Village of Salado names new Tourism Director

By TIM FLEISCHER EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Andrea Howard starts her new job as the Village of Salado Tourism Director on Feb. 22, almost a year since the vacancy was created by the departure of Chadley Hollas in 2020.

Village administrator Don Ferguson introduced her to the Board of Aldermen during their Feb. 4 ZOOM meeting.

Howard has more than 20 years of experience in public relations, community relations, communication, marketing and events. Howard "will make a great addition to the staff and build upon the mission and vision of the Village's Tourism Department.'

Among her previous positions are Coordinator of Community Relations and Marketing for Central Texas College, Local Sales Manager for Residence Inn by Marriot, Association Sales Manager for the Killeen Convention and Visitor's Bureau, Marketing and Events Manager for Texas A&M University-Central Texas, and Marketing and Communications Director and Director of Education and Events for the Texas Chiropractic

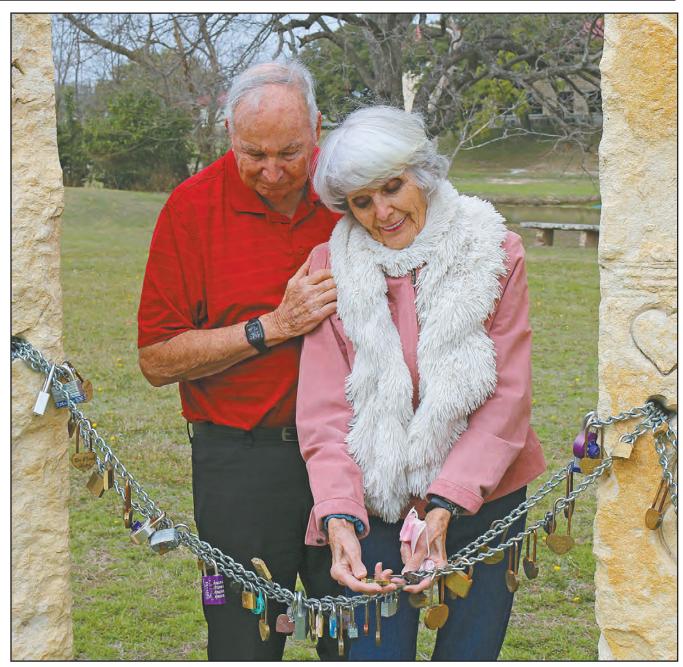

Association.

"Her areas of expertise include project management, meeting and event management, stakeholder engagement, media relations and communications, branding campaigns and project cost analysis," Ferguson added. "She also has extensive experience with social media."

She holds a Bachelor of Science in Communications from Tarleton State, an Associate of Arts in Journalism from Central Texas College and an Associate of Arts in Speech from Central Texas College. She also holds a Texas Destination Marketer Certification.

Howard was interviewed by Ferguson, as well as a panel that included alderman Paul Cox and three members of the Tourism Advisory Board: Larry Prellop, Jackie Mills and Kaye Coachman. She was the unanimous choice of Ferguson and the panel.

Aldermen addressed their concerns with the Tourism Department, including opening the office on the weekends when visitors were in town, working with visiting groups staying at hotels and lodging properties and updating information on the visit Salado app.

Locks of Love

If you are looking for a unique way to celebrate love this Valentine's Day, go down to Salado Creek and add your own special padlock to the Locks of Love sculpture in Sirena Park. Locks of Love was created by Salado sculptor Troy Kelley and placed in August 2018 along Salado Creek next to his Sirena mermaid bronze sculpture. Kelley took inspiration from the famous bridge in Paris where lovers have chained padlocks over the years. You can buy special heart-shaped locks at Strawberry Patch of Salado to add yours to the Locks of Love limestone sculpture. Above, Gerry and Bobbie Reihsen add their Lock of Love. You would be hard-pressed to find a better and more loving couple. The Reihsens have been married 62 years. Gerry remembers when he first saw Bobbie when she came to Farmington, Minnesota in the second grade. They have lived in Salado for 21 years. (Photo BY TIM FLEISCHER)

Audit gives village clean bill of financial health

Editor-in-Chief

Independent auditing firm Armstrong, Vaughan & Associates, P.C. issued a clean opinion of the Village of Salado financial statements for FY 2019-2020.

