Probe continues into fire at Stagecoach Inn

by John Eubanks

The manager of the Stagecoach Inn said a second investigator with the insurance company will examine the scene of an Oct. 9 fire that damaged the motel's southernmost building.

No one was injured in the early morning fire, the cause of which was still under investigation Oct. 13.

"It's still undetermined," hotel manager Janet Gravette said that day.

She said the second investigator will examine the scene this week.

Bell County Fire Marshall John Durham said the preliminary investigation focused on the fire being electrical in nature.

Durham said the fire apparently started in the attic above Room 225, the only unoccupied room in the 32-unit building.

The fire, more of a smoldering type than a flaming type, was confined primarily to three rooms and the attic. But six other units upstairs and six units downstairs received smoke and water damage.

Fire officials were notified of the call at 5:18 a.m., and the fire was under control at 7:14 a.m.

Firefighters responded from Salado, Stillhouse, Belton and Holland.

Guests were initially warned of the fire by landscaper Jim Wright, Gravette said. Elderly members of the Elderhostel organization, who were holding a reunion at the hotel, were in the rooms at the time of the fire.

Those who did not leave their rooms after the initial warning were evacuated by firefighters.

Gravette said displaced guests were relocated to other rooms. They were allowed to get most of their belongings later in the day.

Gravette said Oct. 13 that eight of the rooms will be open within 10 days. The others are expected to be open within six to eight weeks.

She said the fire is "by far" the worst ever at the hotel. In fact, she knows of no other fire in the hotel portion itself. Firefighters on the scene could only remember kitchen-type grill fires.

Gravette said the fire ignited in a very thick layer of insulation, which acted as a blanket. She also said a thermostatic-controlled attic fan pumped smoke out of the building and away from the rooms.

She said the insulation and attic fan were installed by her father, William Bratton, who purchased the hotel in 1959.

Bratton purchased the inn from an aunt who had purchased the historical Shady Villa stage shop in 1930 and renamed it Stagecoach Inn.

Gravette was thankful for the firefighters who responded. "They were great," she said.

Food drive set at Brookshire

The Eighth Annual Friends Feeding Friends Food Drive will hold its big collection day 8 a.m.-7 p.m. Oct. 16 at Brookshire Brothers grocery store.

It is sponsored by the Temple-Belton Board of Realtors, The American Legion Temple Post 133, radio stations Cool 105.5 and KKIK, as well as KCEN-TV. This annual food drive helps stock local area food banks with needed items for the poor and homeless. All items collected in Salado will be donated to the community food pantry operated by the First Baptist Church of Salado.

A water trough for collecting donated items has been placed inside Brookshire Brothers so that shoppers can purchase a few extra items to place in the trough as they exit the store. The Salado FFA and FHA will be helping again this year by collecting food at the elementary school, where classes have been competing since the first of October to see who gathers the most items, according to Myra Novosad, Salado coordinator for the project.

Nonperishable items needed for the pantry include these: dry beans or peas, dry pasta, rice, canned vegetables, canned fruit, canned juice, canned meat, sugar, flour, cooking oil, soup, pudding mix, jelly, peanut butter.

Other items such as bar soap, shaving cream, disposable razors, shampoo, toothpaste and toothbrushes are also needed.

Newspaper doing section on Salado to hold meeting

Salado business owners are invited to meet with members of the Arlington Star-Telegram 5:30 p.m. Oct. 15 in the Allen Meeting Hall.

The Arlington Star-Telegram is planning a special tabloid section on Salado to run before the holiday season.

Representatives from the Star-Telegram will discuss advertising prices for the tabloid section, which will be inserted in 70,000 newspapers mailed to readers in the upscale neighborhoods of the Arlington area.

TESTING QUESTION

The American dream is as much about the future as it is about the past. Universal education is a pillar of the American success story. All of us are aware that without a first-class education system, that dream can rapidly become a nightmare.

Our national debate over how best to realize the dream has focused recently on the issue of academic standard setting — establishing educational goals and tracking the progress of students toward achieving them. There are two schools of thought surrounding this question:

- 1) That the federal government, through the Department of Education, should develop and administer national tests.
- 2) That states and individual school districts should be responsible for this tracking.

The administration favors the first method. My philosophy falls squarely on the second. I believe that parents, teachers and local school officials are better qualified to pass judgment on how children are learning than a bureaucrat sitting in an office in the Department of Education in Washington, D.C.

In addition, the administration has proposed a testing program based on the "whole math" approach. This controversial teaching method, which encourages students to rely on calculators and discourages basic math skills, has resulted in declines in math performance.

For example, median scores on the Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills taken by more than 37,000 Department of Defense students one year after the Defense Department introduced whole math dropped nine points for third graders, 12 points for fourth graders, 11 points for fifth graders, 10 points for sixth graders, 10 points for seventh graders and four points for eighth graders.

This debate recently came to a head in the Senate. I voted for legislation that prevents the administration from allowing the federal government to develop and administer national tests. This bill, which passed 88-12, carries deliberate instructions and prohibitions: 1) Any future national test must be developed by an independent board comprised of individuals from states and local communities; 2) These tests must be administered on a purely voluntary basis, and may not be imposed on any state, school or student; 3) Nor may testing be tied to any federal funding.

With this legislation we are reminding the administration that the private sector already is doing a good job, without Uncle Sam's "help." Two examples of this are the advanced placement tests and the Scholastic Aptitude Tests (SAT), a series of privately administered exams taken by most high school students. The SATs function, in effect, as a national standard measurement. They are not, however, mandated, paid for nor administered under the auspices of the federal government.

So the debate is not over standard-setting. Everyone favors the establishment of ways to measure competence in the basics. Testing at an earlier age, along the lines of the SATs, may well enhance efforts to provide all children with a superior education. We want all children to learn at the highest possible levels.

It is proven that when parents take an interest in schools and participate in their children's education, achievement scores are higher. Federal intervention has never been as successful. 10.03.97

'...I tried to recreate their natural habitat...'

'Promise Keepers' -- keep the faith!

Washington is the clear, hands-down winner of the title of "The Goofiest Place on Earth" these days. Even little Alice would have had to go farther than Wonderland to find a more "Curiouser and Curiouser" place than the District of Columbia.

Why? Glad you asked!

