Teaff recalls lessons learned during speech to Salado Lions

by Tim Fleischer
Editor-in-Chief

Former Baylor Head Coach Grant Teaff announced publication of his new book, Coaching in the Classroom, at the Salado Lions Club Aug. 10.

Teaff is now executive director of the American Football Coaches Association and has traveled over 450,000 in that position.

Teaff recalled the impact of teachers on himself, his family and his players through the years. "One common denominator among those teachers considered to be the best by their students was that they coached in the classroom," Teaff said.

"By coaching in the classroom, I mean to say they took control of the classroom and created a learning environment. The way they taught the fundamentals of success far out-reached others. They were able to motivate and teach lifelong skills," Teaff said.

Teaff also spoke of teachers giving their students a work ethic and horse sense. Teaff recalled two coaches who had a lifelong impact on himself, his approach to teaching and coaching.

"Speedy Moffat and Mule Kaiser were two young coaches fresh out of Texas Tech," Teaff said. "They came to coach at Snyder High School and none of us had ever been more impressed than the day we met Texas Tech football players who were now our coaches."

More impressive than their past careers were the lessons the two young coaches taught their players, lesson which Teaff has handed down to the hundreds of players he has coached.

The Four Lessons Teaff discussed with the Salado Lions were these:

"If you want to be successful, discipline is needed both on and off the field."

"If you want to be successful, you must give your total effort on the field and off the field."

"To be successful, you must strive to be error-free."

"To be successful, you must care about what you are doing."

Teaff shared anecdotes about how he learned these lessons.

On discipline: "Every game day, I would meditate and think about the ball game and how good I was going to be. After reporting to class, I would sneak off and go down to the creek where I would think about the great plays I would make and how we would win the game. It was very positive thinking. Every game day, I would show up early at the locker room at 5 o'clock."

"One day, I showed up at 5 and noticed a bunch of cars around the locker room. Walking into the locker room I noticed all the other players were already suiting up. The room fell silent as I saw Mule Kaiser standing in the center of the room with a stack of wood at his feet."

"He explained that the earlier meeting time was announced at school and that I was the only one later because I was not in school for classes."

"Before he was finished with the stack of firewood on my backside, I understood what discipline meant. So did all the other boys."

Teaff also recalled a game in which his Bears were penalized three times for personal fouls during one game.

"In the locker room after the game, which we won, I explained that those fouls could easily have cost the game. I also explained how they were unnecessary because they were provoked through a loss of emotional control."

Teaff also remembered Trooper Taylor, a player who missed a year due to injury and rehabilitated through most of the final season for both himself and

In re: Report of Aug. 10, 1994 from TNRCC to Salado Creek Preservation Committee on the Clean up of the Texaco Site in Salado.

The report in the Salado Village Voice was not written by an official in the Underground Storage Tank Division of the Texas Natural Resources Conservation Commission. The report, telephoned to the Salado Creek Watch, was paraphrased, but is essentially correct.

Intersection is a terrible movie. Even though it boasts Richard Gere, Sharon Stone and Lolita Davidovich in its cast, Intersection is slow and stupid.

Richard Gere stars as architect Vincent Eastman, who is in love with journalist Olivia Marshack. Even though he has left his boring wife Sally (Stone), he continues to work and to see his ex.

Circumstances force Eastman to choose between his former wife and his new love. With these two women, it is sort of like choosing between arsenic and cyanide.

Stone and Davidovich are both powerful, alluring and sexy women. But you could not tell any of this from their roles in this sorry excuse for a film.

Since seeing Sharon Stone in her chilling role in Basic Instinct, I keep expecting that ice pick to pop up in her next film. She could have used it on her agent for signing her up for this loser.

Or, she could have used it on Gere's character and done all of us a favor. If any leading man deserves not to make it to the end of a movie, it is Gere.

Intersection is one of the worst movies I have had the displeasure of sitting through. Don't make the same mistake I did and fall for the box cover of this dog, which is now available on videocassette.

"Politics would be a wonderful game, if it weren't for the #%&* people!"

Richard Nixon, 1971

Our Senior senator in Washington - Phil Gramm - is getting a lot of attention these days as he hustles from TV station to press conference proclaiming the "righteous - right" side of the health care issue or crime bill or whatever is on the griddle. One Austin American Statesman political writer - Dave Mc Neely noted recently; "The most dangerous place on earth is getting caught between Phil Gramm and a TV camera". All this thanks to Gramm's desire to make a name for himself and stake out a position for the 1996 GOP presidential nomination. Some Demos and even more than a few GOPers already have a "name" for the pushy Gramm.