"There are no findings or disagreements with management's handling of the books," Phil Vaughan told aldermen. "There are no findings that you should be made aware of. This is as clean an audit as you can get."

Vaughan directed aldermen to pages 49 to 57 of the 70-page audit document for an examination of the prior year comparison of the Village finances and balance

The general fund balance increased in 2019-2020 to some $63,000 to a balance of $864,707, or approximately nine months of operating costs. This increase was due to an increase in general operating revenues of about $120,000, offset by an increase in expenses of less than $70,000.

Three to six months of money in its wastewater operating revenues are recommended for municipalities to hold in fund balance. "Six months is considered healthy," he said. "Nine months gives your wiggle room for contingency."

The auditor reported that even with a decrease of $50,000 in Hotel Occupancy Tax revenues due to COV-ID-19 in 2020, the fund adding about $7,000 to its fund balance. This was due to the vacancy in the tourism director position last year.

The Village is losing rund, during its first full year of operation, according to the auditor. That fund had $151,077 in income from utility charges to customers and $727,143 in expenses in FY 2020. Of those operating expenses, $52,577 was for administration and utilities, $60,105 was for professional services, $251,800 was for maintenance and $362,661 was for depreciation of the $11 million sewer system. A non-operating expense was $282,037 for interest on the bond. To cover the deficit, $899,907 was transferred from other funds, including $149,139 from the general

The auditor reported that the Village has $673,000 in its wastewater fund from bonds that can be used for future wastewater projects, including extending the sewer to new customers. The village, according to Village administrator Don Ferguson, is currently in talks with properties on the west side of I-35 to extend the system to them, including Sonic, Country Boy's and Cowboys. The village will extend the system to Eagle Heights development with the cost covered by the developer. "The leftover from the bond is not for operating expenses," the auditor said. "That money is for infrastructure."

"The village is in good financial shape," he added. "Hopefully, the wastewater fund will get to self-sufficiency in the next couple of years. It is running on a tight

Buckley named vice-chairman of defense & veterans affairs, sits on education, local & consent calendars

Speaker of the House Dade Phelan (R-Beaumont) announced committee assignments for the Texas House of Representatives last week.

District 54 Representative, Dr. Brad Buckley (R-Salado), was appointed as Vice-Chairman of the Defense and Veterans Affairs committee and will also serve on the Public Education and the Local and Consent Calendars committees.

"Having been raised in the shadow of Fort Hood, Texas, I am humbled and honored to have been named Vice-Chairman of the Defense and Veterans Affairs Committee. Military service members and veterans are part of the fabric that makes up House District 54, and it is my honor to serve Texans on this committee," said Rep. Buckley after learning of his vice-chairmanship.

Of his appointment to the Public Education committee, Buckley said, "The pandemic has created unprecedented challenges for Texas students, teachers, and parents. I look forward to helping my colleagues on the public education committee and in the Texas House craft common sense solutions that identify and close learning gaps while solidifying a bright future for the more than 5 million students in Texas public schools."

• The House Defense and Veterans' Affairs committee handles matters relating to the various branches of the military service of the United States, realignment and closure of military bases, defense of the state and nation, emergency preparedness, and veterans of military and related services.

• The House Public Education committee handles matters pertaining to public schools and the public school system in Texas and the financing thereof, the state programming of elementary and secondary education for the public school system, and proposals to create or alter school districts.