D. C. has to be the only center of foolishness that would take issue with nearly a million men, from around the country, gathered quietly on a warm Saturday afternoon to ask God to forgive them for their past misadventures and promise to take better care of their families in the future including honoring their wives, staying home and helping to raise their kids while lending a hand to their local church and community.

These were the "Promise Keepers." They met on the Mall in the nation's capital on Oct. 4.

They were unfortunately and immediately surrounded by the ever present loud-mouthed detractors who can usually be found around any movement - good or bad.

These rousers of rabble were naturally joined by the media, many of whom delight in poking fun and aspersion while stirring their mad brew of discontent.

Questions were immediately hurled via the print and electronic press: "Who are these guys and why are they here?" "What sort of secret agenda do they have?" "Are they going to be a political force?" "What is their connection to the religious right?"

Also: "Why would a bunch of men want to get together just to say they were sorry for past errors, admit sins and promise to go forth and do better - for family, nation and God?" "What sort of heretical behavior is this?" screamed the doubters.

Then came the women from the noisy-NOW group with such snide comments and charges as: "What gives men

Off the Record
by Ken Clapp

the right to consider themselves to be the so called head of their families?" and "Who do they think they are to put women back in the kitchen and do away with all the feminine liberation won so recently in battles on all fronts?"

Editorial writers, self proclaimed pundits, certain politicians, commentators and the ever snooping religious nuts joined forces to attempt to uncover the motives behind the "Promise Keepers."

Despite all this discordant background noise, the fact remains that when all was said and done America probably was just a bit better for having these men gather together for a few hours to show the rest of us that promising to be better fathers, husbands and God fearing citizens is a good thing - even when done without guile, hidden agendas or political ambitions.

Just promising to try and restore the American family is worth pausing for a moment to give thanks and hope others, regardless of gender or religious persuasion, will want to join this or any other movement designed to empower and strengthen the American family, which in turn will restore and reshape our nation from top to bottom.

So, the word should go out to these Promise Keepers - "well done" and "thanks" for reminding us of what is really missing in these less than halcyon days we are muddling through.

MAIN STREET BLUES

Main Street is again the topic of conversation ever since the Highway Department planted some walkway signs almost in the middle of our primary village thoroughfare. Prediction that someone would run smack-dab into, or over, these dangerously positioned posts, came to pass during the first weekend after installation, when several cars smacked into the silly signs - leaving a couple of frustrated drivers and their hurt autos.

Fact is the whole idea of marking off a sidewalk that is constructed of the same material, as well as on the same level and color of the old highway, is fraught with peril. Drivers have no idea what is roadway and what is sidewalk.

Actually what is in place right now looks like an old road tarted up with some messy passing/parking shoulders designed for vehicle use only. Hardly what was expected when sidewalks were under discussion.

A busy Main Street sidewalk really needs to be constructed of concrete several inches higher than the road and complete with curbing so motorists will know what is road and what is walkway.

The local highway department officials got busy late last week and removed the pesky signs and have promised to do some better marking of what is road and what is walkway.

They admit that with enough funding they could build some real sidewalks which they agree would be much better, but that's not in the cards for now.

Fire chief responds to criticism of SVFD

Dear Editor:

The other day I heard some negative remarks about the Salado Fire Department. And I want to set the record straight!

Firefighters from the Salado Fire Department have responded to two structure fires in the last three weeks that could have spelled absolute disaster to this community!

The first fire was in the Old Town Salado center, at Aunt Granny's. This shopping center is a wooden structure that has an extremely heavy fire load (amount of easy to burn materials), as well as having no fire defenses, i.e. sprinkler systems, standpipes with firehose cabinets, etc.

The second fire was at the Stagecoach Inn Hotel. The structure that was involved was the "Standard Building," which is parallel to IH-35 access road. The amount of Life Hazard at this fire was incredible! An entire group of elderly persons. Here again, there were no fire defense systems.

In both incidents, the firefighters and officers of this department did an outstanding job! Of course, there was water and smoke damage... fires make smoke and it takes water to put them out. There was no loss of life and property damage was minimal!

The firefighters of this department have logged 1,261 man hours for the past fiscal year (Oct. 1, 1996-Sept. 30, 1997). This does not include meeting nights, training schools, fund-raisers, Santa Pal project, or fire prevention activities.

We responded to 229 calls for service, 141 of which were medical calls. This number also includes hazardous materials spills and rescue calls, as well as fires.

In closing, I would like to extend an open invitation to all Saladoans to visit the fire stations anytime you see us here and talk with and to get to know any of our volunteer firefighters.

And to our critics, anytime you would like to get up in the middle of the night, early morning, or in the middle of dinner to come along and help supervise us, please leave us your phone number, so we can call you when we go out!

Wayne Rutherford
Salado Fire Department

P.S. I would like to take this chance to thank our local Brookshire Brothers store, who generously gave our firefighters drinks and donuts while they were handling the Stagecoach Inn fire.

Pros and cons of each of the recent legislatively approved measures will be outlined. Some with editorial comments. Some without.

All sent your way for the sole purpose of arousing at least a smidgen of interest in what will otherwise be a slow day at the ballot box.

Since our current Constitution was approved in 1876, lawmakers have forwarded to voters some 550 amendments. Of this number, Texans have approved 365 to date including the most recent one on Aug. 9, that upped the school tax homestead deduction to $15,000.

Keeping an eye on what is proposed by the legislature is a good idea since they just might slip something by us - like a pay raise or even more astounding, something worthwhile!

Salado loses to alter Eagles, 34-13

by Tim Fleischer
Editor-in-Chief

The Salado Eagles lost 34-13 to their high-flying namesakes from Rogers in the district opener Oct. 10. The Rogers Eagles totalled 371 yards total offense, 324 yards in the air.

All five of Rogers touchdowns came on passes, including three passes from Patrick Hutka to wingback Nelson Kortis.

Kortis had touchdown receptions of 8, 53 and 57 yards. The long touchdown receptions were catch-and-runs in which he chewed up the Salado defense.

The game was a tale of two halves as Salado jumped out to an early lead on John McLaughlin's 85-yard touchdown romp. McLaughlin scored on the third play from scrimmage. The PAT failed giving Salado its only lead, 6-0.

