Vets, we want you!

Over 30 respond to call, but more sought for special World War II publication

Attention Salado World War II Veterans, their spouses, children, grandchildren and friends:

The Salado Village Voice is planning a special edition in early Sept. to honor all of the veterans who fought in the war and now live in Salado.

If you live in Salado and fought in the military during World War II, please contact the Salado Village Voice at 947-5321 or come by our office at 100 Mill Creek Dr., Suite #125 to fill out a short questionnaire. We would also like a war-time photo, which will be returned after the publication date. Even if you do not have an old phot, please fill out the questionnaire.

The deadline for this special publication has been moved back to Sept. 1.

The special tribute edition will be free of advertising and free of charge.

"We have had a great response to our call to veterans so far," said editor Tim Fleischer. "We have received over 30 forms and photos and look forward to several more as the deadline nears."

The following have already turned in their information and photos:

John W. "Bill" Fish, Wilbur R. Foster, Harley I. Grimm, Richard L. "Skip" Hatter, Willard J. Heth, Louis A. Hill, Robert "Vernon" Holt, Floyd A. Jackson, Dick Johnson, Grace Jones, Joseph R. Lanthier, Wayne Lowery.

If your name is not listed above, there is still time to turn in your information, Fleischer said.

"I know that many of these men are reluctant to do this," Fleischer said, "but maybe their spouses, children, grandchildren or neighbors can cajole them into it."

"Marilyn and I have enjoyed visiting with those veterans and wives who have brought their forms by our office,"

One lucky duck will be packing his (or her) bags for a vacation after the Oct. 7 Duck Race down the Creek. To make sure that duck is you, you have to purchase tickets. For more information, call 947-5040.

Lucky ducks to win trip, shopping spree, more

One lucky duck will win a vacation package worth $3,000 during the first annual Duck Race down Salado Creek Oct. 7 in Pace Park.

The Duck Race is part of the Salado Family Festival.

The grand prize winner may choose either a seven day ski trip for two to Colorado, a seven day Bahama cruise for two, a three night Hawaiian trip for two or a five night family trip for four to Disneyland.

Second place winner will receive a Salado shopping spree, while third place will win an original painting by Salado's own wildlife artist Ronnie Wells.

Other prizes in the race include a stay for four at the YO Ranch in Mountain Home, a Lynn Haney Santa from Gregory's and stays at Salado's bed and breakfast inns.

A full list of prizes in the race will appear at a later date.

Ducks are now available for $25 for one duck, $100 for five or $200 for a flock of 12 ducks.

A maximum of 1,000 ducks will be floated down the creek from the springs at Sirena to the rapids at the end of Pace Park.

In addition to the duck race, the Salado Family Festival will include many fun events for folks from eight to 80: volleyball tournament, horseshoes, dominoes, a dunking booth, kids games and refreshments, all of which will be free.

Kids will have a great time in the balloon stomp, sack race, egg toss, balloon race and three-legged race.

Also, the Salado Family Festival will have the first-ever tug-of-war across the creek.

This "Pull for Youth" tug-of-war tournament has as its grand prize a party for up to 18 people given by La Mansion de Salado. Entry fee into the tug of war contest is $25 per team of nine people with all proceeds given to the Salado Youth Association.

You can enter the duck race by purchasing tickets at many locations in the village including the Salado Chamber of Commerce, the Salado Village Voice, IGA Village Foods, First State Bank, Peoples National Bank, Family Dentistry, Gregory's and Century 21 Bill Bartlett.

ABWA style show held at civic center

Satin, flannel, denim, tapestry and lace; fancy duds and casual wear swirled, sashayed and enticed an audience of approximately 100 at the 1995 fall fashion show and luncheon hosted by the Chisholm Trail American Business Women's Association in Salado Aug. 26.

The crowd enjoyed a pair of interwoven style shows, Christy Arner highlighted samples available from her fashion boutique, Christy's; another set of models showed off fashion wear from The Store at Old Town Salado, as Becky McAulay narrated. Both shows featured music by Salado's Marge Kirkman playing the grand piano in the upstairs auditorium of the Salado Civic Center

The Langoliers

Not Rated

Starring Patricia Wettig, Dean Stockwell, Bronson Pinchot

Our rating: *

by Tim Fleischer
Editor-in-Chief

The Langoliers is stupid. It was stupid as a novella in Stephen King's Four Past Midnight. It was stupid as a mini-series on ABC earlier this year. And it is stupid as a recent video release.

Several passengers on board a late night flight awake to find themselves alone. Other than the few other passengers on the flight, there are no flight attendants, air traffic controllers, or anyone else for that matter.

They discover that they are caught in time, and that The Langoliers are coming to eat the past with them in it. If the viewer could be so lucky.

Too bad The Langoliers couldn't have eaten the time spent making this dog and saved all Stephen King fans from a terrible disappointment.