· The House Local and Consent Calendars committee places bills on the House floor calendar that have been deemed local in nature, as in they pertain to local communities specifically and will not affect the State as a

The Markets

The U.S. stock market notched one of its best weeks ever, with the S&P 500 Stock Index (SPX) rising a whopping 4.64% to 3886.43, a new record high. That rise, unlike many others, was relatively smooth and steady all week and seemed to be based on a combination of rising vaccination rates, falling new COVID-19 cases, and a clearer view that Congress would pass a substantial new pandemic relief bill. The SPX is now back in positive territory year-todate, up 3.47% since the beginning of the year and up nearly 9% since September's high point and nearly 11% since the election. The small-stock amateur speculative battle over GameStop continued with the stock still up over 200% for the year but down 80% for the week. Fortunately, GameStop is not part of the SPX and has had negligible effect on the rest of the mar-

As it is wont to do, the yield on the ten-year U.S. Treasury note joined in the party, rising 8.73% for the week to 1.171%. The usually predictive U.S. Treasury yield curve pronounced its approval as the yield of the 30-year Treasury bond soared to 1.977%, just shy of the psychologically important 2% level. The 10-year T-note yield is now up 33% in the three months since early November and now is only down 27% from its level before the pandemic. The rise in crude oil prices was, like the stock market, smooth and steady all week with West Texas Intermediate (WTI) up well over 9% to $57.00 per barrel.

The Economy

The economic news for the week was a combination of good and bad news with the headlines often obscuring the underlying reality. U.S. employers added 49,000 jobs in January according to the Labor Department, a bit of an offset to the quarter-million jobs lost in December. That is certainly good news, but a deeper dive into the data reveals that without an 81 thousand gain in temporary hires, the economy would have lost jobs again. In a separate survey but the same report the Labor Department announced the official unemployment rate, after seasonal adjustments, fell to 6.3%. That headline too looked less pleasant further down the report where the fall in official unemployment from the previous 6.7% was credited almost completely to people dropping out of the labor force. The bottom line is that we appear to still have about 10 million regular wage earners who are looking for work and can't find it. To put that in perspective, the economy shed about 22.36 million jobs in March and April 2020 and we have recovered about half-way.

Market & Economic Update

By Jeffrey W. McClure

In some unexpectedly good news, The Commerce Department reported that factory orders rose 1.1% in December after rising 1.3% in November even as some manufacturers were laying off workers. Meanwhile the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statics announced that labor productivity decreased 1.2% in the fourth quarter of 2020 but was 2.5% higher than in the last quarter of 2019. The bright side to that report helps explain the apparent contradiction in manufacturing. Productivity rose at a 3% annualized rate in manufacturing as more automation was implemented even as wages rose for the remaining Manufacturing workers. output for the quarter increased 11.2% while hours worked increased 8%.

A major shift in our national economic focus has emerged in speeches from the Biden administration and the Federal Reserve in the last few weeks. Over the past decade, the focus has been on increasing corporate earnings and GDP and more recently on shrinking the balance of trade deficit. Before that, much of the focus has been on things like fighting inflation or balancing the budget, home ownership, or fighting poverty. The new focus is now clearly and simply, "full employment." The underlying rationale is that full employment was once feared as it would theoretically generate high inflation. Now the thought is that globalization has short-circuited inflation and if we want a robust economy, having the maximum number of people employed full-time is the answer.

Finally, to the 800-pound gorilla driving this economic downturn. We have written before that pandemics tend to come in three waves with the third being the worst. The newly identified case data strongly suggests that we have passed the peak of the third wave with cases still well above what we saw in the first and second waves but trending downward. The same is true of U.S. hospitalizations now down to about 89,000 from a peak of 128,000 early in January according to the COVID Tracking Project. That is still well above the previous peaks in April and July of about 60,000 but the trend is in the right direction. Unfortunately, hospitalizations are still rising in one state: Texas. The one national indicator that is still breaking records is deaths for COVID-19, with the fourteen-day moving average holding at about 5,200 per day, probably a result of the record high new case rate in late December and hospitalization

The need for rural broadband is real

BY CARL RAY POLK, JR.,
SECOND VICE PRESIDENT,
TEXAS AND SOUTHWESTERN CATTLE
RAISERS ASSOCIATION

Of all the issues advocated for by the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, the need for high-speed, broadband internet is a relative newcomer, at least compared to topics like cattle theft and water rights that stretch back more than a century.