The Rogers Eagles answered by driving down the field to set up a 9 yard touchdown catch by Josh Whatley midway through the first quarter. The PAT was good for Rogers' first lead 7-6.

Salado threatened to take back the lead, but a 39-yard field goal sailed to the left, giving Rogers the ball at their own 22 yard line with 9:21 in the second period.

Rogers scored in the second quarter on Kortis' 53 yard catch-and run. The PAT failed giving Rogers its second lead of 13-6 with 4:20 remaining in the half.

The Salado Eagles almost got to take a halftime lead to the lockers, when a Paul Mashburn pass to Taylor Hutton brought the ball to the Rogers 18 yard line with 1:34 left in the half. On second and 11, Paul Mashburn was forced out of the pocket and scrambled for a first down at the Rogers 5 yard line, but the play was called back for offensive holding. Mashburn was sacked at the Rogers 37 yard line and a Mashburn pass to McLaughlin fell short with 11 seconds remaining in the half.

Salado took the second half kickoff and drove 74 yards in six plays, including Hutton's 26 yard scamper on fourth and 1. Lee's PAT tied the score at 13-13.

The rest of the night belonged to Rogers as they drove 80 yards in seven plays, capped by Kortis' 9-yard touchdown catch with 7:21 left in the third.

Rogers scored again with 9:06 left in the game on a 32-

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

The Lord Loves All

"The compassion of man is for his neighbor, but the compassion of the Lord is for all living beings."

— Ecclesiasticus 18: 13

Ecclesiasticus — or as it is also known, the Book of Sirach after its author, the Hebrew scribe Joshua ben Sira (Jesus the son of Sirach) — appears in the Apocrypha, that selection of religious texts which somehow fall into no decided category within the framework of the Old and New Testament. The meaning of the texts, however, is no less clear nor explicit. As Joshua notes, the love of the Lord God is all-encompassing. Just consider your own likes and dislikes, not only among people but among the creatures of the field or the plants of the earth. Naturally, no one will make claim to a universal delight in everything, yet these are all things of God's own creation, things and beings which He has nurtured and which He holds dear. Consider yourself fortunate that humans are among the recipients of God's favor.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Sprint has applied to the Public Utility Commission to begin offering optional Vanity Numbers to all Centel single-line residential and business customers on October 29, 1997.

Vanity Numbers allow a customer to request a specific telephone number (the last four digits only) which may have special meaning to the customer. The requested telephone number must be an available number in the customer's service area. Vanity Numbers may be established in association with the initial establishment of local telephone service, the relocation of an existing service or a customer-requested change of an existing telephone number. The letters "Q" and "Z" are not available, nor may the "#" or "*" symbols be used with this service.

Up to three numbers, in order of preference, may be requested at one time. A non recurring charge will apply for each search of up to three numbers, requested by the customer, whether the search is successful or the Vanity Number is accepted. A search of up to three numbers is $20.00 for residential customers and $30.00 for business customers.

Sprint estimates first year annual revenue generated by this service will be approximately $245,030.

The proposed effective date for this service is October 29, 1997.

Persons who wish to comment on this application should notify the commission by October 19, 1997, ten days before the proposed effective date. Request for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, William B. Travis Building, 1701 N. Congress Avenue, Austin, Texas, 78701, or you may call the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Office at (512) 936-7120 or (512) 936-7136 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Números de Vanidad permiten que un cliente solicite un número de teléfono específico (los últimos cuatro dígitos solamente) que pueda tener algún significado especial para el cliente. El número de teléfono solicitado tiene que estar disponible en el área de servicio del cliente. Los Números de Vanidad pueden establecerse en asociación con el establecimiento inicial del servicio telefónico local, el traslado de un servicio existente o con un cambio de número de teléfono solicitado por el cliente. Mr. Mo(mentum) deserts spikers

Salado High's volleyball team was in perfect position to grab some serious momentum in their league opener with defending district champ Rogers, when Mr. Mo suddenly switched sides.

Leading 14-10 in the first game of the best-of-three match on their homecourt Oct. 7, the Lady Eagles were a point away from a game one victory.

But, after serving six straight points to reverse a 10-8 deficit, the Lady Eagles lost the serve on game point.

They eventually lost the game, and ultimately the match, as Rogers swept in two games, 17-15, 15-3.

So close, yet so far away was Salado's battle cry on this night.

"What can I say about that first game," Coach John Black asked, before answering. "It was the epitome of momentum swings. We had our chances." Salado led 3-1 in game one, before Rogers scored seven straight to make it 8-3. Salado narrowed the gap, but still trailed 10-8 when Lori Matthews began the first of her six straight service points with an ace.

Rogers Coach Lisa Bone finally stopped the streak by calling a timeout at 14-10. It certainly halted Salado's momentum, as Rogers went on to score five straight points and lead 15-14.

Salado managed to tie the score at 15-all, after the second of two Salado timeouts during the five-point run.

Rogers quickly made it 16-15, but had to work for the final point. Both teams had two serves apiece before Rogers scored a point after the fourth side-out prior to the 17th point.

Rogers' momentum carried over to the second game as it took a 5-0 lead. Salado cut it to 5-3, prompting Bone to call a timeout.

Rogers scored the next 10 points on its aggressive play, as Salado got just one serve during the run.

"They just came out and unloaded on us, spiking-wise," Black said.

This year's Rogers team is certainly not the one that swept district last year with a 6-0 mark. Only two girls returned from last year, prompting a "we're rebuilding" line from Coach Bone after the match.

While a Salado victory might not have shifted the balance of power from one nest of Lady Eagles in east Bell County to another nest 20 miles due west, it would have served notice to the district that the Lady Eagles from Salado play more than basketball well.

"If we had won that first game, who knows?" Black said.

Then looking ahead, he added, "I'm not counting ourselves out. We're just as good as anyone in the district. We're still a very young volleyball team (with just one senior), and we're still learning about volleyball."

And, as Black said, "You've got to keep your composure during the good and the bad."

The Lady Eagles followed up the district opener with a 15-13, 15-9 loss at Florence Oct. 11 in a non-district contest.

Coach Black said the match was similar to the Rogers match. After losing a close first game, the Lady Eagles came out flat in game two and trailed 11-2 early. They managed to cut the deficit to 11-9 before Florence served out the match. The JV lost 15-11, 15-9.