What is worst in all this is the arrival of The Langoliers, three-dimensional Pac-Men bent on eating everything in their path. As far as monster go, they are laughable.

If you want to enjoy a Stephen King novel translated into a mini-series, try The Stand. But avoid The Langoliers like the plague they are.

D-day looms for Salado

"Onward Thru The Fog"

Appropriate Motto (Borrowed)

The final town hall meeting on the subject of the possible incorporation of Salado is over and a trial ballot is in the hands of potential voters.

The work accomplished by the Central Texas Council of Governments has been more than helpful in chairing the town meetings and providing information on the pros and cons of this important and far reaching challenge in the life of the village.

Within a few days there will come what some have termed "D-Day", which for Saladoans in 1995 means "Decision Day". A decision on whether or not to call for an election to incorporate all or part of the community.

The results of the trial ballot will guide the steering committee's decision to either recommend to the Chamber of Commerce that the village drop the entire matter of incorporation or suggest taking the first steps toward seeking the appropriate number of signatures of citizens who will live within the proposed city limits of the "yet-to-be" organized village.

If the Chamber's Board of Directors determines that there is sufficient evidence, from the study and results of the trial vote, to incorporate some or all of the village - they will proceed at once to comply with the legal requirements, set forth under various State statutes, that must be in place before the County Judge can call for a vote.

Once the election is called, a simple majority of eligible voters who actually go to the polls on the assigned day, will determine the outcome of the issue.

If voters approve the plan to incorporate, a second election to select town officials will be held within a short period of time.

Probably the most far reaching part of this entire operation will be the need for an agreed upon decision as to just what land area is to be incorporated.

It is hoped that the trial balloting currently underway will help answer this sticky matter.

The question being, shall the incorporation vote take in only an area that would include what is now termed the Historical District or cover an expanded all-inclusive area encompassing as much of the present village as is allowed by State law.

That debate has been going on for some time with the sides fairly well formed.

What has not been forthcoming has been an outpouring of interest in this matter of incorporation.

Many think the apparent lack of enthusiastic vocal concern at the previous two town hall meetings or for that matter - throughout the entire village during the summer, would seem to indicate that people either have: (a) Already made up their minds - for or against the proposition, (b) Don't really care one way or the other or, (c) Are opposed to any sort of new governmental addition to their lives - which translated could very well mean - they don't want to pay any new taxes.

No matter what finally happens, we owe the Chamber Board of Directors a sincere vote of thanks for handling this matter in a professional manner.

They have stayed out of the limelight and mostly succeeded in their objective of eliminating, as much

Commissioner writes letter to editor

Editor:

Since the Interstate 35 Corridor Coalition was formed a little over a year ago, a lot has been said about the merits (and motives) of the effort in which Bell County is a charter member. Unfortunately, the discussion has been dominated by misinterpretation and misunderstanding and in the process the underlying issues have been obscured or overlooked entirely.

Critics of the coalition suggest that those of us who favor the effort are proponents of more growth, more traffic, more noise, more pollution, etc. Nothing could be farther from the truth. Let's look at the facts.

The fact is that Interstate 35 is already the principal commercial artery through the center of Texas and much of the heartland of the United States. Whether we consider the highway to be an asset or a detriment to our region or our community, it is nevertheless a geographic reality.

The fact is that the interstate highway system which was conceived, planned and funded four decades ago is essentially complete and to a large extent the original funding mechanisms for the construction of that system have been dismantled. This, together with the prohibitive cost of building a major highway from scratch today will dictate that many of the alternative routes which have been proposed as relievers for IH 35 will never make it off the drawing board. This is an economic reality.

The fact is that the North American Free Trade Agreement has been enacted and will remain in effect. The expected increase in commercial activity between our country and our neighbors across the border(s) along with the attendant increase in truck traffic on our interstate highways is already being seen. Regardless of our feelings about NAFTA, it is a legal reality.

The fact is that the same combinations of amenities which have drawn so many to central Texas in recent decades will continue to fuel regional growth. Whether we like growth or not, it too is a reality.

These are not areas in which we enjoy the privilege of choice. We can no more turn aside the growth which is coming our way than we could pick Salado up and move it to California. Recognizing this fact, the purpose of the Interstate 35 Corridor Coalition is not promotion but rather preparation.

Just as the traditional sources of funding for interstate highway construction are drying up, the realization has grown that we can't build our way out of our transportation problems, anyway. The emphasis in infrastructure planning has shifted away from building more or bigger highways to finding ways to make our existing highway system function more safely and efficiently. In 1991 Congress passed the Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act (ISTEA) which mandates many of the innovative concepts to be applied to future projects. At the same time, new funding mechanisms were created for those projects which comply. Again, the focus is on the amelioration of problems within the network of existing highways rather than on the construction of new ones. In short, when it comes to working on federal highway projects, it is a whole new ball game and the competition for available funds will be fierce.

