Testing the waters

Historical Society Creek Preservation Committee monitors monthly

by Tim Fleischer
Editor-in-Chief

Along the banks of Salado Creek, you will see them knee-deep in water.

Once a month, on the first Tuesday, 20 or so volunteers from the Salado Historical Society "test the waters" of Salado Creek. Literally.

The groups of volunteers test Salado Creek waters for dissolved oxygen, pH, dissolved solids, as well as physical characteristics, such as temperature, clarity, growth, litter and swiftness.

According to Pat Merrill, co-chair with Martha Harper of the Salado Creek Preservation Committee, five sites along the Salado Creek are monitored on a monthly basis: Patterson's Crossing between Salado and Florence, the springs at Sirena, above the Stagecoach Inn dam, the crossing at Chisholm Trail and Summer's Mill.

Paterson's Crossing between Salado and Florence, the springs at Sirena, above the Stagecoach Inn dam, the crossing at Chisholm Trail and Summer's Mill.

"We have had good public response to the water monitoring which began in September because citizens are realizing that we must take care of our watershed," Merrill said.

Among the accomplishments of the creek preservation committee during its first half-year are having the tanks at the old Texaco station removed. The Texas Water Commission removed four remaining tanks from the old gas station as well as contaminated soil. Four monitoring wells and three sampling pipes to take core samples were installed at the site by the TWC.

Also, working with Judge Byron Skelton and the committee, State Rep. Dianne Delisi wrote an amendment to a bill which protects Salado Creek by allowing no waste water permits to discharge into Salado Creek until the year 2001.

The creek preservation committee sprung from a need last year when funds were cut at the TWC. In the past, TWC monitored bodies of water quarterly, but budget cuts dictated reducing that number to monitoring a body of water one time a year.

Volunteer monitoring programs like the Salado Historical Society committee started at local levels in many parts of the state. In fact, Merrill will attend a statewide gathering of volunteer water monitors in Austin this month.

At the convention, she will share with other volunteers the history behind the volunteer committee and some of its successes. Each of the two dozen Salado volunteers have trained for about 10 hours before being involved in monitoring Salado Creek.

Comfort of Strangers

starring Christopher Walken,

Our rating: *

by Tim Fleischer
Editor-in-Chief

Shame, shame, shame. Christopher Walken and Helen Mirren should be ashamed of themselves for being in Comfort of Strangers, a sicko movie.

Not only do they star in this dog, but they play sickos. Granted, Walken is best as a sicko, but this character Robert has no redeeming values whatever.

Set in Venice, Comfort of Strangers has beautiful music and beautiful scenery for a very ugly film. Natasha Richardson and Rupert Everett are two beautiful lovers caught in the web of deceit woven by Walken and Mirren.

What is worst about the movie is that not only is it sick, sick, sick, it is boring, boring, boring.

"I think we could delay the aging process if we let it go through Congress."

George Bush
January 25,
State of the Union Address

President Bush's State of the Union Address last week was politically correct and probably gave him a needed boost at the right time in his reelection campaign. Not enough, perhaps, to win big in New Hampshire in the first primary but sufficient to gain his party's nomination while at the same time putting Democrats in Congress on notice that they have a part to play in getting us out of the economic morass they helped create.

Did you notice the instant telephone poll that followed the President's speech on CBS? Americans are not as naive as our lawmakers may think. They pointed out who they blamed most for the recession and it was Congress. The Congressional group also got the blame for America's trade imbalance even above the screwed up leadership of our own big business leaders and greater than Japan! And they are right!

Don't expect much to

Off the Record

by Ken Clapp

come from the President's budget plan nor any ideas from the loyal opposition other than a great increase in the political rhetoric between now and November. Meanwhile the economy will struggle along and eventually recover, more by itself than through the machinations of government. The national debt will continue to climb. Trade will stay unbalanced. Unemployment will stabilize. And politicians will assure us that prosperity is just around the corner! Say brother - can you spare a dime?

GOP Survey

Did any of you get a massive letter from the Republican National Committee containing a poll on term limitations? Some doubters say that the GOP is not so much interested in limits as they are in getting the long term Democrats out of office thus allowing an increase in conservative lawmakers taking over both houses in Congress! The letter from Clayton Yeutter, former RNC Chairman, asking folks to think about limiting terms especially those of the rascally Demos, also asks for a modest contribution since Republicans have such little luck raising big bucks! Or so he says despite the fact that GOPers from the Pres on down have more campaign dollars in reserve than their liberal counterparts.