Results of the Oct. 14 game at Holland were not available at press time for this issue. Salado's next game is Oct. 18 at home against Academy.

Burning of the S Oct. 15

The Salado Athletic Boosters invite you to the annual "Burning of the S" and pep rally homecoming activities 7:30 p.m. Oct. 15 at the Salado High School football field.

The Boosters also wish to thank the 1997 Sponsors for their generous donations. These donations held with Booster Club activities, scholarships, the annual Sports Banquet, and recently a new video camera was purchased for the Athletic Department.

The Salado Cheerleaders would also like to invite all Salado Alumni to the Homecoming Pep Rally 2:45 p.m. Oct. 17 in the Salado High School Gym. Anyone interested in participating in the Pep Rally should contact Debbie Tubbs at 947-5429.

Runners gear for district meet

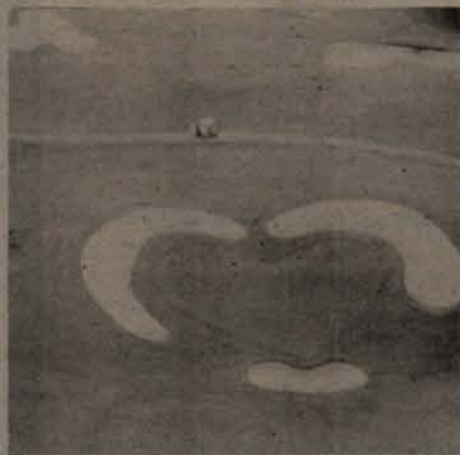

Salado's Tracy Crane finished in the top third of the girls division at a cross country meet Oct. 11 in Temple.

Salado was one of only two Class 2A schools that competed. It was the final meet for Salado before the district meet Oct. 22.

Salado's Paul Lucas, Vicente Friare, Brad Bolick and Gilbert Chavez finished in the top half of runners in the boys division.

In the previous week's meet at Academy, Crane medaled by finishing in the top 15. Friare finished in the top half of the boys division.

Garlyn Shelton Imports to co-host Drive for the Cure vs. breast cancer

As part of the largest and most innovative program of its type, the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation and Garlyn Shelton Imports will host the Drive for the Cure Oct. 23 at King's Daughters Hospital in Temple to raise funds for the fight against breast cancer and awareness of the importance of early detection.

The Drive for the Cure features two fleets of specially marked BMW automobiles that set out in cross-country caravans from the east and west coasts in early May.

Guests will be invited to support the Foundation's mission of eradicating breast cancer as a life-threatening disease by test driving specially decorated BMW automobiles. BMW will contribute $1 to the Komen Foundation for each test mile driven in a program vehicle. The objective for the program is to generate one million test drive miles and $1 million for the Komen Foundation.

Additionally, every Drive for the Cure participant will have the opportunity to sign the lead car, thereby permanently signifying their support for the efforts of the Komen Foundation.

Persons wishing to participate in the Drive for the Cure event in the Central Texas area are encouraged to call the Drive for the Cure Registration Desk. The toll-free number is 1-800-972-CURE (1-800-972-2873).

As the caravans travel from city to city, an individual from each community will be recognized for his or her outstanding contributions in the area of breast cancer prevention and/or awareness. Each Local Hero's photograph will be added to the lead car producing an ever-growing collage of actual faces, real people who are making a difference in the fight against breast cancer. The local hero for Central Texas will be announced and their photo mounted on the lead car.

The Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation was established in 1982 by Nancy Brinker to honor the memory of her sister, Susan G. Komen, who died from breast cancer at the age of 36. The Foundation is a national organization with a network of volunteers working through local chapters and Race for the Cure events fighting to eradicate breast cancer as a life-threatening disease by advancing research, education, screening and treatment.

The Foundation is the nation's largest private funder of research dedicated solely to breast cancer. In addition to funding research, the National Grant Program funds innovative breast cancer education, screening and treatment projects for the medically underserved. Hundreds of thousands of men and women receive the lifesaving message of early detection through Komen outreach efforts.

BMW of North America, Inc. was established in 1975, when the company assumed marketing and distribution responsibilities of BMW vehicles in the U.S. from the previous private distributor. Since then the company's North American operations have grown to include marketing, sales and financial services organizations in the United States and Canada; a South Carolina manufacturing operation; a design firm in California; and various other operations throughout the U.S. and Canada. BMW is represented in North America through a network of more than 375 automobile and 190 motorcycle retailers in the United States and Canada.

The Range's chef goes 'over easy' with Lions

by John Eubanks

Dave Hermann, part-owner and executive chef of The Range at the Barton House, gave the Salado Lions Club a brief overview of the "all occasion restaurant" in Salado.

Introduced by the Lions' publicity chairman Truman Head as someone who "knows how to flip a hamburger and make a souffle," Hermann made like a short-order cook when it came to his remarks.

His short address to the Lions was followed by a short question-and-answer session about a restaurant that one would normally find in a larger city, like Dallas or even New York.

"Do you give a senior citizens discount?" one Lion asked, drawing laughter.

"At the present time, I'm afraid the answer is no," Hermann said, smiling. "We'll have to look into that."

The Range opened in April under the management of Hermann and his wife, the former Katie Shull of Temple and the daughter of Dr. Bob Shull.

Dave and Katie met while attending The Culinary Institute of America in Hyde Park, N.Y., about 70 miles north of New York City on the Hudson River.

Hermann grew up in the Hudson Valley and attended college in Orange County, N.Y.

It was during college that Hermann became interested in cooking as a profession. "I always loved to cook," he said, during a follow-up to his Lions address. "I was working at a nice restaurant in upstate New York as a server to make money for college. Then I was hired to work in the kitchen, and after a year-and-a-half decided to follow up on it."

While at The Culinary Institute of America, Hermann earned a graduate fellowship, working in one of the school's restaurants, The American Bounty in Hyde Park.

Katie also earned a graduate fellowship, working at The Fish Kitchen.

They eventually migrated to northern California, where Hermann worked at The Wine Spectator Restaurant at Greystone (built by the Monks) in the Napa Valley community of St. Helena.

Katie, meanwhile, was working for another restaurant, All Seasons Cafe in Calistoga.

But the idea of owning their own restaurant had been with them since the time in New York.

"Katie knew of Salado and loved it," Hermann said.