In this new game, the primary role of the Interstate 35 Corridor Coalition is to position ourselves in such a way as to most effectively compete for those precious federal dollars which will be essential to maintain our highway system in the best (not necessarily biggest) possible condition. The designation of NAFTA Superhighway is nothing more than a device to focus the attention of Congress and the Department of Transportation on the significance of this roadway, as a unit, on the premise that it will be necessary to "package" funds from a variety of sources in order to meet the long term, comprehensive needs of a major, existing highway such as Interstate 35 which will inevitably bear the brunt of increased commercial traffic under NAFTA.

None of this poses a threat to Salado. It is my belief that locally, a reconfiguration of the roadway (to provide designated truck lanes, for instance) within the confines of the existing right of way could sufficiently accommodate a significant increase in traffic for decades. And the fact is that even this sort of project is many years away. But that is exactly where our focus needs to be.

To ignore these matters would be irresponsible. To sit back and complain about growth and expect to avert it is foolish. The worst thing we could do is nothing. Regardless of what happens on other NAFTA highways, the volume of traffic on Interstate 35 will continue to increase over time and the only prudent course for our leadership is to take whatever steps necessary to insure that our highway system will be maintained in the best possible condition.

As far as my personal sentiments about growth are concerned, I liked Salado just fine when the only highway was old U.S. 81 (now otherwise known as Main Street) and the focus of social activity in the community was the front porch of the feed store. The most controversial thing going on was the checker game taking place behind the meat counter in Roy Shepard's grocery store and stray cats were welcome (for pest control of course). But those days are gone. That's reality.

To the Editor:

Our thanks to you from each member of the Chisholm Trail American Business Women's Association tion for helping ensure the success of our recent ABWA luncheon and style show.

We deeply appreciate the supportive coverage your newspaper has provided our group since it was chartered in Salado nine years ago, in January 1985.

And today we particularly wish to thank you for helping us provide information regarding our August 26 luncheon and style. We also sincerely thank Christy Arner and Becky McAulay for their organizational skills, their support and the wonderful fashions. Becky and Christy--you did a great job selecting fashions and narrating our show!

Special thanks, too, for the fabulous mood-setting music of Marge Kirkman. No one could have done it better.

In addition, we appreciate the opportunity to thank the following Salado merchants who donated the great door prizes. We were able to award at this year's fashion luncheon: MJ's Country Corner, Simply Salado, Salado Galleries, Stagecoach Inn, Fletcher's Books and Antiques, Salado Antique Mall, Strawberry Patch, Young Williams Manor, Village Pharmacy, My Hiding Place, Margaret's Beauty Spa, Hair Designs, Salado Confectionery, Salado Pottery and the Christmas Shop.

Again we appreciate the support and coverage your paper has always given the Chisholm Trail American Business Women's Association!

Thank you!

Celebrate Ballroom Dancing Week

Because there is only one weekend per week, it will take almost a month for Temple and Waco dancers to celebrate National Ballroom Dance Week with seven ballroom events on tap.

Officially, the "week" is Sept. 16-23 in order to get two Saturdays into the scene.

Here's the tentative Central Texas schedule:

• Sept. 9, Temple. Central Texas Stardust Dance Club will have its regular "second Saturday" dance in the Elks Lodge ballroom in Temple beginning at 8 p.m. with the Dick Thomas orchestra.

• Sept. 16, Waco. Waco Stardust Dance Club will have the Gary Lee orchestra for its 8 p.m. dance at the Lions Den.

• Sept. 16, Temple. The Cotillion Club will have its "Fall Ball" at the Cultural Activities Center beginning at 8 p.m. with Ray Mitchell's Blue Notes orchestra.

• Sept. 21, Temple. A feature of the Senior State Championships, competition in dancing events will be conducted in the Mayborn Convention Center. After the evening finals there will ballroom dancing for all participants in the Texas Senior Games.

• Sept. 23, Waco. The Gary Lee orchestra will play for the 8 p.m. ballroom dance by the Cabaret Club in the Lions Den.

• Sept. 23, Waco. At Ridgewood Country Club, Dr. Charles Stewart and his Echoes orchestra will play at the Big Band Club gala.

• Sept. 30, Temple. A major event of the ballroom season will be the Cultural Activities Center's annual big band dance in the Mayborn Convention Center. Charlie St. George and his Memory Makers orchestra will provide music for the major public event of the celebration.

Area dance clubs are non-profit organizations whose members pay dues in order to hire an orchestra, rent a ballroom, and meet related expenses. Most have "closed" dances when the membership list is full and "open" dances when space permits guests.

Non-members should contact clubs to learn about membership vacancies or "open" dates.

In Temple, information on most dances may be obtained by calling Dr. Nil Whittington at 939-1423.

In Austin, where several ballroom venues are active, a source of information is the Dancer's Guide, (512) 339-8346.

Recycling returns to Salado 2nd, 4th Saturdays Sept. 9

A unique cooperative alliance between a governmental agency, private enterprise, and volunteer citizens will launch a new recycling system for Salado starting Sep. 9.

