63rd Highland Games

The 63rd annual Salado Scottish Gathering and Highland Games took place last weekend on the grounds of Thomas Arnold Elementary School. The parade leading from Pace Park to the grounds culminated in a mass bands performance. The Scottish Gathering weekend's activities include bagpipe bands, athletes Tossing the Caber, Highland dancers, Celtic musicians, the popular Bonniest Knees Contest, a Celtic marketplace, food trucks, and more. The main feature of the event is the Clans Village, the largest gathering of Scottish Clans in Texas.

The Salado High School football team has named Grant Ruiz as their "12th Man." Grant has been in the hospital the last couple of week as he recovers from a car accident. Head football coach Ricky Beaty, superintendent Michael Novotny, and varsity seniors Lincoln Hossfeld, Anthony Angel, and Brendan Wilson presented Grant with his varsity jersey last week. "Please continue to keep Grant and his family in your thoughts and prayers," Dr. Novotny said. Shown above are (from left) Ricky Beaty. Fundraiser Nov. 15 at Barrow for victim of Oct. 25 house fire

Barrow Brewing Company will be raising money on Nov. 15 for the victim of a house fire. On Friday, October 25, 2024, Richard Black's home burned to the ground. Everything he had inside - clothes, furniture, food... was a total loss. Thankfully the Sheriff was able to rescue Black's two labradors from inside the house. The fire was neighbor welding next door and quickly spread over 20

Black recently started his own welding and fabrication business, the expense of which plus the age of his trailer house, made insurance unaffordable. Black is currently living in his shop, which was saved by the volunteer fire department. His started by a spark from a electrical pole was burned, so he has been using a loaned generator. The most urgent priority is to complete a septic system and bathroom within the shop.

Richard Black has contributed to many projects at Barrow Brewing Company and become a trusted friend to the brewery's owners. He built the outdoor silo bar, gates, railings, and contributed to the pedestrian bridge. The brewery is open 12-10:30 p.m. on November 15 and will donate 50% of all sales to Black that day. Live music from Wayworn Traveler will start at 7 p.m. People are also encouraged to make donations to his GoFundMe at https://www. gofundme.com/f/help-richard-black-rebuild-after-devastating-fire

Higher spending, lower taxes may lead to short term boom, but longer-term inflation

The Markets

The broad U.S. stock market, as represented by the S&P 500 Stock Index (SPX) had a good week. The venerable index rose 4.66% to a record closes of 5995.54 after being above 6000 earlier Friday. This week's rise puts the SPX up a whopping 25.7% this calendar year and almost 37% higher than a year ago as well as up about 28% in the last three years. Our other stock market indicator, the CRSP U.S. Mid Cap Value Index, turned in a respectable 3.87% gain this week, closing at 2963.83 and is now over 32% higher than a year ago.

The benchmark ten-year U.S. Treasury note ended the week yielding 4.3% compared with its 3.88% yield as the year began. Three years ago, the tenyear yield was 1.51%. That amounts to an interest rate increase of 184.77%. Considering the Fed Funds Rate cut announced this week, the very short-term, onemonth T-bill held up quite well holding on to an annualized yield of 4.70% compared with 4.75% a week ago. West Texas Intermediate crude oil finished the U.S. market week at $70.47 per barrel, well within the recent trading range and about 6.45% less expensive than a year ago.

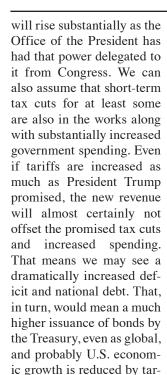

The Economy

To almost no one's surprise, the Federal Reserve Board cut short-term interest rates by a 0.25% this week to a range of 4.5% to 4.75%. Expect those high money market rates to follow suit. Markets appeared unfazed as Chairman Powell said that the U.S. economy is showing unexpected strength.

Economic news this week was overshadowed by the election and speculation on what might happen under the Trump administration. As we have said before, both candidates were promising higher spending and reduced taxes so we can assume that policy has bipartisan support. We can reasonably assume that tariffs

Market & Economic Update

iffs. Tariffs make imported goods more expensive and thus should reduce the purchase rate. That is what they are intended to do.