Even though the widespread need for broadband internet has only emerged in the last decade or so, its importance to everyday life is undeniable. Today, Americans rely more than ever on this connectivity for essential services like business, education, healthcare, and shopping for basic goods and services. The need for high-speed internet extends to all walks of life, whether you live in the most densely populated city or the most remote corner of the coun-

Broadband is now an essential service, and there has been a dramatic shift toward virtual solutions for educators, healthcare providers and businesses across the country in recent years. The business of producing cattle is shifting online too. We are increasingly monitoring markets from our computers, using online auctions to buy and sell cattle, managing our data in the cloud and obtaining essential goods and services from the online marketplace.

It's becoming more difficult for cattle producers to stay competitive without broadband access, and it's also impacting our families. Without broadband, our children miss out on vital educational resources and opportunities. As a result, broadband availability is becoming an important factor as young families decide where to put down roots, which often means abandoning rural communities in the process.

The growing rural healthcare crisis is also made worse by the lack of broadband in certain areas. It's challenging to recruit healthcare providers to come to rural communities when the lack of high-speed internet hinders their jobs and families. It also prevents us from utilizing alternatives, like virtual doctor's appointments, which can make up for fewer medical professionals in the local community.

There are already widespread problems associated with a lack of broadband, and if left unaddressed, it will only worsen as more and more functions of daily life move online. The coronavirus pandemic has only accelerated this shift, but fortunately, it has also placed a spotlight on the need for timely, meaningful solutions.

The issue has risen to national importance, especially amid COVID-19, but it is also an important topic for the 87th Texas Legislative Session that convened in January. Fortunately, the Texas Legislature can take numerous steps to spur an increase in broadband availability across the state without harming private property rights or having to spend enormous sums from the Texas budget.

One area especially worthy of further investment is good data and mapping to determine what areas of the state are unserved or underserved by broadband internet providers. Texas must also develop a plan for how to help these areas. The adoption of a state-wide plan is not only commonsense to help everyone prioritize and work together, but it is also necessary to take advantage of federal funds that are available to help.

Of course, like electricity, the availability of broadband internet requires infrastructure. Fiber-optic lines are essential to delivering broadband and may very well require new or revised utility easements with property owners to extend service to new areas. It will be crucial to protect and balance private property rights with the adequate availability of high-speed internet as an essential service.

The Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association has already been engaged on the broadband issue. During the previous Texas legislative session, the association worked with stakeholders and ultimately supported legislation passed and signed by the governor to help electric cooperatives provide broadband service.

In the coming months of the current legislative session, we will again work diligently with Texas lawmakers to encourage broadband availability across the state, all while protecting the private property rights we hold dear.

While many underserved areas fall within rural communities, the need for broadband is far from a rural issue. Wherever you live, I hope you will join me in encouraging your Texas Senators and Representatives to prioritize this issue during the remainder of their time in Austin.

Dr. Robert Leon Volle, Sr., of Avon CT, formerly of Salado, TX passed away from natural causes on February 3, 2021.

While at UConn he was the first recipient of the prestigious Charles N. Loeser, M.D. award for excellence in teaching. He left the teaching profession to take on the role of President and CEO, and then President Emeritus, of the National Board of Medical Examiners.

Active in his church, he taught classes on various religious topics at the churches in his local communities and met wonderful, endearing friends while doing so. Bob loved his pets, especially Terri, Katie, Emma and Annie and he rescued many four-legged friends throughout his retirement in Salado. He was a member of the Salado Institute for Humanities, the Presbyterian Church and the men's lunch group. He attended as many Salado Community Chorus events as possible to hear his wife, Adva, sing.