Karen Kinnison, who heads up the Salado volunteer group, has announced that the Central Texas Council of Governments (CTCOG) has donated to the community a new trailer especially designed for drop-off collection of recyclable materials. Salado is the first community in the CTCOG region to inaugurate this program, according to Tim Jenkins, Regional Planner for CTCOG in Belton.

Al Clawson Disposal, Inc. will park the trailer at the IGA parking lot every second and fourth Saturday 9 a.m.-12 noon. This company will be responsible for hauling the materials to a recycling center. The trailer, green with gold accents, is compartmental-ized to receive the various recyclables, and Salado volunteers will be on hand to assist in keeping the materials separated.

Initially, citizens can drop off the following categories: newspapers with inserts, office paper, magazines, and junk mail, cardboard, aluminum cans, metal food cans or tin, plastic milk jugs and water jugs (colors 1&2), clear and brown glass with tops removed. Bottles and cans must be clean. All items should be brought to the trailer already separated.

Signs will remind patrons of acceptable items and the proper placement thereof. In addition, flyers containing this information will be available for people to keep at home.

Ms. Kinnison stated, "The full cooperation of Saladoans will enable us to keep Salado a little cleaner and save a considerable amount of landfill space for biodegradable refuse."

featuring pastels and hummingbirds arranged by Wanda Eads, also of Salado, and members of the ABWA chapter.

As delicious as the fashions was the chicken salad and fruit luncheon served by members of the Chisholm Trail Chapter. Special desserts were from Cathy's Signature Cakes of Salado.

Guests also participated in drawing for door prizes courtesy of the following: MJ's Country Corner, Simply Salado, Salado Galleries, Stagecoach Inn, Fletcher's Books and Antiques, Salado Antique Mall, Strawberry Patch, Young Williams Manor, Village Pharmacy, My Hiding Place; Margaret's Beauty Spa, Hair Designs, Salado Confectionery, Salado Pottery and The Christmas Shop.

Door prizes donated by chapter members included a Robertson's Hams gift certificate donated by ABWA Chapter president Joyce Goza; a special gift from Karin Oaks; a sunflower decorated grapevine wreath from Darlene Walsh and a gift certificate from the Stagecoach Inn, given by a charter member of the Chisholm Trail ABWA organization, Marilyn Ragsdale.

Each guest received a silk-flower decorated sample of scented handcream as sold in Christy's as a memento donated by Christy Arner.

The event held at the Salado Civic Center took in $1200 for the ABWA organization, which works to provide scholarships to area college students.

The group also sold 45 of its popular Simply Sensational Salado! cookbooks and sponsored the Baskin Robins concession at the recent Salado Art Fair to collect another $1,001 to help defray other chapter expenses as well as to provide additional scholarship funds.

The business women are proud to have recently awarded $600 scholarships to two Salado sophomores, Debbie Wasik and Yesenia Rocha; the ABWA chapter began sponsoring both girls during their freshmen terms a year ago.

The Chisholm Trail ABWA Chapter welcomes guests to join them at their 6:30 p.m. dinners the fourth Tuesday of each month at Young Williams Manor in Salado for fun, fellowship and a brief business meet-

Cancer Society seeks drivers

The American Cancer Society Program called Road to Recovery is currently looking for a new group of drivers for the cancer patients in the area. Drivers volunteer to pick up the patient at home and take them to a treatment or doctor's appointment.

Anyone interested in volunteering for this program can call 753-0806 in Waco or 817/724-5705 in Temple.

13th annual Scott & White Auxiliary show Oct. 12

Members of the Kilgore Rangerettes drill team will put a high-spirited kick into the 13th annual Scott & White Auxiliary Fashion Show Oct. 12. The appearance of the Rangerettes is sponsored by Salado's C.R. and Joyce Pennington, owners of American Dance/Drill Team, headquartered at their home on Van Bibber Lane.

"We promised Mom she could live with us as long as she wanted. How could we break our promise?"

You vowed to do everything in your power to take care of your mother yourself. And you'll sacrifice almost anything to do it. But the day may come when she'll need more care than you can give her.

That's when doing the right thing may mean going back on your word, and seeking professional care for your Mom.

We can help. Not only will we provide skilled nursing care for your mother, 24 hours a day. We will also extend our care to you. With over 20 years of experience, we can help you make sense of this confusing and difficult time.

Call or mail the coupon, and we'll send you a free copy of When Love Gets Tough, a wonderful book about why sometimes the hardest part of caring for someone is knowing when to ask for help.

The 13th annual Scott & White Memorial Hospital Auxiliary benefit luncheon and fashion show, Oct. 12 will feature high-stepping, high-fashion highlights in the Frank W. Mayborn Civic and Convention Center, Temple.

Doors open at 11 a.m. with the runway action and entertainment beginning at 11:30 a.m.