Kudos To Our Kids

One of the brightest spots in the recent Salado Chamber of Commerce banquet were the cheerful shining faces of so many high school boys and girls who worked hard serving the meal and entertaining those in attendance. Talk about polite young folks! Just about the time we come to the unwise conclusion that our young people were headed in the wrong direction we come across a great group such as we have at Salado High. Talented and sharp and willing to work. What a breath of fresh air! Our hats are tipped to the sponsors of the groups that we saw at the banquet and even more kudos to the youngsters themselves.

Recovering from old injuries

Q. Is there any way I can get help for problems I still have from an accident that happened several years ago?

A. Certainly. You are not alone if you suffer lingering pain and stiffness from injuries sustained in a vehicle collision that occurred many years ago. The sudden impact of the accident and the force leveled against the body result in jarring, jostling, and whiplash. These injuries stretch, strain, and tear ligaments, muscles, as well as misalign or jam the vertebrae of your spine, causing nerve irritation and injury.

Injured ligaments and muscles heal with scar tissue much like the scar tissue from a skin cut or surgical incision. As time passes, scar tissue hardens and contracts, inhibiting ligament elasticity and muscle function. Where there is scar tissue, soft tissue is impaired, inhibiting normal movement of the vertebrae to which it is attached. This produces strain and nerve irritation that may not present itself at the time of the accident, since scar tissue takes time to build up.

The good news is that modern chiropractic techniques can successfully deal with old injuries. The spine and soft tissues can be rehabilitated through a process of spinal adjustment and specialized ligament stretching, muscle conditioning, nutritional support and home self-care procedures. Various methods of physical therapy may also be included in your treatment plan. The goal of these efforts is to restore as much normal function as possible to the injured area, and reduce or eliminate nerve interference and irritation.

It is never too late to investigate the opportunities you may have to gain relief and/or correction of old injuries through chiropractic care.

Love Inspires Candy Sales —
Would-Be Cupids Take Heed: Trade in Arrows for Chocolates

Giving "sweets to the sweet," as Shakespeare put it in Hamlet, has been a Valentine's Day ritual for centuries, and one that today inspires more than 10 percent of all candy purchases in the United States each year.

The custom of presenting loved-ones with candy dates back to the Roman Empire, and is still practiced with great passion among Americans. Last year, Americans purchased nearly 36 million pounds of Valentine candy, according to the National Confectioners' Association. Chocolates, packaged for the season in satin and lace heart-shaped boxes, represent more than half of all Valentine's Day candy sold. That rich chocolate and passionate packaging add up to one thing — romance.

"A national survey of single men and women revealed that two-thirds of those who plan to give candy this year regard chocolate as a romantic gift," explained Terri Kaminski, a spokesperson for E. J. Brach Corporation, the largest maker of seasonal candy in the United States. The nationally projectable survey of single men and women aged 21-65 was commissioned by Brach's Candy. It revealed that 75 percent of all single men and women in the United States have at one time or another received a heart-shaped box of chocolates.

Both men and women are equally likely to give candy for Valentine's Day, according to the survey. "More women appear to be buying candy heart boxes for their favorite guys," said Kaminski. "This year, we introduced a heart box of chocolate golf balls, and it's been a real hit."

In these days of shrinking budgets and belt-tightening, chocolates also remain affordable. A heart box of chocolates can generally be bought for less than $12. "It's a thoughtful gift," Kaminski said. "And it doesn't involve monthly payments!"

Salado National shareholders hear news

The annual shareholders meeting of Salado National Bank was held in the lobby of the bank 5:30 p.m. Jan. 23. A high percentage of stock was represented by shareholders present and proxies. S.R. Greenwood, Chairman of the Board, reported on the operation of the bank for the year 1991 noting the bank had pre-tax, pre-loss reserve profits of 1.12% return on assets with a growth of 12 percent in assets. Favorable improvements were noted in all areas of the bank's operations including the number of new customers and depositors.

Chairman Greenwood complimented the shareholders, board of directors, and employees for their role in providing leadership, enthusiastic support, and professional proficiency in assisting the bank in its successful year of operation.