He was passionate about researching his family roots and discovered many facts and stories about the lives they lived and the family connections we still have. He loved books and learning and reading in the field of the humanities. He was generous with his knowledge and continuously gifted much of his library to others. While he thrived in academia and collaborating with colleagues and graduate students, he was most proud of his love for and devotion to his wife, Adva, and their children. Along with his wife, he leaves behind his daughter, L. The Steel Country Outlaws may have only been playing together for the past four years, but combined, the various members have almost 200 years' experience. They are a Georgetown-based band that loves to play classic country, good ole shuffles and the great songs of George Strait, Alan Jackson, Brooks & Dunn, Merle Haggard and other

They have played at the 3C Cowboy church dance for the past four years and will perform again Feb. 13. They have previously performed at Sun City, Lago Vista Dance club and many other local church dances.

Steel Country Outlaw members are:

Jerry Sherbahn- Steel Guitar - The heart of the Steel Country Outlaws is steel guitar player Jerry Sherbahn. An accomplished musician, Jerry has been playing the steel guitar for the past 50 years in country and gospel bands in 7 states and in Nashville.

Greg Caldwell- guitar and vocals - Audiences have been enjoying the smooth baritone vocals of our Oklahoma-born lead singer Greg Caldwell for the past 16 years. Greg had his own band, the Greg Caldwell and Code West band a few years back and in 2011, released his own CD which did well in the central Texas

Ken Houston- lead guitar - California native Ken Houston plays great country lead guitar. He has played in many bands and was in the original Paul Revere and the Raiders band out in California a few years back.

Mike Matoska- bass - A Texas born native. Mike is the solid bass foundation of the group. He has been playing for 40 plus years in many Texas based bands including Pure Country and is one of the best bass players

Karen Hunt- drums, vocals - Drummer Karen Hunt enjoys the distinction of being probably the only middle-aged-Asian-femalesinging-drummer playing country music in central Texas. Karen has also played in several bands and has a surprising voice featuring songs of Patsy Cline and other female country

It isn't often that declarer comes up with two unusual plays in the same hand to help him make his contract, but here is a case where South did just that to ensure three notrump.

West led a heart, and declarer's first unusual move was to play the three from dummy rather than the queen. East followed with the six, and South won with the ten.

Declarer's play of the three from

HOCUS-FOCUS

Next, at trick two, declarer led the ten of diamonds, and after West played low, he let the ten ride! As it happened, the finesse succeeded, and the ten held trick.

The contract was now a certainty. After cashing the queen of diamonds, South led a low heart to the Q-J to establish an entry to dummy. East took the king, but South was then able to collect 10 tricks consisting of a spade, three hearts, five diamonds and a club.

It should be noted that the unusual first-round diamond finesse carried with it a guarantee to make the contract even if the finesse lost. Had East held the jack, he would have won the trick and, let's say, returned either a spade or a club.

SHS band members named All-State

Kaitlyn Casper and Daniel Lander, members of the Salado HS Band have earned the prestigious honor of being named as Texas All-State Musicians.

Despite the innumerable challenges encountered throughout this school year, 2021 All-Staters remained committed to their personal musical development. They demonstrated the very perseverance and dedication that ongoing participation in a music program fosters.

Both students were chosen for this impressive honor through a competitive process that began last fall and included District, Region, and Area levels. Both Kaitlyn and Daniel play with the Salado High School band under the direction of Charla Kelley, member of the Texas Music Educators Association, a 19,000+ member organization headquartered in Austin. This is Kaitlyn's first time and Daniel's fourth time to perform as a member of a TMEA All-State organization.

TMEA sponsors the Texas All-State audition process to promote students' dedication to their musical knowledge and skill and to encourage educators to support their students in this development. All-State is the highest honor a Texas music student can receive.

Over 50,000 students from around the state initially entered the audition process, and 1,860 students have been selected for 2021. This competitive process begins throughout the state with auditions hosted by 33 TMEA Regions. Individual musicians perform selected music for a panel of judges who rank each instrument or voice part. From this ranking, a select group of musicians advances from their Region to compete against musicians from other areas in eight TMEA Area competitions. The highest-ranking musicians judged at the TMEA Area competitions qualify to a TMEA All-State music group.