Putting a high-spirited kick into the festivities will be members of the Kilgore College Rangerettes, the nationally known collegiate drill team. Proceeds will benefit the Scott & White Women's Health Care Research Program, established in 1994. The mission of the research program is to improve women's health care through intensive research.

Fashions from around the world will be featured from Betty Thrasher's shop, The Rosebud. Among the designers represented will be Laurel from Germany, Geiger from Austria, Bally from Switzerland and Lynn Leathers and Marissa Minnicucci from Canada.

Reservations for the auxiliary fashions show and luncheon catered by Don Strange of Texas will be accepted Sept. 11 through Oct. 9. For more information and reservations, call (817-724-3199). Tickets are $40 per person. Tickets for prize drawings may be purchased at the door for $5 each, three for $10 or six for $20.

The Rangerettes' appearance will be sponsored by Joyce and C.R.

Pennington Jr., owners of the American Dance/Drill Team of Salado. About 20 members of the 70-member drill team, under the direction of Dana Blair, will perform during the fashion show.

Another special attraction of the luncheon will be the Men-in-Tux, about 100 Central Texas community and business leaders who serve as volunteer waiters.

The Women's Health Care Research Program includes a wide-range of research projects. "These studies help us determine the most appropriate health care interventions for women and often provide needed health care services to women who otherwise would not have access to medical examinations and tests," said Veronica K. Piziak, M.D., chairwoman of the Scott & White Division of Endocrinology.

She and Patsy J. Sulak, M.D., obstetrician/gynecologist and chief of the Scott & White Division of Ambulatory Care, are directors of the Women's Health Care Research Program. "Research projects currently in progress or in the developmental stages involved many areas including osteoporosis prevention, contraceptive methods, treatments of female infections, diabetes, obesity, prevention of heart disease, diagnosis and management of pelvic and bladder pain, treatments for menstrual migraines and studies involving hormone replacement therapy."

Bunker to to address UMC women

Betty Bunker, a local artist and designer specializing in ecclesiastical needlework, will give the program for the Salado United Methodist Women at their meeting 7 p.m. Sept. 6.

Betty frequently lectures on embroidery in general and ecclesiastical embroidery at guild, civic meetings and churches.

She has designed paraments, vestments, kneelers, stitched Chrismons and banners for Churches in California, Massachusetts, Maryland and Texas.

The Communion rail kneelers and Alter hanging designed for the Salado United Methodist are exquisite examples of her artistic talent and expertise. The needlepoint kneelers and cross stitched Altar hanging will be part of the slide and lecture presentation at the meeting. Many other designs and ecclesiastical symbols in stitchery will be shared by this talented artist.

All are invited to share this special evening at the United Methodist Church.

Betty is a Salado resident but her professional training and experience has taken her to England and Scotland, an Honors Program in Ecclesiastical Embroidery for the National Academy of Needlearts and an Icon stitched in silk and metals permanently housed at the museum of Visual Arts Center of North Carolina University in Raleigh, North Carolina. Betty has shared her artistic teaching at numerous guilds, needlearts shops and published articles about church embroidery in needleart periodicals.

Her creations are available in shops in San Diego and Dallas.

It is the pleasure of the UMW to welcome Betty and to invite friends and interested persons to share the evening, 7 p.m. Sept. 6, at Salado United Methodist Church.

Russell joins UMHB staff as director of university relations

Sheryl Russell of Salado, heads the newly created position of Director of University Relations. In this capacity, Russell will be concerned with the image and identity of UMHB and the relationship the University enjoys in the community and country. She will be part of the marketing team; helping in the design, selection, and placement of UMHB in the vanguard of education for traditional and non-traditional students.

Russell's first UMHB experience began 1991 when she entered the university as a non-traditional student after an extended career in marketing, merchandising, advertising, and public relations.

The Central Texas area, Salado in particular, was selected as the home for she and her husband, Rod, because of its beauty and charm. UMHB was initially chosen for its convenience at the suggestion of a neighbor on the university staff, Jim Fitzhenry.

But what began as a simple convenience developed into a 'wonderful environment for learning, for a degree and for friendships.

Those connections in turn led to volunteer work for the recent UMHB Sesquicentennial Celebration and the UMHB Alumni Art Show.

With all of those ties and the fact that the Russells eventually purchased the home of George Washington Baines, third President of Baylor (while the both schools occupied one campus in Independence, Texas) and the great grandfather of Lyndon Johnson; it seemed destined and most appropriate that Ms. Russell focus her experience and energy toward making UMHB seem as special to others as it is to her.

"When we have a great story to tell, we only need to tell the truth," Sheryl says. "UMHB has experienced a steady growth in student population and a tremendous growth in building activity."

"Among the most exciting visual landmarks is the newly developed entrance at the corner of 10th and Main in Belton. This physical change is both beautiful and efficient. What a great way to welcome new and returning students!" enthuses Russell.