While visiting in Salado with an appraiser at the office of realtor Larry Sands, the Hermanns, by chance, learned of the availability of the Barton House, owned by Robert and Doris Denman.

"We saw the property in June of '96 and took possession of it the first of January '97," Hermann said.

"We love it. We serve American food with French and Mediterranean influence."

Hermann said the menu is evolving to fit the fall season. The restaurant, he stressed, offers only the finest quality — fresh seafood, certified Angus beef, "and we try to get locally grown vegetables. We also have a very modest wine list."

The Range offers private parties for up to 50 people and also caters.

The restaurant is open Wednesday through Sunday. Lunch is served 11 a.m.-3 p.m., while dinner is served 5-9 p.m. on those same days, except Sunday, when it's served 5-8 p.m.

"We feel like we're doing a pretty good job," Hermann said.

LIONS NOTES: The next Lions Club speaker will be State Rep. Troy Fraser on Oct. 22.

Lubbock loves Buddy Holly

by Tumbleweed Smith

I was in Lubbock a few weeks ago and interviewed Don Caldwell, who owned a recording studio and is a major player in Lubbock's music scene. He was in charge of this year's Buddy Holly festival and invited me to come up for it. I'm glad I went.

Buddy Holly grew up in Lubbock and now he's helping Lubbock grow. The second year of Lubbock's Buddy Holly festival attracted people from Germany, Australia, England, Japan and other far away places. One man from Japan came with a translator and Buddy Holly glasses. He toured every Buddy Holly landmark he could visit, including Buddy's grave.

The three-day event was a step back into the late fifties, when Buddy was performing with his band, the Crickets. He was in the musical spotlight only a year and a half before he died in a plane crash in 1959.

The Buddy Holly weekend started with a glitzy affair at the Lubbock Civic Center Holiday Inn. Those attending wore formal attire and paid $100 for a dinner of prime rib and seafood, then went to the Cactus theater to see a performance of BUDDY: THE BUDDY HOLLY STORY, written by Alan James of England. The show has been on America's Broadway stage and has played continuously for eight years in London.

While the dinner was taking place, others gathered at the Buddy Holly statue where four people were inducted into the Buddy Holly Walk of Fame.

The four were actor Dan Blocker, sculptor Glenna Goodacre, cartoonist Dirk West and musician Terry Allen.

Peggy Sue Geron was there. She lives in Lubbock and is the girl for whom Buddy Holly's song, PEGGY SUE, was named. Maria Elena Holly, Buddy's widow was there. Bobby Vee played a concert of fifties music. Johnny Tillotson, Joe Ely and the Maines Brothers entertained.

A large outdoor stage was constructed in the heart of Lubbock's Depot District to accommodate other musicians like Carl Perkins, who wrote and recorded BLUE SUEDE SHOES in 1956. His recording sold two million copies before Elvis Presley recorded it. It was the first song to top the pop, country and rhythm 'n' blues charts.

The City of Lubbock purchased 156 pieces of Buddy Holly memorabilia and they were on display in the Depot Restaurant building. Visitors could see Buddy's guitar, his maroon and black shoes and plaid wool stage jacket.

In the midst of all the activities, classic cars of the fifties were parked all over the Depot District. Buses took people to see Buddy's birthplace, his church and school, places where he played and finally to the cemetery where he's buried.

Bill and Carrol Allen, who live 17 miles outside London, England, made the journey to America just for the festival. They have seen BUDDY: THE BUDDY HOLLY STORY on stage at the Strand Theatre in London every Thursday night for the last five years. In all, they have attended the play some 350 times. They have seen 14 different people play Buddy. They were on hand Thursday night at the Cactus Theater in Lubbock and saw the talented Donnie Allison perform as Buddy. He lost 40 pounds to play the part.

"This show is more real than the performances in London," Carrol told me. "Those are faster, more glitzy. I think this is more like the real Buddy." They have reserved front row aisle seats at the Strand through June of 1998. "We reserve them a year at a time," says Bill, who is a post office mechanic.

One city official in Lubbock says Buddy is the city's best tourist attraction. "When people think of Lubbock, they think of Buddy."

His hobbies include knife making, leather and wood work, jewelry making, wildlife studies, artwork and writing.

