 fertilizer or equivalent around each bush keeping at least 12 inches from the trunk. Work into the top inch of the soil and water thoroughly.

Nothing changes more constantly than the past; for the past that influences our lives does not consist of what actually happened but of what men believe happened.

Group presidents announce goals for 1996

The presidents of the Salado Chamber of Commerce, Salado Historical Society and Old Salado School Foundation recently announced their goals and objectives for 1996.

The top goal for the three organizations is to work to create a harmonious atmosphere in the village this year.

Lloyd Parks is President of the Salado Chamber of Commerce.

Following are the goals for the Salado Chamber of Commerce in 1996.

1. Create a harmonious and teamwork atmosphere in the village of Salado. Work to educate all groups of the common need of each.

2. Work with SISD Board to improve school facilities.

3. Work with county officials to set up an animal control unit.

to play the part of the wise and steady leader of a free world while the loyal opposition is playing Russian roulette with a loaded six gun.

And it is true that "turn-about-is-fair-play" even when it comes down to having GOPers steal the "take no prisoners" ploy used so often by our Democratic friends.

Fact is, self-confidence leads to over-confidence and that is suicide for any candidate. President Clinton needs to figure that he is in the battle of his life - even if the Republicans right now are not playing nice with each other.

All that can change in an instant - and will - the minute the GOP convention is over and should they come out of San Diego with a dynamic duo consisting of Dole and Powell - it will be Katie-Bar-The-Door for Clinton and a whole host of fellow down-balloters.

On the other hand, if it is Dole and a throw-away veep, then the Republicans are flirting with losing the White House as well as their recent gains in the Congress.

MIDDLE CLASS WATCHING

And last but not least - in the area of advice offerings - both parties better pay close attention to the huge working middle class in this great country of ours.

These folks are explosively uneasy, worried about their jobs and distrustful of government and politicians.

Whichever candidate can reach this mass of voters, with an honest way out of their anxieties, he and his party will grab the winning ticket for a heady ride on the presidential train into the next century.

Going to have to convince our multi-national business giants as well as the rest of the entrepreneurial leaders that sharing their wealth with workers is not some communist plot.

Rather it is good business along with giving labor a new sense of belonging through a loyalty transfusion that works downward from the board-room to the lowest work station.

GREAT NEW IDEA

A number of Saladoans got to meet Fort Hood's new

Commanding Officer - Lt. General Thomas Schwartz, at the annual chamber banquet some weeks back.

The three star leader of III Corps, and Fort Hood is a youngish, outgoing and personable representative of today's military. He impressed everyone present and his interest in Salado came through via an idea he plans to announce in a few weeks - namely pairing a battalion with an area town.

Both groups would take an interest in each other so when something is going on in Salado "our" battalion would be invited to take part and we in turn would be asked to join the battalion at Fort Hood for whatever activity might be appropriate.

Purpose of course is to bring the military and civilian populations closer together in understanding and cooperation.

The under-construction bandstand on the Civic Center grounds was discussed with General Schwartz and when asked if he would be amenable to sending one of his bands over for a late Spring dedication, the answer came back with verve and excitement: "You bet. Count on it. Just tell me when and I'll bring them over."

Several days later when his office was called, sure enough, he had told his people to expect the call and to get things ready for the occasion.

So - Salado will not only have a new bandstand but a great band to present a dedication concert and even a few words from the Commanding General of the world's largest military installation - probably about the need for, and value of - closer ties between the military and civilian communities.

This new general not only talks about cooperation - he leads the charge.

Salado medical history impacts, affected by college

by MaryBelle Brown
Contributor

One of the most talked about subjects at the present time is "Health Care." Health Care Management, a red-hot political issue is one of the most complex problems facing the medical profession, elected officials, and each of us.

But how did our ancestors handle health care? Just who were the providers of health care?