Sheryl will work closely with Dr. Jerry Bawcom, President of UMHB, and Dr. Curtis Beard, Vice President of External Affairs. Lorri Kirkland will serve as University Relations Liaison and assist in making this new office accessible to both UMHB and the public.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell have two sons, both married, both living, working, and attending college in Atlanta, Georgia

John B. Cook joins Properties by Larry Sands

John B. Cook, a licensed real estate broker since 1980 and a State Certified General Real Estate Appraiser, has joined the Salado real estate firm of Properties by Larry Sands.

Cook, who is Vice President of the Heart of Texas Chapter of the Appraisal Institute, graduated from Temple High School in 1976 and from Texas A&M University in 1980 with a Bachelor Of Science degree in Agricultural Economics. He has been the owners of Cook Appraisal in Temple since 1989 and is a member of the Temple/Belton Board of Realtors and M.L.S., the National Association of Realtors and the Texas Association of Realtors. He and his wife, Earlene, and their two children, Kelli and Clayton moved to Salado in 1994 from Temple. They are members of the First Baptist Church in Salado.

Cook joins Larry Sands, Sarah Lee and Stewart Smith at the Properties by Larry Sands firm at their offices on Main Street next door to the Historic Barton House. The firm specializes in selling historic Salado, commercial properties, farms and ranches, acreage and residences particularly in Mill Creek and surrounding areas. Properties by Larry Sands is a home-owned, independent agency.

John B. Cook

"We are pleased to have John join our staff," says Sands, and we look forward to his adding some professional expertise in our office." Customers are invited to call John at the office telephone number, 947-5580 or at home, 947-3010.

Summer reading program awards given

The Salado Public Library's Summer Reading Program for grades 5-8 came to a close with an awards ceremony Aug. 11.

From June 1 - July 31 participants kept track of the number of minutes they read from books checked out from the library.

The results were as follows: Holly Grisham with 1,995 minutes, Hope Buchanan with 1,510 minutes, Nikki Jackson with 1,155 minutes, Melodie Gilliam with 1,130 minutes, Rory Oldham with 971 minutes, Katie Schrum with 672 minutes and Sonny Oldham with 450 minutes.

The majority of the participants were eighth graders. A total of 56 books were read.

Those participants who read over 1,000 minutes were awarded a $10.00 bookstore gift certificate. All other participants received a $5.00 bookstore gift certificate.

The top reader, Holly Grisham, received an additional award, a memopad with floral pen, which was donated by Nettie Faye Ray of the Strawberry Patch.

These awards, as well as certificates of recognition, were presented by Lynn Epps, incoming Library Board President, and Connie Gilliam, the program's coordinator.

Other Library Board members present were B. J. McConnell, Library Director; Perry Grisham, Children's Programs Director; and Pete Jennings, Past President and Lay Representative to CTLS.

Parents must be involved with kids

by Ilene C. Miller
 Co. Ext. Agent

In the war against declining student achievement, many solutions have been tried. A quest for better teachers, improved texts and challenging curricula have each played a role in major battles. Yet achievement falls. Perhaps, the answer is parental reform.

Since 1965 parental involvement in education has been a victim of societal changes in America. The divorce rate, the ratio of children living in single parent families and the proportion of married mothers of young children working outside the home have all doubled. As a result, 70 percent of the parents never volunteer to participate in their children's school.

When 24,600 eighth graders were polled, half of them reported that they rarely discuss school with their parents. Half of the parents of these eighth graders reported rarely having contact with their children's schools.

When parents fail to stress the importance of education, kids tend to do what they want to do. Few of them choose educational activities. This same group of eighth graders reported that they spent 21.4 hours a week watching television, but only 5.6 hours doing homework. Only 1.8 hours were spent on outside reading. Sixty-three percent of the parents reported they rarely or never set television viewing restrictions.

Here are some things parents can do to help increase their child's success in school:

- The first step is communication. Talk regularly about current school experiences. Students who never talk to their parents about school are three times more likely to drop out of school than those who do talk with their parents.

- Restrict television viewing on school nights. Students with television restrictions are 9 percent less likely to drop out than those with no restrictions.

- Finally, provide adequate after-school supervision. Let students know what is expected of them in terms of education. Parents who expect more of their children educationally, have children who perform at least adequately in school.

Salado Medical Clinic open at Salado Plaza

Salado Medical Clinic, located in Salado Plaza, 100 Mill Creek Drive, is now fully operational to serve patients Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

"We have available the services of a family practice physician and family nurse practitioner, to see patients by appointment or on walk in basis," said Sandra Ribbeck, MSN, RN, CFNP, clinic director.

"We are a full service clinic, providing well child care, management of chronic diseases, family planning, routine health maintenance, sports physicals, management of minor injuries, geriatric care and laboratory tests," Ribbeck added.

Salado Medical Clinic accepts reimbursement from Medicare and Medicaid as well as private pay, private insurance, EPSDT, and Family Planning, according to Mrs. Ribbeck.

