The Salado Chamber of Commerce will begin work on Phase I of the renovation of the old school house on Main St. when $50,000 has been raised to match money dedicated by the Chamber and a $100,000 loan to complete the work.

Old schoolhouse on Main to be renovated

by Tim Fleischer
Editor-in-Chief

The Chamber of Commerce has dedicated its efforts in the coming years to renovate the old red school house on Main St. for use as a centralized civic center.

Following an overwhelming show of support at a town meeting April 30, the Chamber will devote $50,000 in reserve to the project. Further, the Chamber will secure a $100,000 seven-year loan dedicated to the renovation project. The Chamber will raise another $50,000 to begin the $400,000 project, divided into three phases of construction.

Over $22,000 in pledges was raised at the town meeting. Patsy Sanford will coordinate the fund-raising efforts of the Chamber.

Architect Don Legge and committee chairman Robert Cottle discussed in detail with over 150 Salado citizens gathered for the meeting the procedures the Chamber will take to renovate the 1920s schoolhouse. The building will be used as Chamber of Commerce offices, Tourism Information, public restrooms, public library and meeting places for Salado groups.

The Chamber will take on a three phase renovation on a pay-as-you-go basis. In Phase I, estimated at $202,000, the building will get a new roof, new windows, new electrical wiring, and new plumbing throughout.

Also, the first floor of the building will be completely renovated for public use. Located on the first floor will be the Chamber of Commerce office and Tourist Bureau, Salado Public Library, a gallery for Salado artists work and gathering rooms for small groups.

Chamber President Denver Mills chaired the town meeting and explained to the audience that the old high school renovation project has been a Chamber goal for three years.

The Chamber will move into its new offices as will the library as soon as Phase I is complete.

An estimate of the yearly operational costs for the renovated building was given at $15,000 per year, most of which will be provided by the Chamber and Library.

The Chamber will continue to dedicate and raise funds for the second and third renovation phases of the project.

Phase II will include work on the exterior of the building: a covered porch, parking lot, landscaping estimated at $44,000.

Phase III will include renovation of the upstairs for a large gathering room and several offices for civic groups, installation of a lift for handicapped, estimated at $112,000.

Town meeting is successful

Late for Dinner

Rated PG

Starring Brian Wimmer, Peter Dury, Marcia Gay Harden

*Our rating: *****

by Tim Fleischer

Late for Dinner is a delightful, warm, ageless love story for all of us. Featuring a cast of complete unknowns, the story is more important than the faces of its characters.

Unlike most big-budget movies these days, Late for Dinner requires no special effects, no super-duos of big-name money actors, no gimmicks. It is near-perfection in and of itself.

The story of two young men Willie (Brian Wimmer) and Frank (Peter Dury) who are frozen in suspended animation for 30 years, Late for Dinner is so good it surprises the viewer throughout the film.

Last week's Town Hall meeting here in Salado was a total success. Attendance was high-- well over 150 villagers-- and the results were outstanding. A total commitment by everyone present in support of the renovation of the old red brick school house on Main St. Those attending complimented the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors for a well-prepared and presented outline of the work to be done on the future Civic Center. Villagers backed up their favorable vote with an initial contribution of $22,800.00 including pledges.

It is expected that the Chamber Board next week will begin plans for an immediate start on the project following all the necessary and proper paperwork steps needed to complete a short-term loan as well as securing the balance of the $50,000 needed in contributions for phase one of the project. The Chamber has an additional $50,000 on-hand for Phase One of the renovation and this group's board will begin at once redrawing their current budget in order to redirect funds towards the project. The fund-raising committee will be contacting each and every Saladoan for contributions and pledges. If all goes well, construction could begin early this summer.

Next year's Chamber budget will include the first year's principal and interest payment on the $100,000 loan that is pending. As a result, other items in the normal annual budget will be trimmed or completely cut. Since most of the Chamber's income each year comes from the Art Fair, it is anticipated that at least half of each year's profit will be directed to the renovation project in one way or another.

All of these decisions are being carried out by an elected board, which feels now that, with the outpouring of commitment and backing that came from the Town Meeting, there is a mandated feeling to go forward as well as knowing that the months and years of hard work to prepare the project has been well worthwhile.

Behind any venture of this sort is a lot of work and preparation. Pre-planning was the key to success and the Chamber did their job properly and well. They spent months in committee work. Additional time going over the feasibility study and then more time planning how to present it to the citizens of the community. This all came together with a resoundingly successful conclusion last week as citizen-- fully informed-- got on the renovation band-wagon.

All of this gives us a lesson in how to achieve results of a positive nature when it comes to a major community project. Get the facts, every one of them, pro and con. List every cost. Bring in the total community and go over each item. Keeping nothing hidden. Properly informed, most citizens will back any well-defined program that is useful and worthwhile. The school renovation appears to be a text-book example of how to bring a major project into being.

One final word on the Town Meeting-- a personal one at that! It has been some time since this writer has been in a meeting that showed so much coming together (if that is a proper description) as this one did. I was proud to be a part of Salado and from all I heard after the meeting and even into the following days, folks were pleased and proud of the new spirit of Salado and the things that are about to happen.

It is easy to bad-mouth what goes on in a town-- we

Light And Luscious "Fruit And Cake" Bake

Counting calories has given "weigh" to concerns over fat—the biggest diet worry according to survey polls. The nutrition community recommends that an overall diet consist of 30 percent or less daily calories from fat.

"Since fat contains more than twice as many calories as an equal amount of carbohydrates and protein, cutting down on fat nearly always means cutting down on calories," says Dr. Susan Wilt, director of nutrition for Nabisco Foods Group. "A good way to look at the recommended figure is to think of it as a 'budget'—if you cut fat by choosing low fat and fat free foods, you can 'spend' those calories from fat elsewhere in a balanced diet."