The bottom line is that there is a reasonable probability that intermediate and long-term interest rates will rise, and potentially rise quite a lot. Those higher rates would attract money from around the world, increasing the dollar's market value, thereby reducing U.S. exports as U.S. products, priced in dollars, become more expensive in terms of other currencies. That also means that the market value of existing bonds would tend to fall as they have done the last several years. At the same time, lower taxes combined with increased spending has the potential to increase corporate profits thus potentially increasing corporate earnings and spurring a stock market rise. That too has already begun.

That same set of economic changes would effectively be a stimulant to the economy as more money is spent by the Federal Government while less is taken in taxes. It is, in short, a recipe for an economic boom. Unfortunately, it will also tend to accelerate inflation. For now, we don't know if the House of Representatives will go along with the massive deficit increase implied in the policies promised, but at least in the short-term, look for the already rapidly expanding U.S. economy to continue to do so. Longer-term, accelerating the growth of the federal debt is problematic but at least will feel good for a while.

Despite the promises of tax cuts by both candidates, investors appear to be assuming that at some point, the bills will need to be paid, and higher investment taxes are coming. Many are positioning their investments with the assumption that the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act, set to expire at the end of next year, will be followed by a higher tax rate for them.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) announced that U.S. worker productivity was increasing at a 2.2% annual rate in the third quarter. Once more, we are producing more output than it is costing American businesses to create. Real compensation (wages and benefits) rose 2.8% over the last four quarters, and at a 3.0% rate in the third quarter of this year. For better or worse, that productivity appears to be concentrated in the non-manufacturing sectors. Manufacturing productivity only increased at a 1.0% rate as labor costs increased 5.7% from the same quarter a year ago. In another bit of good news, despite some surveys indicating a decline in manufacturing output, the BLS found that U.S. manufacturing output increased 1.5% in the last year and has risen 7.3% in the last three years.

Trading Tyrants

To the Editor:

The Board of Aldermen and Mayor ("BOA") have terminated the Tourism Advisory Board, the Economic Development Board and the Music Advisory Board. And they insulted some members when they did it.

Then they disregarded and disrespected the work of the Planning & Zoning Commission ("P&Z") on the I-35 Corridor West Side Overlay. They did that in a very demeaning manner without coordination or discussion. They also did it in violation of Texas Law Chapter 7, Subtitle A etc., 211.007 and Village Ordinance 2013-08 Sec. 1. This was a premeditated ambush and wrong decision with an illegal process. Such conduct shows bias. Bias to unnamed property flippers to the detriment and disregard for citizens of Salado. On November 7th, the BOA even proposed an Ordinance 2024-23 which removes important P&Z duties. Clearly the BOA wants to dismiss P&Z members who want to represent citizens of Salado.

Your Voice

Letters to the Editor

The Village needs people on advisory boards with years of business experience. The Village needs people who know what works and what does not work for the good of Salado. The BOA cannot and is not competent to do it. None of them have run a business at all, much less a business in Salado.

What happens to people when they become government officials?

This was all done with a lack of humility, tyranny, and a know-it-all attitude that smells like our last mayoral mafia. Of course, most of the BOA members are from the last mayoral mafia.

This kind of obvious bullying attitude and disregard is indicative of other and greater bias in all decisions made by the BOA, past and future. It cannot be tolerated.

These are the same people who got the Village into the loser sewer project and the Sanctuary. They stood by while $2.2 million dollars were misappropriated, yet refuse blame. They now tell us they have a plan to fix the $2.2 million, by raising Village taxes and increased property values, all of which residents pay for. Of course, most or all of the BOA are exempt from paying those taxes. Salado residents can pay for these boondoggles, but they cannot pay for loss of culture on the West Side. Once the West Side is lost, it is lost

We need different representation on the BOA. Stand against such tyranny. Hopefully, in the next election we will not just be trading tyrants.

Sincerely,

Charles Simmons Salado

This Holiday Season, Shop Small & Tell Congress to Stop the Massive Tax Hike on Small Business

By JEFF BURDETT

As we head into the final stretch of 2024, a recent survey of small business owners found that our local job creators feel more uncertain than ever. Between rising costs, few qualified applicants, and a massive federal tax hike scheduled to take effect next year, there are plenty of reasons why the mood on Main Street feels gloomy.

But here's the good news: you can kick off the holiday season by shopping small. November 30, the day after Black Friday, is Small Business Saturday. What began in 2010 as a way to promote local businesses recovering from the Great Recession, has blossomed into one of the most robust shopping days of the year.