Salado Medical Clinic is a division of Reavis Health Systems that also maintains HomeCARE offices in Salado.

Texas Train Festival Sept. 16-17

The 13th Annual Texas Train Festival will be held in Temple Sept. 16-17.

The festival is a celebration of Central Texas heritage, focusing on the railroad and early pioneer history and skills. The westward expansion of pioneers in Texas was directly tied to the expansion of railroads throughout the state.

As the Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe Railway Company built its track from Galveston north and northwest, it established towns across the state to provide labor and service for its railroad services. Temple, Killeen and many other cities in Texas owe their birth to the GC&SF. Once the towns were established, pioneers moved along the rail lines to towns further and further west in Texas.

Those hearty souls packed their belongings into trunks and shipped their personal, household, and farming equipment, along with their animals into boxcars for the big move. If the family was too poor to pay for first class tickets, they would also ride in the boxcars with their animals to their new home.

Upon arrival in the new wild frontier towns, they moved everything onto their land, setting up housekeeping with more supplies available than had been when their forebears had travelled by covered wagon. Pioneer families were a tough and resourceful lot, making or reusing what they needed, using skills that are no longer generally known by 20th century man.

The City of Temple's Texas Train Festival held by the Railroad & Pioneer Museum and a host of other organizations celebrates these resourceful early pioneers and railroads in creating the communities we live in today. The festival presents railroad equipment of all sizes, representing both commercial railroading and model building hobbyists.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company will be displaying their exhibit car which features the history and future of the Santa Fe. In addition, other railroad equipment will be on display at the downtown Santa Fe depot. AMTRAK is displaying their special passenger train, and Georgetown Railroad may also be participating.

Living history is a large part of the festival. Central Texas residents who have learned traditional skills from older generations will be demonstrating them on the grounds of the Railroad & Pioneer Museum and inside Gober Party House (next door to museum).

Visitors are invited to sit down and watch and learn from these unique demonstrations. Learn to knit, quilt, spin, churn butter, whittle, or make a horseshoe. In addition, the Fighting Sixth will put on demonstrations of Civil War skirmish reenactments and cavalry battles.

And this year we are introducing the Society for Creative Anachronism, who will present two days of medieval sword rights, music, and costumes from King Arthur's Court.

Many visitors spend hours learning and practicing or just watching different skills from the different presentations.

Visitors don't have to work at the festival! They can sit under the trees and enjoy hour after hour of local country music with lots of fiddlin' and pickin'. Bring chairs or blankets to enjoy the day. Food and drinks are available all weekend, as well as plenty of opportunities to buy arts and crafts.

Again this year will be a live "ham radio" station in the MKT (green) caboose on the east side of the museum. The Temple Amateur Radio Club will be communicating with ham radio operators all over the world, and invite visitors inside the caboose to watch. Want to learn all about the ham radio hobby? This is your chance.

At 11 a.m. Sept. 16, the Temple High School orchestra, led by James Flowers, will be performing by the ATSF 3423 steam engine on the museum grounds. If you haven't heard them play, you are in for a treat, as the THS orchestra is a very talented group of young musicians who play such railroad songs as the "Orange Blossom Special" to entertain the crowds at the festival.

Scott & White Santa Fe Center is located just east of the Railroad & Pioneer Museum at 25th and Avenue H. In the hospital's Pazdral Gallery on the main floor will be an exhibit titled "CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF LOUIS PASTEUR" featuring exhibit panels displaying the discoveries and life of Pasteur. Festival visitors are encouraged to visit this interesting exhibit on early medicine in the historic Santa Fe Railroad Hospital building.

The Cultural Activities Center is again part of the Texas Train Festival this year. They will be open on Saturday for visitors to view three exhibits: MARIANNA SAIN-MORAR PAINTINGS, CENTEX PHOTOGRAPHIC SOCIETY EXHIBIT, & CHILDREN'S HANDS-ON MEXICO. ADMISSION FREE.

And last, but certainly not least, the best model train show in Texas, sponsored by CentraMod, Inc., will be held in the Frank Mayborn Convention Center all weekend.

A separate admission will be $4.00 (senior citizens and military with ID will receive a $1.00 discount) and children 12 and under are free, but must be accompanied by an adult. The show features modular layouts of different gauges, clinics on building cars, building and scenery, vendors selling model equipment and railroadiana, door prizes, and a drawing for a custom-built layout with train for some lucky visitor!

COST- Festival buttons to get into all activities except the model show are $1.00 each per person, aged 6 and up. Buttons are available at the Railroad & Pioneer Museum located on the corner of 31st Street and Avenue H in Temple. The museum is open Tuesday through Saturday. Buttons will also be on sale during the festival. Just look for the "travelling button salespeople" on the museum grounds.

Tickets for admission into the Model Show in the convention center are $3.00 and can be purchased at the door during the weekend.

sport's concession stand and ticket taking business away from the Lion's Club and hand it over to an in-school group.
The Lion's took every penny they earned and, after adding greatly to the total, passed it right back to the schools in the form of scholarships and special grants.

