Appeals Court rules for SISD in Kinsey battle

by Tim Fleischer

The United States Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals ruled 13-2 in favor of Salado ISD Jan. 6 in Dr. Nolan L. Kinsey versus Salado Independent School District, et al. The full court of 15 judges heard the case after an earlier panel of three ruled in favor of Dr. Kinsey on grounds that his First Amendment and Fourteenth rights had been violated by the SISD Board of Trustees when it relieved him of his duties (with full compensation) in 1988.

The Court's review of the case was limited to the summary judgment on the Fourteenth Amendment and the judgment notwithstanding the verdict on the First Amendment.

"Free and open speech and political affiliation are part of the mix that molds and sustains this Nation," wrote Chief Judge Clark in the majority ruling. "But, needless to say, Kinsey's exercise of those rights, as a private citizen, is not absolute, insofar as it conflicts with his role as a public employee."

"In short, in light of his high-level policymaker and confidential position, Kinsey stepped over the line....he abandoned any shelter otherwise provided him by the First Amendment....this case should not have been submitted to the jury," the majority stated.

"Kinsey did not have a constitutionally protected property interest in the non-economic benefit of serving as superintendent. Accordingly, we do not reach his contention that he did not receive due process," the majority ruled.

"The constitutional evil of today's decision is that it summarily strips the superintendent of a badge of citizenship -- the right to participate publicly in an election," wrote Judge Goldberg in dissension.

"Few things are as desirable in an election as free and open debate....Yet the effect of today's ruling is to deny the public its right to hear the opinions of its superintendent on these issues. No concern for the efficient functioning of the school district requires that every drop of dissent be squeezed from its educational leaders," the dissenting judge wrote.

Dr. Kinsey was not available for comment at press time. Jan. 6.

Rep. Edwards slated to speak at Jan. 25 Chamber Banquet

U.S. Representative Chet Edwards (D-11) is the guest speaker at the 27th Annual Salado Chamber of Commerce Banquet 7 p.m. Jan. 25 in the Salado school cafeteria.

"On this festive occasion, we will have the joy of good fellowship, the privilege of recognizing some who have made significant contributions and the opportunity of pledging ourselves to a bright, challenging, auspicious 1992," said 1991 Chamber President Pete Jennings.

According to Banquet Chair Robert McConnell, childcare will be provided for parents with children age 3-10. This is the first time the Chamber has offered this service to parents of young children who otherwise might not attend the annual Banquet.

Tickets to the banquet are now available for $12.50 per person at the Chamber of Commerce office at the corner of Main St. and S. Pace Park Dr.

Tickets can also be purchased by mail. Send a check or money order payable to Salado Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 81, Salado, TX 76571. Please include a return address.

Tickets are now available for purchase at these locations: Village Foods IGA, Salado National Bank, Bluebonnet Savings Bank, S & W Food Center, and Country Boy.

Dues for 1992 may be paid at the Banquet. Dues are $50 for business and $15 for individuals.

U.S. Representative Chet Edwards (D-11) has visited Salado several times during and since his election to office. He is slated as guest speaker at the 27th Annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet, where he will discuss his first year as Congressman as well as the state of education in the U.S. Tickets for the banquet are now available for $12.50 per person. Childcare will be provided for ages 3-10.

Why should anyone join Salado Chamber? Here's why!

(Editor's note: This is the first of a three-part series on the Salado Chamber of Commerce. The Salado Village Voice is pleased to present the Chamber's story and wishes to lend its support to the 1992 membership drive as well as to all the activities of this fine volunteer group that helps make Salado such a great place to live.

Commentary
by Ken Clapp

The 1992 Salado Chamber of Commerce membership drive is underway and the first question that probably comes to mind is, "Why should I join the local Chamber of Commerce?" It is that question that this series of articles hopes to answer.