Every small town had its own family doctor. Dr. Carroll Kendrick was the first physician to come to the Salado area. After crisscrossing the Texas frontier from the Red River to Galveston and from the Sabine to the Western frontier, a line running roughly along the watersheds feeding the Colorado, Leon, and Lampases Rivers, and looking for a place to settle, Dr. Kendrick chose to make his home in the Salado Springs area.

After all these travels, he described the area as "home", the place he had been looking for with plenty of wild game, timber, water and pasture land.

Dr. Kendrick was a native of Tennessee and was educated at Bacon College in Georgetown, Kentucky. He came to Texas in 1851, first settling in Crockett, then moved to the Salado area in 1852.

Dr. Kendrick was not the usual country doctor. He was a brilliant man, a staunch believer in education. His ultimate goal, wherever he chose to settle was to build a school and start educating his own children as well as others. Dr. Kendrick was a devoted Christian and saw the need for training preachers and church workers on the Texas frontier. He was an effective gospel preacher with a history of many conversions.

Kendrick built a small school building of rawhide lumber about two miles south of Salado, secured a well-educated teacher for his own children and a number of "boarders." Word spread about the school and Dr. Kendrick's plans for building a bigger and better school to be named "Philanthropia Institute". This drew families to the area and, eventually Salado College came into existence. When the town was laid out and lots were sold to raise funds for the college building, Dr. Kendrick bought a lot located on the corner of what is now Robertson Road and Salado Creek Road and built a house for his family. Dr. Kendrick became a member of the first Board of Trustees of the college. During this activity in 1859, Dr. Kendrick and others organized the first church in Salado, the Church of Christ, which has been in continuous existence since that time.

Although someone else is credited with being the founder of Salado College, Dr. Kendrick was the person responsible for the movement which eventually brought the college into existence. This makes a strong point which described the pioneer doctors. They were community leaders and people relied on them to guide them in all kinds of initiatives and projects.

Existing records do not give any particulars about Dr. Kendrick's practice of medicine. There were few medications, no vaccines, no antibiotics or tranquilizers, and the only anesthetics known were "biting the bullet" or a glass of whiskey.

Travelling peddlers, or "medicine men", came through the settlements periodically, selling bottles of "miracle drugs" for every known ailment. Early settlers were left to their own discretion as to how disease and sicknesses were handled. Natural remedies gleaned from plants, leaves, berries and roots were used widely.

A trip to historical Salado Cemetery will reveal some startling statistics, such as the large number of infants and small children buried there, as well as the young ages at which death occurred, and the number of women dying at childbirth.

There were epidemics of whooping cough, measles, chickenpox, smallpox, and dysentery. And then there were snake bites, gin and mill accidents, and fires resulting in deaths.

While Dr. Kendrick was the only physician in the area in 1860, the 1870 U.S. Census listed six physicians. From the time the college opened until 1926, there were approximately 18 physicians who came to Salado in order to educate their children. From this group, four chose to settle in Salado, spending their remaining years in the village, five of whom were buried in Salado Cemetery. These were Drs. Barton, Kimbrough, McKie, Guthrie, and Griffin. Dr. Randolph's burial place is unknown.

Among those arriving in the 1860's were Drs. J. A. Ewing, J.J. Gregory, Welborn Barton and D.H. Armstrong, followed by Drs. J.R. Rucker, Leon Hunt, H.H. Parker, L.A. Ogle. In the 1880s, Drs. J. D. Law and Dr. Kimbrough arrived, as well as Dr. B. D. McKie, Dr. Crow White, Dr. Witt, Dr. George, Dr. W.A. Davis, Dr. Edwin Guthrie, and Dr. Robert Barton. Dr. Ira Griffin arrived sometime in the early 1900's and practiced until 1926.

Dr. Welborn Barton came to Salado shortly after the college opened and remained until his death in 1883. Dr. Barton was a community leader, serving as a trustee of Salado College and as a Sunday School teacher in the Baptist Church. One of the Barton sons, Robert Wilson, also became a physician. He practiced with his father for several years, moving to Temple after his father's death.