That's good for our small employers, their employees, and the communities they call home. Here in Texas, small businesses are the foundation of our economy, accounting for more than 99 percent of businesses in the state and employing at least 5 million working Texans, according to the Small Business Association.

When we shop small, we're supporting our friends and neighbors. Roughly 67 cents of every dollar spent at a small business stays within the community where it's spent and creates another 50 cents in local business activity. When we shop small, family-owned businesses are better able to host school fundraisers, donate to charity, and keep our communities thriving.

Becoming a loyal customer is just one of the ways we can support Main Street businesses this holiday season. With nine out of 10 small businesses facing a massive tax hike next year, Congress must make the 20% Small Business Deduction permanent as quickly as possible.

Since becoming law in 2017, this deduction has empowered small business owners to overcome a host of economic challenges we've seen these past few years. If Congress fails to act, the expiration of this deduction represents a massive tax hike on more than 30 million small businesses.

Main Street businesses, and the communities they support, will pay the price.

Recent analysis estimates that if Congress were to make the deduction permanent, it would create 104,000 new jobs each year for the first 10 years, and 201,000 annually every year after. We can't jeopardize those jobs or the economic growth it would bring to the Lone Star State.

Here's where you can help: tell Congress to make the expiring 20% Small Business Deduction permanent

This holiday season, don't forget to shop small. Our local businesses keep our communities strong and our economy growing. That's why I'm encouraging everyone to shop small on Saturday, November 30. Because when we help small businesses, we help everyone

The Last Man is an award-winning novel by Thomas

The Last Man author to speak at Library

Thomas Goodman will speak at at 1 p.m. Dec. 6 at the Salado Public Library about the 1927 Santa Claus Bank Robbery of Cisco, Texas and his novel The Last Man based on it.

When Santa Claus enters a Texas bank just before Christmas in 1927, no one expects him to pull a gun.

The fake white beard hides his identity from his neighbors while he and three others take everything. But their easy heist goes sideways fast when armed lawmen and citizens assemble to claim a new reward for dead bank robbers.

Taking hostages, the gang forces a path through a frenzied and bloody shootout, setting the whole Lone Star state on their trail.

One bandit dies in the getaway. One is executed in the electric chair. One swings from a rope in a mob lynching. The last man finds a life he always hoped for--if only he can keep it.

Closely based on a true crime, The Last Man is a gritty Prohibition-era Western novel filled with flawed characters and second chances.

Goodman says he first ran across the story of the Santa Claus Bank Robbery when he lived in the small Texas county where it all took place.

"The Associated Press dubbed it 'the Santa Claus Bank Robbery' because the ringleader was from Cisco and to disguise his identity he dressed as Santa," Goodman said. "It was supposed to be an easy three-minute heist for him and the the others he enlisted, but it all went sideways fast. By the time it all played out, one was killed in the getaway, one was executed in the electric chair, one swung from a rope in a mob lynch ing--and the last man turned his life around.

Goodman currently lives in Austin, where he has been able to conduct extensive research on the true crime at the Texas State Library and Archives Commission. The Last Man is his first novel.

The novel is the recipient of three literary awards: the 2024 Spur Award, the 2024 Will Rogers Medallion Award and the Grand Prize Winner for the 2023 Chanticleer Laramie Award for Americana Fiction.

Giving Heart benefits non-profit, musician

Saladoans Kathryn and Glen Meloy hosted their third annual Giving Heart Music Series Fundraiser Nov. 2.

Since relocating to Salado in 2021, Glen and Kathryn Meloy have embraced their passion for their community by hosting the private annual event at their home, which they call The Heart Rock Ranch.

Kathryn, owner of Streamline Interior Designs and Secretary of the Music Friendly Community Advisory Board, and her husband Glen, a software engineer and part-time musician, created this event to uplift and support our local charities and musicians. Their rotating selection of beneficiaries reflect their commitment to make a positive impact throughout our community.

They started their grassroots fundraiser event two years ago and have raised $5,671 so far. Kathryn opens the event with an inspirational speech, and Glen plays a complimentary musical set as the opening act for the spotlight musician. The Meloys prepare the grounds, feed the musicians and after-party guests, created their own website and marketing campaign.

The event also supports small businesses by providing a space for business owners to showcase their services and/or products. Opening their home up to an average of 60 attendees, many of whom are strangers, the fundraiser has become a celebrated gathering that exemplifies the power of a "Giving Heart."