That's why Nabisco has developed its first fat free cookie. Fat Free Newtons are available in Apple and Fig varieties and their natural fruit and cake combination make them perfect for baking.

Try these Newton Muffins or Blueberry Apple Buckle. Both are light and luscious baked treats that the whole family will enjoy and you'll enjoy knowing it's good for them.

In medium bowl, combine flour, sugar and baking powder. Stir in margarine, egg and apple juice just until blended. (Batter will be lumpy.) Stir in cookies. Fill 12 greased 2 1/2-inch muffin-pan cups. Bake at 400°F for 15 to 20 minutes. Serve warm or cold.

Eagles win district play-off spot

The Salado Eagles baseball team clinched a play-off spot in the district tournament last week by defeating the Florence Buffaloes, 13-6.

The Eagles built a comfortable early lead before allowing it to slip away in the middle innings. The Eagles were able to pick themselves up and pull away from the Buffs in the last two innings to clinch the play-off spot.

Salado scored single runs in the third and fourth innings and added two more in the fifth to open up a 4-0 lead. After two outs were recorded in the fifth, Chris Jackson was hit with a pitch to start things for the Eagles. Jereme Fischer followed with a double to drive in Jackson. After Fischer stole third base, Robbie Ray singled to drive him home.

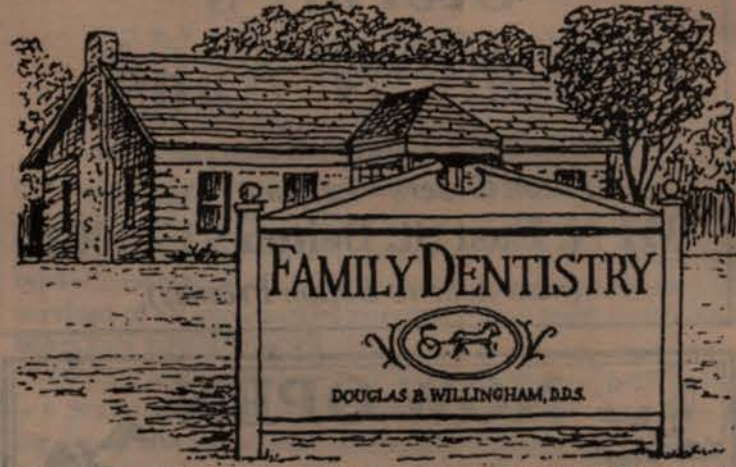

The Eagles relaxed too much in the bottom of the fifth and allowed Florence to score six runs. The Buffaloes sent 12 men to the plate in the inning yet registered only two hits. Salado pitchers Fischer and Ray hit a batter and combined to walk six batters in the fifth. The Salado defense also recorded an error.

Salado came right back in the top of the sixth with four runs to retake the lead. Ty Warrick led off with a walk. After an out was recorded, Richard Jackson also drew a walk. Jason Hosch followed with a single to load the bases. Shawn Morris was then hit with a pitch to bring in a run. A clutch double to right by Chris Jackson drove home two more runs to give the lead back to the Eagles. Jereme Hosch, running for Jackson, moved to third on a passed ball and scored on a fielder's choice by Richard Berumen.

The Eagles did not stop there. They scored five more runs in the seventh inning to put away the game. Three of the runs came on walks and errors. Jason Hosch drove in one with a double and Jereme Fischer hit a towering solo homerun for the other.

The 13-6 win gives the Eagles a 15-5 record on the season. Chris Jackson, Jereme Fischer and Jereme Hosch all collected two hits apiece for Salado. Robbie Ray picked up the win in relief for the Eagles. He is now 7-2 on the year.

Lawncare fallacies: brownpatch & fertilizer

James M. Davis
County Extension Agent
This week we will discuss lawncare fallacies which focus on brownpatch and fertilization.

Brownpatch is a disease caused by a fungal organism, Rhizoctonia solani. When night temperatures are in the 60's and day temperatures are in the 80's and when moisture is provided from rainfall, dew or irrigation, brownpatch develops on St. Augustine grass. Although nitrogen fertilizers promote growth and perhaps increase the "succulence" of grass leaves, there is little evidence that they increase brownpatch. They do, however, enhance the color contrast between healthy turf and diseased turf and cause the disease symptoms to be noticeable.

St. Augustine grass fertilized in the fall is more competitive with winter weed, holds its color longer into the fall and recovers faster from brownpatch than grass not fertilized in the fall. Overall, the benefits of fall fertilization far exceed the risks of increased brownpatch problems.

Fallacy: Fertilizers high in phosphorus relative to nitrogen and potassium promote rooting in grasses. For years lawn fertilizers high in phosphorus were recommended as a "winterizer" to promote root growth and enhance winter survival. Again, research with warm season grasses (St. Augustine, bermuda, zoysia, centipede, etc.) has not generally supported that recommendation.

High-phosphorus fertilizers such as 10-20-10, 12-24-12 and 16-20-0 do promote a rate of spread in newly seed, sprigged or plugged turf, but they do not enhance rooting in established turf.

Current research has focused on the role of potassium in root growth, winter survival, wear tolerance and the overall health of a turfgrass. Potassium like nitrogen, is needed in much larger amounts than phosphorus. Grass leaves contain about 2% potassium compared to 0.2-0.3 percent phosphorus. Research has generally shown that grasses high in potassium (2% or more) have greater root development, cold tolerance and stress tolerance than grasses low in potassium relative to phosphorus. Fertilizers high in phosphorus are only needed during the early establishment phase of turfgrasses.