One thing could stop the good senator from wasting his time and ours in a run for the roses and that would be if the Texas Legislature in 1995, would delete the 1959 LBJ election law that allows a politician to have his name on the ballot for two offices at the same time thus as-

by Ken Clapp

...suring a place at the trough no matter what. Gramm has never held any job other than a governmental sinecure so he is not about to give up the senate seat just to chance the presidential race. The LBJ law, you will remember, gave then Senator Johnson a crack at the presidential hunt while retaining the senate seat. He went on to the Veep's job and John Tower took the upper house position much to the dismay of the Demos who had plotted this scheme in the first place.

This writer figured the best place on earth to find out if there was a stragem hatching to erase the LBJ statute - would be the good offices of Bob Bullock - presiding officer of the Texas Senate. Glen Castlebury, press secretary, speaking for Bob, reported no plan in the offing. Too partisan and with so many GOPers in the senate it would be foolish to yank their chain just when they are needed. Besides, the upper house, under Bullock is almost non-partisan thanks to the

Lt. Gov's even-handedness. Bullock also knows that the GOP can stall anything they want in the Senate thanks to their 12 person block. Eleven can stop things in a hurry if they decide to become like their infamous predecessors the "Killer Bees."

So, we must assume that Gramm will apply for both the Senate and Presidential jobs when the time comes. No doubt, he will keep the legislative spot unless some high-powered Demo can step up and knock him silly. And we don't see anyone like that in the wings right now.

Having said all that, we can only report right now that voters can expect more of the turtle-necked Gramm to pop up almost anywhere, anytime and on any subject, from now through 1996!

Crime Bill

There is nothing so satisfying as giving free advice to the powers that be, either in Austin or Washington. We would therefore urge President Clinton, this day, to stop whipping up on the Republicans and the National Rifle bunch for the procedural defeat of his Crime Bill last week: vote being 225-210. What the Pres needs to do is to take

Hooper marries Justin Cushman

Genise Hooper and Justin Cushman, both of Macomb, were married July 9, at the Wanette United Methodist Church with Craig Landrum, uncle of the bride and Jim Adams of Roff United Methodist Church officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Ralph and Ann Hooper of Macomb. She is granddaughter of Cy and Minta Landrum of Salado.

Vocalist and pianist was Darrell Archer of Tecumseh.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white bridal satin with off-the-shoulder styling adorned with lace. The scalloped back peplum was arranged around two small rosettes. Her veil was made from a lace veil worn by her maternal great-aunt 64 years ago and her maternal grandmother 53 years ago. Both the gown and the veil were made by the mother of the bride.

Kathy Kelough, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were

Dedra James of Ada and Simone Moody of Watts, Okla.

They wore dark emerald green Moire taffeta tea-length dresses which were off-the-shoulder and adorned with lace.

Whitnee Anderson of Wanette, daughter of Chris and Connie Anderson, was the flower girl. She wore a dress similar to the bridesmaids dresses. All were made by the bride's mother.

Dane Smart of Bethel was the best man.

Groom's men were Jeremy Stewart of Shawnee, brother-in-law of the groom and David Hooper, brother of the bride.

Gage Stewart, son of Jeremy and Vicki Stewart was the ring bearer.

Candlelighters were Justin and Jason Ray, sons of Joe and Linda Ray of Wanette.

The rehearsal dinner was held at the home of the groom's parents.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church.

The couple honeymooned in San Antonio.

Men 55+ sought for prostate cancer study

Annual Fall
Arts & Crafts Show
October 1-2
Bell County Expo

A Top Notch Production  Free Parking

Men at least 55 years old, in good health with no major health problems are still being sought for a study to determine whether a drug can prevent prostate cancer.

The trial is being conducted by Scott & White in conjunction with the Texas A&M University Health Science Center College of Medicine.

Researchers are seeking about 50 more men to complete enrollment.

The study is part of the national Prostate Cancer Prevention Trial that will involve 18,000 men throughout the country. Researchers are especially interested in finding men of African-American or Hispanic descent.

Scott & White and the Texas A&M University Health Science Center College of Medicine are among four centers in Texas to participate in the trial.

Researchers are looking for men with the following qualifications:

- Must be at least 55 years old, in good health with no major health problems.

- Must have a Prostate Specific Antigen (PSA) score of less than 3.0 and a normal prostate upon an urologist's examination.

- Must be willing to take a pill every day.

- Must be willing to have annual prostate exams and blood tests at the Scott & White Santa Fe Center in Temple.

- Must be available for telephone calls every three months.

The research team is prepared to closely follow each man in the clinical trial for the next seven years.

Medical researchers are studying whether the drug finasteride (also known by the trade name of Proscar) can prevent prostate cancer.