The bank forecast continued growth and profitability for the year 1992 with Salado's economy to remain at a stable level with positive growth. The local real estate market continues to reflect values consistent with above average sales and local consumer markets were at a record high which aided in the bank's further expansion of service and products. Shareholders and directors have been an integral part of the bank's success, along with expressing confidence in management and the bank's operation.

The shareholders nominated and elected eight directors including Bramlet Beard, Jack Buchanan, Robert H. Cottle, S.R. Greenwood, Phillip G. Newsom, Stewart P. Smith, Truett Williams and John H. Wilson and one advisory director, Grace Jones.

John Wilson is a newly elected board member who has had a distinguished and successful career in banking for more than four decades. Prior to moving to Salado, John was President and Chief Executive Officer of First National Bank of Bay City, Texas, a major financial institution in the gulf coast area.

His bank carried one of the highest ratings given to banks, along with strong annual earnings. Recognizing his banking abilities and capacities, the Salado National Bank is pleased to have him as an associate and have assigned areas of responsibility for his consideration. John has been active in civic and community affairs including Southwestern School of Banking, chamber of commerce, foundation board of Wharton County Junior College, American Red Cross, chairman of trustees of United Methodist Church, Masonic Lodge, Salado Lions Club, Mill Creek Golf and Country Club and numerous others.

If you are suffering from hypertension, your physician may have told you to reduce sodium in your diet.

Sodium is found in salt (salt is 40 percent sodium); leavening agents (baking soda and baking powder); monosodium glutamate (msg); condiments such as soy sauce, bouillon, pickles, and olives, cured meats; many canned vegetables and frozen dinners; and most cheeses, sauces, soups and salad dressings. The general function of sodium in a recipe is that it;

- *Provides flavor
- *Acts as a preservative in cured meats and in brined vegetables such as pickles and sauerkraut
- *Controls action of yeast

Once you have found what the sources of sodium in the recipe are, you can

- Eliminate it completely
- Reduce the amount
- Substitute more acceptable flavor or spice

To choose the best approach, follow these guidelines to decrease sodium:

Salt may be omitted or reduced in most recipes. Do not reduce the salt in cured meats or pickled or brined vegetables because it acts as a preservative. It is best not to omit the salt in yeast breads because it helps control the rising action of yeast.

Start with a gradual reduction. For example, if a recipe calls for one teaspoon of salt, try one-half teaspoon. If you reduce the amount of salt gradually, you'll soon adjust to the less salty flavor.

Choose fresh or low-sodium versions of products. For example, choose low sodium soups and broths, soy sauce, canned vegetable and tomato products.

Rely on herbs and spices rather than salt for flavor

Use garlic or onion powder instead of onion or garlic salt.

Try vegetable juice or wine for cooking liquid instead of broth or bouillon.

Here's a handy reference for the sodium content in favorite seasonings. The figures indicate the number of milligrams of sodium in 1 teaspoon. Salt (2,130); Garlic Salt (1,850); Onion Salt (1,620); Baking Soda (820); Monosodium Glutamate (MSG) (490); Soy Sauce (345); Baking Powder (330); Garlic Powder (1); Onion Powder (1).

For more information on the sodium content of foods or how to lower sodium consumption, contact the Bell County Extension Office.

Good kids don't just happen. They are helped by good parents and good school and church people and a community in full support of the schools and thank goodness we have all that here in Salado. It would be worth your time and effort to take a tour of the schools from elementary on through the high school perhaps during Public School Week and see for yourself what these young people are all about! The future looks good with this up and coming generation coming on line at all levels. They just might do a better job than we ever thought about doing.

Monitoring

The Salado Chamber of Commerce showed its support of the committee's work by donating $500 to purchase two reusable monitoring kits. The Brazos River Authority has also purchased two monitoring kits for use by the committee.

In addition to its job of monitoring Salado Creek, the committee is compiling personal recollections of Salado Creek by village old-timers.

Old-time Saladoans are encouraged to contact Pat Merrill to share their experiences of Salado Creek and its importance in the community.

Salado Creek is the lifeblood of our village. The Salado Creek Preservation Committee will help to ensure that Salado Creek will remain a treasure for this village.

Will's Words Still Sensible

Wills Rogers had a way with words and so while we are sort of on the subject of speeches here is what the great cowboy-philosopher had to say: "They say Lincoln wrote his speech going up on a train in a day coach on the back of an envelope. Every speaker that goes to commemorate something or other today, should be locked up in a day coach and if he comes out with over 300 words be put in a cattle car and make it to the stock."