LaJuan Shelton, membership drive chair this year, noted in her opening announcement concerning the 1992 campaign: "The Salado Chamber of Commerce began in 1992 under the leadership of Earl Guest; so for three decades the village has had at least one all-purpose organization dedicated to promoting the community's business as well as its non-commercial needs. From modest beginnings, the Chamber has grown into a cohesive group that has developed an annual Art Fair that attracts thousands of people from throughout the state. Also since those early days, the Chamber has contributed greatly to the betterment of the village which the current group hopes to continue in the year ahead. There are current plans for major restoration work in the Pace Park plus the placing of additional street lights along Main St. It is for these reasons and more that we are seeking to have a major membership drive this year and secure the largest number of members in the history of the Salado Chamber."

This past year, the Chamber had 118 individual members and 93 business memberships, 70 of which were Salado merchants. The rest were out of town business groups interested in being a part of the Chamber and contributing to the growth of Salado.

This first article will take up the very real question posed at the outset: why should anyone not currently involved in business be interested in joining what is traditionally a merchant's organization? The second and third articles of the series will deal specifically with the Merchants Committee and the Ladies Auxiliary, which both play major and vital roles in the Chamber.

starring Sally Fields, Kevin Kline, Whoopi Goldberg, Robert Downey, Jr.

Our rating: ****

by Tim Fleischer

Sally Fields heads the all-star cast of Soapdish as Celeste Talbot, America's sweetheart. In the opening scene, Talbot returns home from the Daytime TV Awards with a best actress award under her arm. Once home, she finds her lover has returned to his wife and children.

From there, Soapdish is a whirlwind tour of the lives of the actors, directors and writers of the soap opera The Sun Also Sets. Robert Downey, Jr. steals the spotlight from Fields as the despicable Jeffrey Anderson, whose main goal is to woo a supporting soap actress.

Good performances are also turned in by Kevin Kline and Whoopi Goldberg in this send-up of soap operas. If you like soaps, you'll love Soapdish.

This being the first issue of 1992 as well as the 175th "Off the Record" column written for the "new" Salado Village Voice, one would presume that any writer with a drop of printer's ink coursing through his veins would trot out a list of predictions and resolutions for a cutesy New Year's kick-off.

This however, is not the case with this scribe whose first job of the new year is to clear away the flotsam and jetsam that has collected on the desk before She Who Must Dust and Straighten grabs hold of things and destroys what writers call "important" notes but must appear to be messy clutter to the more sane members of society.

Picking through over 100 such notes we have come up with a few items that might be worthy of your attention or at least a casual glance, time permitting.

Special Session

If you thought the Texas Legislature went to Austin this past Thursday with a fierce determination to solve the redistricting mess they created last year-think again! The most important item on

Off the Record

by Ken Clapp

their minds was how many free meals and drinks they might miss due to the squeamishness of lobbyists thanks to the new Ethics laws that went into effect the day before the lawmakers arrived. First things first for our elected officials and never mind that the courts might take over their rightful job of dividing the state into voting areas - let's find out first how many freebies are available for the always hungry and thirsty ones we send to Austin!

One lobbyist noted in Friday's edition of the Austin American Statesman that until the rules on how to legally "treat" the solons he "was not going to spend a dime on them." That fact alone could cause this to be the shortest special session on record!

Helpful Democrats

Another item of interest lurking on the old desk is one that should bring tears to the eyes of any citizen believing in fair play. Seems the Democrats have gone to bat for Republicans in a number of States to help the GOPers get right-winger Patrick Buchanan and former Ku Klux Klan leader David Duke on the primary ballots. Isn't that special? How piously nice the Demos appear while inwardly chuckling with glee about forcing President Bush to battle two GOP crazies at the same time thus leaving the loyal opposition freedom to gain momentum among the electorate during the wild and woolly primary session!

Review of 1991

Did you ever think you would live long enough to see the collapse of the Russian Empire? That has to be the number one event of 1991 or so we believe. The number one visual news event that enthralled us may have been accuracy of our military missiles during the Persian Gulf War. Remember the one that flew hundreds of miles and unerringly hit a chimney and all presented to us on TV. Wow!

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

A word or letter of praise for the people at "Ticklish" and "Brownings Cafe" and others.