Dr. Benjamin D. McKie came to Salado several years after the Civil War. He served as a surgeon in the United States Army during the Mexican War and was wounded three times. He later served in the Army of the Confederacy and was wounded severely. He was struck in the right side by a minnie ball, which passed through his right lung and out near his spine. After receiving this wound, he rode to the rear of the battle, dismounted from his horse, removed the saddle, spread his blanket on the ground and laid down. Someone gave him a flask of peach brandy which was all the medical treatment he received for 24 hours. Dr. McKie survived to rejoin his company later in the battles of Gaines Mill and Millican's Bend. Dr. McKie came to Salado to educate his children and remained here until his death in 1883.

Dr. Frank G. Kimbrough was practicing medicine in Salado around 1900. Ruth Berry Brown remembers him well. He drove a Brush automobile, described by Ruth as a chain-driven vehicle with large back wheels and smaller front wheels. It made such noise it could be heard for miles around. Ruth remembers Dr. Kimbrough making a call to see her grandfather who was ill with pneumonia. Dr. Kimbrough lived in a house directly across Thomas Arnold Street from the Methodist Church.

Dr. Kimbrough's office and drug store was a fascinating place. It was located on the west side of South Main Street, three buildings north of the Stagecoach Inn. In the drug store, there were cases of silverware, china, and glassware, as well as jewelry. The building was lighted by a beautiful coal oil lamp.

Dr. Randolph, whose first name is unknown to this writer, come to Salado with a different mission. He built a bath house near the mineral spring located near the site of the pond on Stagecoach Inn property by what is now known as the Village Green.

At that time there were several famous mineral bath houses (we would call them "spas" now) in Texas, in Lampasas, Mineral Wells and Marlin. Dr. Randolph hoped that his venture would prove to be equally successful. People did travel from other areas to Salado and were guests of the hotel next door. Bathing in the mineral water as well as drinking it was supposed to have great medicinal value. An interesting thing about the bath house was its shape. It was built in an octagonal shape with windows all around.

According to Ruth Brown, the building was used for other purposes during World War I. She remembers that the young ladies of the town organized a Junior Red Cross Unit and would gather at the bath house to roll bandages for our armed forces overseas.

Dr. Randolph was tall, thin, blond and single and lived at Gault's Rooming House (now known as the Tyler House). The bath house was washed away in the flood in September 1921.

Dr. James Edwin (Dr. "Eddie") Guthrie moved to Salado with his family in 1865, where his grandparents were living. Dr. Guthrie was in the first primary class at Salado College and received his medical education in Louisville, Kentucky and at Bellevue Hospital in New York. He practiced medicine in Salado and sometimes served as the druggist for many years. He died at age 90 in 1950. One of Dr. Guthrie's sons, Robert Lee, was the first Rhodes Scholar from Texas.

Dr. Ira Griffin began his practice of medicine in Salado in the early part of the century and continued until 1926. Ruth Brown and her sister, Naomi, remember watching the country doctor drive to a house in his buggy, dismount with his black bag and enter the house. Perhaps hours later, the doctor would leave. Later, Ruth and Naomi would hear of a new baby at the house where the doctor had visited. For many year these two little girls thought the doctor brought babies in that black bag.

From 1926 until 1995 there was no doctor practicing medicine in Salado, a period of almost 70 years. More history was made in August of 1995 when Salado Medical Clinic opened its doors with a bonafide family practice physician and a certified family nurse practitioner.

Note: Next week's article will tell more about this new venture in Salado.

Salado artist Ronnie Wells will create the cover art for the next edition of Salado: A Jewel in the Crown of Texas. The cover art will depict the historic Methodist Church, according to publishers Tim and Marilyn Fleischer.

The deadline for advertising in the Salado: A Jewel in the Crown of Texas publication is March 15, according to publishers Tim and Marilyn Fleischer.

The magazine-style publication will go to press in early April for distribution before the May 4-5 Antique Show and Tour of Homes.