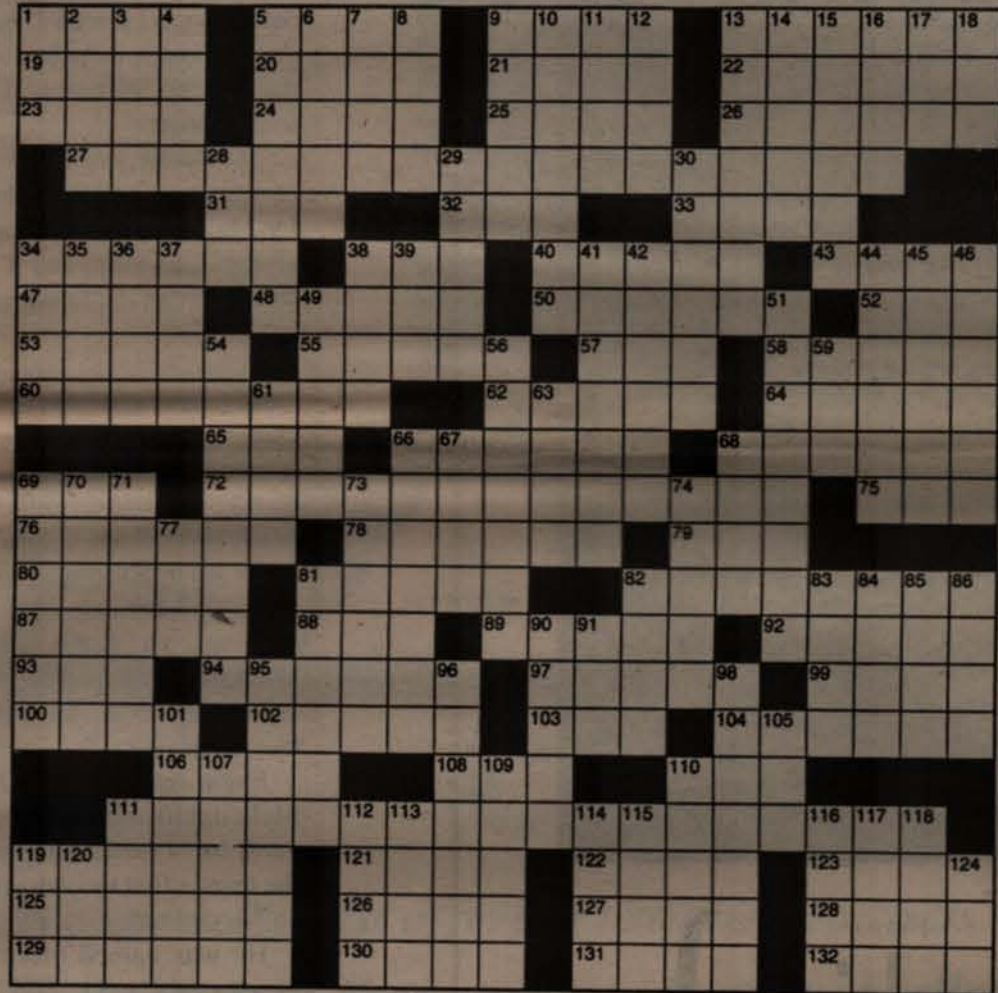

According to Chamber bylaws, "additional names of candidates for directors can be nominated by petition bearing the genuine signatures of at least five percent of qualified members of the chamber." The slate of candidates will be put on a ballot and mailed to all Chamber of Commerce members by Oct. 28 to be returned by Nov. 6.

yard drive. Hutka found Michael Williams for an 8-yard TD pass to top the drive. To add insult to injury, Rogers continued the passing attack as time ran out. With less than a minute remaining in the game, Hutka threw to Kortis in the flat. The running back broke three open field tackles and dashed into the endzone for the 57 yard score. The PAT gave Rogers its final score of 34-13.

While Rogers had 371 yards offense, Salado had 319 yards total offense. McLaughlin led all rushers with 183 on 14 carries. Hutton had 64 yards on 25 carries, his lowest performance of the year.

Rogers sits atop the district at 1-0, along with Holland and Hutto. Salado, Jarrell and Florence are in the cellar at 0-1.

Salado will face Florence at Eagle Field in Salado at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 17.

Eagles to host Florence Buffs for homecoming

The Salado Eagles will host the Florence Buffaloes Oct. 17 for homecoming.

Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Both teams opened District 26-2A play on Oct. 10 with losses. Salado (3-3) lost to Rogers 34-13, and Florence (1-5) lost to unbeaten Holland 23-20.

The Eagles tied the score at 13-13 early in the second half before Rogers scored 21 unanswered points, including 14 in the last six minutes of the fourth quarter.

"You know, Rogers got a lot of weapons," Salado Coach Joe Mullins said. "They've got an excellent team, and it was close through the fourth quarter."

Rogers' "black gun" offense rolled up 370 yards, including 330 yards passing. Quarterback Patrick Hutka threw a season-high five touchdown passes.

"A team like that is so explosive," Mullins said. "You can stop them for only so long. Our kids played hard, and we asked them to do some thing they hadn't done."

Eagle running back John McLaughlin rushed for 183 yards on 14 carries and scored the team's first touchdown on an 85-yard run.

He was named offensive player of the week. End Tate Hunter, credited with five tackles, was defensive player of the week.

Rogers keyed on Salado's leading rusher, Taylor Hutton, who finished with 64 yards rushing. He has just over 950 yards rushing in six games.

Immunizations recommended vs. bacteria infection for certain folks

The Texas Department of Health (TDH) reminds the public that the elderly, the very young and others with weakened immune systems are at risk of potentially life-threatening infection, if they have not been vaccinated against Streptococcal pneumoniae bacterial infections.

Also called pneumococcal disease, the illness can be entirely prevented, in most cases by a one-shot immunization.

Tired of Banking That Just Doesn't Add Up?

At First State Bank of Temple, we believe that there's not really much about banking that's complicated.

In fact, it should be as easy as 1-2-3.

At FSB, we believe in Friendly Style Banking, banking that's more about A-B-Cs than x to the nth Power. After all, banking is pretty straightforward when you think about it. It's a checking account. A savings account. An occasional loan when you need it. And when you're sitting down with a neighbor over a cup of coffee, someone you're just as likely to run into at the grocery store or the game on Friday night, it sort of takes a lot of the head-scratching out of the process.

2nd Annual Benefit Dinner at the Mansion top fund-raiser for Salado Humane Society

by John Eubanks

Leah Buzzard, with the Salado Humane Society, wants to get the word out about the group's Second Annual Benefit Dinner and Auction at the Salado Mansion Oct. 21.

This is the Humane Society's major fund-raiser of the year, she said. The group also holds about four bake sales and two garage sales each year.

In years past, the Humane Society has received money from one group or another, she said, but the only donation this year was $100 from the Rotary Club.

Individual donations certainly help, but they are simply not enough. Especially this year.

"This has really been a bad year," she said. "We've had so many dumps and strays."

Buzzard and her sister, who live in the country, take care of about 30 kittens and seven adult stray cats.

Nancy Duerr takes care of the dogs. All but about 18 of the 75 dogs she has taken in since March have been adopted.

"We have to turn people down (who want to give us their pets) because we don't have any more room," she said.

Space is needed for holding sick and injured animals, as well as space for kittens to keep them from roaming.

The six-member Humane Society also needs food and kitty litter, not to mention money for vet bills.

"That's a big chunk of it,"

she said. "We give the animals rabies shots, but we don't have the money to do the rest of the shots, because it's too expensive."

The Humane Society relies on Dr. Jon Kendall of Salado and Dr. Bill Palm of Belton Small Animal Clinic, as well as Dr. Dunlap of Belton Veterinary Clinic and Dr. Juanita Duell of Mobile Pet Care on FM 2484.

Buzzard said this year's benefit auction will be held on the patio of the Mansion, so wear appropriate clothing in case it's chilly outside.

The buffet-style, all-you-can-eat dinner will be held at 7 p.m., followed by the auction at 8 p.m.

"We've had some nice donations by the merchants for the auction," she said. "They really came through last year."

One of last year's donations was from Susan Stockton of Sir Wigglesworth, who gave a basket filled with things from her shop, valued at $400.

Buzzard said animals are important to people, particularly to children, who learn the value of taking care of something, and the elderly, for companionship.