Cancer of the prostate is the most common form of cancer and the second leading cause of cancer deaths in American men. All men over the age of 40 are at risk for prostate cancer although men between ages 55 and 75 are more commonly identified with the disease. About one in 10 men in the U.S. will develop prostate cancer. The good news is that survival rates for all stages of prostate cancer have improved over the last 50 years, increasing nearly 25 per cent in the last 20 years.

The Prostate Cancer Prevention Trial is a Scott & White team effort, led by Michael R. Hermans, M.D., principal investigator and Scott & White urologist who is also associate professor at the Texas A&M University Health Science Center College of Medicine.

Men who are interested in participating in the drug trial, call (817) 771-7627 or (800) 225-0626 at the Clinical Studies Unit located in the Scott & White Santa Fe Center.

Several programs during the 80s sought to increase the number of nursing school graduates. The programs are now paying off. Graduating nurses in 1992-93 numbered 88,448, up 10.6% to an all time high.

A big factor in preventing osteoporosis is apparently just getting out of bed. Those confined to bed lose bone mass rapidly, but merely standing or walking for several hours a day can prevent much bone loss.

Currently 549,000 people over 85 live alone without disabilities and an equal number live alone but with disabilities. By the middle of the next century, those numbers are expected to increase to 3.1 million in each category.

A Gallup poll found that Americans are starting to save for retirement at a younger age than previously. Today's Americans start saving at age 30 vs. the current generation of those over 55 who didn't start retirement savings until age 42.

Letter concerns need to recycle, plans made for center in Salado

Dear Editor:
 Whether we realize it or not every week we make decisions that directly affect the environment of our planet. The choices we make are a never-ending series of votes for or against the environment. When we buy or use something, we are consuming, and we are creating waste. The waste in our garbage cans is trash only when it is mixed together. When trash is separated into its components, it provides many resources than can be reused or recycled into new products.

Every year we employ 10,000 garbage trucks to dump the 19.7 million tons of garbage we generate in Texas.

About 60% of that garbage is recyclable. Currently in Texas, we bury about six million tons of paper each year. Americans throw away enough office and writing paper annually to build a wall 12 feet high stretching from Los Angeles to New York City. We discard enough glass containers to fill the 1350 foot twin towers of New York's World Trade Center every two weeks. Texans receive, and usually discard 300,000 tons of junk mail every year.

A 4 foot stack of newspaper saves a 40 foot pine tree. Recycling glass saves up to 32% of the energy used to make glass. Recycling one aluminum can saves enough energy to run a TV for three hours. Steel cans are 100% recyclable.

We all generate garbage: thus every citizen has a responsibility for its disposal. Every time we throw something away, we make a decision regarding solid waste.

We can change our habits by reducing, reusing and recycling. Now is the time for a recycling center in Salado. Are you ready to become involved in recycling? This is a project for our community—homeowners, businesses, schools and churches. Come one, come all to our first meeting on Monday, August 22nd at 7 p.m. at our New Recycling Center, in the parking lot west of the IGA. Bring your aluminum chair, your comments, concerns and willingness to volunteer your time. Together we can make a difference.

Teaff.

During the final home game against University of Texas, Teaff saw Taylor, who had since completed a degree and gone on to work for his Master, on the sidelines. "Taylor was just 12 yards short of the college kick return record. He asked me to let him play. His position had since been filled by a healthy athlete, who was in condition and ready to play."

"We had a two touchdown lead at the half, so I let him in for the opening kickoff of the third quarter."

"He returned the kickoff 40 yards, giving us excellent field position, which we turned into a touchdown."

"The Longhorns had pulled within striking distance in the fourth quarter. With under two minutes remaining, the Longhorns faced 4th and 2 to go."

"The Longhorns back came out of the backfield and looked as if he were going to get a first down, when I saw a gold streak come across the line and stop him dead in his tracks. It was Trooper Taylor. He stopped him not because he was a better athlete but because he cared about what he was doing. It was the most important thing to him, at that time."

"These are the lessons I have learned and have taught." Teaff said. "They are the lessons which should be taught on the field and in the classroom."

his own defecting Democrats to the woodshed for a talk-talk. Some 59 of his troops broke ranks when the first shot was fired.

If these is a move to resurrect the crime package, let us hope it will not be so watered down, in order to bring home the wayward "59" plus giving in to the riflemen and the black caucus, so that all that is left is a statute with only a "crime" label. The rest being expensive foolishness.

We were told in 1992 that if we would just put a Democrat in the White House and keep the Demo majority in the House and Senate, we would unlock the gridlock and great things would happen. That fairy tale fell apart, as expected, when the GOPers went to block voting and the Demos, also as expected, broke into small self-serving special interest covens.