On Dec. 28, my daughter-in-law, her mother and I were in Salado shopping. The mother Patsy Rhodes, stepped off a curb, fell and broke her ankle in three places. While waiting for an ambulance, called by a lovely young lady at 'Ticklish', a young lady from Brownings brought ice and dish cloths for us to use, and then she called her uncle, a paramedic.

A passerby loaned us a quilt from his van, and then a mother, with a baby and little boy loaned us the little boy's pillow to put under her head. (The little boy hung around to keep an eye on his pillow.) How can you thank all these people!

In spite of all the bad news from the media, there is so much goodness we don't hear about. We shall sing the praises of Salado from Texas to Virginia.

All we can say is thank you from the bottoms of our hearts. We don't know any names except a gentleman from Ticklish named Bill and thanks to the ambulance from Belton.

May God richly bless each of you.

Sincerely

Effects of pollutants in food

A major question today is, "What effects do increased pollutants in the environment and in food have upon our health?" Food manufacturers continue to put more food additives in our food supply; yet there has been too little time to evaluate the change in body function and in nutritional requirements caused by these additives. Note that the Food and Drug Administration continues to eliminate certain food colorings, preservatives, and chemical taste modifiers from the market. It takes years for the FDA to determine that an additive is harmful to the body, and then more years of legal hassle to ban th item. In the meantime, you and I are eating these additives on a daily basis. These items change the requirement for nutritional intake, because certain vitamins and minerals are very important to the detoxification -- removal of poisons -- from our bodies. These detoxifiers are "used up" detoxifying the body, leaving inadequate supplies for the body's nutritional requirements.

It is known that additives placed in food for preservation and appearance create different reactions in different people. Some individuals are extremely sensitive to such things as food colorings and preservatives. This sensitivity may be so great that the person will have a headache or gross personality change within minutes of ingesting the additive.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Sometime around Christmas a stray red chow tried to eat something out of a can and got it stuck on his tongue. It wasn't until several days later that he was caught and treated.

Even though he lost half of his tongue, he's learned to eat and drink by himself and will soon have a new home with a local dentist and his wife.

To all of you who called, came by and donated money for his medical cost. Thank you, Thank you! You helped save a grand dog.

Chamber bids farewell to Wilma Williams

The Salado Chamber of Commerce began the new year by saying farewell to Wilma Williams who retired after 10 years service as secretary to the Board of Directors and the general membership.

Wilma first retired in 1978 after 20 years with an architectural firm in Austin and immediately volunteers to do secretarial work at a Baptist seminary in Rueschlikon, Switzerland. This three year tour of duty ended in 1981 when she returned to her family home in Salado. This was to be a permanent retirement at that point in time, however a strong work ethic kept Wilma busy with civic and church work in the village.

When the local chamber of commerce needed a part time secretary there was little doubt that Wilma was the exact right choice. She took the job on a "temporary" basis and now after 10 years decided it was time to give full attention to travel and her church work.

Wilma announced her plans to retire early in the 1991 chamber year so the board of directors could begin a search for her replacement. The board, with regret accepted the pending resignation, and second the words of then Chamber President Pete Jennings who noted: "The Salado Chamber of Commerce and the Village of Salado owes much to Wilma Williams who worked long hours and accomplished much for the Chamber and for the village and we can never tell her how much we truly appreciate all that she has done. Thankfully she will remain in Salado and continue to work with us on many of our projects. We shall miss her daily work at the Chamber office but we wish for her many years of happy travel and church work."

Laura McQueary was named by the board to replace Wilma. She has been working at the chamber office for several months in order for the transition that took place on January 1, 1992, to be made in an orderly manner. The Chamber office is located at the corner of Main and Pace Park next to the Salado Creek. Hours are 9 a.m.-1 p.m.

TJC course scheduling Jan. 7-10 & 13-15

late fee.

Spring classes will begin the week of Jan 20.

Chamber

First, let us take a look at what the local Chamber does for this unincorporated village that would otherwise be done by some governmental body such as a city or county of some other incorporated entity. The easiest way to note these activities is to look at the proposed budget currently under consideration by the Board of Directors of the Chamber.