Walmart, Sam's Club pharmacies will offer COVID-19 vaccines

Walmart and Sam's Club pharmacies will begin administering COVID-19 vaccines in Texas through the U.S. Federal Retail Pharmacy Program on Feb 12, 2021.

Eligible customers can schedule a vaccine appointment via the Walmart and Sam's Club websites once appointments are available, making it convenient to get vaccinated while allocation

Vaccines will be available to those who meet the current phase of vaccine eligibility in Texas which can be found at the Texas Department of Health and Human Services website.

More than 1,000 Walmart and Sam's Club pharmacies in 22 states are receiving federal vaccine allocations this week, with an emphasis on locations that reach customers in underserved communities with limited access to healthcare. While initial vaccine supply is limited, Walmart and Sam's Club pharmacists and technicians stand ready to help expand vaccine access.

Two Walmarts in Coryell County are offering the vaccine: Walmart #381 at 2720 E. Highway 190 in Copperas Cove and Walmart #476, 2805 S. State Highway 36 in Gatesville.

"The Federal Retail Pharmacy Program is another important step in public health's effort to vaccinate Texans," said Dr. John Hellerstedt, commissioner of the Texas Department of State Health Services. "It means more vaccines available to more people in more places, and we appreciate the pharmacies' willingness to help vaccinate our priority populations."

In addition to the 22 states where Walmart will support the vaccination efforts as part of the Federal Retail Pharmacy Program, the retailer is also currently administering vaccinations under the jurisdiction allocation in 11 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Vaccine supply and eligibility will vary based on state and local guidelines. In addition to appointments, the scheduler will provide a digital reminder when it is time to return for the second vaccine, which is why customers are asked to create a profile, helping to ensure customers receive the second dose of the vaccine in the timeframe required. You do not have to be a member of Sam's Club to sign-up for an appointment. Appointments are available seven days a week, but exact timing will vary based on local availability of the vaccine.

CRDAMC COVID-19 vaccination clinic moves to Abrams

Carl R. Darnall Army Medical Center relocated its COVID-19 vaccination clinic from the main hospital to Abrams Gym Feb. 8. The new location will open at 8 a.m. Eligible DoD beneficiaries can obtain their first and second doses of the vaccine at the new location.

CRDAMC is currently offering the vaccine to DOD beneficiaries eligible for Phase 1A, 1B, and 1C. These categories include health care and front line workers, deploying Soldiers, essential workers, and beneficiaries 16 years and older with an increased risk for severe illness from COVID-19.

"Our aim is to provide the vaccine as safely and efficiently as possible to eligible beneficiaries," said Maj. Lance Freeman, Abrams Gym vaccination site officer-in-charge. "We've rehearsed the set-up and are ready to go Monday."

The team has planned and prepared to administer the vaccine safely and efficiently in different situations. The site is equipped with everything from anaphylactic kits to automated external defibrillators. Beneficiaries can also expect to see road guards and ground barriers to help with traffic flow and parking.

"We're not just a Real Estate Company...

"Moving from the hospital to the gym requires a little more detailed planning to make sure everything is going to run well," said Master Sgt. Tara Taylor, the Abrams vaccine site noncommission officer-in-charge. "We've got the right equipment and right people, and we're prepared for emergencies. This is a community effort, and the teams from the hospital and other units have been instrumental in getting this vaccination site stood up and ready." When asked what beneficiaries can do to help keep wait times down to a minimum, they agreed that filling out the paperwork beforehand will help keep things running smoothly.

DoD beneficiaries can download and complete the DHA from 207 as well as other vaccine information from the CRDAMC website homepage at darnall.tricare.

Abrams Gym, building 23001, is located on 62nd Street. The site will be open from 8 a.m. - 4 p.m. Monday - Friday. The vaccine site will be closed on weekends and Federal holidays. Beneficiaries should bring a valid DOD ID card and are encouraged to complete DHA form 207 before they get to the gym.