Advertising rates for the 20,000 copy magazine are $75 for a quarter-page, $135 for half-page and $240 for full page with spot color being an additional cost.

"Most of our newspaper advertisers feel that A Jewel in the Crown of Texas is a great supplement to reach the market of weekenders and visitors," Fleischer said. "In addition to our distribution on the stands, many copies are mailed to out-of-town folks who want to know about Salado."

To reserve your space in the next Jewel in the Crown of Texas, call 947-5321.

Salado Dems meet March 12 at precinct

Salado Democrats will not meet on their usual date. Instead, all Democrats are asked to attend the Precinct meeting at 7 p.m. March 12 immediately after the polls close.

Decisions will be made at the March 12 meeting that will affect the remainder of 1996.

Hulda Horton (947-8300) is precinct chair and will gladly answer any questions you may have.

For anyone who has not yet decided how to vote in the Senate race, independent voter guides have been placed at the Civic Center.

C & W Jamboree planned March 2

The Moffat monthly Country Western Jamboree will be held 7 p.m., Mar. 2 at The Other Place in downtown Moffat.

All musicians and listeners are welcome to attend and participate in the program. Admission is free.

The concession stand will be open with all proceeds going toward the upkeep of the building.

Temple Junior College President to address Salado Lions Feb. 28

The Salado Lions Club meet at 11:30 a.m. Feb. 28, in the Mill Creek Country Club dining room. The guest speaker will be the president of Temple Junior College Dr. Marc A Nigliazzo.

Before coming to Temple in 1995, Dr. Nigliazzo served as president of Galveston College in Galveston, Texas. Other positions he has held are vice pres. and dean of instruction at Galveston College.

He obtained a B.A. in English at the University of Texas at Austin in 1966; M.A. in English at Texas A&M University at College Station in 1967 and received his Ph.D. in English from the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque in 1973.

Nigliazzo is currently a member of Temple Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors and the Temple Education Foundation Board of Directors.

Salado Institute for the Humanities announces spring lecture series

The Institute for the Humanities at Salado is presenting a series of four lecture-dinners and four seminars on the theme of "Renewing Integrity." The Institute is an autonomous, non-partisan, non-profit corporation that offers life-long educational learning opportunities to the general public.

The first speaker in the spring series is John Beebe, M.D., a Jungian analyst and psychiatrist in San Francisco where he practices and teaches psychotherapy for the department of psychiatry at the University of California Medical School. Dr. Beebe is author of the book, Integrity in Depth, a treatise that is grounded in philosophy, psychology and literature. Beebe's seminar and lecture is March 9-10 in Salado.

Martin Adson, M.D. is the March 23-24 speaker in Salado. Adson is emeritus consultant, department of surgery at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, MN. Dr. Adson is a teacher of ethics and is involved in the human values and bioethics curriculum at the Mayo Medical School.

The third speaker in the Institutes spring series is Robert Berdahl, president of The University of Texas at Austin on April 13-14. Berdahl stresses undergraduate education, outreach to the surrounding community, and the development of a stronger sense of community amidst the diversity on campus.

The series of seminars and lectures concludes with the 1976 Nobel Peace Laureate, Betty Williams. Williams, a peace activist, is a frequent speaker at the United Nations where she advocates that all people deserve the dignity to live in peace. Her seminar and lecture are April 27-28 in Salado.

Registration for this series of seminars and lectures is open on a space available basis. Please call the Institute for the Humanities at Salado for more information (817) 947-5729.

mote the continued community financial support of the OSSF in its coming projects. Hulda Horton will lead this effort.

2. Awards

Research, select and present awards for past renovations and similar projects that have contributed significantly to the attractiveness and success of Salado by preserving and highlighting its historical past. These awards will be presented at the July 4th picnic and will span from the reopening of the Stagecoach Inn by the Van Bibbers to the present date. Mary Belle Brown and Doris Denman will oversee this important undertaking.