Foremost in expenses is the care and maintenance of Pace Park. Many are not aware that Pace Park was left to the Village years ago with the understanding that the Chamber would take full responsibility for its upkeep. This charge has been fulfilled and 1992 will see no less than $14,000 allocated for labor, tree planting, purchase of new equipment for the pavilion, plus the ongoing general clean-up and mowing that is a year-round requirement. Pace Park is a jewel that brings visitors to our community on a daily basis and is the site of the annual Art Fair. A master plan will be designed this year in order to proceed with the planting of trees and the addition of new facilities as well as the work needed to be done on the Salado Creek channel.

Other expenditures going directly to the village and its citizens include: a major contribution to the Van Bibber Scholarship to top Salado High School graduates, funds to the Salado Volunteer Fire Department, Salado Public Library, various youth groups, the Salado Humane Society and Table-rock.

Street lights along Main St. were erected some years ago by the Ladies Auxiliary and that project will be continued in 1992 with additional lights being erected. The Chamber pays the electric bill for the lights as well as for the trash pick-up along Main St. where the Chamber placed a number of benches, trash receptacles and flower barrels this past year.

The Governmental Affairs Committee of the Chamber hosts a back-to-school luncheon for the entire school faculty each August as well as a series of receptions for visiting elected officials. Forums for public office are held during election years, thus giving the village an opportunity to meet the candidates for school board, county and State offices.

Information on the community is mailed out daily through the Chamber office and telephone inquiries on all subjects concerning the village are handled by the office.

The annual banquet (see related story) is an event high on the list of activities enjoyed by Saladoans. It is the time for the changing of the Guard as the new president and board members take office. Members of the Board of Directors are elected for three year terms by members of the Chamber with staggered annual elections.

In concluding this first article, we return to the question, "Why join the Chamber?" This comes many times from those who may have retired from busy life in a major city hoping for the peace and quiet of our village. They have invested heavily in their homes and land and want to play golf, travel or just relax. And here comes someone from the Chamber wanting them to take an active part in the life of the village. If we had a town government-- which incidentally, the town has turned down a number of times, then the question would be difficult to answer and the Chamber would involve itself in only commercial activities.

In Salado's case, the question is answered with other questions...if not for the Chamber who would maintain Pace Park? Who would put up and pay for lighting along Main Street? Who would sponsor the Art Fair and Antique Shows? Who would buy benches and flowers to be enjoyed by our visitors? Who would support the other positive activities that help the community, the schools, the citizens? Why would visitors take a long look at Salado and decide it is the place to live and raise children in or to retire to if there were no organization to keep things pleasant to the eye, the heart and the mind?

All of these things are done plus the primary work of supporting the shops and galleries in Salado.

If each merchant or each citizen had to do these things on their own, how soon would the village deteriorate? How soon would property values begin to decline?

If for no other reasons than to protect one's own property values by keeping the village humming and pretty and viable, we should be happy to invest $15 to be a part of the 1992 Chamber. Cheap insurance premium with guaranteed high return is the way one villager put it recently.

Incoming Chamber President Denver Mills expressed it well when he asked Saladoans to "Join with us in a wonderful adventure, that of working together to make Salado an even better place in which to live and raise children. We can't do it without the wholehearted support of all Saladoans, so please be a part of the Salado Chamber of Commerce and share in the joy of watching our village grow and prosper and always be a lovely stop-over along I-35, that has attracted literally thousands of tourists and shoppers each year!"

Part two of this series will feature commercial activities within the Salado Chamber of Commerce and the articles will conclude with a report on the activities of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Chamber and a presentation of the complete 1992 budget plus a list of committee chairs and the Board of Directors as well as officers for the coming year.

The worst statement during 1991 was one made by a GOP Presidential candidate who stated, when asked about sending food and other aid to the Russians, opined he would prefer to just let them starve!

And finally the greatest failing of our nation continues to be our inability to teach our young the value and meaning of the word abstinence. Most if not all, of our welfare, health, AIDS, abortion, homelessness, drug, alcoholism, family breakup and child abuse problems, stem from having never learned - either at home, school, church - a value that includes self discipline and respect for oneself and the opposite sex.