With the loss of revenue from concessions, the Lions will no doubt drop some or all of the funding normally assigned to the schools, from their budget-ergo - everyone loses.

Bad PR judgement by the board. They need to spend time on bond issues for new schools rather than messing with who sells hot dogs and popcorn at the football games.

Our bet is that within two years the school folks will tire of the work and wish the local Lions were back on the job.

Salado Hits Texas Monthly

Interesting piece in the current issue of Texas Monthly magazine that features our village and the new Exxon Station located on IH 35 at Thomas Arnold Road.

All done in typical Texas Monthly style up to and including what had to come from a local source - the reference to the old gas station and its dilapidated next door neighbor as being "unobtrusive".

Comments about the article were wide ranging and disparate at the local watering holes, coffee shops and other gathering spots the day the TM magazine hit the stands, but far and away the most caustic of all came from one villager who said he hoped it was true that:

"Fredericksburg folks probably won't be offended by the article since hopefully, most of them don't read English!"

This was in reference to the remarks found in the story about us not wanting Salado to look like our hill country neighbors to the southwest.

A Loss

Doris Cottle, a long time reader and friend of this column and its' writer, passed away on August 19.

Doris was always objective, yet remained kind, in her thoughts and comments about what we wrote - something many folks find hard to duplicate, in most everything they say or do, without going round the bend.

We shall miss her support, her friendship and her courage.

FBC Salado Sunday nights begins Sept. 3

The Tablerock Amphitheater in Salado will for the second year be the site for the Salado September Sunday Nights.

Each Sunday night will offer inspirational entertainment suited for the entire family. All performances are free to the public. The performance will begin at 7 p.m. each Sunday evening of September.

Tablerock is located on Royal Street, west of Salado shopping district.

The first performance of the series, Sept. 3, is the renowned mime Brian Randone.

Randone's performance is "Love Beyond Words". Through the power of mime, he's touched the Graveside services 2 p.m. Sept. 1 for Mary Ann Fuller Graveside services for Mary Ann Fuller, 67, of Winter Garden, Florida and formerly of Salado, will be 2 p.m. Sept. 1 at Salado Cemetery. Mrs. Fuller died Aug. 28 in a Florida hospital.

Born in Helper, Utah, she was a Catholic. She was reared in San Francisco and graduated from Balboa High School. She married Frank Fuller April 12, 1962. He died July 30, 1983.

She is survived by two daughters, Michele (Mrs. Fred) Fuller, of Plano and Cynthia Fuller of Winter Garden, Fla.; two brothers, Tom Vilotti of Ukiah, Cal., and Don Vilotti, of Burlingame, Cal., and five grandchildren.

Micah Jacob Taylor born Aug. 14, 1995

Micah Jacob Taylor was born Aug. 14, 1995 at Presbyterian Hospital of Plano. He weighed 6 lbs., 8 oz., and was 19 inches long. Micah Jeb is the son of Ross and Kristi Taylor of Frisco.

Paternal grandparents are Herb Taylor, of Salado and the late Penny Taylor. Maternal grandparents are Bill and Kitty Tidwell of Hillsboro. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. L.L. Farr, III, of Austin, and Mr. and Mrs. Norvel Taylor of Big Spring.

hearts of young and old alike with his critically acclaimed performances. Transcending boundaries of culture and language, he has engrossed audiences from Maine to California and around the world including Russia, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary, England, Iceland and France.

The characters of Brian Randone, while entertaining speak directly to the heart. Brian has performed before a wide variety of audiences from school assemblies, company retreats, workshops, trade shows, promotions and product endorsements.

Brian holds a bachelor of arts degree from Moody Bible Institute in Chicago, a masters of divinity degree from Southwest Seminary in Fort Worth and studied under master mime Tony Montanero and Doug Berky. Born and raised in Omaha, Nebraska, Brian has made his home in Fort Worth since 1989.

Due to the natural setting of Tablerock Amphitheater, those attending will need to provide their own lawnchairs or other comfortable seating. In the event of rain, the performance will be held at Thomas Arnold Elementary cafeteria.

Hi, Salado!

My name is Eddie Vale. My wife, Marilyn, and I are opening a furniture store at Mill Creek Dr., Suite 145.

We have 31 years experience in this business in Killeen. We sold our stores there in January 1995. We have lived in Salado since 1987 and now want to work where we live in this beautiful village of Salado. We invite you to come in and get acquainted with us and see what we can offer to meet your needs.

In addition to furniture we will have GE and Frigidaire appliances, Magnavox TVs and VCRs. We will accept most major credit cards plus other major financing abilities. No down payment, 90 days same as cash. We have something for everyone. We will soon have Lazy Boy in stock for you.

We will be open 10 am to 6 pm weekdays and 10 am to 5 pm Saturdays,. We will also open by appointment if these hours are not convenient.