The Windmill gift shop holds Oct. 9 ribbon-cutting at location in The Veranda

The Windmill gift shop held a grand opening Oct. 9 at its location in The Veranda, between First State Bank and The Mansion restaurant.

It will offer floral decorations and wreaths, photography and miscellaneous items such as angels.

The owner is Ronald E. Owings. Daughters Jolleen Owings and Nicole Wood will oversee the store, which opened Oct. 1.

Jolleen, the store manager, said the inspiration for the business came from her father, a professional photographer and former surveyor.

When he couldn't find a proper place that would take his photos on consignment, he decided to open a place of his own.

"He has been taking pictures for years and he thought it would be nice to do something that he liked," Jolleen said. "And we do take things in on consignment."

The inspiration behind the shop's name is obvious when you visit The Windmill: There's an old windmill located outside on the grounds of The Veranda.

The Windmill is located at The Veranda, 80 Main St. The phone number is 947-8048. Business hours are 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Wednesday-Saturday and 1-6 p.m. Sundays.

The Color Guard was also awarded "Best Auxiliary". Members of the Color Guard are Elena Thomason, Brandi Wigley, Tracy Crane, Shawna Cunningham, and Hollie Koch.

The band will compete in the U.I.L. Marching Contest Oct. 15 at Midway High School.

The Salado Band Directors are John Stafford and Sandra Stroebel.

Public meeting on water set for Oct. 21 in Temple

The Texas Water Development Board (TWDB) will hold public meetings in October to receive public comments on the initial draft state and regional water planning guidance documents and the initial draft delineation of 14 regional water planning areas, which were released on Oct. 1.

A public meeting to discuss the initial draft planning guidance documents and regional water planning areas will be 6:30-9 p.m. Oct. 21 in Temple at City Council Chambers.

Senate Bill 1 (SB 1), the comprehensive water bill that was passed during the legislative session ending in June, requires the TWDB to designate regional water planning areas and approve regional water plans, which will be incorporated into the next state water plan.

SB1 requires cities, counties, water districts and other local entities to map out how they will conserve water supplies and respond to future droughts in their planning areas and requires regional water planning groups, comprised of representatives of the various interests in an area, to plan how the area will meet future water supply needs.

Planning areas are required to submit regional water plans to the TWDB for approval every five years beginning September 2000. The TWDB will incorporate approved regional water plans into the next comprehensive state water plan, which is due Sept. 1, 2000.

As intended by SB1, the TWDB's development of rules and water planning areas will be the result of local effort, "driven from the bottom up." The TWDB will provide financial and technical assistance to the regional water planning group representatives in the development of their regional water plans and will resolve disputes between regions. After 2001, TWDB financial assistance may be provided only to projects in areas with approved regional water plans and for projects that meet needs in a manner that is consistent with the approved regional water plan.

For copies of the initial draft guidance documents and the initial draft regional water planning area delineations with a description of how the boundaries were drawn, please contact Diane Burr, phone: 512/475-2057, e-mail: dburr@twdb.state.tx.us, write: Texas Water Development Board, P. O. Box 1323 1, Austin, TX 78711-3231 or access through the TWDB's web site at: http://www.twdb.state.tx.us/www/twdb/sbl_hp.html

School collects $93K of grocery receipts

As of Oct. 13, a total of $93,000 worth of grocery receipts from Brookshire Bros. had been collected for "Apples for the Students" fund-raiser.

Shoppers at the grocery store in Salado Plaza are asked to turn in their pink receipts to help Salado students. Once a certain amount of receipts are accrued, schools may cash them in for Apple or IBM computers, software and even sporting equipment.

Heidi Couchman, with Salado Parents and Teachers (SPAT), said it takes $320,000 of receipts to earn one computer.

"Keep saving them," she stressed.

She also said that 120 box tops have been collected for the General Mills "Box Tops for Education" program. Each box top earns 15 cents.

Thomas Arnold Elementary will be the recipient of the donations.

Across the nation, over the past four years, Apples for the Students awarded over $150 million in computer systems and other educational tools in schools in all 50 states, plus Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Barbados.

Sen. Troy Fraser will address Lions Oct. 22

State Sen. Troy Fraser, a conservative Republican who represents Salado in the Texas Senate, will address the Salado Lions Club at its noon luncheon Oct. 22 at Mill Creek Country Club.

Fraser, R-Marble Falls, was elected in 1996 to a four-year term in the Senate. He represents the 21-county 24th Senatorial District.

This past session in Austin, Sen. Fraser was the author of Senate Bill 572, which would make the University of Central Texas a public university.

He will provide the Lions with his views of the session, and perhaps an early preview of what issues will be on the Legislature's agenda when lawmakers return to Austin.

Prior to serving in the Senate, Fraser served three terms from 1987 to 1992 in the Texas House of Representatives.

While in the House, he was named the 1991 National Republican Legislator of the Year and was honored by the Texas State Chamber for his work as co-sponsor of the 1989 Workers Compensation Reform Act. He was also named a "Top Ten" conservative legislator by a coalition representing more than 300,000 conservative activists.

Fraser is the owner of Fraser Industries. This wooden pallet manufacturing and recycling company started as a backyard business and has grown to one of the largest of its kind in the nation.

Fraser Industries has more than 800 employees in 19 locations in five states and Mexico.

Anglers can become amateur meteorologists trying to pick best weather for catching fish

by Keith R. Warren
Texas Angler

The more time I spend on the water, the more I seem to become an amateur meteorologist. Fishing during the right type of weather can result in unbelievable action.

From now through March we should expect periodic cold fronts from the north. As fall turns into winter, these frontal systems tend to hit us with less recovery time between them and with a greater change in temperatures.

Basically two different cold fronts hit Texas. The westward moving fronts (or Pacific fronts) change weather much less than those coming from due north (Arctic fronts). These Arctic fronts drop temperatures drastically. Usually fishing shuts off after fronts pass through; however, just before and during a frontal system passage the change can result in a great day of catching bass.

After frontal systems, we have a high barometric pressure with no clouds and no wind. For bass fishermen, these are the worst in fishing conditions; however, bay fishermen seem to be able to catch fish on these bluebird days.

Planning fall fishing trips too far in advance can be a risky thing to do. Early fall generally has five to seven days between fronts. Winter has two to three days between different fronts.