3. Historical Articles

Publish in the Salado Village Voice every other month a researched article prepared by a member of the Historical Society concerning an interesting person or event in Salado's past. These articles will be combined with previous historical articles about Salado and will eventually become a book to be published by the Historical Society. Mary Belle Brown and Pat Barton will lead this task.

4. Construction Projects

Publish in the Salado Village Voice monthly an article describing all new construction or renovation projects brought to the attention of the Historical Guidelines Committee. Martha Price and Tim and Marilyn Fleischer will oversee this function.

5. Limmer Farmstead

Consider working with the OSSF in the relocation to the rear of the Civic Center and the renovation of a 100+ year old farm home donated to the OSSF by E.A. Limmer and family.

6. Mailing List

Cooperate and work with Chamber and Lions Clubs and others to finalize a computerized (labels) mailing list of all Salado residents and of certain nonresident, to be used by the Chamber, the Historical Society and other civic groups. Present plans call for use of the Chamber computer for this task. Hulda Horton will supervise this matter.

7. Positive Image

Most importantly, make a strong positive contribution to Saladoans by enhancing their knowledge and appreciation of our village's past, thereby enlisting their voluntary support and cooperation in preserving such past for those to come.

Bob Cottle is President of the Old Salado School Foundation.

The following are goals and objective for the Old Salado School Foundation for 1996:

COMMUNITY

1. To insure that a harmonious atmosphere and cooperative attitude exists between the Civic Center and all other Associations in Salado.

Lindley visits U.S. capitol for Presidential classroom

Marissa Lindley, a student at Salado High School, took part in the first Presidential Classroom "Special-Focus Week on Business, Entrepreneurship, Government and the Economy."

As a participant in Presidential Classroom's new program in Washington, D.C., Lindley joined 180 high school juniors and seniors from 33 states, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, Canada and Mexico.

The students spent a week meeting with government and business leaders and learning about the democratic process firsthand.

While in Washington, the students, in small groups, participated in half-day internship experiences at the National Association of Public Administration, the Defense Investigative Service, Marriott Corporation, the Pentagon, the Federal Emergency Management Agency, U.S. News and World Report, the Central Intelligence Agency, Executive Office of Immigration - Department of Justice, the National Highway Safety Administration - Department of Transportation, and the Environmental Protection Agency.

Students attended seminars at the Departments of Agriculture and the floor of the House of Representatives, and visited foreign embassies.

Participants also met with the offices of each of their Senators and Representatives and attended Congressional sessions, committee hearings and other events on Capitol Hill.

During the session each speaker delivered prepared remarks and then took individual student questions. These lively, informed discussions addressed some of the most controversial and current issues facing American leadership.

Students also attended Crossfire discussions on each branch of the government and current issues, and visited the monuments, memorials, and treasures of the capital city.

A non-profit, non-partisan civic education organization celebrating its 27th

A Goldie Opportunity

by Leah Buzzard

Salado Humane Society

Goldie.... we found her on a country road chasing grasshoppers. We stopped and finally called her to us. When I picked her up she was such a light handful, mostly bones and fur. When my sister and I got her home and into a small pen she went to the water first and drank for several minutes before she ate food.

For the first couple of days her droppings in the litter box consisted of nothing but insect parts and grass. She was truly not far from starvation.

From the first she was so gently and loving with us, but a little timid with the other cats. We have to watch and sometimes feed her away from the others because she doesn't stand up for herself at feeding time.

She's a plain little cat, a brindle with a little gold here and there. In the two years we've had her she's been passed over many times for more handsome cats. She may be plain on the outside but inside has a very sweet and loving nature. Surely someone will recognize this and adopt her.

Goldie is available for adoption now. Call Leah at 947- 5288.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Sutton have announced the engagement of their son, Howard E. Sutton, of Salado, to Carrie J. Kruger, also of Salado. The bride is the daughter of Gerald Kruger of Harker Heights, and Berta Neal, of Montana. The couple plans a March 30 wedding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Verlon Haire of Salado.