Also, in the realm of advice-giving, we would offer the suggestion to our top leader to stand firm for something. Quit being all things to everyone in order to secure votes and be liked at the same time. Americans like leaders who stand firm, right or wrong. Mistakes are forgiven. Retreating in the face of defeat or currying favor like a toady is remembered when election time rolls around.

Saladoans learn it's an emu nation when they attend convention in Nashville

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Ricks and Coach and Louann Smith of Salado may have thought they were raising emus in isolation until they attended the American Emu Association Convention and Exhibition in Nashville Tenn. this past week. More than 3,000 persons attended the fifth annual gathering!

They discovered that 10,000 U.S. families now pen raise about 400,000 of the tall, flightless birds known as "the new American livestock," according to the first-ever national emu census conducted by Southern Methodist University in Dallas.

The Ricks, who have about 400 birds on 77 acres, have been in the emu-raising business for 6 years.

"The emu is one of the fastest growing, most dynamic alternative agribusinesses in the nation, with remarkable interest being shown internationally," said Betty Odle, president of the 5,500 member Dallas-based organization.

The emu breeders attended seminars and presentations on product development and marketing, biosecurity and management techniques, financial planning, tax issues and global interest in the bird as a potential source of low fat meat and an environmentally compatible animal.

Doug Atkinson, trainer for the Dallas Mavericks, spoke about the use of emu oil by NBA players to treat and heal bruises, strains and stiffness. Researchers on the content and composition of emu oil addressed the convention along with veterinarians.

But it was not "all work and no play," as the conventioners cruised the Cumberland River on the General Jackson Riverboat, kicked up their heels to tunes played by the Music City Country Club, and enjoyed the sights and sound of the famous Opryland Hotel with its sparkling atrium gardens, live bands and dancing waters music.

"Emus are the new frontier in ranching and these men and women are the pioneers of a young industry offering a whole new range of opportunity," Odle said. "Emus may prove to be the range of opportunity," Odle said. "Emus may prove to be the salvation of the small farmer and rancher and lead to improved diets and health for millions of Americans, if not the world."

Horowitz' benefit performance Aug. 26 in Killeen for Families in Crisis

An Evening with Tony Horowitz is a benefit performance to raise funds for Families in Crisis.

The evening of Aug. 26 begins at the Plaza Hotel Ballroom in Killeen, with a cocktail hour at 6:30 p.m. followed by 7:30 dinner and dance. Music for dinner and dancing will be provided by the Dick Thomas Orchestra. Formal and Black tie are optional.

For a table of eight cost is $320. A table of four is $160 and individual tickets are $40.

Checks can be made payable to Families in Crisis. Your donations are tax deductible as a charitable contribution. For reservations call 817-634-1184 or mail to Families in Crisis P.O. Box 25, Killeen, TX 76540. If you would simply like to send a donation they are accepted at the above mentioned address.

Anthony "Tony" Horowitz is a world-class professional musician who has performed with his trumpet since age nine. His resume includes first trumpet features with Racquel Welch, Lou Rawls, Jimmy Wakely and Ray Charles. He has recorded with Kenny Rogers, Lionel Ritchie, Johnny Mathis, and many others. Film and television credits include trumpet soloist for La Bamba and first trumpet for Cheers, Happy Days, and Laverne and Shirley.

Families in Crisis is a non-profit corporation that was organized for the purpose of providing shelter and supportive services for victims of family violence and sexual assault. It also provides education and awareness programs to the community about these two serious societal problems.

Additionally, the organization coordinates with other agencies to provide services for our communities' victims and provides a statistical base of information concerning the occurrence of family violence and sexual assault in our area.

Family in Crisis (FIC) opened its doors in May 1, 1982. It currently serves the Bell, Coryell and Hamilton counties area.

In 1993, FIC provided 1,018 residents space in the shelter including 602 children. The average daily population was 23 person. Meals served during the year were 24, 843. Total cases of domestic violence that crossed their doorstep was 2,154. New sexual assault cases counted 344 including 70 children.

There were 129 volunteers donating their time to total 18,803 volunteer hours.

The May 23, 1994 issue of Time magazine featured the FIC Killeen shelter in an article on family violence in the military. However, FIC serves a significant civilian population as well, noting this is definitely not just a "military problem", it is a community problem.

FIC operates on a budget of slightly over $400,000 annually. Of this, only six percent of the revenues are allocated for administrative expenses. FIC also relies heavily on its volunteers and operates a continuous volunteer training program.

While family violence and sexual assault are not pleasant topics to discuss, these are real issues in our local and national community.