This is the time of year that most outdoorsmen look forward to. Cooler early morning temperatures signal the changing of summer into fall. Soon the fishing action will improve, as the water begins to cool.

Fish are cold blooded creatures. Their body temperature fluctuates with changing water temperature. If the water is too cold, it has the same affect as if it is too hot. Fish will become sluggish and not want to feed.

Surface water temperatures in Texas lakes range from the mid 90's in summertime to the upper 40's to mid 50's in the winter. Fish can be caught at each end of this temperature spread, but somewhere in the middle is best. When surface water temperature is between 60° and 80° fishing is at its best. This is when all fish are more active. Whether you're after freshwater or saltwater fish, the same basic rule applies.

Cold fronts will slowly hit Texas with cooler temperatures that chill the water. By November we usually get a cold front about every four days. Most fronts continue to drop water temperatures slightly, and when the water is right it seems you can catch them on anything.

As the water cools in the bays, redfish start to migrate towards the gulf. They will bunch up in schools as they travel down the ship channels and jetties. If you can be in the right place you'll have constant action.

After the redfish move out, the flounder will follow. The first good cold front will start this movement. Best spots for flounder are shallow flats next to deep water that leads to the gulf.

Freshwater fishermen will find lots of bass, crappie and catfish that will readily bite in cooler water. Try a fast moving lure to cover lots of water. For catfish, try floating your bait right off the bottom under a cork and let the wind drift the bait. This covers more water and makes it easier for catfish to find your offerings

Water temperature is critical to fish activity. Take my word for it, the best time of year to catch fish is right around the corner.

Temple College hosts Halloween Carnival Oct. 30 at Student Union

The Temple College annual Halloween Carnival for young children will be held 4-8 p.m. Oct. 30, at the Arnold Student Union Building on the TC campus.

The indoor carnival will feature activities and games designed for children under 12. Participants are encouraged to wear costumes for the costume contest. There will be food, games, prizes, and a haunted house.

Admission is free. Tickets for the activities will be 25 cents each with proceeds going to TC student organizations.

"This carnival is especially for families with small children," Kathryn Norris, student life director, said. "We wanted to provide a safe, fun environment which will not be too frightening for young children. We hope that families will come together to join in the fun for this community event."

Important facts every woman should know about breast cancer

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month. Following are facts from the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation that every woman should know about breast cancer.

Facts About Breast Cancer

• In 1997, over 180,000 women will be diagnosed with breast cancer (one every three minutes), and over 43,000 will die (one every 12 minutes). Additionally, 1,400 men will develop breast cancer, and 290 will die.

Breast cancer is the most common cancer among women of all ages. It is the leading cause of death, from all causes, of women between the ages of 35 and 54.

Who is at risk?

All women are at risk for breast cancer. The two most significant risk factors are being female and getting older.

In the United States, a woman's lifetime risk of developing breast cancer is about 12 percent. An average woman's chances of getting breast cancer is about one in 200 by age 40, one in 50 by age 50, and one in 25 by age 60.

Based on our current knowledge of genetics, about five to 10 percent of women with breast cancer have a hereditary form of the disease. These women have a higher risk of developing breast cancer at a younger age (before menopause), and they often have multiple family members with the disease.

Approximately 80 percent of the women with breast cancer are over age 50. In fact, half of all breast cancers in the United States occur in women 65 years and older. Although rare, younger women can also get breast cancer.

What can I do?

Mammography is the best known method of early detection. Mammography has the ability to detect breast cancers before they can be felt. However, a small percentage of breast cancers - even lumps one can feel - don't show up on x-rays. Therefore, it is also important for women to perform monthly breast self-examination and to have a clinical breast examination by a trained medical professional.

The Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation recommends the following steps:

- Monthly breast self-examination beginning by age 20. Become familiar with the normal look and feel of your breasts. If any change occurs, you should have a clinical breast examination by a trained medical professional.

- Clinical breast examinations at least every three years beginning at age 20 and annually after 40.

- Annual screening mammography for women beginning at age 40. Women under age 40 with either a family history of breast cancer or other concerns about their personal risk should consult a trained medical professional about when to begin mammography

What else should I know?

While there is no way to prevent breast cancer, detection of breast cancer at an early stage provides a greater chance of survival and more treatment options. When the disease is confined to the breast, the five-year survival rate is over 95 percent.

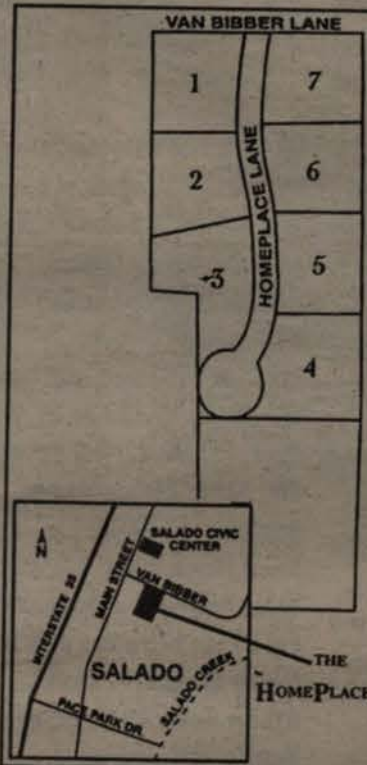

According to the most recent data, mortality rates continue to decline in Caucasian women and, for the first time, among African American women ages 30-69 years of age. However, over all ages, African American women are more likely to die from breast cancer than Caucasian women. These differences in mortality rates have been attributed to differences in access to medical care and to socioeconomic and cultural factors.

Early detection is the key to a greater chance of survival and more treatment options.

THE HOMEPLACE

Nestled on a tree-covered knoll in Salado's Historical District, THE HOMEPLACE represent the much sought-after lifestyle of yesteryear. A winding lane meanders around large live oaks to a dry creek crossing. Its character reflects a day in history where people shared time together on front porches. Only a short walk away is excellent shopping, art galleries and dining, giving a reflection of Salado's past.

THE HOMEPLACE will reflect proportions, detailing and simplicity of true classical architectural styles. "Something old, something new" literally comes to life as treasures from historic homes are blended in harmony with new construction. The best of yesterday . . . built better today.