They look forward to continuing this yearly tradition and are deeply grateful for the support they have received from their neighbors, friends, local businesses and attendees who have helped make this a memorable, philanthropic event one beat at a time.

Any charities, musicians, or small businesses interested in being part of this event next fall, contact Kathryn Meloy at: loveheartrockranch@gmail. com. Visit their website at: www.loveheartrockranch. com and follow them on Facebook at: melovsheartrockranch on Facebook.

Eagles to face Devine

By TIM FLEISCHER EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

Salado Eagles will face the Devine Warhorses in the Bi-District round of the UIL 4A-II football playoffs at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 15 at Wimberley Texan stadium.

The Warhorses are the runners-up in District 14-4A-II. The Warhorses have an 8-2, 3-1 record. Salado is the third place team in District 13-4A-II behind Wimberley and Lago Vista. The Eagles finish the regular season with a 6-4, 4-2 record. Neither team has faced a common opponent.

The Eagles blasted the visiting Smithville Tigers 59-16 Nov. 8 with four quarterbacks getting a chance to go under center.

Salado scored on all but one possession, and that one came late in the fourth.

Taking the opening kickoff, the Eagles drove 70 yards in five plays, scoring on a 2-yard dive by Luke Bingham with 10:07 left in the first. Townes Sather made it 7-0.

On the ensuing series, Luke Bauser sacked Smithville quarterback Tripp Davis, forcing a fourthand-forever punt to give the Eagles the ball at their own 31. Eight plays later, Lincoln Hossfeld connected with Gabriel Merriman for a 6-yard TD. Sather made it 14-0 at 4:02 in the first.

Smithville drove from their own 39 to settle for a 22-yard field goal by Zane Perkins with 10:30 left in the half.

The Eagles answered by driving 71 yards in five plays, scoring on a 44-yard pass from Hossfeld to Korbin Konarik with 8:12 left in the half. Sather made it 21-3.

After forcing the Tigers to a three-and-out series, the Eagles settled for a 30vard Sather field goal with 2:09 left in the half.

Three plays later, Hossfeld hit Landen Noske for a 34-yard strike with 58 seconds left in the half. Sather made it 38-3.

That was the last play for Hossfeld on his home field as the senior quarterback was given the second half off and three other quarterbacks were given a chance to play.

Eagles The forced Smithville to a three-andout on the first possession of the second half, taking over at their own 41.

Three minutes and eight plays later, Caine Cruddas scored on an 11-yard run. Sather made it 45-3 with 6:45 left in the third.

Contract Bridge

INTERCHANGEABILITY South dealer. Both sides vulnerable. NORTH ♥10975 ♦ 10 8 5 3 ♣962 WEST EAST ♠ J 8 6 2 ♦ Q 10 5 ♥ Q 3 ♥A6 ♦ A K J 9 2 ♦ Q 6 4 ♣J 10 8 7 3 ♣Q4 SOUTH ♠ A K 9 3 ♥ K J 8 4 2 ♣A K 5 The bidding: South West North East 2 🔷 Pass Pass Dble Pass Pass Pass 2 🏚

You usually break even by swapping one loser for another, but there are times when the exchange gains a trick.

Opening lead — diamond king.

Consider this case where South got to four hearts on the bidding shown. His double of two diamonds was for takeout and indicated a strong hand with support for the unbid suits. North could do no more than show his heart support, and South eventually pressed on to game.

HOCUS-FOCUS

West started off with K-A of diamonds. Declarer ruffed, cashed the A-K of spades and trumped a spade in dummy. He then led the ten of hearts and followed low, crediting West with the ace of hearts for his overcall.

West took the ace and, recognizing from East's play of the queen of spades on the previous trick that East had no more spades, led the jack of spades. Declarer ruffed in dummy, East overruffed with the queen, and South later lost a club trick to go down one.

Declarer played correctly up to the point where he trumped West's jack of spades return in dummy. He shouldn't have ruffed, since it was certain that East had no more spades and would overruff.

Instead, South should have discarded a club from dummy, deliberately allowing West's jack to hold the trick. Had he done this, he would have made the contract by eventually ruffing his third club in dummy.

The reasoning behind the club discard is simple enough. South is sure to go down if he ruffs the spade jack in dummy and is very likely to make the contract if he discards a club instead. He should therefore swap his club loser for a spade loser, gaining the game-going trick in the process.
